Peterborough Waters Receive Most Fish Fry

Fry and fingerling distribution in the past year in the Trent district, counties of Peterborough, Haliburton, Victoria, Durham and Northumberland, totalled 2,909,810. This figure is obtained from the annual report on the fish distribution by the Department of Lands and Forests and received by the Chamber of Commerce.

Peterborough County lakes and rivers received 1,367,510. The remainder, 1,542,300 fingerlings and fry, were distributed in the lakes and rivers of the other four counties. Some resort operators in the area estimate that at least 10 per cent of the fry and fingerlings will survive.

In the lakes bordering Peterborough county, Rice, and Pigeon and in the Trent River, the figures include all fry and fingerlings from the other counties on which the lakes and rivers border. The summary for these is: Pigeon, masginonge fry, 120,000; maskinonge fingerlings, 1,600; small mouth bass fry, 5,000; Rice maskinonge fry 110,000, maskinongé fingerlings 2,200, small mouth bass fry 600 large mouth bass fry 20,000; Trent River, maskinonge fry 240,000, maskinonge fingerlings 3,490, large mouth bass fry 30000 small mouth bass fry 200, northern pike adults 10.

Rice lake and Trent river both bordering Peterborough County, were the only places to receive large mouth bass fry in the county. The total number of fry was 50,000. The only lake to receive adult small mouth black bass in the county was Deer Lake, 14.

An interesting note for trout fishermen is that 2,000 brown trout yearlings were planted in the waters of Jackson Park creek this year. Other places to receive brown trout yearlings in the county were Catchacoma lake, 2,000, Mississauga lake 2,000, and Eels creek 3,000.

Mark St. Choir Presents Carol Concert

Carols by Candlelight, a presentation by the choir of Mark St. United Church, Tuesday evening, drew an appreciative crowd which filled the church. Effective lighting throughout the building was by candles and blue bulbs on Christmas trees at the chancel.

Mrs. Olive M. Searles, organist and music director, arranged the fine program. Forty-seven singers were in the senior choir, and the junior choir with 20 members assisted in two special carols, the latter wearing new gowns. They chose "As Lately We Watched," and "Rise Up Early," Austrian and Slovak carols.

The Searles string orchestra presented Handel's "Overture to the Messiah", an aria, a descriptive Yuletide fantasy "A dream of Christmas" and the first movement from the Night Music by Mozart.

Mrs. J. Arnold, Mrs. E. DeNure and Mrs. A. Craft sang the "Virgin Slumber Song" as arranged by Max Reger. An old English carol, "A Virgin Unspotted" was sung by Mrs. F. Brook, Mrs. A. Craft and Miss W. Smith. "What Child Is This?", a traditional English number was by Mrs. G. Pomeroy, Mrs. N. Hepburn, Mr. M. Pomeroy and Mr. G. Hunter.

During intermission an organ-piano number was given by Mrs Searles and Mr. Norman Harris.

The choir sang a selection of beautiful old carols, one traditional, one of White Russia "Carol of the Russian Children" and an old French song in the first group; and in the second and third were heard "Carol of the Sheep Bells" and "The first Christmas Morn." They also sang some of the familiar Christmas hymns in which the congregation joined.

Liner Aquitania Out Of Service

LIVERPOOL, England, Dec. 14 (AP)—The famous old transatlantic liner Aquitania is to be taken out of active service.

This was announced today by the Cunard White Star Company, which operates the 35-year-old ship.

The company declines to amplify its statement. Informed sources in maritime circles said the 44,786-ton vessel can no longer make money under present competitive conditions.

For the last two years the Aquitania has been under contract to the Canadian government to carry immigrants to Canada. This contract expired Dec. 1 and the maritime sources suggested that no new profitable assignment for the liner has been found.

A spokesman for the owners declined to say whether the ship will be offered for sale or scrapped.

Police Escort Boy To Toronto Hospital

TORONTO, Dec 14 — (CP).—Two-year-old Donald Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Esmond Watson of Niagara Falls, was brought here Tuesday night with police escort for treatment of a throat infection. Donald is the second Niagara Falls district child to be brought here this week for emergency treatment. Hospital officials said to-day he was recovering rapidly.

Spaniel Takes 'Plane For 3,000-Mile Trip

TORONTO, Dec. 14 (CP)—Ace of spades, a jet black cocker spaniel, today started a 3,000-mile air trip to Vancouver.

Ace—formally known as O'-Cyma Ace of Spades—is owned by Mrs. M. H. Page of suburban York township and is on her way to console four-year-old Dianne Drummond of Vancouver.

Dianne's dog was killed recently by burglars.

"I read of the brutal way the burglars did away with the Vancouver dog when it discovered them and of how the little girl was heart-broken," said Mrs. Page.

She immediately decided to send Ace to take the place of the heroic little dog that died.

Mrs. Adams was born in Yorkshire, England, and Mr. Adams lived near Pontypool.

Espionage Story Quite Untrue

LONDON, Dec. 14 —(CP)—A wartime legend has been punctured by the war office, which has commented at last on the activities of Lt.-Col. Alexander Paterson Scotland, 60, reputed to have served on the German general staff in both world wars.

"Absolutely untrue," the war office said of newspaper reports that Scotland had in some mysterious way flitted betwen London and Berlin, drawing German army pay and keeping Britain posted on German military movements.

The story was featured prominently by British newspapers on several occasions. As there was no denial, the public came to accept it as a fact.

Scotland actually was an interrogator of prisoners, andsome of his work was highly secret. Military etiquette prevented his commenting on the sensational reports, which were carried by The Canadian Press.

Mrs. Cliff Broadworth and Miss Aureen Brown, program conveners, took charge of the meeting after the discussion and a solo was sung by Irvine Aikinson, accompanied by Stanley Morrow on the guitar. Defence Minister Returns From Europe

OTAWA, Dec. 14 (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton returned here today from a three-week trip to Europe where he attended Atlantic Pact defence talks in Paris.

Mr. Claxton, who left Ireland Tuesday, stepped from an RCAF plane at nearby Rockcliffe airport at 5 a.m. EST. About four hours later he was in his office catching up on a backlog of work.

Remanded For Hearing

Frederick Bullock, Chamberlain St., charged with carnal knowledge involving a nine-year-old girl, was remanded without bail a further week in police court today.

Asks Congress Get Insurance For Unemployed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—(AP). —Labor Secretary Tobin Tuesday renewed his plea for Congress to set up a national jobless insurance program to ensure larger benefits than those now paid by the states.

Tobin said the present unemployment compensation system is "far from adequate" because it does not cover enough workers or provide sufficient help to those laid off.

"Despite increases in benefits in many states," he said, "these increases have not kept pace with wage increases."

He expressed these views in testimony to a Senate-House economic subcommittee studying various proposals for assisting people in the low income group.

The labor secretary told the lawmakers he thinks it is "desirable" for Congress to write federal standards to require the states to pay increased minimum benefits for at least 26 weeks. Also he advocated additional allowances for dependents of the jobless workers.

The various states now pay the compensation which generally is financed by a special tax on employers. In a few states the workers also contribute to the insurance program. About 33,000,000 workers are covered, with benefits averaging about $20 a week.

Tobin previously had urged that the unemployment aid be set up on a uniform, country-wide basis, with minimum benefits of $25 weekly.

The labor secretary also urged a broad expansion of the federal old age and survivor insurance system. He told the committee he also would like to see an approach made to a $100-a-month pension for workers covered by social security, and a gradual increase in the minimum wage to $1 an hour.

He viewed private industrial pension plans, such as recently negotiated by the CIO steelworkers, as a supplement to, rather than a substitute for, what he called a "realistic" government pension program.

Strikers Out 7 Weeks Settlement No Nearer

HAMILTON, Dec. 14 (CP) — The strike of 140 employees of the John Duff and Sons meat packing plant enters its seventh week today with meetings still continuing both sides, reporting little prospects of a settlemen in sight.

Members of the United Packing House Workers of America (CIO) walked off the job Oct. 26, charging the company with failure to implement the findings of a conciliation board calling for a five cent an hour retroactive wage boost and statutory holidays.

Police Arrest 'Wanted' Youths

Two 15-year-old youths wanted by Peterborough city police were arrested in a Toronto police station Tuesday night, when they went there for a place to sleep for the night. They are wanted on charges of having an offensive weapon, a 45 revolver.

Toronto police had been warned Tuesday to be on the lookout for the pair. Detective W. A. Clarke travelled to Toronto today to bring them back.

The two are Robert Able, 666 George St., and James Howson, whose home is in western Canada, but has been boarding on Queen St. in the city for a short time.

Police were tipped off Tuesday that the boys were carrying a revolver in one of their knapsacks which had been left in a car owned by a cousin of Howson. Police seized the knapsacks, but the boys left town before they could be located.

Two Of Dominion's Nine Lepers Spend Life On Vancouver Isle

By VAL SEARS

BENTNICK ISLAND LEPER COLONY, B. C., Dec. 14 —(CP)— Tiny, cream-colored cottages dot this small island off the coast of Vancouver Island, giving it the appearance of a summer camp.

But it is a dread isle, the home of two of Canada's nine lepers, one awaiting a miracle; the other, death.

Science is inching toward the wonder of a normal life for one, but the other, blind and shrunken by the nerve-killing disease, is calmly resigned to "life imprisonment."

The lonely, forest-covered island, 20 miles around the southern tip of Vancouver Island from Victoria, is so cut off from the world that even in the capital city few people know of its existence.

The patients, both Chinese, are under the care of kindly, affable Dr. R. B. Jenkins, head of the Maritime Quarantine Station at William Head.

Regular Journeys

His main job is the inspection of ships from foreign lands calling at Victoria, but he makes regular journeys to the island. There is 2½ miles of open water separating Bentinick Island from the Quarantine Station.

"There have been as many as 13 lepers on the island since it was established around the turn of the century but they have all died or been discharged," Dr. Jenkins said. "Fewer are coming over as the squalor and proverty that breeds the disease is cleared up."

It cost the Federal government about $10,000 to $15,000 a year to maintain the colony and its staff of two.

Canada's only other leper hospital is at Tracadie, N. B., with seven lepers.

Great Improvement

Two new sulpha drugs—diasone and promin—have effected a remarkable improvement on Chan, who arived on the island last January but Charlie, who has been here for 12 years, is likely never to leave the colony.

In the scrupulously clean main cottage lives the colony's nurse a middle aged woman who has retired to spend the rest of her life with the lepers. Her husband is the caretaker on the island. Except for infrequent trips to the mainland they spend all their time at Bentinick.

Charlie, 66 and Chan, 62, live in separate one-room cottages, cluttered but clean, a short distance from the nurses' residence.

Charlie has been blinded by the disease. One hand has been shrunk to a griffon-shape by the dying bone.

Chan is full of plans for the future, which include a trip to China for him and his wife.

New He's Happy

"At first I no want to come here. My friends all say you going die, sure. But I come and now I'm happy, getting better someday and then I go to China."

Both patients have little gardens which they tend with fond care and Charlie has a radio which blares forth music and news from a world he may never see again.

"It's too bad they have to be incarcerated like this," Dr. Jenkins said. "The disease is practically incommunicable except after long and intimate contact but the public's ancient dread of leprosy won't let it be treated like tuberculosis, whose germ the leprosy germ closely resembles."

Students Lunch For Ten Cents

ELMIRA, Ont. (CP)—Cover or minimum charges don't worry students eating in the Elmira district high school. They can buy a full-course meal for 10 cents.

More than 200 pupils from this town, and from places as far as 30 miles away who attend the high school, give some time and work to make the project possible. They take turns washing dishes and helping the cook.

In the spring they plant vegetables and can them in the fall. Cafeteria profits paid for the canning machine long ago. During summer months students are hired to look after the acre of garden and the school orchard. On top of all this the students have just finished building a barn.

As a reward for his work the student gets meat, or a substitute, two vegetables, bread and butter and cocoa—all for 10 cents. Milk or ice cream costs an extra nickel.

Set up as a community school 10 years ago at a cost of $150,000, the building with the help of three buses, now serves the town of Elmira and the townships of Woolwich and Wellesley. Because it is in a rural community, the accent other than matriculation is on agricultural courses. But classes are also provided in shop work, music or commerce.

Night school is another popular extension of the curriculum. Classes in basic English, typing, foods, public speaking, farm shop mechanics and sewing are given to 184 night students.

Principal H. B. Disbrowe and one other teacher of the 11-member staff graduated from the Ontario Agricultural College so the school is well fitted for its role in the community.

Maxwell Tuesday was sentenced on 13 separate charges, and was given two years on each charge. But only two of the 13 sentences are consecutive.

Girl Wounded In Wild Chase

DARIEN, Conn., Dec. 14—(AP) —Dionysia Skouras, 23-year-old daughter of Spyros Skouras, motion picture executive, was taken to a private sanitarium Tuesday following a wild, bullet, punctuated automobile chase early Tuesday.

Skouras, president of the 20th Century-Fox Films Corporation, said his daughter left home late Monday night "to get something to eat." He said she had been ill recently, adding that the family assumed she had been cured. He did not identify the ailment.

Miss Skouras was wounded superficially by a shot fired from a policeman's revolver during the chase. Dr. Allan Ross, police surgeon, said one of the bullets passed between Miss Skoura's ring and middle fingers of the right hand, inflicting a slight wound.

Miss Skouras was arrested on a charge of reckless driving and operating without a licence. She was committed to sanitarium following an examination by Dr. Ross and a telephone conversation with her father.

LAMP EXPLODES BABY DIES OF BURNS

Downeyville Family Finds Crib Ablaze

2 Doctors Take Child To Toronto Hospital But Mary O'Neil Dies

DOWNEYVILLE, Dec. 15 — (ENS)—A badly burned Downeyvile girl, nine-months-old Mary O'Neil, died early today in the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, after a 65-mile mercy trip in an effort to have her life.

The fatal burns were received when a coal-oil lamp exploded in her crib.

She was put to bed Wednesday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. O'Neil, RR 1, Downeyville. After she had been left alone in the room she is believed to have been attracted by the light from the lamp, and she reached out from her crib and seized it.

The child, it is conjectured, pulled the lamp down on her causing the explosion which was heard downstairs by her parents.

By the time they reached the room the contents were a mass of flame, but Mr. O'Neil dashed in and seized the badly-burned child. Smoke from the explosion was heavy and the room was filled with choking fumes.

Doctors Make Trip

Dr. George Earle of Omemee and his son, Dr. William Earle, were called. The child, said to be covered with burns, was put in Dr. William Earle's car and the 65-mile dash to Toronto began through the night traffic.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil accompanied their fatally-burned daughter on the fast car trip to the hospital.

Nothing could be done for the little girl and she died about 3 a.m.

The nine-months-old child was the youngest of four—Joan 7, Marjorie 3, and George 6. Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil live at the home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George O'Neil.

Dies On Way To Work

TORONTO, Dec. 15—(CP)—Jack MacDonald, past president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, and former player and coach with Mimico lacrosse teams, died of a heart attack on his way to work today. He was 58. He was found dead a few steps from his office in the Mimico Public Utilities Commission building by a fellow-employee.

B.C. Doukhobors Promise To End Terror

NELSON, B. C., Dec. 15 (CP)—Confession, repentance and no repetition of violence was the promise laid down Wednesday night by the radical Doukhobor fringe blamed for years of unrest in this rich area of south-central British Columbia.

Elaboration of that promise comes Sunday at nearby Krestova, centre of the Sons of Freedom group of the religious sect, where British Columbia police officials will attend a public meeting of the Sons' members.

Recognition that it must clear itself of "such doings and come to the right, open path of spiritual life," was made in a signed statement handed to police.

Special squads of provincial police officers have patrolled the area since the Provincial Government instituted a law-enforcement plan at the start of the month to end railway bombings and put an end for all time to arson and violence.

Must Make It Stick

Inspector R. S. Nelson told the four-man delegation, which presented the statement signed by themselves on behalf of the Sons, that it remained up to the Sons of Freedom members to make the promise stick.

The four signers—Anton Kolesnikoff, John J. Perepelkin, William J. Zmoif and Sons' leader, John Lebedoff—said their move followed a warning last Sunday from provincial police that the Sons this time had gone too far.

Three attempted dynamitings of Canadian Pacific rail lines—two successful—had precipitated a crisis among angry Nelson citizens and railway workers. The railwaymen demanded and got bridge guards and patrols.

Lebedoff had his home burned Dec. 4 by his own followers for no apparent reason other than that home burnings, accompanied by hymns and chants of the sect, have occurred before.

The promise, if kept, would mean the end of active resistance by the Sons of Freedom to man-made laws of the Canadian Government which gave the entire sect sanctuary from Russia at the turn of the century.

Witness Girls Kidnapped By 20 Men

Mob Seizes Couple Making Calls In Quebec Town

MONTREAL, Dec. 15 (CP) — Two young Joliette, Que., girls, members of the Jehovah Witnesses, said Wednesday night a group of 15 to 20 men" kidnapped them in Joliette and drove them to Montreal where they unsuccessfully tried to have them jailed.

The girls, in their 20's, identified themselves as Winnifred Parsons and Olive Lundell.

They said they were making door-to-door calls with a Bible in Joliette when the men accosted them. They added they were forced into a taxi with six of the men and were driven to Montreal.

There, they said, two attempts were made to have them jailed, first at the Fullum Street Women's Jail and then at No. 13 Police Station.

They were then released by the men, they claimed.

Threaten Girls

The girls said the men threatened them, saying: "If you don't go now, we will be 50 tomorrow, and 200 the day after tomorrow, to see that you leave Joliette and never come back. We will have people watching for you at every street corner."

Manitoba Plans To Keep Hands Off Rent Controls

WINNIPEG, Dec. 15—(CP)—Manitoba does not propose to enter the field of rent control "at this time," it was announced today. The information was contained in a letter sent to Finance Minister Abbott by Premier Douglas L. Campbell of Manitoba. The letter was dispatched following a provincial cabinet meeting on the rent problem Wednesday.

Saskatchewan and Alberta have announced intention of stepping into the rent control field. Their action followed announcement by Mr. Abbott recently that rent boosts of 18 to 22 per cent would be permitted effective Dec. 15, today.

In his letter, Mr. Campbell traced the steps of federal rent control from Sept. 11, 1940 when Ottawa took charge in that field. The premier noted that "the field of rent control has been occupied by the Federal government alone, with the consent and approval of all provinces."

He added, "the Manitoba government has not changed its view that wartime rent control and consequently, decontrol, should be completed by those authorities who have the experience and knowledge as well as staff to complete the process in an orderly manner."

At Quebec, Premier Duplessis announced today that he has asked Finance Minister Abbott for postponement of the recently-authorized rent increases until the Supreme Cour of Canada decides on the validity of federal rent controls.

Mr. Duplessis said he had advised the finance minister that the province of Quebec will step in if the Supreme Court decides that rent control is a provincial matter.

Mr. Duplessis said this morning he had made his plans known to Mr. Abbott in a telegram yesterday.

The premier told Mr. Abbott that if the court decides rent control is a provincial matter, the Quebec government, without delay, will take steps to establish a system and an organization "able to meet all needs and give justice to all."

REOPEN NEGOTIATIONS

SINGAPORE, Dec. 15 (Reuters) — Russia has reopened negotiations for the purchase of Malayan rubber after a three-month lull, the Malaya Tribune says today. The newspaper says brokers here believed Russia wanted about 7,000 tons for shipment in January.

Elected Mayor Walter Dowden Dies Week Later

BRANTFORD, Dec. 15 (CP) — A cold he contracted during a strenuous election campaign and which later developed into pneumonia, early today took the life of Mayor Walter J. Dowden who had been re-elected Dec. 6 for his third consecutive term.

He had been ill with a cold in November, but recovered sufficiently to take an active part in his bid for re-election. He suffered a relapse, however, soon after he was returned to office in a three-man contest.

His condition became serious last Saturday, and he was taken to General Hospital.

Mayor Dowden had operated a tailoring business for some years and was prominent in Progressive-Conservative circles. He was a defeated candidate in the Federal elections of 1945.

Unusual Situation

Mr. Dowden's death after he was sworn into office for the 1950 term but before he assumed the office created what is believed to be a situation unparalleled in Ontario municipalities.

City officials conferred today on what procedure should be followed to fill the vacant mayoralty. The question also was referred to the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs.

The problem concerns a section of the Municipal Act which empowers Council to elect a Mayor from their members when the office becomes vacant before the full term has expired.

Since Mr Dowdn's new term was not scheduled to start until January 1, the question now is whether a new election for Mayor should be called or whether the 1950 Council will be asked to elect a Mayor.

DEATH IN A CRIB NEAR DOWNEYVILLE came to nine-month-old Mary O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neill, early this morning. It is believed that the child pulled a lighted oil lamp from a bedside table and ignited her crib. Dr. William Earle of Omemee drove the small patient and her parents to Toronto's Sick Children's Hospital where she died shortly after admittance. Upper Left photo, shows grandfather George O'Neill, with whom the parents live, and Mary's sisters, Marjorie and Joan, and brother George. Upper Right shows the corner of the upstairs bedroom where the crib was ignited. The parents are shown, Insert, in a photo of the McNeill farm home on Lot 13, Concession 8, Emily township, 2½ miles east of Downeyville.

Hold Boy 14 In Lad's Death

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP) — Police today held a 14-year-old boy in connection with the death Wednesday night of altar boy Michael Dodds, 9, believed beaten by a gang of youths last week. Death is believed to have been caused by a brain injury.

Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson said the boy's injury probably was caused by having his head pounded against the pavement. Police said they learned that in a "test of strength" Dodds had been thrown to the ground by one of a gang of suburban New Toronto youngsters.

They are also investigating a report that Dodds, along with several other boys, was returning home from altar boy practice at St. Leo's Roman Catholic church when a group of older boys set upon them.

Mental Hospital For Children

TORONTO, Dec. 15 (CP)—Ontario Health Minister Kelley said today a new children's mental hospital will be opened at Aurora by March 1, 1950. The new hospital will take 250 boys from the provincial institution at Orillia.

This, the minister said, would create room at Orillia for 250 cases now requiring hospital care. The new hospital will be devoted entirely to boys.

Sites for two new mental hospitals in the province's $35,000,000 building program will be announced Jan. 15. One is expected to be built at Fort William.

Mr. Kelley said he would make an inspection tour of sites at Sudbury, Kirkland Lake, Timmins, North Bay and Cochrane, for the second.

Walks Out On Fiance Weds Him 51 Yrs. Later

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 15 (AP)— A 71-year-old woman was honeymooning today with the man she walked out on almost 50 years ago.

Martha Marie Ballard and Noah Paddack were married Wednesday night. He is 71 also.

Forty-nine years ago Miss Ballard left her home the night before she was to marry Paddack. She went to Denver and got a job.

Paddack didn't see her again until 1938 when she returned to Kansas City. Last August they patched up differences and then decided to get married.

"It was a misunderstanding," Paddack said. "I understand and don't hold it against her. We both have more sense now."

Power Strike Flares Anew In London After Settlement

LONDON, Dec. 15—(AP)—A three-day wildcat strike in state-owned power plants flared back to life today hours after it appeared settled. The 2,700 strikers voted this morning to resume work today, with nothing gained from their wage protest. But workers at three of the four strike-bound plants failed to go back as scheduled. The electricity authority had posted notices telling the men they were returning "unconditionally." Strikers said the word was too broad and they would go back only "under terms existing" before the walkout.

The strike was over a disputed 5s 3d (about 81 cents) a man a week, but it caused rush hour jam-ups on London subways and left thousands of households with two little current for cooking and heating.

The pay claim will continue in negotiation.

Troops Help Out

The strike collapsed because troops maintained partial production, good weather cut demand for current and other workers refused to support the strike, which was denounced in statements by union leaders.

The break came this morning when 1,600 strikers at the Barking station, Europe's biggest, decided to heed a back-to-work call by union officials. There were only eight dissenting votes.

Another 1,100 workers at the Brimsdown, Taylors Lane and Littlebrook stations quickly followed suit. Workers at other stations planned to resume work this afternoon.

Asbestos Miners Get 10c Raise

MONTREAL, Dec. 15 (CP). — Asbestos miners of three Thetford Mines, Ont., firms have been awarded a 10-cent-an-hour pay increase but denied reinstitution of the Rand Formula, it was shown today in the report of a Quebec Labor Arbitration Board which inquired into their dispute.

The miners, members of the Federation of Asbestos Workers (Canadian and Catholic Congress of Labor) went on strike February 15 with minersm at Asbestos, Que., to enforce demands for a 15 cents an hour increase, renewal of the Rand Formula, and other privileges. The basic rate was 85 cents an hour.

Judge Tremblay and Mr. Caron rejected the union's demand for the Rand Formula and said it was turning it down because the Federation of Miners, affiliated with the Canadian and Catholic Federation of Labor, was a "confessional union" and should not force non-Catholic workers to pay union dues.

The decision recommends that union dues be retained at the source from voluntarily-enrolled members. However, members may withdraw their consent at any time if the board's ruling is accepted.

Kennedy Urges Farmers Donate Surplus To Britain

TOONTO, Dec. 15 (CP)—Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario said today the province's farmers should make a gift of their surplus food to Britain if the United Kingdom cannot afford to pay for it.

In an interview, Mr. Kennedy was commenting on the dismal picture of 1950 Anglo-Canadian food contracts given in the House of Commons Wednesday by Agriculture Minister Gardiner. The Federal Minister said no contracts were sighted for bacon, eggs, salmon, and apples.

"This means a tremendous loss to Ontario farmers," said Mr. Kennedy. "We were shut out of profits during the war. We couldn't get any cream, but had to take skim milk, so to speak, when the war was on, but we were assured of a floor price after the war. Now not only is a floor price denied, but there's no price at all."

He suggested Ontario farmers give their food surpluses to Britain for her contributions to mankind during the last 200 years.

Kingsley Brown, editor of the Rural Co-operator, said in an interview that pressure used against the Federal Government by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association "has worked to the disadvantage" of Canadian farmers in the loss of UK food contracts."

He said the CMA is using its influence to stop sales of British goods in Canada which would give Britain more dollars to buy Canadian produce.

Labor Group Appalled At Steel Price Jump

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP)— A CIO spokesman said today the labor organization is "simply appalled by the rumors of pending steel price increases."

Everett Kassalow, executive secretary of the CIO full-employment committee made the statement in testimony prepared for hearings of the Senate-House of Representatives Economic Committee. He was called before a sub-committee which is studying ways to attract investment capital to small businesses.

Senator Joseph O'Mahoney (Dem. Wyo.) said a steel price increase would be "out of line" and would call for a congressional inquiry.

The increase which they referred to was forecast by Benjamin Fairless, president of the United States Steel Corporation, in Chicago yesterday.

Britain Presses Canada-US For Asiatic Aid Program

LONDON, Dec. 15 (AP) — Britain is pressing the United States and Canada to help launch a giant new aid program for the Middle East and southern Asia, a responsible British source reported today.

He said the idea has come up "in the most general terms" at top-secret, three-power talks now going on in Washington.

The three fold aim of such a project was said to be:

1. To save these strategic, potentially rich regions from the spread of Communism.

2. To help western Europe—mainly Britain—close its debit gap between dollar buying and dollar spending.

3. Take off Britain some of the load she claims she's carrying in paying off the wartime sterling debts, accumulated by countries like India, Pakistan, Egypt and Iraq.

The source stressed the Washington talks still are in an exploratory stage. No full-scale, formal British plan has been handed yet to the US or Canada.

The British idea has been talked over, however. Apparently it counters an American proposal for settling the sterling-balance debts.

The United States suggested during the Washington talks that Britain slow down repayment of the debts, the source said. This would enable Britain to divert more exports to dollar countries and so help close the dollar gap. At the same time it would open countries like India, Pakistan, Egypt and Iraq—all secure and traditional British markets—to American goods.

The British government frankly disliked such a prospect, the source said.

120 Men Out Of Work At Trenton Factory

TRENTON, Dec. 15 (CP)—Dispute over two major points in the new union contract threw 120 men out of work at the Downs Coulter textile plant Wednesday. Management and negotiators for the United Textile Workers of America (AFL) will meet again tomorrow to seek an early settlement, it was learned today.

J. E. Uttley, managing director of the company, said the contract has been agreed upon except for two points, a wage increase of 15 cents an hour and a 40-hour week.

Gardiner Warns Farmers Long-Term Contracts For Food Appear Near End

Believes U.K. To Take Most Cheese Surplus Perhaps A Little Bacon Market Outlook Worst In World - Hannam

OTTAWA, Dec. 15—Canadian farmers today were faced with the loss of a greater part of their United Kingdom market—a market Agricultural Minister Gardiner termed "essential" to the country's agricultural prosperity. The cold, grim picture of the loss of the bulk of the U.K. food contracts—except cheese and possibly bacon—was laid before the Dominion's farm leaders Wednesday by Mr. Gardiner. In a two-hour review of Canada's agriculture outlook at the final session of the 10th annual Dominion-Provincial agricultural conference, Mr. Gardiner said the U.K. has set aside "sufficient" dollars to buy Canadian cheese in 1950 "if we can agree on price."

He held out a faint ray of hope to the country's hog producers that a small amount of bacon might be produced next year. But this was not definite and any gain in this direction would be at the loss of western Canada's wheat farmers.

While most delegates returned to their respective provinces today, Agriculture Ministers, or their deputies, from the Maritime Provinces remained behind to open a new round of agricultural discussions. They are meeting with Mr. Gardiner to discuss price support action to help bolster the hard-hit Maritime potato industry.

In a brief interview following his address, Mr. Gardiner said the UK had alloted $25,000,000 in US funds for the purchase of cheese in North America next year. Negotiators had promised him that the UK was prepared to spend most of that money in Canada if the price was low enough.

To Meet Dairy Men

He said he planned to meet dairy industry representatives next week and work out prices.

The UK bought 50,000,000 pounds of cheese from Canada this year at 30 cents a pound. The UK wanted the price reduced to 24 cents. It appears the final price may be set around 27 cents a pound.

Mr. Gardiner said he thought the UK would take most of the cheese surplus—expected to run to about 65,000,000 pounds—in 1950.

It was the only good news Mr. Gardiner had to offer the conference yesterday on UK contracts. Of the 1949 contracts for bacon, cheese, eggs, salmon and apples that last year earned Canadian farmers some $72,000,000 only the $25,000,000 for cheese was in sight.

A small amount of bacon might be purchased next year, but this was not definite. A suggestion had been made that part of the $280,000,000 Britain has set aside for the purchase of Canadian wheat during the 1949-50 crop year be transferred to bacon. This suggestion was being explored.

Near Crossroads

He warned that Canadian farmers appear to be "at, or near, the crossroads" where a plan based upon long-term government negotiated contracts can not be continued.

There will be "general regret" among farmers, said Mr. Gardiner if such contracts must end.

"In my opinion it is essential that we sell considerable quantities to the UK if agriculture is to remain prosperous. I think we must sell a very considerable part of our bacon and cheese, most of our apples and most of the eggs we produce in surplus."

He had these other things to say:

1. The freight rate subsidy on movement of western feed grain to eastern Canada would be continued next year.

2. He advised western farmers that they cut down their wheat acreage next year from 27,000 000 acres to 22,000,000 acres. Of the remaining 44,000,000 acres available for planting, 22,000,000 should be seeded to coarse grains and grasses and 22,000,000 left in summerfallow.

3. The interpretation people had placed on his statement in the Commons that there was a "deliberate" effort in the UK to squeeze out Canadian foodstuffs from Britain was not the interpretation he meant. He used word "deliberate" because the move against Canadian foodstuffs had been "planned." He said he realized the planning stemmed from Britain's lack of dollars.

Worst Outlook

H. H. Hannam, president of the 400,000 member Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said "Canadian farmers face a worse market outlook at this time than do the farmers of any other agricultural country."

Farmers "got gypped" at the beginning of the boom period and now they were the "first to take the rap" at the end of it. He urged Canadians to be "generous in applying price supports to agricultural commodities."

T. C. Nollet, Saskatchewan's agricultural minister, said he could not understand why people had given "some person" leadership when that person had not found a solution to problems facing farmers.

Searching Ruins Of Packing Plant 15 Die, 90 Hurt

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Dec. 15 (AP) — Workmen today searched through the ruins of the explosion-wrecked Swift and Company packing plant office building for additional bodies from Wednesday's bomb-like blast which killed 16 persons and injured some 90 others. Nine of the injured were reported in critical condition.

Clarence Chappelle, assistant fire chief, said he expected to find four more bodies in the debris. Some 200 workmen, assisted by mechanical equipment, pulled slabs of concrete and twisted steel out of the basement of the five-storey brick structure. They worked through the night.

Fire Chief Charles Kuhl, who estimated the damage at more than $1,000,000, blamed escaping natural gas for the explosion. County authorities said they and city officials probably would join in another investigation. Gas mains leading into the building were being checked for leaks.

Sheriff Edwin L. Lunde said the "main thing is to try to get out any who might be alive and to extricate bodies. We naturally are interested in conjunction with other authorities in finding out what caused the blast."

The dead included 15 men and a company nurse.

Of the 85 on the injured lists reported by four hospitals, 60 remained in hospital.

A company spokesman said about 1,000 persons were in the building at the time of the terrific blast.

13 In Crew Survive When Vessel Burns

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 15—(AP)—Thirteen survivors of the Dutch motorship Doros were safe today but it was feared the remaining 11 crew members had died.

Five men were picked up by the steamship Williamsburg Wednesday night. They reported the ship's cook had died and was buried at sea.

Eight others were brought here earlier in the day after being rescued from a lifeboat by the American tanker Sparrows Point.

The Williamsburg radioed shortly after midnight that it had picked up the men at 11:36 p.m. EST Wednesday about 35 miles due north of San Salvador, a little south of where tragedy overtook the 921-ton Doros Monday morning.

Await Verdict Of Post Mortem

No decision on the post mortem held Wednesday afternoon into the mysterious death of Reynard Sanderson, 28, of Port Hope, has been announced.

Blood, stomach and urinary tests have been made and the samples sent to Toronto for pathologists' examination. These are expected to be completed in a week or two, Coroner Dr. Herbert Young told the Examiner.

Sanderson, a Port Hope electrician, was found lying in a ditch about five miles south-west of Peterborough by the side of Highway 28, shortly before 11.30 p.m. Tuesday night.

How and why he got to this location, as well as the cause of death, are still aspects being investigated by Provincial Police.

There is no obvious sign of foul play. Dr. Young said there was no mark on his body indicating any injury either due to foul play or a hit-and-run driver.

He was found lying in the ditch on the south side of the highway by Provincial Constable George Henderson, who was on routine patrol. Upon admittance to hospital he was pronounced dead.

30-Year-Old Mystery

CALGARY, Dec. 15 (CP) — Royal Canadian Mounted Police have a 30 year old mystery on their hands. They are trying to find someone who was robbed.

They received a post card addressed simply to "RCMP, Calgary" and post marked "Calgary." The message said "I stole a saddle in Carbon (Alta.) in 1919. Please found out who owned it and put his name in the personal column. . . This is not a joke, I want to make it right."

Criminal Intent Ruled Lacking In Housing Plan

TORONTO, Dec. 15 (CP) — Judge Ian Macdonnell has found insufficient evidence to warrant criminal prosecution in the collapse of the Pelmo Park housing project here in which investors lost some $93,500 in down payments.

The judge's report, released on Wednesday by Attorey-General Dana Porter, held out little hope for the investors. Many put their life savings into the 84-house building project started by youthful Norman Kershaw of Toronto.

Judge Macdonnell said it would establish a "dangerous precedent" for the Ontario government to aid the finishing of uncompleted houses in any way. He said he doubted whether anything could be salvaged through bankruptcy proceedings.

The project started on the outskirts of suburban Weston in August, 1948, with the building of six homes on Pelmo Crescent and later was expanded. Some homes were practically completed but the majority had only the foundations dug. Through an arrangement with an insurance company (Canada Life) another builder is finishing those near completion.

Three Recommendations

Three recommendations were made by Judge Macdonnell.

The first was that proper financial information should be obtained in large national housing act projects at the outset and from time to time as the project expanded.

Secondly, the meaning of a certain section of the Mechanics' Lien Act should be clarified. It states that all sums received by a builder or contractor should be constituted as a trust fund for payment of wages and material and must not be converted to the personal use of the builder or contractor.

Thirdly, that the qualifications of Fred Madill, sales manager for Kershaw, to hold a real estate agents' licence should be reviewed by the registrar of the Real Estate and Business Brokers' Act.

Witness Girls

During the taxi trip, the six men "recited prayers for five to seven minutes before they took us to Fullum Street Jail and then to No. 13 Police Station," they said.

Joliette Police Chief Valmore Lapierre said "it seems to have been a very well-organized affair by private citizens."

Lieut. Hilaire Anctil of the Montreal police said about 10:00 p.m. Wednesday night a taxi driver from Joliette, accompanied by another young man, went to No. 13 Police Station there and said they had two girls in a car who had been "expelled from Joliette by the population."

The lieutenant asked the two men whether they were sworn constables of Joliette. They said they were not.

"I told them it was not the business of Montreal police to look after the people expelled from Joliette," recalled Lieutenant Anctil.

Little Protection

The Joliette police chief said he would protect the girls if they returned to pick up personal belongings, but added that they were not welcome to stay.

"Officially," said Police Chief Lapierre, "I know nothing about the case.

"But I do know that the local population is irate over the two girls. They have been here since the spring. This community is 99 per cent Roman Catholic. People are sick and tired of these girls going from door to door and trying to read the Bible to people.

"No case has ever been made against them. They have never been impolite but they have been imposing on people. If they come back I will give them protection to get their belongings. I am certainly not going to provide a constable for their protection against molestation 24 hours a day in their door-to-door canvassing."

Jackson Claims Action Wrong

"Totally unconstitutional" is the comment of C. S. Jackson, Canadian UE president, on the action of the Executive Council of the CCL in suspending the UE. It was effective December 1.

This was made in a formal letter of protest by Jackson to A. R. Mosher, president of the CCL.

The CCL suspended the UE on the grounds of non-payment of dues extending over three months. This was hotly denied by the left-wing UE. Suspension would not be operative until today, Jackson contended.

In the letter to Mosher it was claimed that on December 5 the CCL president himself had acknowledged receipt of the September and October per capita dues from the International Office, New York.

Jackson quoted from the constitution of the CCL to bolster his point that the November cheque was not due until December 15.

According to Section 2, Article 11 of the CCL constitution, he said, "The per capita and initiation fees. . . shall be remitted to the secretary-treasurer of the Congress monthly, within 15 days after the first day of the succeeding calendar month."

Higher Hydro Rates For Peterborough

Mr. Robert Saunders, Chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario rather casually announced on Tuesday heavy increases in the rates which the Commission will charge municipalities. This will affect Peterborough.

• • •

The way the system operates in these matters is that the producer and owner of all power in Ontario, except in a few places like Campbellford which did not enter the Hydro system, is the Hydro Commission. It sells this power to the local Utilities Commissions, which in turn deal with the public, sell them the power, and charge them what is necessary to pay local operating expenses and the Hydro's bill. The increases announced by Mr. Saunders will cost Peterborough between sixty and eighty thousand dollars.

• • •

Peterborough homeowners, businesses and industries use about 27,000 horse power. The rate has been increased by Hydro almost ten per cent—$2.25 a horse power. This means an increased cost to the Utilities of about $60,000. Incidentally this increase has been made retroactive a month and a half—to November 1st; which is rather a strange way of doing business.

• • •

That is not the whole story of the increases. The Commission is a canny dealer, and basis its monthly charges to the communities on the average daily peak load. At the end of the year, after it has presented its twelve monthly bills, it hands in the "thirteenth bill", which is a credit for power already charged for, but not used, because most of the municipalities do not draw power all day at the peak load rates. Last year's refund to Peterborough was $44,999. Mr. Saunders now announces that the refund will be reduced by $1.25 a horse power. How much this will mean to Peterborough has not yet been calculated. And we shall probably have to wait until the new year to find out exactly, when the "Thirteenth Bill" comes in.

• • •

How the Peterborough Utilities Commission proposes to meet the Hydro's extra charges has yet to be determined. There is little doubt that the Commission will have to increase its rates.

• • •

Why is Hydro charging more? A chief reason is that Hydro is expanding and presently engaged in expensive construction work. Another is that the Frequency Conversion plan is costing a mint of money. When the plan was announced, there were assurances that it could be financed without any noticeable increase in costs. For this reason alone we should like to hear the Commission's explanation for the increases in rather more detail than it has condescended to give us so far.

• • •

Last year we remonstrated that the Commission seemed to be indulging in more million-dollar steam plants, for the benefit of Windsor, Toronto and other such areas, than the temporary nature of the power crisis seemed to warrant. Is Peterborough paying for the Windsor plant as well as its full share of the Hydro frequency change-over which does not directly benefit Peterborough, already in the sixty cycle area?

Illegitimacy Rates In Ontario

The rate of illegitimacy in Ontario has increased one hundred per cent in the last twenty-five years. Figures recently published by the Ontario Registrar-General's department, based on 1947 statistics (the latest compiled) show 4,748 illegitimate live births in 1947, 1,519 in 1922; an increase from 21.3 in every thousand live births, to 43.6.

These are not alarming figures. A strict moralist may take comfort in the fact that although the number of illegitimate births has steadily increased, the 1947 rate, considered as a percentage of the total births, is lowest since 1935. During the war there was an increase in illegitimate births, to a peak of 51.6 of every thousand births in 1945.

Of much more consequence is the stillbirth graph in the Registrar-General's report, which is almost exactly the reverse of the illegitimacy curve. Of every thousand births in Ontario in 1922, 43.6 were still-births. Better pre-natal care, more healthy mothers, and careful medical and nursing care in the last twenty-five years have reduced the rate of still-births by more than a hundred per cent. In 1947 there were only 20 stillbirths to every thousand live births. In 1922 3,115 babies were born dead in Ontario. In 1947 despite the larger population and the 35,000 more births, only 2,176 babies were born dead. As a consequence of improved standards, methods and care, rather than as a result of increased illegitimacy, Ontario is each year having more and more healthy babies.

Ontario's attitude to illegitimacy is improving, even officially now that a child need no longer go through life with a birth certificate cruelly marking him as illegitimate. This is no place for a dissertation on wedlock and the lack of it, but we should like to make two comments, based on the statistics. Illegitimacy increases in wartime; nevertheless the rate in Ontario did not mount appallingly between 1939 and 1945. The largest increase in the period from 1922 came in the five years 1928-32, when the rate rose by 13½ per cent, to 42.4 births out of wedlock in 1932, for every thousand. Whether the easy money and reckless spirit of the late twenties, or the first pinches of the Depression affected the rate, is for sociologists to say. Our second observation is that the more humane treatment our society is giving unwed mothers, the more welfare agencies that are available to them and the better provisions being made for them to have their children, have not resulted in an increase in illegitimacy. Perhaps when Ontario comes up to the standards of Denmark and Sweden in these matters, illegitimacy will decline.

Road Competition For Rails

It was inevitable that some railway men would speak up against the building of the Trans-Canada Highway. When it is completed it will offer some competition to the railways, particularly in the hauling business. Already T.C.A. is an air competitior in the passenger business. Last Monday the head of the C.P.R. protested before the Royal Commission on Transportation, the spending of government money on the proposed Trans-Canada Highway. It would, he said, provide a route for Trans-Canada trucking, and there was no suggestion that truckers would pay even an "infinitesimal" part of the cost of the road.

The C.P.R.'s brief in this matter was incidental to other pleas it was making, and we suspect that the railways have not their heads so buried in the sand that they believe that any serious consideration will be given to their objection to the road. Time does not stand still, even for the mighty C.P.R. As for the suggestion made by the Railway Association of Canada that the road is being unfairly subsidized, the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. can look into their their own hearts, history and finances. The percentage of the national wealth and revenue which will go into the highway is not a tittle of that poured into the railways.

One point may be considered. Since the Federal Government is putting a rather large amount of money into this highway, through the Provincial governments, it might properly seek to exact an annual licence fee from interprovincial truckers using the route.

Still Prisoners Of War

The Russians must find German prisoners-of-war worth their keep, for it is reported that the U.S.S.R. still holds 400,000 of them. This is quite apart from 1,500,000 German soldiers still listed as missing, many of them believed to be missing behind the Iron Curtain. Now, four years after the war, German prisoners are still working on roads and public construction in the Soviet Union. This is a scandalous state of affairs, even though no official peace treaty has been concluded with Germany. In 1947 the Big Four (Russia was then sitting in with France, Britain and the U.S.A. at councils, though rather bearishly) agreed to repatriate all their prisoners by January 1st, 1948.

It is possible that Russia has now decided to live up to the agreement by January 1st, 1950, for 140,000 Germans were returned in the last three months, and fewer are now seen labouring in Moscow. In fact, Russia agreed this year, in response to western prodding, to free all the German prisoners by the end of 1949. It is not a bad U.S.S.R. time to repatriate them, to Eastern Germany, at any rate. There the Communist regime has set up a flourishing new German military police corps, which returned, jobless prisoners and ex-soldiers might be induced to join.

NOTE AND COMMENT

In the furniture business the expression "pickled blonde" means a mahogany finish. We thought it meant a lady whom gentlemen preferred who had got herself shellacked.

Sybil Thorndike

GREAT TRAGIC ACTRESS
By LANGSTON DAY

AS an actress Sybil Thorndike is in a class apart. In Greek plays she has no rival at all. Her acting is such that she once filled a music hall for 11 weeks with The Trojan Woman and Medea. More recently she rose to fresh heights when she played Jocasta to Sir Laurence Olivier's tremendous Theban King in Oedipus.

As a young woman she had made St. Joan of Arc her great heroine; when she heard that Bernard Shaw was writing a St. Joan play she wrote to ask him who was going to play the title role. Shaw replied that of course she was!

A good deal had happened since the day when Shaw had seen her as an American girl in a farce and had invited her to understudy Candida. When she had gone through her part, putting all she knew into it, he had burst into shouts of laughter.

"Splendid, my dear young lady," he had said. "You go home and learn housekeeping and have four children, and then come back and show me Candida."

ALL the same, he must have seen something in her, for he gave her the understudy, made her sit beside him at rehearsals, and took great trouble in explaining the acting to her.

When she heard that she was to have the part of St. Joan it seemed to her (so she wrote) that Heaven had opened and that the First Person of the Trinity in the shape of a quizzical god with a white beard was smiling down at her. But had even Shaw managed to do justice to her beloved Saint?

She went down to his country home and Shaw, who reads as well as he writes, read the play to her. She could hardly help crying out, so much did it exceed her highest hopes. During rehearsals she walked on air, and before the first performance she went to Mass. Contrary to the opinion of the skeptics, the play had an immense success, and Sybil Thorndike rose to fame. It was the greatest success scored by any English actress for 50 years.

WOMEN like Sybil Thorndike have an inward fire which is akin to religious fervour. Her tremendous enthusiasm was apparent in her childhood when with her brother, Russell, she wrote and performed terrific melodramas in the box-room before an admiring audience of servants, or skipped about in the cellar, impersonating the priests of Baal, and pretending to sacrifice the cat with fearful yells while her long-suffering father was trying to compose sermons upstairs.

Her first ambition was to be a pianist, and she set to work with the same intensity! Setting her alarm clock for 4.30 a.m. she would spring out of bed into a cold bath and was practising her scales before anyone else was astir. But for trouble with her wrist, she might have become a great musician; as it was she went to Ben Greet's Academy, and afterwards this well-known producer of Shakespeare took her to America on one of the strangest of theatrical tours.

They played in barns and sheds to cattlemen and miners. Once the company staged a performance in a combined Assize Court, lunatic asylum and prison, with a mad negress in a cell screaming so loudly that they had to shout their lines.

She acted in 12 plays a week, mostly Shakespearian. Playing a nun in Everyman a piece of her veil went down her throat and affected her vocal chords. She struggled on heroically for two months with a boyish creak and then was forced to return home. Only by keeping a strict vow of silence for six weeks did she save her voice from permanent ruin.

One day she met a dour-looking man named Lewis Casson in the lion house of Dublin's zoo.

"He was standing in front of a tiger trying to hypnotize it," she wrote home. "He never spoke a word to me and I don't think he knew I existed."

All the same, he married her. And by a strange coincidence she followed Bernard Shaw's advice and had four children.

HER husband was an ardent suffragist. He told her bluntly that she would never be an actress unless she learned something about the world, and that the sooner she became a suffragette the better. Obediently she became one and took the chair at a suffragette meeting. "It's awful being an actor," she wrote, "because you can make yourself feel anything at any time, and oddly enough, quite sincerely."

Lewis Casson was also a fiery Welshman and something of a revolutionary. With his wife, he tried to give Manchester Shakespeare plays in new setting and patiently bore the volleys of abuse from conservative playgoers. But at a farewell dinner given in his honour his feelings overcame him, and after a fiery speech he sat down amid a horrified silence. With a flash of genius his wife burst into peals of laughter, everyone joined in, and the sting of the speech was forgotten.

ALL through the first world war the Cassons played Shakespeare at the Old Vic theatre, London, for 30 shillings a week, even when the Zeppelins dropped bombs on Waterloo Station close by. As the heroine of a war-time melodrama at Drury Lane Theatre Sybil Thorndike was so tremendous that the audience from the gallery set upon the villain at the stage door.

After the 1914-18 war there was a craze for Grand Guignol and London shivered at the sight of Sybil Thorndike being murdered and stuffed into a trunk, or having her eyes gouged out by mad women. The nurses who, as is customary in London theatres, were on duty to deal with any sudden illness among the audience, were kept constantly busy.

She was unforgettable as Lady Macbeth and Katherine. Later she appeared in many roles with the Old Vic company which rose to fresh heights under the inspiration of such actors as Sir Laurence Olivier and Sir Ralph Richardson. She was Volumnia in Coriolanus, Peer's mother in Peer Gynt, and Raina's in Arms and the Man. She was Mistress Quickly in Henry IV and Jocasta in Oedipus.

Unlike almost any other actress of her day, she has never sought personal fame. A caustic critic once described her as "the most noble-minded woman I know in any sphere of Art."

Australia's New Prime Minister

By WILLIAM FITTER
(Cabled report from Sydney to the London Observer and Peterborough Examiner)

ROBERT GORDON MENZIES, Australia's new Prime Minister, is not new to office but as a man he has greatly changed since he last held office eight years ago.

When he first succeeded to the Prime Ministership after the death of Joseph Lyons in April, 1939, he had an unchecked rise to wealth and power through university, law and Victorian State and Federal politics. He was then only 44 and, because everything had been so easy for him, he was inclined towards arrogance and dictatorial treatment of his colleagues. Two years later his party—the United Australia Party—deposed him after bitter squabbling and within a few weeks the Government fell. It was succeeded by Labour administrations, first under John Curtin and then under J. B. Chifley which reigned for eight years.

The Menzies who has returned to office is a mellowed individual, a man tempered in adversity, less arrogant and more in touch with "the common man". He is still Australia's finest orator whose speeches have often been compared favourably with Mr. Churchill's stirring wartime utterances, but he has learned that irony, for which he has a flair, is not appreciated by the average Australian and that the biting quip may raise a laugh but loses a lot of friends.

Like Chifley, the Labour leader whom he succeeds, Menzies has a personal "log-cabin to White House" legend. His grandfather was an engine-driver, his father a country store-keeper in a western district of Victoria where Menzies was born in 1894. It was not family influence but his own brilliance and hard work which brought him to the forefront of the Australian bar to become at 34 the nation's youngest King's Counsel. Not family wealth but an active enquiring mind equipped him with an excellent education, a discriminating knowledge of literature and the arts and a taste for the Latin classics. He went from a simple State school through college to Melbourne University on scholarships. He gave up a lucrative law practice to enter the Victorian State Parliament and within six weeks was admitted to the cabinet. When he moved on to federal politics his by now legendary success story was repeated.

AFTER that black day in August 1941 when his party rebelled against him, Menzies was written off by many political observers. But in eclipse he proved that he had within him the courage to take setbacks which even his closest friend feared he lacked. Menzies set out to form a new party more democratic and more progressive than the United Australian Party. He toured the country addressing hundreds of little meetings of city and country-town dwellers, wharf-labourers, miners and shepherds, drovers and cattlemen far "out back". Finally there emerged a strong well-knit liberal party which, as its name implies, is more acceptable to the democratic Australians than the ultra-conservative United Australian Party.

Labour's unsuccessful attempt to nationalize private banks gave Menzies the key to the victory he achieved in Saturday's poll. From it he built his creed of the "individual man" on which he based his successful appeal to the electors. In speech after speech he hammered home the Liberal Party's championship of the rights of the individual against the despotism—however benevolent—of Labour governments. A man, he said, should be able to bank where he liked. It was a simple but effective argument. Socialism he attacked as a "shabby, defeated Continental idea". What was needed was a return to that spirit of adventure, courage and initiative whereby the British Empire was created rather than the petty controls, form-filling and fetish of "security" with which the Labour Government had become obsessed.

This is how Menzies summed up his creed. "The whole inspiring genius of the British race is a turbulent, good-humoured, rather unruly, jocular off-hand idea that politicians are all right in their place, but you don't want them to have too much power".

Australians, caught up in spiralling prices and bitterly resentful of continued petrol, butter and tea rationing, warmed towards the new Menzies. They forgot the old arrogant Menzies and chose this reborn leader with the silver tongue and picturesque phrase because he offered adventure rather than the "hold the line" policy offered by Labour. Whether the adventure will be as stimulating to the man-in-the-street as Menzies made out it would be, and whether in fact his Government will be able to "make the pound worth a pound and not ten shillings", abolish petrol rationing and reduce taxation, only time can show.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable.

But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the firstfruits of them that slept.

For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.

For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.

But every man in his own order: Christ the firstfruits; afterward they that are Christ's at his coming....

As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly.

And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly. (I Cor. 15: 19-23, 48, 49.)

Sir Harry's Sign

That the Scottish people have a reputation for being super-economical can be attributed in no small measure to the sedulous press-agentry of the rest of the world to have them regarded in that frugal light. Consider how it gilded the lily in the case of Sir Harry Lauder.

Arriving in London, after a tour of the provinces, the great comedian was escorted to a cabstand by a group of reporters, who prevailed upon him to pose standing by a cab and pointing to a sign in the window.

"Now give us a great big smile", the photographer urged, and forthwith snapped his picture.

Sir Harry was too tired to read the sign at the time but he got the full import of it the following day when someone showed him the picture in the paper. The placard read: "Great Reduction in Fares."

The Rev. Father O'Neill spoke of the ban on crime comics and urged the mothers to supervise the reading of their children. He said it was the duty of the parents to place the right kind of literature in their hands.

Mrs. A. Sheridan gave a reading entitled "A Christmas Legend" and Miss Mary Hughes gave a reading, "Rebellious Christian."

Duets were sung by Mrs. W. Shannon and Mrs. H. Brady, with Miss Rita Deacon at the piano.

126 Assessments Contested In Court Of Revision

COBOURG, Dec. 15.—(ENS). — Court of Revision opened Wednesday morning with enough work to keep the appeal court going for two days. Seventy-seven people are appealing on 126 pieces of property. While the number of appeals is less than ten per cent. of the number of properties, the appeals are largely the result of the re-assessment of the town made this year.

A few domestic appeals were heard Wednesday and a portion were altered in favor of the appellant, but most of the assessments were confirmed. Wednesday afternoon several industrial appeals came up for hearing.

A spokesman for the Dominion Wheel and Foundry asked for a 10 per cent. reduction from the new assessment of $149,520. The new assessment, it was contended, was 266 per cent. higher than the old. It was pointed out that the company had not laid anyone off after the fire of last year.

Speaking on behalf of the company, W. Richie declared that apparently the town of Cobourg was basing its assessment methods on that of the city of Toronto, but the town of Cobourg was not providing the municipal services which such an assessment would merit. The Court of Revision reserved its decision on this appeal.

The Edwards and Edwards tannery asked for a 25 per cent. reduction from its new assessment of $209,760. W. S. Edwards informed the court that the measurements made by the assessing staff were not correct and a higher rate had been charged on the cheaper building than the main building.

"It wasn't a proper valuation, and we are not going to sit back and take it," Mr. Edwards asserted. He added that a $50,000 depreciation allowance would make the assessment more equitable. Decision was reserved.

Makes Formal Request

A formal request by the CGE for a reduction from its new assessment of $290,760 was made and decision was reserved.

Dr. Fred Robertson, MP, owner of Robertson Packers, said that his canning factory assessment had been increased 500 per cent., as it was $6,000 before and was now $32,480. The land was assessed for $2,800, but part of the 28 acres was swamp. Tax Collector E. A. Hircock replied that he had only been assessed for 14 acres.

Continuing, Dr. Robertson said that his factory occupied only one acre of land. He had paid $2,200 for the property two years ago and he considered an assessment of $2,800 was excessive. There were no municipal services out there, except for light and power.

The canning factory operated only four or five weeks a year and most of the buildings were used for storage. The insurance on the buildings amounted to $17,000, which he considered covered his investment. The business assessment of 60 per cent. was applicable only to a manufacturer, and he should have the 25 per cent. assessment on a processor, Dr. Robertson said.

"I can't pay that assessment and stay in business too," he declared.

In connection with the appeal of Smith Junior, an error was revealed in the assessment roll. A frontage of 58 feet appeared on the roll, while the actual frontage was 73 feet. Decision was reserved in all the industrial appeals.

79th Annual Meeting of Shareholders THE DOMINION BANK

Must Fight for Free System under the Rule of Law, President Robert Rae Tells Shareholders

Bank's Assets, Loans, Deposits are at New High, General Manager A. C. Ashforth Reports

A. C. ASHFORTH, GENERAL MANAGER ANALYZES BANK'S REPORT

Mr. A. C. Ashford stated that cash assets of $83 millions were up $15 millions equalling 20.86% of public liabilities and quick assets of $249 millions were up $8 millions equalling 62.58% of liabilities, showing a highly satisfactory liquid position. Total assets exceeded $426 millions as at the end of the Bank's fiscal year.

Mr. Ashforth pointed out that after providing for all Contingency Reserves, $835,000 for Government taxes, and $395,000 for Bank Premises write-off and paying dividends at $1 per share, $301,000 odd was added to Profit and Loss account now standing at $1,355,704. Capital $7,000,000 and Reserve $10,000,000 remain unchanged.

Deposits Up Substantially

Total deposits increased $30 millions to a total of over $388 millions with a substantial increase in the number of depositors. Demand deposits were about $9 millions and deposits bearing interest $18 millions. General increase in Savings Deposits in Chartered Banks showed Canadians were fully aware of the value of regular and systematic saving

Current Loans Increase

Commercial Loans increased almost $25 millions and totalled $157 millions. Grain loans were considerably higher than a year ago and increased advances on selected risks had been made at a large number of Branches due both to the requirements of our customers, and to the acquisition of new borrowing accounts.

Referring to new Branches and modernization of premises, Mr. Ashforth said it was the Bank's policy to extend its representation across Canada where growing needs of business necessitated it and as favourable opportunities arise to continue enlargement of modernization plans of present Branches.

Tribute to the Staff

Mr. Ashforth paid several tributes to the Staff for its loyal, untiring efforts and splendid co-operation, the measure of whose labours was reflected in the balance sheet. "I feel that the field of Banking as a life work offers great opportunities to young men of good character. Few lines of endeavour give a greater measure of security of employment, and I have no hesitation in recommending to young Canadians this type of work."

General Business Conditions

Noting that the tempo of business generally had been very satisfactory during the past year, Mr. Ashforth declared that business prospects were more difficult to forecast than for sometime and advises a conservative policy in determining inventory requirements. He said, "A year ago we felt that inventories in certain lines of business were somewhat heavy but this situation is greatly improving due to a continued high level of consumer buying. This supporting strength has served to curb any downward spiral of prices but it would seem advisable not to count too much on a continuation of the present volume of purchasing power. Sales have been maintained partly by greater instalment buying, made possible by the inducement of longer credit terms. A conservative policy in determining inventory requirements is more essential today than has been the case for several years."

In conclusion I should like to mention that the soundness of the Canadian Chartered Banks is due to efficient management under private enterprise, and the public may be assured that the Banks will continue to assist in the development of this country's resources and other worthwhile business projects whenever they conform to sound banking practice.

ROBERT RAE, PRESIDENT, DISCUSSES RE-VALUATION EFFECTS AND UNSOLVED TRADING PROBLEMS

In his address to the Shareholders, Mr. Robert Rae, the President, said that there was uncertainty for Canada and this Continent in the world markets as European countries struggled for self-reliance and sought to conserve dollars by buying as far as possible in the Sterling Area.

Re-valuation Effects— Still Uncertain

"Since the war we have seen the adoption of various schemes aimed to facilitate the economic recovery of Europe, and countries elsewhere, and to encourage multilateral trade among the nations. The demand from abroad for the products of Canada and the United States has been enormous during this period. The movement of goods from this Continent has largely had to be financed by the depletion of Dollar and Gold reserves and the making of gifts and loans as emergency followed emergency.

"To achieve at least a partial solution there must be a much more substantial return flow of goods and services and we have recently seen in the general re-valuation of currencies, a fresh attack upon the problem. Our press and periodicals have since been filled with discussions and I need not enlarge upon them. Whether this latest step will be beneficial and achieve the result sought, will be apparent only after some time has passed; there is no doubt that re-valuation must be assisted by a removal of artificial restraints on trade, particularly by the United States, if the world's resources are to be developed efficiently."

Trading Problems Not Solved

The problem of marketing Canada's surpluses abroad must continue to receive the first consideration of the best minds in this country and in its Government.

"The known results for this year are reasonably encouraging. For the first nine months our exports to all countries—$2,146 millions—were down only about $12 millions from the same period last year. Our official holdings of gold and U.S. dollars appear to have been maintained at a satisfactory level of about $985 millions.

"There are indications already that the United Kingdom will reduce purchases of Canadian eggs, bacon, newsprint and lumber during 1950 and this may result in new marketing problems and unsold surpluses.

"Business in Canada has been affected by the growing difficulties of International trade but bears striking evidence of the extent to which Canada's productive capacity has improved in recent years. Generally speaking, production, trade and capital investment continue at levels above, or not far below, the high marks attained in 1948. Whether this will hold remains to be seen, but none of us doubt that the Canadian economy is in a good position to withstand some of the adverse influences to which it may be exposed."

Banking Services Expand

Comparison of current loans in Canada by all Chartered Banks of $2,184 millions at end of September 1949, with $1,930 millions at end of September 1948, bore witness to the increasing extent to which Canada's Banks had been employed in and had supported industry, agriculture and commerce. said Mr. Rae.

Referring to buoyant factors in our domestic economy, he characterized the expansion of oil production in Western Canada as "one of the finest examples of free enterprise in this country's history." The ready market for this oil, and for the iron ore deposits in Ontario, Northern Quebec and Labrador would help in reducing our dependence on U.S. dollar imports.

Banks Enterprising and Efficient

"We, in Canada, share with the United States the highest standard of living in the world—the result of free enterprise—for this is an area in which enterprise and individuals alike are freer than anywhere else," said Mr. Rae.

The Chartered Banks had developed progressively through the years, and as new territories were opened up, a branch bank had in most cases followed hard on the heels of the early settlers. All these services are rendered at a very low profit—less than one-quarter of one percent of each dollar of total assets. "I doubt if any other business operates as efficiently and renders comparable services on such a low margin" he said. Collectively, the Banks lent to some 800,000 borrowers; more than 90% of these loans were made through managers in the field at their own discretion. "From this it is obvious that there is no undue concentration of economic power and that, by and large, banking activities are based upon the public interest."

Profit "and Loss" System

"No business fails if it is profitable. No business can long escape failure if it fails to make a profit. Every business failure means hardship for a number of people. Those who condemn profits do so blindly and with no knowledge of what profits are nor the disposition made of them. Profits furnish incentive and make jobs in a system of ordered free enterprise. The system is tried and proven and will not lightly be discarded.

"We are entrusted with people's savings and owe them an obligation of security, service and accommodation. Because of the position banks occupy in the economy of the nation we must conduct our affairs with a knowledge of their impact on the economic health of the whole country.

"Bank credit differs from the credit extended by some other important lenders, Bank loans are made usually, for short-term periods, and for primary, productive, processing and transportation purposes. The regular classification of loans laid before Parliament each year reveals the well-diversified range of our lending. Canadian Banks have never regarded loans for capital investment purposes as being in keeping with the essential principles of sound Canadian banking.

"Under this country's business and taxation systems profits cannot constitute an undue exaction upon the population; they merely provide a fair return on the capital invested and, in addition, reserves for those replacements of capital which, in these days of higher labour and material costs, require much more money than ever before."

Ordered Freedom

"Real freedom, which is the basis of our free enterprise system, must be ordered freedom under the rule of law. So it is in Canada. Those who would be free within these limitations can only maintain that freedom when business men, and others, are willing to fight for it and to so conduct themselves as to deserve it. Those who would be free must be responsible for guarding against abuses. Nothing is absolutely free. We all surrender something of absolute freedom to effect the rule of law in the common good.

"The world to-day is in the throes of a great battle with the forces of Communism. These forces have already overcome and taken control of a large portion of Europe and Asia. They are doing their utmost to infiltrate and corrupt the remaining areas of the world. Their doctrine thrives upon discontent and disorder and its adherents do their best to promote and enlarge upon any rift in our democratic society.

"As the Western world struggles to bind up its wounds and to correct maladjustments which have arisen as a result of the tremendous effort put forth to defeat Nazi-ism, it will require that all men of good-will unite to stamp out Communism and, in fact, any other "isms" which threaten our way of life. I am confident that Canada's free and highly individualistic people can be counted upon to do their part."

Legionnaires Beat Nylons In Keen Senior 'B' Fray

The local Legionnaires nosed out Kingston Nylons 4-3 here last night to take a firmer grip on top place in their OHA senior "B" group standing. The defeat dropped the Nylons into a bottom-place tie with Gananoque in the five-team league. A fair-sized crowd viewed a speedy, even and clean contest with but three minor penalties handed out.

Nearly all the scoring was done in the wide-open first frame, the lead changing till they finished the period tied 3-all. There was no count in an even middle chukker, and Bert Hill banged home the winning tally early in the third on Chum Fryia's pass. Though the visitors fought hard in a try for the equalizer, Legion had an edge on play through the third. Stewart went off in the first with a bruised shoulder and Hawkins got cut near the eye in the last chapter.

Leading Snipers

Bert Hill, Joe Rochetta, Chum Fryia and Bill Crowley were each in on two goals for the winners, Montgomery and Vitarelli being in on one each. Hawkins, Gerow and Aiken scored for the Nylons, with an assist each going to Patterson, Partis, Catlin, Armstrong and Joyce. The Partis-Catlin-Gerow line was always dangerous, with Hawkins, Joyce and Aiken also in there close for a lot of hot stabs. All the Legionnaires worked hard, with Rochetta, Crowley, Hill and Fryia most effective up front. Both defences were about on a par, and Udall stopped more than Nicholls with the two goalies turning in a stellar chore.

Kingston pressed early, the Gerow-Partis-Catlin line testing Nicholls and Hawkins scored early with a slap shot on Patterson's forward pass right in. Hill was robbed on a breakaway but Rochetta tied the count in close, aided by Crowley and Vitarelli. Legion went ahead when Montgomery hit the twine on neat combination with Crowley and Rochetta. Gerow sewed it up from Partis and Catlin in a scramble. Fryia slammed in Hill's pass at point-blank range but again Kingston tied it at 3-3 with Aiken doing the sniping and Armstrong and Joyce assisting. Plumb went off for boarding.

Udall Stars

Play was fast all through the second period, with Udall starring near the finish as Legion got inside for more hot chances. Crowley, Rochetta and Mortimer all came close on him, after Partis, Gerow and Armstrong had made Nicholls jump. One penalty was given, Patterson getting the nod for boarding. Legion pressed more in the speedy third go, with the Fryia-Hill-Coombs line best, Hill scoring the winner from Fryia in a scramble. Montgomery drew a tripping penalty but Nylons couldn't cash in on it. Play threatened to rough up near the close of the exciting tussle.

Kingston: Goal, Udall; defence, Graves and Plumb; centre, Armstrong; wings, Joyce and Aiken; alternates, Murphy, Patterson, Partis, Catlin, Gerow, McKeown, Harrison and Hawkins.

Legion: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Crowley and Vitarelli; alternates, Parnell, Stewart, Greenlaw, Fryia, Hill, Coombs, D. Mortimer and Montgomery.

Referee, K. McNaught; linesman, P. Calladine.

Marlies Dumped By Kitchener In 5-2 Triumph

By The Canadian Press.

Two major upsets were recorded in Ontario Hockey Association play last night, one in the Senior and the other in the Junior A League.

The powerful Toronto Marlboros dropped their 4th game in 23 senior starts, being thumped 5-2 by the second place Kitchener Waterloo Flying Dutchmen and Windsor Spitfires, currently in the second slot of the junior league, had their winning streak stopped at 10 games, bowing to Guelph Biltmores 6-2.

In other games last night, St. Catharines Teepees dumped Barrie Flyers 7-3 in a junior contest and Toronto Marlboros minus their centre star George Armstrong, playing last night with the NHL Toronto Maple Leafs, blanked Oshawa Generals 2-0. Marlboros' win, coupled with Windsor's loss, increased their first place lead to five points.

Scotty Mair gave Toronto an early 1-0 lead in the Waterloo Arena but the Dutchmen popped in two tallies in the first frame to take the lead, Bobby Bauer and Johnny Blute doing the honors.

Have Own Way

It was all Kitchener-Waterloo in the middle session, Don Bauer and Billy Flick tallying for the Twin City while their defence held Marlboros to a goose egg.

Howie Lee cut the margin to two with the first counter of the final period but Bobby Bauer salted away the two points with his second marker, the final one of the game, to make it read 5-2.

Windsor Spitfires were never in contention after the 11:36 mark of the first period, Guelph having counted four times in that space while holding Windsor to a single.

The Biltmores added another pair in the second while Windsor was only able to obtain a single. In the final period the teams played a scoreless draw.

Don Oberholtzer was the big gun for the winners, blasting in three counters. Others were added by Jack Ashley, Steve Brklacich and Vic Dimarco. Glen Skov and Erwin Grosse accounted for the other Spitfire scores.

Wide Open Game

At Barrie, six counters were rattled in in the first frame, four by St. Catharines and two by the home club Flyers. Red McCarthy opened the scoring for Barrie and St. Catharines came back with a pair, both by Con Switzer. Ward Brandow put Flyers back on even footing but Carl Boone and Jack White pumped home two more for St. Catharines before the end of the session.

Only one marker was counted in the middle stanza, that coming for the Teepee crew off the stick of Wayne Brown. Barrie made a futile effort in the initial stages of the final canto, Red McCarthy rapping in his second of the night with less than five minutes to go. Jack White and Carl Boone wrapped it up for the Garden City band with their second goals of the game.

Marlboros were pressed until the final bell to knock down a fighting band of Oshawa Generals. Larry Regan gave the Toronto kids a one-goal margin early in the opening frame but it took until 11:06 of the final period before they could add another. Jack McKenzie potted what proved to be the clincher.

Girls' basketball goes again tomorrow (Friday) evening in the YWCA gymnasium with a double-header. At 8.15, Electrics tackle the junior Nurses, and this one is followed by Neill's against the Normals. Keen cage action is served up by the colleens, and the public (hoop fans particularly) is invited to see these league fixtures. This loop then has a layoff until Jan. 6 in order to digest heavy holiday dinners and Christmas presents. Towne Togs haven't yet started lakeshore league play. All quiet this week-end on the men's basketball front, with plenty of tussles coming up early next month.

A short short story. An amateur puck defenceman, who rarely scored, asked the club manager at season's start how much he'd pay the player for each goal scored in 16 group games. The pilot chuckled heartily and said: "How much do you want?" Player replied: "For fun I'll put it this way—give me just a cent for the first goal I score, and then just double my pay any time I score another." Skipper grins and says sure. Well, the player got real busy and began to pop in a goal or two a game, and sometimes several. Had quite a season. Managed a total of 18 by the time the schedule ended. Guess what the manager owed when he hit out for Mexico. Just $1,310.72! One more goal and the guy would have had $2,621.44 coming.

Lindsay And IOOF-ers

Lindsay plays the local Oddfellows here at 8.30 tomorrow eve in Civic Arena, an OHA junior "B" group fixture. Most hockey followers know that the junior puckists dish up more and faster action than their senior brethren. They hit the ice in a hurry and never let up, but hurry, hurry, hurry all the way. And they frequently rough it up plenty, too, youngsters not having the control of their tempers older chaps have. Fans should turn out in force for this Friday night fixture, the first home scheduled scrap of the season for the IOOF-ers. The team treks to Belleville on Monday for the next number.

* * * * * *

Lindsay came up with a big, battling bunch on home ice last p.m. and Oddfellows had to come from behind near the close to gain a 7-7 tie. Karrys sparked the Scugog attack with two goals and three assists, while Ben Mason was in on three for the IOOF-ers, as Floyd and Desjardin scored two apiece. Neither goalie had too much protection. Play got out of hand late in the third and a free-for-all lasted 10 minutes with players on the ice and in the boxes swinging fists and some screwball fans getting into it, too. Jack Richlark earned himself a major and a match misconduct—and probably a suspension—for his part, which included pasting the linesman. Never a dull moment in a junior "B" joust. Only about 200 fans on deck, a third from here.

* * * * * *

Swell Game To View

That was a right neat senior "B" game here last eve, and doubly sweet when Legion edged Kingston 4-3. Gives them seven points in the standing, Belleville having four, Petes three while the Gans and Nylons have two apiece. Fast, clean struggle with Legionnaires looking a little stronger in the third. Udall and Nicholls both had plenty to do in goal and both did it in starry fashion, with Udy the busier of the two the last half. Our defence went well and all the forwards hustled, with Hill, Fryia, Rochetta and Crowley the pick of the attackers. Both Monty and Fryia of the newcomers are showing plenty so far for Legion. Doug Mortimer was another hard worker.

* * * * * *

The three veteran smoothies up front for Kingston—Walt Gerow, Ken Partis and Joe Catlin—are still full of speedy guile. Great opportunists and they can move when a break shows. Nylons will be plenty tough all season, and in fact the whole group appears well-balanced at this stage. Play last p.m. was quite clean, though a player on each side was hurt accidentally. Just three penalties. A goodly crowd on deck and the fans seemed to enjoy the fast-stepping fray plenty, judging by the noise, and despite the decided cold. Not a bus in sight after the arena disgorged its customers and the knocking of knees and chattering of teeth could be heard nearly up to the CGE.

Leafs-Canadiens Tied 2-2 As Wings Shatter Bruins

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Unless someone throws a halter on Detroit Red Wings, the National Hockey League race will be a runaway.

Boston Bruins thought they had it last night—and then the roof fell in. They blasted in two quick goals only to see the powerful Wings counter with five unanswered markers and come up with a 5-2 victory. It gave them a 10-point lead in the league race.

Meanwhile, the two second-place teams, Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs battled it out to a 2-2 draw at Toronto while Chicago Black Hawks halted New York Rangers four-game winning streak by defeating them 5-3 at Chicago.

The Bruins started off in a flying mood and pulled into the 2-0 lead during the first eight minutes of action on goals by Johnny Peirson.

Then Wings Click

Then the Wings started. Red Kelley got the first and Jimmy McFadden added the second. Sid Abel, Ted Lindsay and Joe Carveth followed up with one apiece.

At Toronto, the game was full of surprises. But the breaking of unbreakable glass shielding ringside spectators didn't surprise the Leafs more than the 2-2 draw they took with the Canadiens.

The Leafs were putting the finishing touches on the hard-fought game when Billy Reay tied it up on a fluke shot with less than a minute to play.

The glass item came in the first period. A section of it shattered when Vic Lynn, of Toronto, and Maurice Richard, of Montreal, collided. Six spectators required first aid for cut hands and wrists.

Chicago Wins

At Chicago, the Black Hawks' victory ended a drought of five losses and a tie in their last six games and pulled them out of last place, putting them one point ahead of the Bruins.

The victory margin was provided by Bep Guidolin when he connected twice—in the first and last periods.

The Hawks took advantage of a penalty to Ed Slowinski at 13 seconds of the first period to score their first goal—Metro Prystai taking the honors. Edgar Laprade tied it up but Guidolin and Bill Mosienko sent the Hawks into their second lead.

Then Gaye Stewart and Guidolin scored for the Black Hawks while Buddy O'Connor and Pat Egan registered for the Rangers.

Believes Hockey Could Break Iron Curtain

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP) — Hockey, Canada's national winter sport, could break down the iron curtain, it was suggested Wednesday.

The suggestion came from hockey's leading figure—Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League.

If the Russians would abandon their present game—something similar to field hockey—and adopt the Canadian game as many other European countries had done, Mr. Campbell foresaw "tremendous possibilities."

Discussing his favorite subject—"Canada's national game in face, without taking anything away from the older game of lacrosse"—he stressed hockey's influence internationally in a luncheon address before the Canadian Club.

There were 35 professional teams in North America and of these, 31 were operating in the United States. Next to the RCMP, Canada was best known in the US for her hockey players.

In Europe, too, the game had gone ahead much faster than could have been anticipated.

Shifting his topic to the national sports scene, Mr. Campbell strongly urged that the government keep its financial finger out of the sports pie.

He termed "very dangerous" a resolution passed last year at a national convention of sports governing bodies that the Federal Government provide funds for sport facilities and administration and development of sports.

IOOF Squad Ties Lindsay In Rough Junior Contest

Fans and players traded the punches in the dying minutes of the opening Junior B hockey fixture in Lindsay Wednesday night. For 10 minutes the area was turned into a madhouse as a free-for-all started in front of the Triple Links' net. This fray touched off the fracas between players and assistants at the adjoining players' benches. The fans joined in readily.

The results of the exhibitions in the art of self-defence were: Four players joined the three Oddfellows already in the penalty box for misdemeanors, one Lindsay player receiving a major, a Triple Linker a match misconduct, and the captains of the two teams misconducts.

During the fisticuffs on he ice Richlark became so enraged he saw nothing but Lindsay orange and purple sweaters. But one person with a white sweater received a solid sock on the nose, linesman Lloyd Eberts of Lindsay. The result was a match misconduct penalty and a referee's report of the affair to the OHA for action.

Lindsay Led

Up to this point in the rough, fast game the Lindsay Kinsmen Junior C crew were holding a slim one-point lead over the local Oddfellow squad. Hustling all the way the Scugog team outskated the O's to build up a 5-3 score in the first period. In hard hitting and high-sticking second period each team registered another counter.

Desjardin slipped the puck into the Lindsay net in 38 seconds of the last. Nichols at the eight-minue mark passed to Kimbal, who counted the seventh Lindsay tally. Playing five aside, the locals got up to the six-goal mark at 10:30 on a tally by Ross Mason. Immediately after the play started, following the fights, Don Floyd whacked home Wasson's rebound to tie the score 7-7.

Top scorer for the game was Arn Karrys, two goals and three assists, while the other Lindsay scores were made by Debois, Lewis; Burn, Crawford and Kimbal. John Burn, Lou Hennessy and Dave Lucas turned in nifty chores on the Lindsay defensive play, rattling the Triple Links' bones with heavy bodychecks. Floyd and Desjardin of the Triple Links each tallied two goals to lead the local goal-getters while Benny Mason had one goal and two assists. Other singles were scored by Doris and Ross Mason.

Not Too Many

Only eleven penalties had been handed out by Referee Pete Nigh of Peterborough before the fighting started, two in the first, three in the second, and six in the last. Ron Hehn, in goal for the Oddfellows, was penalized in the third for cross-checking a Lindsay player at the goalmouth. It was served by Dave Casey. Ron Turner, also in the last period, was given a misconduct penalty after a slashing exhibition.

Both goalies, Hehn of the Triple Links and Poole of the Kinsmen, received little protection throughout the game. In the first period, Lindsayites crowded the locals around the net allowing loose pucks to be whacked into the net as well as several screen shots ekeing through the mass of players assembled in front of the net. Hehn had little chance on the five goals in the first. Poole received more help from his defence and forwards although they too faltered to allow the locals to break through for goals or sensational stops by Poole.

The line-ups:

Peterborough Triple Links— Goal, Hehn; defence, D. Wasson and Richlark; centre, Turner; wings, Wyatt and Floyd; alternates, Fennell, Millar, Desjardin, R. Mason, B. Mason, Birch, Baker, Doris and Casey.

Fans Can't Make Up Their Minds If Braves Or Giants Get Best Deal

NEW YORK, Dec. 15 (AP) — Baseball's biggest transaction in years—the New York-Boston deal that involved upwards of $500,000 in talent—had buzzing bystanders asking today:

"Who got the better of the trade, the Giants or the Braves?"

In a spectacular 11th-hour swap, the Braves sent their double play combination of shortstop Alvin Dark and second baseman Eddie Stanky to the Giants in exchange for outfielder Sid Gordon Willard Marshall, shortstop Buddy Kerr and pitcher Sam Webb.

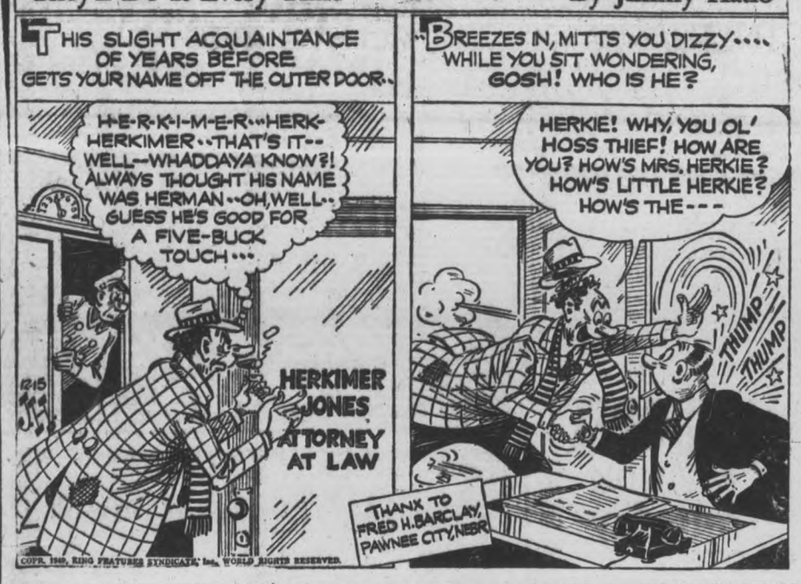
This swap easily overshadowed three other big league trades, the most important of which sent St Louis second baseman Gerry Priddy to Detroit for $100,000. The Browns acquired pitcher Lou Kretlow in addition to the bundle of cash.

Priddy's sale added more than $200,000 to the Browns' exchequer since late Tuesday night the club collected in excess of $100,000 plus four players from Philadelphia Athletics for third baseman Bob Dillinger.

Other Deals

In a couple of other deals the Athletics traded third baseman Hank Majeski to Chicago White Sox for relief pitcher Ed Klieman, and St. Louis Cardinals reacquired outfielder Harry Walker in exchange for flychaser Ron Northey and utility infielder Lou Klein. The Cards are to get another player, from the minors, at a future date.

Lovers of power and punch are of the belief that the Braves got the better of the big National League deal. They point out that in giving up Gordon and Marshall the Giants sent a pair of sluggers who hit 38 home runs between them in 1949 for a pair who collected only four. Gordon blasted 26 round trippers, Marshall 12, Dark three and Stanky one. Kerr had none.



Others Favor Giants

Advocates of the fast fielding, heady hit and run type of athlete think the Giants got the edge. They point out that despite the 169 home runs hit by the Gordon-Marshall duo during their five years with the club the Giants could finish no higher than third. Three times they finished in the second division.

On the other hand, the Braves won a pennant and finished fourth in the last two years that Stanky and Dark played with them.

Durocher certainly will shed no tears over the departure of Kerr and Marshall—and vice versa. The fiery Giant skipper has maintained since practically the first day he took over the club that the hard-hitting rightfielder and classy-fielding shortstop were not his type of ballplayers.

CITY CARPETBALL

Schedule for the week of Dec. 19:

Legion No. 7 vs. LOL No. 8; Legion No. 6 vs. Legion No. 5; Gens No. 10 vs. Treasurer's No. 9; St. George's No. 2 vs. Big Ben's No. 1; Quaker's No. 4 vs. LOL No. 3.

The Sons visited the Big Bens and went on the offensive at once. They carried three to the 10th frame, when the Big Bens at last got their hair-spring adjusted perfectly and won the two last ends of the first game. But that was not enough, and they lost 7-12. With their inner works well oiled they swept the Sons before them to take the second encounter 15-9.

The hot team right now seems to be those Glens and when they played host to the Anglicans they wiggled the first game 11-9 although St. George's came strongly but not strong enough in the last two ends. Glens took the bit in their teeth and secured their second victory by sweeping to a 21-6 score The battle of the century was on, as the father versus son match began. Treasurers stole the stamps from the Posties in the first game 14-7, but had to give them back in the second when the Posties went on to win 12-11.

The "Old Sweats" were at home for the visit of the team that has been turning all opposition aside these last few weeks, namely, Legion No. 6. But the "Old Sweats" showed them a thing or two and sent the Bakers home with their bread burnt by scores of 14-11 and 17-10.

The Quakers were holding King Billie to a 7-all tie in the 9th frame when who should arrive freshly in from the pasture? None other than that White Charger of the Orange-squeezers and he carried them on to a 12-7 victory along with a 14-8 success in the final game.

T. Craig and J. Kemp are in the hospital and we all miss them at the games and hope to see them out real soon.

Members, if you still have draw tickets and money they must be turned over to A. Pilling before Dec. 21 as draw takes place on that date. All teams have paid their entry fee except two lone members.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Jackie Robinson, slugging second-baseman for Brooklyn Dodgers, Wednesday received the gold medal award of New York's George Washington Carver Memorial Institute.

The Negro baseball star was cited as a "great American" and for his "oustanding contribution to the betterment of race relations."

Others who have won the award in the past are Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, publisher William Randolph Hearst and film producer Darryl Zanuck. It is given in the name of the great Negro scientist.

Roimond, a nine-year-old chestnut gelding owned by Lord Bicester, was made winter book favorite Wednesday at London for the Grand National steeplechase. The Grand National will be run at Aintree March 25. Entries close the first week in January. Roimond was quoted at 18 to 1 by Douglas Stuart, a London bookmaker.

University of Toronto Blues scored a convincing 7-2 victory over Queen's University Golden Gaels at Kingston Wednesday night to go into a first-place tie with the University of Montreal Carabins in the Intercollegiate Senior Hockey League.

Charles G. Brickley, Harvard's famed drop-kicker of the days before the first world war, wound up in a New York police station Wednesday after a pre-dawn scrimmage that nearly a dozen policemen had a hard time breaking up.

Brickley and his son, Charles, Jr., 30, were taken into custody for disorderly conduct after a fracas in Reuben's restaurant.

Joe Krawczak, of Detroit and Assumption College, Windsor, an 18-year-old outfielder, Wednesday at Chicago signed a 1950 baseball contract with the Madison, Ky., class-D affiliate of the Chicago White Sox. Krawczak, who throws and bats right-handed, played baseball last summer with the Middleton Cardinals of Nova Scotia.

Leighton (Hap) Emms, coach of the defending champion Barrie Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League, Wednesday announced an exchange of goalies with Oshawa Generals, now in eighth place in the nine-team league. Barrie is fifth. Eddie Crouch has been sent to the Generals in return for Bobby Shropshire.

We cannot begin to list the features of this new automobile. We can, however, show them to you both on the road and in the showroom.

A typical customer report is like Mr. G. W. McKinley of R.R. 1, Peterborough. He says: "My 1950 Studebaker handles and rides beautifully. ECONOMICAL, I should say so. I average from 30 to 34 miles per gallon, depending on the type of driving I am doing."

We invite you to visit our show-room any evening this week. If you just want to look, you can do so. If you want to drive one, a demonstrator will be on hand. You owe it to yourself to shop around before you make that choice for 1950.

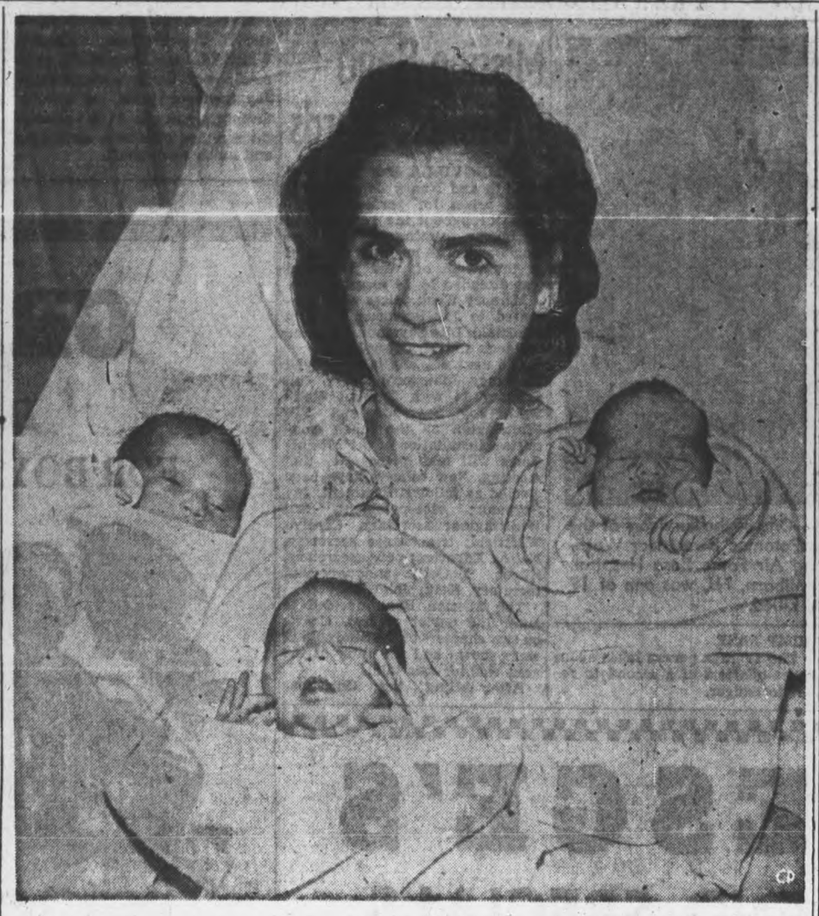
Salary Raises Sought By Health Staff

A request for salary increases for all members of the staff of the city's Department of Health was made to the Board Wednesday by Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health. Dr. Kelly pointed out that the present schedule had been adopted by the Board two years ago and was no longer commensurate with salaries being paid in other municipalities.



The present schedule had been based on the recommendations of the Canadian Public Health Association, the medical officer reminded the Board, and the new schedule which he placed before the meeting had been based on the current recommendations of the Association.

James Dutton, chairman said the matter required the serious attention of the Board, which, he remarked, was in a competitive field in the employment of public health staff.

The proposed schedule was referred to the appropriate committee without further comment.

Christmas Trees Seem Plentiful

By The Canadian Press.

Christmas trees appear plentiful this year and the popular family size—those about as tall as father—should cost the same as last Yuletide—$2 or $3 in most parts of Canada.

A Canadian Press survey shows most dealers plan to charge about that.

Most popular trees are the Scotch pine and fir (which don't readily shed needles) and the spruce, most abundant of all the Yuletide trees. A few paint-sprayed trees are offered but most families seem to prefer theirs old-fashioned and unpainted. Most of the shining pink and silver trees are bought by merchants for window display at prices ranging from $6.50 for a three-footer to $50 for a 12-foot giant.

Peterborough is Excluded From Share In Health Grant

Why is Peterborough excluded from a share of the $4,000,000 allotted by the Ontario Department of Health for general public health programs throughout the province? This was a question which came to the fore at a meeting of Peterborough Board of Health Wednesday. Although the sum has been made available exclusive of other grants for tuberculosis, mental health etc., Peterborough was informed earlier in the year, that it did not meet the conditions required for qualification for a grant.

SECOND YOUNGEST — Mr. Justice Robert Taschereau was 44 when appointed to the Supreme Court of Canada in 1940, thus becoming the second youngest judge in the court's history. Former Chief Justice Lyman Duff was 41 when appointed. Mr. Justice Taschereau was professor of criminal law at Laval University, Quebec City, for 11 years and a Liberal member of the Quebec legislature for nine years before his court appointment. He was born Sept. 10, 1896, at Quebec, the son of former Quebec Premier L. A. Taschereau.

The question arose when Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health, read a letter to the Board which he had received from a medical officer in another Ontario municipality in similar circumstances, asking for his opinion of certain proposals which that municipality is considering placing before the department.

Questionable Request

James Dutton, chairman of the Peterborough Board, said he thought the provincial fund sounded like "something in the nature of a questionable bequest."

"You hear of some people making a great show by making impressive bequests only to find that they are so tied up by conditions that it is impossible to obtain the money" he said. For instance our request for assistance in purchasing a fogging machine has been turned down and it makes you wonder why."

In his letter to Dr. Kelly, the medical officer this Ontario municipality writes "we must concede two things:

"(1) That some municipalities are not spending enough of their own money for public health and (2) that some municipalities are not able to conduct a satisfactory program out of local taxation."

Three proposals contained in the letter, which the Peterborough board agreed to support were:

"That per capita grants be made to municipalities for the extension of general public health programs

That before receiving these grants, the respective municipalities would be required to be spending of their own money a per capita sum to be determined

That the Public Health program of that particular municipality should meet the approval of the Provincial Health Department."

It was pointed out that such proposals would ensure that the municipality was assuming an adequate share and spending a reasonably adequate amount of its own money for public health purposes and that the local boards would be in a position to extend their programs to a reasonable degree without further embarrassing the local taxpayer.

EYE TOPICS

TWO HUNDRED INCH EYE

The gleaming dome of the observatory that houses the world's largest telescope stands out sharply against the clear azure sky over Mt. Palomar in Southern California. It contains a 200-inch mirror that took years to make and lets astronomers look trillion of miles into space.

With your unaided eye you can see probably 6,000 stars on a fine night. About 560,000,000 stars are now visible in the 100-inch telescope on Mt. Wilson. The 200-inch mirror will make it possible to see or photograph a billion and a half.

This gigantic 200-inch eye weighs 500 tons with its mounting. Yet at the push of a button a half horsepower electric motor moves the whole mass.

The observer's post is at the top—a six-foot room split into two compartments hung on knife edges so that vibrations in one will not be transmitted to the other. That room is air-conditioned. The temperature must not vary. Even the heat of the observer's body would interfere with good work.

The astronomer will not glue his eyes to the eye-piece, sweep the heavens and look for something astonishing. Observers know exactly what to look for and where. They make photographic plates—and then spend months measuring and studying the plates.

Behind these mechanical eyes is still the most marvellous of all instruments of seeing—the human eye.

Day in, day out, our eyes bring us the beauty of the world, the faces of friends, the satisfaction of work well done, and all the relaxation in reading, movies, sports and the hundred and one leisure pursuits we enjoy through vision . . . . That is why we should never let our eyesight become anything less than perfect.

Exchange Money Back And Forth

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadians bounce a lot of money back and forth among themselves—and fast. Collectively they turn over all the money they have in the banks, around $7,000,000,000, in less than a month.

Robert Rae, president of the Dominion Bank, drew attention to this Wednesday at the bank's annual meeting. Said Mr Rae:

"On Sept. 30, 1949, deposits in savings accounts totalled $4,411,000,000 and the total deposits were $6,915,000,000.

"The monthly average of debits to individual accounts during the year ended August last amounted to no less than $7,063,000,000.

"This indicated that deposits are turning over at the rate of more than once a month as Canadians pay each other—in millions of transactions each month—for the services they render and the goods they produce."

He said a few more things about banks:

"As of September, 1949 there were 3,515 bank branches in Canada, an increase of 87 over the precvious year.

"The chartered banks have developed progressively through the years and, as new territories in Canada have opened up for settlement and development, the establishment of a branch bank has, in most cases, followed hard on the heels of the early settlers.

"At the end of 1948 the banks were the bookkeepers in connection with more than 7,500,000 accounts. Collectively, the banks lend to some 800,000 borrowing customers and well over 90 per cent of the decisions in regard to these loans are made by the managers in the field within their ow discretion."

Scientist Asks World Government

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) —Western democracies were urged Wednesday night by atomic scientist Harold C. Urey to take the first steps toward a world government as the only alternative to future wars. He recommended hat a limited political union be formed by Atlantic Pact powers now linked in a defensive alliance to bulwark free countries against what he called the world-conquest ambitions of Communist Russia.

Urey addressed a meeting sponsored by the local chapter of the Atlantic Union Committee. He is a director of the committee. The commitee is supporting a resolution now before Congress asking President Truman to call a convention of seven sponsoring powers of the Atlantic Pact to explore the possibilities of a federal union.

The seven countries—the United States, Britain, Canada, the Netherlands, France, Belgium, and Luxembourg— would be authorized to invite other democracies to participate.

Vancouver Mecca For Blind People

VANCOUVER (CP) —It's mild climate makes Vancouver a haven for more blind persons than any other city in Canada, says President A. C. Pettipiece of the Canadian Federation for the Blind.

The lack of snow and ice are especially helpful to sightless persons, he says, because it allows them to get around on streets and work in open air concessions during the winter.

The hazard of glare, often painful to partially blind persons, also is reduced greatly here.

Mr. Pettipiece, who was born partially blind, has been totally blind for the last 25 years.

Women Told Unite For Peace

HAVELOCK, Dec. 15—(ENS)—Mrs. William Aunger, delegate to the recent annual convention of the Ontario Women's Institute in Toronto, reported at the December meeting of the Belmont branch held in the township hall.

Mrs. Aunger quoted Mrs. Kate Atkins, one of the speakers at the convention, who said the only salvation for world peace was for all women to unite in working for a just peace. Women have three weapons they can use — prayer, individual thought and individual effort, she had declared, if they are to keep their feet on the ground and their heads in heaven.

Mrs. Atkins had told of her visit to the Council of Women in Berlin which was comprised of Germans, French, Poles, Italians and English.

Exchange Gifts

The president, Mrs. Charles Ellis, presided. The roll call was answered by an exchange of gifts.

A letter was read from the unitarian committee, Toronto, thanking the society for a bale of clothing. It was decided to sponsor a Christmas dance on December 26 in the township hall.

Carol singing was under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Corneil. A two-minute talk on the motto, "Peace on Earth," was given by Mrs. Donald Anderson, and a reading was by Mrs. George Hartin. A poem, "Mary Stewart Collect," was read in unison.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Smith.

Tea hostesses were: Mrs. C. Jones, Mrs. H. King, Mrs. E. King and Mrs. R. Anderson.

Ex-BC Woman Mayor Takes Trip To England

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Dec. 15.—(CP).—Civic responsibilities ended, Canada's 1948 woman of the year is planning a holiday.

Mrs. Nora Arnold, mayor of the northern British Columbia port city, didn't seek re-election this year for the chief magistrate's post.

Instead she's going back to England next spring for the first time since she left it ending a six-month visit to her brother That visit made her successively a school teacher's bride, business woman, alderman, mayor, and Canada's top woman of the year.

While she doesn't plan any further connection with pubic life, close friends say they wouldn't be surprised to see her back in it again after she rests a bit during her trip.

One said, "I don't think Nora will be satisfied for long with humdrum semi-retirement.

'Feel Decidedly Better Since Taking Syntona'

Had Stomach Disorders Many Years. Got Sick Headaches, Dizzy Spells. Tells How He Got Relief.

MR. JOHN LEARMONTH

Many thousands of men and women every day use Syntona Herbal Compound for relief from disorders of stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels and associated symptoms such as digestive troubles, rheumatic pain, backache, headaches and nervous, rundown feeling.

One example of the good results Syntona gives is found in the recent experience of Mr. John Learmonth, 812 Queen's avenue, London, Ontario, who says:

"I suffered from stomach disorders for many years. Would get a full, heavy feeling and have so much gas and indigestion after almost every meal. I would belch up hot, sour liquids and often suffer for hours with heartburn. Was subject to headaches and dizzy spells and many days had no appetite at all.

"After reading about Syntona helping so many other people, I got some and in only a short time I am feeling decidedly better. Gas, sour acidity and heartburn is relieved for first time in years. I am free of headache and my appetite is greatly improved. I am very glad to let you know how much this medicine has benefitted me and to recommend it to others who suffer as I did."

Why not let ths pure herbal medicine help you as it has so many others? It is inexpensive, easy to use, and contains no harmful drugs.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Telephone Girl Of Today Not Chatty Type

That odd-looking instrument which the new ambassador to Denmark, Mrs. Eugenie Anderson, was operating at her farm in Minnesota where her picture appeared in the papers recently, was an old-fashioned wall telephone, says a writer in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Unlike the modern French phone, which serves no purpose beyond that of communication, the old-fashioned wall telephone was an important piece of furniture, a vehicle of entertainment and a medium of sociability. Still is, apparently, in some parts of Minnesota.

Remembers Phone

The old-fashioned wall telephone I am best acquainted with is the one that stood just inside the door of the kitchen at my boyhood home in Mississippi. It was a weatherbeaten yellow, and made mostly of wood. Beneath the mouthpiece was a flat desk-like surface, convenient for small children to lean their elbows on, or for adults to rest their papers on for making written notes or checking off a shopping list as they talked.

Incidentally, small children always had to get up on a chair to reach the old-fashioned wall telephone. I never heard of one placed so low that a child could reach it on his own legs, or a grown-up could use it sitting down. Talking over the wall telephone was a standing-up operation.

At the other end of the line from this telephone, waiting to serve me like the fine public utility is was, was the local telephone company's personnel, whose name was Miss Bessie.

Forever 40

Miss Bessie was fat and forever 40. She regarded herself as the centre of all activities in town, which was nothing more or less than the truth. Undoubtedly there were one or two other operators, too—Miss Bessie couldn't have sat there 24 hours a day without being spelled—but I never heard of any of them.

Whatever the hour of day or night, it seemed to be always her neighborly, helpful, reassuring voice that answered my ring. In case of sickness Miss Bessie was a particular blessing. She always knew where the doctor and the druggist were to be found, and her tireless hand twirled the crank on her switchboard that rang their phones till they were summoned to their duties.

Sometimes my mother would ring my father's office, belatedly, around noon, and get no answer. Miss Bessie, whose office was right on the ground floor, looking out over everything and everybody on Main street, would give mother the benefit of this fact. "I think he's on his way home, Mrs. Terral," she would say. "He went by here just a few minutes ago."

Meat For Dinner

"Oh, pshaw," Mother would say in vexation. "I wanted him to bring home some meat for dinner." Dinner was the noon meal, toward which Father was at that moment proceeding.

"I think he's bringing it, Mrs. Terral," Miss Bessie would say reassuringly. "He had a package under his arm, and it looked like meat."

French phones and formal conversation seem to go together. It is entirely the other way with the old-fashioned wall telephone. The best you can get of an operator on the other end of a French phone is something like, "I am sorry, there has been some mistake on your call. Will you please hang up and call again?" Or "What number are you calling, please?

Modern Trend

I remember there was quite a to-do about formalizing the relations between Miss Bessie and the subscribers after a large outfit bought out the local telephone company. You were not supposed to call Miss Bessie and say, "Give me Mrs. Mason's number," or "Kirkland's store," or "the schoolhouse." You were supposed to ask for "3, please," or "27," or "." All subscribers received telephone books, but most people soon misplaced them and didn't bother looking for them. It seemed ridiculous to be so formal about numbers. It seemed worse than ridiculous to talk to Miss Bessie that way.

Years after this battle between the big phone company, on the one hand, and Miss Bessie and the subscribers, on the other, I was back in Quitman after an absence of several years. I picked up the receiver and, having been too long in the city, forgot for a few moments to turn the crank. Then I wound up the wall telephone and waited till Miss Bessie came on the line. "Three, seven, please," I said crisply. "Hello, Rufus," Miss Bessie replied, with warm neighborliness. "I didn't know you were coming home. How long you going to be here? I'll ring that number for you, but I don't much think Lillie Bess is home; she just phoned Mrs. Dabs she was coming over directly for a music lesson."

Eight will rhyme with "wait" and that's Just too bad for Dally.
She'll wait until it's much too late—
Most em-phat-i-cally!

Plan Carol Service For Christmas Day

KEENE, Dec. 15 (ENS)—The Young People's Society held its meeting on Monday in the Sunday School of the United Church when the program was under the charge of the Christian Citizenship committee. Jim Drummond presided and hymns were sung with Betty Thomson at the piano. Jean Murray read the Scripture lesson, Marie Adamson lead in prayer, Evelyn Richardson read a story on the hymn "The Ninety and Nine".

It was decided to hold a skating party in co-operation with the choir on Dec. 28, in the New Memorial rink.

The Carol Service will be held on Dec. 25 at 7.30 p.m. when the choir, Y.P.U. and C.G.I.T. will present the program of music, readings and tableaus.

Jack McIntyre conducted contest and games.

The fourth in a series of sermons on the purpose of the Church of Christ was delivered by the Rev. G. Murray at the United Church last Sunday.

Comb Colleges For CS Recruits

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP)—The Civil Service Commission announced Wednesday that for the fourth successive year recruiting teams are being sent to Canadian universities to bid for part of the "cream of the university crop" for permanent and summer employment.

About 450 graduates are needed for permanent government posts and about 1,800 undergraduates for summer employment. In the graduate fields the commission will draw on practically all faculties but most of the appointments will be to students with a professional or scientific background. As many as 175 appointments will be for civil engineers alone.

About 1,600 of the 1,800 temporary positions will go to students with professional or scientific training. Only 200 positions will call for a background in arts or commerce.

The commission said there is no flat salary to attract graduates but most will enter the government service at around $200 or $225 a month. For undergraduate summer help the salaries are scaled from $110 to $185 a month.

Israeli Unions Seeking Technical Secrets

By ERIC GOTTGETREU

TEL AVIV, Israel, Dec. 15 — (AP) — Young Israel's Labor Unions are looking both west and east for the technical knowledge they hope will boost their industrial output.

A spokesman for Histadrut, the General Federation of Jewish Labor, said his organization plans to send groups of workers to study production methods in the United States, Britain, Belgium, Sweden, Russia, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

The Jewish labor movement, said the spokesman, hopes by introducing more efficient manufacturing methods to "lower cost of production, reduce imports, promote exports" and increase industrial opportunity in Israel.

This, he said, would permit Israel to receive more immigrants.

Joint Committees

The union spokesman said Histadrut also would sponsor "joint production committees," made up of representatives of workers and managers.

These, he said, not only would try to increase industrial output, but also would fix production quotas, rates of pay for "normal" output, and special wage allowances for above-normal production.

Histadrut, with almost 250,000 members, now counts one-fourth the Jews in Israel in its ranks. Though Prime Minister David Ben Gurion's Socialist Labor "Mapai" party has a strong following in the federation, the unions also include members of the right wing, laborers loyal to Religious-Orthodox Group, a large group from the leftist-socialist "Mapam" party and a number of Communists.

Food Contract Talks Said Still Going On

LONDON, Dec. 15 — (CP). — A Food Ministry spokesman said Wednesday night that the Anglo-Canadian food contract discussions "have made progress" but still are going on.

(An Ottawa dispatch said it was learned that Canada and Britain have negotiated the 1950 contracts for bacon and cheese.)

The Food Ministry spokesman said that "since the tripartite talks at Washington, we are discussing with the Canadian Government our import program for 1950.

Gets Out Of Jail

SARNIA, Dec. 15 (CP)—John Dunn was saved Wednesday from the possibility of spending a second Christmas in jail when his wife, Christina, dropped a charge of assault. I spent last Christmas in jail and I'd like to spend this one at home."

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP)—Canada's output of electricity in October reached a peak for that month at 3,975,103,000 kilowatt hours, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday. Shaffer and said: "If this suitcase is not picked up by Nov. 14 I will have gone over the falls."

Nine Families Deserted 27 Children

Desertion of families is not a serious social malady in Peterborough, A. G. Metheral, welfare officer, said to the Examiner today, however it may be in Windsor, to say nothing of Timmins.

Francis Clark, welfare director in Windsor, said the desertion problem there was as serious as any other place.

"We have nine cases of desertion in our records today," Mr. Metheral reported. "That is about the normal rate. I don't think there are many more than usual. We've always had a few unfortunate families, the wives and children of men who walk out on them."

Willing To Help

There are 27 children in the nine families which have had to appeal to the city for help.

"The welfare department is willing to help them," Mr. Metheral said, "but we have to insist on an agreement by the wives that they will lay charges of non-support against their husbands. It happens that we don't get many of those fellows who desert their families. We have charges waiting for the nine whose places the city is assuming in the maintenance of the homes they set up."

Mr. Metheral declined to express any opinion about motives. Apparently some people just could not get along together, although they once thought they could.

Some Are Irresponsibles

"One of our delinquents wandered away for seven months, came back and stayed awhile and then was gone for another two weeks. Some of them are irresponsibles."

Windsor had 419 cases of desertion last year, and 170 errant husbands were brought into court. Its proximity to the U.S. border was apparently a facilitating factor for men who wanted to be free. Peterborough is inland, and it may be that homes have more anchorage.

Mr. Metheral remarked that nine desertions were too many, but compared with many other communities, "it could be a lot worse".

Firman Tufford Bell Manager Dies Suddenly

Firman D. Tufford, 629 Charlotte St., manager of the Peterborough District of the Bell Telephone of Canada Ltd., died suddenly today in the Civic Hospital.

Mr. Tufford was born in Dunboyne in Elgin county in 1901, the son of the late Noble Tufford and Lellis Pritchard.

For a short time he served in the Royal Flying Corps in World War I.

Tribute Is Paid Retiring Board Chairman

James Dutton sat at the head of the table as chairman of the Board of Health for the last time Wednesday, when the last Board meeting this year was held in the city building. A public figure in Peterborough for many years, he announced his retirement a few weeks ago.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health, made reference to Mr. Dutton's work for the city's Public Health Department and voiced the regret of the entire Board that this meeting drew to a close his active participation in the department's administration

A Wonderful Servant

"A very kind gentleman and a wonderful servant from the people's point of view" was William Tinker's tribute to Mr. Dutton and those words summed up the feeling of other Board members.

The retiring chairman admitted "you get a lot of knocks and sometimes they are pretty hard" but he had found one of the greatest compensations was the goodwill among ones fellows.

"I cannot recall a single occasion when any differences we had went beyond the place where we were meeting" he said, referring to every aspect of his public work in the city.

There were certain achievements which he had hoped would have been made before his retirement such as coordination of health services in the city. It would have to come with the continued expansion of Peterborough. Another field in which he has done a good deal of pioneer work was in the establishment of a mental health centre in Peterborough. This had not yet been achieved but he maintained that Peterborough was a strategic centre for five counties.

Expelling UE Broke Compact

When the UE was expelled from the CIO the compact between UE International and Local 450, a New York bargaining unit, was abrogated, according to a decision handed down last week in the Supreme Court of New York by Mr. Justice Eder.

IUE-CIO officials are hailing this as a victory claiming it is a precedent that may favor them in their fight against the UE.

John G. Morton, acting president of Local 524 IUE-CIO, commented to the Examiner that although it was a United States judicial decision, it might be a straw in the wind as to similar judgments in Canada.

The UE issued an injunction to restrain the membership of Local 450 from disaffiliating and joining the IUE.

In denying the motion Justice Eder said: "I have reached the ultimate conclusion that effectiveness of the UE constitution, and particularly the efficacy of Article 18, Section 0. . . are dependent upon the continued affiliation of UE with the CIO and that with the UE's expulsion from the CIO the compact between UE and Local 450 was abrogated."

Damage Action Dismissed Against Store

An action for damages brought against the proprietors of Anthony's Fruit Market by Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Moher of Lakefield because of an injury received last December by Mrs. Moher, has been dismissed at the current non-jury Supreme Court Sittings by Mr. Justice Smily.

Mrs. Moher who received a complicated breakage of the left heel bone as the result of a fall down a flight of stairs in the store, claimed negligence on the part of the proprietors and asked damages.

Justice Smily assessed total damages—including hospital bills and pain and suffering—at $4,550, but he dismissed the suit on the grounds that Thomas and Joseph Anthony, co-proprietors, were not liable for Mrs. Moher's injury.

Upheld Defendants

The defendants claimed the public was not supposed to shop in that part of the store near the stair well and therefore they could not be held liable if a customer were injured as a result of this limited trespass.

Justice Smily upheld the defendants' contention, presented by W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, as well as the fact that the lighting was satisfactory and there was a substantial bannister.

V. J. McElderry, KC, and J. H. Amys, KC, of Toronto were counsels for the plaintiffs.

Mrs. Moher entered the store on December 20, 1948, to do some shopping. She walked along behind some counters which were not accessible to the public according to the defendants, but which Mrs. Moher testified she had visited before.

Failed to See Trap Door

When she stepped out between them near the north wall of the store she did not see an open trap-door in the floor, and she fell down the stairs.

Arguments of contending counsels and testimony on both sides as to the layout of the store, as well as the rights of shoppers in that particular store, occupied three days.

Mrs. Moher was in hospital for 38 days with the broken heel bone and she still walks with the aid of a cane. She testified the injury was extremely painful and she couldn't remember details of the accident for 10 days following.

Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick, called by the plaintiffs as a medical witness, attributed this gap in her memory to concussion.

Since the accident she has lost weight, become nervous, and is no longer able to perform her housework with the same efficiency, she told the court.

Dr. Russell Magee described in detail the extent of heel-bone injury to Mrs. Moher and the operation performed. Such an injury might lead to severe arthritis and pain, he said.

Under cross examination he said there is "never a complete recovery" after such a serious break, and in Mrs. Moher's case, no sign of arthritis.

HAPPINESS COMES to four-year-old Dionissios Katsanis, a Greek boy who has been "adopted" by a Peterborough woman under the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children.

'Adopts' Greek Boy Victim Of World War

The life of a four-year-old Greek boy, whose father was killed during the war four months before the lad was born, has been made brighter through the generous action of a Peterborough woman.

Mrs. J. Fialkowski, 833 George St., N., has "adopted" the boy through the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children. Her adoption does not mean that she becomes his parent—he will remain in Athens with his mother and two brothers—but Mrs. Fialkowski has undertaken to contribute $15 every month towards the child's upkeep.

Since its inception 12 years ago the Foster Parents' organization has cared for more than 60,000 children in this way. It is now operating in England, France, Belgium, Holland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Greece and China.

Little Dionissios Katsanis, the lad Mrs. Fialkowski has "adopted" is living in a small two-roomed house in Athens. The interior contains only the meagerest of furnishings and necessities, for his mother has only her late husband's monthly $22.60 pension with which to bring up her three youngsters. She is unable to work to supplement the pension, because of ill health.

The Foster Parents' organizations does not do mass relief work. Each child is treated individually and adoption is financial, carrying no legal obligations. The Canadian headquarters are in Montreal.

Train Hits Car Driver Escapes Injury

Thirty years of accident-free driving ended at 7:45 a.m. today for Harry E. Baker, 65, Mount Pleasant, when his car met in collision with a CNR train at Park and McDonnel streets. No one was injured.

Baker said he had been driving 30 years without an accident.

Driving east on McDonnel on his way to work, Baker stopped at Park St. at the stop sign. His car came to a stop directly on the CNR railroad tracks which cross the intersection.

The train was travelling northwest on its way to Lindsay. The wig-wag signals were believed to be operating, but Baker told Traffic Officer Harold Mesley he did not see the train until it was almost upon him.

The right rear corner of the 1929 model car was hit crumpling the fender, denting the body and door, and breaking two windows.

CNR Inaugurates Diesel Engine Montreal-Pacific

MONTREAL, Dec. 15.—A new era in Canadian railroading was ushered in Tuesday night when the Canadian National Railways "Continental Limited" pulled out of central station here for Winnipeg and the Pacific coast. Gone was the chugging, snorting steam locomotive that has hauled this cross-country train for many years. In its place, was a shiny new streamlined monster of the rails, Diesel-electric locomotive No. 9051.

On its run half-way across the continent to the western gateway of Winnipeg, tests will be made to determine the capabilities of diesel-electric engines operating under Canadian conditions on long runs. The triple-unit demonstrator locomotive of 4,500 horsepower, loaned by the General Motors Corporation, was taken over by the CNR last week, and placed on the manifest freight run from Toronto to Winnipeg.

Using only two of the three units, it clipped almost five hours off the regular schedule. From Winnipeg to Montreal the twin-units again hauled a mainline freight train and the result was even more definite. They rolled in here Friday morning after cutting twelve hours off the regular time.

Walton Starts Run

N. B. Walton, CBE, executive vice-president, and leading officers of the CNR inaugurated the trial run. Mr. Walton handed the operating orders to veteran engineer Bob Wakeman and conductor W. Shinwood. "This run is the culmination of many months of planning," said Mr. Walton. It is another forward step in the steady progress being made by the CNR in diesel utilization."

Normally, between Montreal and Winnipeg, the Canadian National uses three steam engines on passenger trains, changes being made at Ottawa and Nakina, Ont. The diesel, which is at last now coming into its own many years after it was the dream of a young Bavarian in Europe, Dr. Rudolph Diesel, will make the entire 1,359 mile run without requiring relief.

Bevan Best Mob Orator M.P.'s Love To Hear Him Go

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Dec. 15—(CP)—When Aneurin Bevan rises to speak, a cathedral hush descends upon the House of Commons. If "Nye" really gets going—and it doesn't take much to wind him up — you can hear a feather drop. Socialist back-benchers strain forward expectantly, the gallery ceases to fidget, the opposition braces for the storm. Then Britain's Health Minister expands, his voice silky-soft or harsh by turns, stubby fingers jabbing the points home, silvery-dark hair tumbling thick over a flushed and earnest face.

What he says looks cold in print. In his speech in the devaluation debate last September, the word devaluation wasn't mentioned. But the fury of cheering that followed surpassed anything heard in this session of Parliament.

Irascible, unpredictable Bevan is Westminister's best mob orator, capable of inflaming enemies or inspiring ecstasy among his followers.

Unrepentant Sinner

There is only one word for the way some Conservatives feel about him, and that word is hatred.

Bevan reciprocates. His dismissal of the Tories as "less than vermin" still reverberates in British politics. But the sinner refuses to repent. The other day, he said it's a good thing millionaires are losing their money. The cake was going to be sliced up even more, he warned, because "redistribution is also retribution."

Bevan left school at 13 to work in the Welsh coal mines. He never forgets his working-class origins, or the slight stammer which makes his speeches oddly effective.

Opponents claim he sometimes gives vent to a high-pitched scream. Admirers say this is merely a cadance known to Welsh people as the "hwyl," the impassioned declamation commonly used by old-time Welsh preachers.

Loose Talk

Nobody says so officially, but the 52-year-old minister probably was the man behind a recent campaign by the "Labor left" to implicate Canada in Britain's economic crisis. Attempts by Canadian correspondents in London to find out what the cabinet thought about the campaign resulted in some off-the-record remarks, which boiled down to a suggestion that temperamental ministers sometimes are more trouble than theyre worth.

At the same time, there's probably a lot of loose talk about personal antagonisms inside the cabinet.

"There are differences of opinion, of course," one of Bevan's ministerial colleagues told The Canadian Press, "but they're usually exaggerated."

He said he doesn't think Bevan's invective is any worse than that of the late David Lloyd George, another Welshman, who ruled Britain from 1916 to 1922.

But they still go on hating Bevan. One London hospital received this anonymous letter:

"Dear sirs: Please remove my name from your list of blood donors. Although the present minister is out for the blood of all decent people, he isn't having mine in bottles."

Two Mental Hospitals For Northern Ontario

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP) — Health Minister Kelley said today that location of two new mental hospitals for the province will be announced next month.

They are part of a $35,000,000 hospital plan to be carried out by Ontario. One of the hospitals, to be in northwestern Ontario and the other in a central northern Ontario centre.

The minister said he would tour the north after the holiday season for inspection of possible sites. He said the entire hospital situation is being surveyed at the moment.

Plan Festive Concerts

HASTINGS, Dec. 15—(ENS)—The Dutch Line school is planning an interesting program for a Christmas concert to be presented in the school on Dec. 21.

Cattle Rustling Ring

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., Dec. 15 (CP)—A new cattle rustling ring is believed working in southeastern Alberta. District ranchers and farmers reported Wednesday that some 75 head of steers and calves have been stolen from their fields in the last 10 days.

Hair-Dye Flop Awarded $1,000

TORONTO, Dec. 15 (CP)—Mrs. Kathleen Irwin of Toronto was awarded $1,000 damages Wednesday for pain and suffering caused by a hair-dye treatment.

She told a county court jury she spent 18 days in hospital following treatment by W. T. Pember Stores Ltd., here.

Dr. Raymond C. Smith testified the 45 year old widow was "scarcely recognizable as a human being" when he first examined her.

Mrs. Irwin said she had to be led to the hospital, so severe was the irritation and swelling of her face and head.

W. T. Pember Tuesday said Mrs. Irwin was given treatments at the Pember Store before her permanent wave to eliminate "acid in her system."

Lively Debate Expected On Nutrition

LONDON, Dec. 15—(Reuters)—Politicians will battle over the welfare of 50,000,000 British stomachs today when parliament debates nutrition.

With food a subject of greater concern than ever to the people as Christmas draws near, the Conservative opposition is expected to hit as hard as it can at the Labor Government.

Speakers will draw ammunition from an official document published earlier this week which shows that the annual average consumption of meat fell from 90 pounds a person in 1946 to just under 70 pounds this year.

But the explanation of this, as the government likely will explain, is that supply difficulties in Canada and the Argentine cut down imports of bacon and canned meat, respectively.

To sharp-tongued Dr. Edith Summerskill deputy food minister, falls the task of convincing parliament—and British housewives—that food consumption "on average" is only a little below pre-war.

Depends On Statistics

For her case she is likely to depend largely on the statistics given in the official document, "Food Consumption Levels in the United Kingdom," which estimated that Britons in 1948-49 received a daily intake of calories three per cent higher than in the 1946-48 period and only one per cent lower than the pre-war yearly average.

This increase in calories is explained by the rise in consumption of butter, margarine, lard and sugar which has made good the loss of calories caused by a smaller meat ration.

Opposition speakers are likely to retort that talk of calories is all right for theoreticians and statisticians but the public thinks of food in terms of more appetizing images.

The Conservatives are expected to be particularly bitter over the government's restrictions on pig-breeding, pointing to the almost complete absence of pork from Britain's dinner tables.

Reach Record Wage

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP)—Average wages of workers in leading manufacturing plants who are paid on an hourly basis reached a record of $42.40 a week Oct. 1, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday. This compared with $41.72 at the beginning of September and $40.68 on the same date last year.

CHRISTMAS, DOWN UNDER — The sunswept Pacific foams in on the white sands of Kirra, one of the largest beaches along the 20-mile Sun Coast of Queensland, Australia—and it's Christmas there, too. But what a difference from Christmas in the Northern hemisphere.

Name 2 Men Directors Of Television

MONTREAL, Dec. 15 (CP) — Fergus Mutrie, of Toronto, and Aurele Seguin, of Montreal, today were named directors of television for CBC, the first appointments to be made in Candian television on a full-time basis.

The appointments were announced in a press statement by Dr. Augustin Frigon, general manager of the CBC, who said the two radio executives have been assigned to work full-time on development of CBC-TV in Montreal and Toronto.

Alphonse Ouimet, of Montreal, CBC assistant chief engineer, will continue to act as co-ordinator of television.

Dr. Frigon said Canada's first television program would probably be on the air by mid-summer of 1951. An earlier start would be impossible he added, due to the time needed to build transmitters and studios in Montreal and Toronto and to gather and train a television staff.

Back From Europe

Both Mr. Mutrie and Mr. Seguin have recently returned from Europe and the United States where they made extensive studies of television systems.

Mr. Mutrie, Regina - born graduate of the University of British Columbia, is well-known on the Pacific coast in both music and agricultural circles. His father, J. T. Mutrie, has established at Vernon, B.C., one of the largest seed farms in Canada.

The Montreal television director has been in radio for 16 years, occupying various positions with the CBC in Ottawa, Quebec and Montreal.

In announcing the new appointments, Dr. Frigon said the CBC has "fairly extensive" plans on hand which will be implemented in the near future. He did not give any details.

Make Bank Supervisor

MONTREAL, Dec. 15 (CP) — The Royal Bank of Canada Wednesday announced appointment of Thomas F. Whitley as supervisor of the bank's 233 branches in Ontario. He succeeds S. A. Duke who has been the bank's supervisor since 1941. Mr. Whitley is a native of Winnipeg.

Bandits Kill 82

BOGOTA, Colombia, Dec. 15—(AP)—An official communique said Wednesday 82 persons were killed in an attack by "bandits" on a Conservative meeting in the town of Cocuy. Thirty ringleaders were reported arrested. The communique also announced drives against "bandits" in several sections of Colombia.

3 Private Stations Offer Mayor Free Time

TORONTO, Dec. 15 — (CP)—Three privately-owned radio stations here have offered Mayor Hiram McCallum free time for broadcasts during Toronto's municipal election campaign, the Mayor said Wednesday night.

Earlier the Mayor reported receiving a message from the CBC, suggesting that he relinquish his 15-minute Sunday broadcasts over the CBC's station CJBC during the last two weeks of the year.

(At Montreal, Ron Fraser, CBC director of press and information services, said the Mayor was given time during the year to report to the people, but "we feel that the forthcoming civic election changes the situation, in effect giving the Mayor an advantage over other candidates.")

5,000 Flee Fog

OAKLAND ,Calif., Dec. 15—(AP)—A suffocating fog of ammonia gas spread over a 20-square-block area before dawn Wednesday, forcing 1,000 persons from their beds There were no fatalities but five persons were taken to hospital and scores overcome and made ill by the vapor which, in heavy concentrations, can kill . The gas spread from a split pipe leading from a tank car filled with liquid ammonia.

Oldest Newspaper In World Gazette Published In London

By MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, Dec. 15 —(CP)— In an office tucked away behind the department stores that line Oxford Street in the fashionable west end, an editorial staff of three produces twice weekly the oldest newspaper in the world.

It is The London Gazette, which has just celebrated its 284th year of cohtinuous publication.

Though the circulation rarely tops 1,400, the paper has a reading public that makes even the Times of London envious. Special copies are hurried from the presses to Buckingham Palace; others are flown to embassies and consulates throughout the world.

The head of every government is a regular reader of the close-printed pages of the Gazette, officially the "appointed organ for all announcements of the Executive."

Its most important stories are official announcements emanating from such places as the War Office or St. Jame's Palace.

Twice a year the Gazette scoops the world on the King's Honors lists. The New Year and Birthday lists sometimes are in the little office off Oxford Street as much as a month ahead of the day of publication. Editors and printers are sworn to secrecy.

Dread of Plaque

It was a King's dread of the plague which accounted for the first publication of the Gazette.

In the autumn of 1665, Charles II moved his court from Westminster to Oxford to avoid the rampant disease which was killing hundreds daily in London. Tired of getting his news from the capital by sword of mouth, Charles decided he should have a newspaper.

He was afraid to have copies of either the News or the Intelligencer—current London news sheets—sent to him for fear they would bear the contamination of the plague.

So he ordered an Oxford printer to bring out a paper. It was called the Oxford Gazette and ran for three months before Charles ventured back to London. Diarist Samuel Pepys wrote of it: "It is very pretty, full of news, and no folly in it."

Publication was resumed in London and to this day, anyone must agree, there still is "no folly in it."

Strange Death Of Thelma Todd Still Mystery

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 15 (AP)—Was it murder? Or was it suicide? Or did Thelma Todd accidently die 14 years ago today?

That riddle has been cause for debate in Hollywood ever since the blonde star was found dead in her garage one morning in 1935. Here's how the death accurred:

Thelma, the fun-loving former school teacher from Lawrenceville, Mass., went to a Saturday night party at the Trocadero in honor of the British comic, Stanley Lupino. A chauffeur picked her up between 2:30 and 3 a.m. and drove her back to her cafe at the beach. She appeared quiet and tired.

When she waved goodbye to the driver at four Sunday morning, it was the last time she was seen alive.

Gas Poisoning

At 10:15 Monday morning, Miss Todd's maid opened the garage door and found the actress slumped in the front seat of her car. She wore a mauve and silver evening gown and mink coat, and jewels ornamented her throat and wrist. She had been dead at least 12 hours —of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The ignition key was turned on and the heavy garage door were closed. There were no notes or other clues.

Was it murder? Miss Todd's lawyer thought so. "I believe someone knows something about this case which should be told," he said. He added that gamblers had urged the actress to put gambling in her cafe, but she opposed it.

Accident Theory

What about suicide? Young Ida Lupino, daughter of the Troc party's guest of honor, told Miss Todd that night of being tired of the movie business and wanting to quit.

"I've been trying to do that all my life," answered Miss Todd, "but I guess there's only one way out.'

But Thelma's mother said: "My daughter's death was accidental."

Detective Chief Thad Brown of the Los Angeles police agrees with that theory. "The death is still accidental in my book," he told me this week.

Medical Profession Learns Much From Noronic Disaster Methods

TORONTO, Dec. 15 (CP) — In the headlines it was a story of death, of horror unparalleled in a Canadian city, of swiftly changing casualty figures. In the laboratory it was a story of quiet, patient persistence, an engrossing study of what fire can do to the human body.

Science all but won the battle Wednesday when the last death certificate was issued for the 119 victims of the Noronic disaster. Only four of those who died when searing flames swept the Canada Steamship Lines Great Lakes cruise ship last Sept. 17 have not been positively identified. Certificates have been issued for them and they will be buried in graves readily accessible at any future time.

To those who stood in the central morgue last Sept. 17 as the victims of the worst Great Lakes marine disaster in a century were brought in from the Toronto waterfront it seemed impossible that perhaps more than a dozen would ever be identified. Death had dealt harshly with those mounds of twisted, blackened flesh lying on tables, along walls, in corners. In some, sex was indistinguishable.

Positive identification had to be made of those who died. Dr. W. L. Robinson, chief pathologist of the Banting Institute, was put at the head of the identification committee. He told in an interview how he started work:

Chosen At Random

"I went out about noon and then saw this big room full of charred bodies, many with arms and legs burned off. I chose a body—A13, which appeared to me to be an easy body to identify—and started to work."

Extensive use of X-rays as a means of identification was introduced. Never before had so many victims of such tragedies been identified by this means—and not in any previous comparable disaster had so many persons been burned so badly.

A total of 491 men and women died in the cocoanut grove night club fire in Boston Nov. 28, 1942, but most of those victims were caught in a panicky rush to exits, trapped in revolving doors Death was largely due to suffocation Identification was comparatively easy, as it was in the Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey Circus fire at Hartford, Conn., July 16, 1944, when 168 persons died under the big top.

Method Used

Identification of the Noronic victims was made this way:

Pathologists measured the remains from the top of the head to the cymphsis pubis, lower part of the abdomen. This measurement averages 55 per cent of a female's height and 52 per cent of a male's. Dentists made charts and inspected dentures. Finally, X-rays were taken which, says Dr. Robinson, "was a remarkable piece of work."

At least 10 X-ray pictures were taken of every body in the charnel-house that was the Canadian National Exhibition flower building, in use as a central morgue. Films were rushed to hospitals for development. Doctors and technicians worked over the films day and night

X-ray records of persons believed to have been aboard the ship—all but one of those who died were from the United States—came into Toronto by train, by plane and by automobile. Over a teletype hook-up with Detroit and Cleveland flashed complex medical symbols. Patiently, the men in white bent over their tables in the room of death and checked the records against the record of big X-ray machines.

Says Dr. Robinson:

"Most of the evidence supplied by autopsies, dental work, etc. was circumstantial and the release of a death certificate was virtually impossible. But with the X-ray findings, identification was complete.

"The medical profession has learned a lot from this experience."

TRAGEDY IN THE FOG — Workers, barely visible through dense fog, probe the wreckage of a Capital Airlines DC-3, which crashed while trying for an instrument landing at Washington, DC. Four persons, of the 23 aboard, were killed when the plane hit a sand bar in the shallow water of the Potomac River. Some of the rescued are critically injured.

Diamond Firm Fined

LONDON, Dec. 15—(AP)—A magistrate slapped fines totalling £281,175 ($866,019) on a London diamond firm and two of its officers Wednesday. They were convicted of avoiding customs and curency laws by sending rough stones to New York by way of Tangier. The two officers also drew prison sentences but were released on bail pending appeal.

Reach Arctic Post

EDMONTON, Dec. 15 (CP) — An RCAF Dakota aircraft taking medical aid to an injured youth at Cambridge Bay, NWT, landed at the small Arctic settlement on Wednesday after a 1,100 mile flight from Edmonton. The plane carried Dr. J. C. Osborne of the Federal health department's Camsell Indian Hospital at Edmonton. He will examine the eye of Ernie Carter, injured recently by a wood splinter.

"Master Mind" Hinted In Ring

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 15 (CP). —Hint of a "master mind" in a suspected automobile theft ring operating between Western Ontario and Alberta was given in court Wednesday when two men were given preliminary hearing and committed for judge and jury trial on car theft charges. They were James Burke 24, of London, and George Francis Henshaw 31, who gave his address as Bowness, Alta.

Police said both stole cars here on the same night recently and switched Ontario licence plates to Alberta markers. Within 24 hours, Burke was arrested in Chatham while Henshaw was caught in Windsor.

At Calgary, Edward J. Vining of London, Ont., was arrested by Calgary police Wednesday night and held for questioning in connection with the theft ring. Calgary police said another man and two women were picked up with Vining, but were released. They all were in an automobile carrying Ontario licence plates.

MINOR HOCKEY

Trojans defeated St. Peter's midgets 7-0 at the arena last evening in a speedy Peterborough Minor Hockey Association tussle. Trojans had a fair margin on play most of the way, with Hooper and Dunn standouts, each getting a goal, as did Patterson, Foster, Doris, Griffin and Seabrooke. Cupoli looked best for the Saints, in a clean contest.

Oddfellows won 7-2 over St. Peter's in a juvenile game, much closer than the score indicates. Armstrong and Robinson each hit the hemp twice for the winners, with Bacon, Shearer and Ferguson getting a tally apiece. Armstrong shone all the way. Connelly connected for both the losers' markers, and turned in a fine chore throughout. Two more PMHA games are on tap for early tomorrow evening.

It was noted that an error had been made in mention through last week's report of a large donation from a member and her daughter to the Indian children on Curve Lake reserve. The large donation of toys and money was given a year ago, and for this Christmas only a small sum of money was sent to the Rev. Day to be used for treats. Dressmaker's Aim $2000 Worth Food for Britain

TORONTO, Dec. 15 (CP)—Two thousand dollars in dimes and nickels is a lot of money. But that is the amount a pleasant, little dressmaker has set out to make to buy food parcels for the people of Britain.

Most of it will be earned, as the first $140 was, in small change, Mrs. Ada Motton said Wednesday in an interview. A war bride of the first world war, she has her three grownup sons in there pitching.

Mrs. Motton bought and dressed a doll that was raffled off last Saturday for her private Aid to Britain Fund. One of her money-making ideas is to save all she makes from overtime weekend jobs for her food fund.

Mrs. Jas. McLeod Installed Head Of Evening Aux.

Christmas meeting of St. Paul's Evening Auxiliary of the WMS was conducted by President Miss Margaret Reid. The 1950 executive was installed by the Rev. C. G. Boyd, who spoke briefly to the new officers as well as to the meeting at large. The officers are:

Hon. president, Mrs. C. G. Boyd; president, Mrs. Jas. McLeod; 1st vice-president, Miss Isabel Sutherland; 2nd, Miss Verna Johnston; secretary, Mrs. R. H. McIlmoyle; treasurer, Miss Eva Roberts; telephone convener, Miss Margaret Duthie; study convener, Miss Marjorie Nesbitt; devotional convener, Mrs. Cecil Hagerman; social, Mrs. John A. Smith, Mrs. Gordon Constable; assistants, Mrs. Rod. Barrie, Mrs. Garnet Jarvis; Glad Tidings, Mae Watson; welcome and welfare, Miss Marjorie Best, Ethel Blewett; press secretary, Mrs. H. Fredericks; pianist, Mrs. Vernon Read; assistant, Mrs. A. E. Barrie.

Worship service, based on the story of the Wise Men, was taken by Miss Marjorie Nesbitt. Misses Jean and Sheila Smith sang two Christmas duets, "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks" and "Angels We Have Heard on High."

Guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. H. J. Parnell brought a beautiful Christmas message: "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance." This message was presented in a unique manner, Mrs. Parnell using the preparation of the Christmas dinner table with eight candles and the centrepiece to depict the phases of the "fruit of the Spirit." A short exposition on each pointed out their importance in bringing to every home happiness and joy, not only at Christmas, but throughout the year.

Mrs. Stewart Finnie extended a vote of thanks to the speaker, also to the Misses Smith.

A social hour followed, with a delightful Christmas lunch served by Mrs. J. A. Smith and her committee.

Worship Centre Arranged For Candle Service

Christmas meeting of the WMS of St. James United Church was held Tuesday afternoon in Wesley Hall. Seasonal decorations were tastefully arranged throughout the room.

Miss M. Bowers presided for the opening worship service and the business session. Mr. J. Arnold and Mrs. H. Turner favored with a duet "Love Divine" and Mrs. H. McLaren contributed a lovely solo "Thou Did'st Leave Thy Throne."

An impressive candle lighting service took place before a worship centre having the Cross in the background, the Babe and the Bible in front. Members taking part were Mrs. W. K. Sloane, Mrs. L. M. Bird, Mrs. E. M. Davis and Mrs. E. Johnston.

For christian stewardship F. W. Craik read a letter from Miss Grace Woodcock who is giving her life in service in Bolivia.

Grateful appreciation was felt by auxiliary members for the contribution of the Misses Marion and Connie Wagar in loving memory of their mother Mrs. Jean Wagar, whose interest in missions was an inspiration.

The Rev. F. W. Craik presided while the list of officers for the coming year was presented by Mrs. E. Johnston, nominations convener. He brought a brief Christmas message.

The offering was taken and dedicated by Mrs. A. E. Prest.

The executive for 1950 will be: hon. pres., Mrs. E. L. Woodley; president, Miss M. Bowers; 1st vice-pres., Mrs. E. M. Davis; 2nd vice-pres., Mrs. L. M. Bird; secretary, Mrs. E. Hunter; treas., Mrs. R. B. English; christian stewardship, Mrs. F. W. Craik; temperance, Mrs. A. E. Prest; supply, Mrs. W. K. Sloan; missionary monthly, Miss M. Morton; associate members, Mrs. W. R. Moncrief; literature, Mrs. E. Kent; correspondence and press, Mrs. E. Johnston; pianist, Mrs. H. F. Doig.

Miss M. Sargent New President Trinity Auxiliary

Elizabeth Parker Auxiliary of Trinity United Church had a lovely Christmas meeting in the ladies' parlor. Effective seasonal decorations made a lovely setting for the program which opened with three choral selections by members of the Baby Band Mothers' Auxiliary, led by Mrs. D. B. Gordon and accompanied by Mrs. W. R. Philp. Two Christmas numbers in song, story and instrumental were presented by Mrs. W. G. McLaren and Mrs. Ross Moore, assisted by Mrs. H. V. Dobson at the piano.

Appreciation of the entertainment was expressed by Miss Grace Sargent.

The candlelight worship service was most reverently carried through around a manger scene by Mrs. C. McIntyre, Mrs. W. Head, Miss H. Staples and Miss O. Armstrong. Mrs. C. Richardson led in prayer.

Retiring president Mrs. S. Harrison presided for a short business meeting. She then called upon Mrs. A. Legon, president of the WMS to conduct the installation of officers for 1950 and a dedicatory service.

Miss Myrtle Sargent, who takes the presidency for next year, made a short address following the ceremony. Others on the executive slate are: honorary president, Mrs. R. S. Downey; vice-president, Mrs. F. W. Horton; treasurer, Mrs. M. Hart; recording secretary, Miss Helen Moore; corresponding secetary, Mrs. C. I. Richardson; envelope secretary, Mrs. F. DOROTHY DIX

Insincerity No Answer To Domestic Happiness

DEAR MISS DIX: You are always telling people how to live happily together though married, and especially telling a wife how to hold her husband, and the methods you suggest are all insincerities. The wife must show an interest in her husband's profession when she doesn't care a hoot about it except as a source of their income. She must make him think he is the finest, strongest, handsomest man God ever created, and all sorts of such false expressions of her esteem for him.

Dorothy Dix

Well, I'm a man who wants nothing but the absolute truth in every way from my wife, and I get it. Incidentally, she receives the same from me and we are extremely happily married. But won't you give hope to those who are yet hoping for happiness in marriage through being able to live by their own true natural consciences, instead of stifling themselves with a forced futility of falsity?

J. B. D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I must have expressed myself very badly, Mrs. J. B. D., if I have given you the impression that I advocate insincerity between husbands and wives. Nothing was farther from my intention.

Should Show Affection

My plea is merely for husbands and wives to show to each other the affection and admiration that I believe most of them feel, instead of just taking it for granted that the party of the other party is aware of their sentiments and there is no use mentioning the matter. In other words, I am pleading with husbands and wives to throw a few bouquets at each other while they are alive instead of reserving them all for the funeral.

What does it matter to the husband if his wife regards him as a hero if she never tells him so? He hungers and thirsts for her praise. What matters it to the woman if her husband looks upon her as a saint if he never mentions it? She starves for the assurance that he still loves her and puts her above all other women. I believe that very few marriages would be failures if husbands and wives would keep up the tactics of their courting days.

As to husbands and wives telling each other the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, the wisdom and even the rightness of that depends on circumstances. Certainly no good can be accomplished by telling each other the truth about their faults. John Hay once said that the most admired among us would die of chagrin if we knew what those nearest and dearest to us really thought of us.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: For the last month of my summer vacation I went rather regularly with a beautiful girl in my home town. She is everything a man could pray for, and more, except that she virtually has no education, while some day I expect to be a lawyer. I feel that unless my wife can understand me to a reasonable extent we won't be happy, yet I am crazy about this girl. Do you think I would be happy if I married her?

ALBERT

ANSWER: Many intelligent men are satisfied with a wife who is a good housekeeper, a good cook, amiable and easy to get along with.

Their idea of a wife is a convenience and not a companion. All they ask is a wife who will make them comfortable and they get all of the outside mental stimulus they want abroad.

But that kind of marriage is dull as dishwater. The ideal marriage is one in which the wife can feed her husband's soul as well as his body. An uneducated woman can never be a satisfactory wife to an educated man, no matter how amiable and good looking she may be. Her attraction for him is only physical and as soon as that wanes they have nothing in common. You will find that most of the unfaithful husbands are clever men who married dull women. They are driven to seek abroad the companionship they did not find at home.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I belong to a card club to which six or eight other couples belong. At home my husband is all in all to me, but when we go out he forgets he knows me or has me along, and he is always putting his arms around some one of the women. The men kid him about it and the women call to me to see what he is doing. What do you think of this? Do you think I am jealous because I object?

MARY

ANSWER: I think your husband shows great lack of good taste and probably makes himself very offensive to the other women, as there is nothing that women resent more than such familiarities.

Evidently your husband considers himself a devil of a fellow among the ladies and is trying to show off before you, so if you cannot induce him to mend his manners just laugh at him. He really means nothing.

And if it will comfort you, you may be very sure that every one of the women he is pawing over is wishing she had the courage to jab a hatpin into him, and in her heart she is calling him an old idiot.

QUEEN MARY SCHOOL

Christmas meeting of Queen Mary Home and School Association took place this week with Mrs. C. G. Collins presiding. Members were received by Mrs. Jack Comstock, secretary.

The concert program prepared for this occasion opened with carol singing led by Mr. W. L. McNeill, accompanied by Mrs. O. Jameson at the piano and Mr. Jameson on the violin. Miss Betty Lapp was the guest artist and she entertained with two splendidly executed piano solos.

Grade 7 pupils, under direction of Mr. J. Lawless, presented a play "Christmas Stockings" and a second play was by Grade 8 students, directed by Mr. McNeill.

The intermediate choir sang two numbers, an Austrian carol and Jingle Bells, with Miss M. Stenton directing.

Mrs. C. H. Spearin moved a vote of thanks to the entertainers and this part was closed with all singing the First Noel and Come all ye faithful.

Mrs. Eric Edmondson presented a parent education paper, "Learning how to use money." The parent attendance prize was won by Mr. McNeill's class.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. James Clark and Mrs. N Elliott, assisted by association members.

Mission Circle Officers Elected

Christmas meeting of the Jean Wagar Mission Circle was held Tuesday night with a good attendance for the splendid program.

Members were welcomed by the hostess, Mrs. F. W. Craik and by the president, Miss Gladys Langton, who conducted the beautiful worship service, stressing the spirit of Christmas in song, story and scripture.

Following the call to worship, carols were sung, interspersed by scripture reading given by Miss Mabel Dulmage and meditations by the president. Christmas poems were contributed by Misses Jean Hammond, Shirley Potts and Jessie Martin.

Prayer was offered by Mrs. G. Cuffe, who also acted as pianist. "Silent Night" was sung by Anne Gordon and Barbara Woodcock, and the lovely story of "The Other Wise Man" was effectively told by Lillian Aikenhead.

The treasurer's report given after reception of the Christmas offering, showed that this active group has again exceeded the annual allocation. Business included the report of the nominating committee followed by the election of officers conducted by the Rev. F. W. Craik.

Following is the slate of officers for the new year: advisory president, Miss Constance Wagar; president, Miss Gladys Langton; first vice-president, Miss Jean Davis; second vice-president, Miss Dorothy Martin; recording secretary, Miss Norma Ephgrave; corresponding secretary, Miss Jean Hammond; treasurer, Miss Zetta Wood; assistant, Miss Dorothy Martin; department secretaries: Christian Stewardship, Miss Mabel Dulmage; temperance, Miss Alma Hunter; missionary monthly Miss Lillian Hayes; community friendship, Misses Louise Seabrooke, Marjorie Sedore; literature, Miss Shirley Potts; supply committee, Misses Lillian Aikenhead, Eleanor Fife, Greta Van Nest; mite boxes, Miss Jennie Culle; pianists, Misses Jean Hammond and Jennie Cuffe.

In closing, the president expressed appreciation of the cooperation given by executive and members of the Circle and quoted the poem "The King's Birthday."

Prayer by the Rev. Mr. Craik closed the meeting. Refreshments were served by the hostess and the committe, including Misses Jean Hammond, Marion and Connie Wagar.

Parent-Teachers Association Meets

The Parent Teachers Association of St. Peter's and St. Mary's Schools, St. Peter's Parish, held the most satisfactory meeting yet Tuesday evening when more han 250 were in attendance. The chairman also welcomed the Rev. P. P. Butler who returned from a visit to Rome this week, and Father Butler entertained with an account of some of the highlights of his trip.

A chorus of well-trained girls from St. Mary's and boys from St. Peter's sang a group of Christmas carols, accompanied by Ann Szammers. Grade 2 boys and girls of St. Anne's school delighted with a dance "Weaving the Wadmal" to accompaniment by Miss Mary Neville.

There followed an interesting Christmas dialogue by Ricky Pace and Arthur Shofly entitled "Brother Ox." A piano solo was by little Betty Evans and a duet by Gloria Lidway and Shirley Clarke, Kitty Nolan, Peter Fitzpatrick and Brian Cavanagh represented Kings from the Orient in song and colorful costume.

Prize for attendance was won by Grade 4 of St. Peter's, Room 6 of St. Mary's, and Miss Neville's room at St. Anne's.

Winners of turkeys on the Christmas draw were Brenda Cavanagh, Hazel Crough, Mrs. C. Warren, Mrs. P. T. Boland and Mr. R. Martineau.

Lunch was served by Mrs. D. Emory and members of the social committee. Mrs. S. Fitzpatrick and Mrs. P. Rodd poured tea.

150 Youngsters Guests At Christmas Party

The Christmas season is the time of enchantment for all—but especially for children. This fact was very much in evidence on Wednesday afternoon when the Trinity Baby Band Mothers' Auxiliary entertained about 150 children—all under six years of age—at the annual Christmas party.

Loud were the exclamations of wonder and delight as each tot glimpsed the huge, brightly lighted tree, laden with gifts and awaiting the arrival of Santa Claus. But immediately their attention was attracted to the gaily decorated tables centred with rows of tiny evergreen trees and bearing plates of sandwiches and cookies, chocolate milk, and a candy cane and animal crackers, wrapped in a bright serviette, for each one present.

Before the children were seated for their lunch they were entertained with games and stories, supervised by Mrs. C. Kernohan. Afterward they were shown two delightful films, and during this interval the mothers enjoyed a cup of tea.

The arrival of Santa was heralded with shouts of enthusiasm and he presented a gift to each youngster.

The party arrangements were in charge of Mrs. D. Delaney and her group. Those assisting in preparing, serving and decorating were Mesdames J. Allen, W. Cuppy, K. Harrison, C. Kernohan, N. Nesbitt, J. Sage, R. Wright, and G. Archer. The kitchen was supervised by Mrs. J. Skitch and Mrs. E. Malcolm.

CPR Will Use Diesel Engines

OTTAWA, Dec. 15 (CP)—N. R. Crump, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Wednesday told the Royal Commission on transportation of CPR plans to replace steam locomotives with diesel engines.

Already all steam engines have been removed from Vancouver Island and replacement of steam engines will be completed this week on the line from Montreal to Wells River, Vt.

Approximately 58 diesel units had replaced 68 steam locomotives to haul freight along the north shore of Lake Superior, he said.

Mr. Crump gave his testimony in elaborating on sections of the C.P.R.'s brief to the commission which said the railway had reduced transportation costs by greater operating efficiency and constantly-improved equipment.

Mr. Crump said the use of diesel engines would cut fuel costs, would enable the railway to move greater tonnages of freight and would enable it to remove installations such as coal docks, ash pits and water towers.

High Army Men Inspect Jeep

DETROIT, Dec. 15 (CP)—High United States army ordnance officials Wednesday inspected a new military jeep which Willys-Overland Motors said would run in water deep enough to submerge its engine completely.

The new jeep is an improved model of the military vehicle Willys-Overland produced in quantity for the army during the Second World War.

Delmar G. Roos, vice-president described the water-proof engine feature as its outstanding improvement.

Another feature of the new jeep is an arrangement whereby the engine, radiator, transmission and transfer case can be removed completely as a unit for hasty service and replacement in combat.

Roos explained that those parts can be lifted and replaced in the field "without even draining the engine."

Abortion Death Inquest For Student Adjourned

BRAMPTON, Dec. 16—(CP)—After hearing testimony from nine witnesses, including expert evidence that death was due to an illegal operation, the inquest in the death of Margaret Robertson was adjourned Thursday to Jan. 12 to enable the court to call two more witnesses. The 21-year-old arts student at the University of Western Ontario, died as she was admitted to hospital in this Peel county town 20 miles northwest of Toronto on Sunday Nov. 20.

The girl's father, George Robertson, told the jury Thursday that another daughter, Jean, had told him that Margaret said John Gross, 31-year-old Toronto salesman, was not responsible for her pregnancy. It was Gross who drove the unconscious girl to the hospital here.

Gross, under lengthy questioning, said he had been in the girl's company from about 1 p.m Nov. 20 until he brought her to Peel Memorial Hospital here about 6 p.m. He denied knowledge of any illegal operation.

Also introduced in evidence was a note written by the dead girl dated Nov. 4, which said in part . . . "I do exonerate one David T. Flannery from any and all responsibility for the child I am going to bear. . . " The note said that at no time did she have intercourse with Flannery.

The court adjourned to enable taking of evidence from Flannery and Al Weaver, both of Fergus, Ont., at the next sitting.

Desired To Help Her

Gross testified that all his actions in connection with the dead girl had been moved by friendship and his desire to help her He said he met the girl at a Toronto hotel on the afternoon of Nov. 20 and learned only that she had undergone an operation. He offered to drive her to her Acton home and at no time in the next five hours had the girl indicated she was in pain.

Weaver's name was introduced during Gross' testimony. Gross said he had discussed with the

Believes Rents Will Go Higher

MONTREAL, Dec. 16 6(CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said today it is his opinion that "sooner or later rents must level off at a higher level than that of today."

He said leases signed now, calling for increases permitted under the recently-announced federal relaxation of rental controls, will protect tenants paying these rents. The protection, he aded, will be against the day when rent control ends entirely.

Asked about Premier Duplessis' statement in Quebec today that his government feels federal authorities should "compensate financially" parties that have "suffered inconvenience and damages" due to federal rent control, Mr. Abbott said he had been informed of a new telegram arriving at his Ottawa office "but it was just the same old thing."

The minister said he is convinced the federal government is not constitutionally able to stay in the rental control field "indefinitely."

Sues City For Injuries Suffered In Battle

SUDBURY, Dec. 16 (CP) — A faint echo of the two-hour gun battle that claimed four lives here last June 18 is a claim for $1,367.61 damages against the city of Sudbury, made by W. J Pellerin, of suburban Gatchell.

Pellerin was shot in the big toe of the left foot while assisting police in the basement of the building next door to the one in which Clarence Brosseau had barricaded himself to launch the spectacular shooting affair.

He had previously lived in the Brosseau home and was helping police by describing the interior and possible spots at which Brosseau might appear. He was wounded when a policeman in the cellar stumbled and accidentally discharged a rifle.

North America Act Becomes Law Today

LONDON, Dec. 16 (Reuters)—The North America Act, giving Canada's Parliament power to amend the Canadian Constitution —The British North America Act —without reference to the British Parliament, became law today when it was given the Royal Assent.

When the Bill was discussed earlier this month, Lord Addison, the Lord Privy Seal, said the fact that Canada had not had this power until now had been through her own choice.

Fire Razes Hamlet Of McAlpine

Eight Left Homeless As $100,000 Blaze Sweeps Tiny Centre

VANKLEEK HILL, Ont., Dec. 16 (CP)—An early-morning fire today virtually destroyed the hamlet of McAlpine, three miles west of here on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Damage was estimated at $100,000. There were no injuries among the population of about a dozen persons, although a number were forced into zero weather in night attire. Eight persons were made homeless.

George Seguin, 64, general store keeper and postmaster, his wife, and their 14-year-old niece, Betty Brazeau, were among those who just managed to escape. They were aroused by a neighbor, Robert McDuff, whose home and feed store was destroyed.

Also destroyed in the blaze, believed to have started about 1 a.m. EST, was the home and blacksmith shop of Hilliare Berlault.

The burned buildings were two-storey frame structures.

Made homeless were Mr. and Mrs. Berlault, their son Joseph: Mr. McDuff and his housekeeper, Mary Pollard, the Seguins and Miss Brazeau.

In General Store

The fire, which originated in the rear of the general store, was discovered by McDuff when he returned home early today.

A brisk wind fanned the flames and within minutes, the McDuff and Berlault homes also were ablaze.

The fire disrupted telegraph and telephone lines and for a time seriously threatened the CPR station.

The Vankleek Hill fire department, district residents and a dozen CPR section men helped fight the fire. Making use of a nearby well, they succeeding in halting it before it could spread to lumber sheds and a granary owned by Mr. Seguin.

Vankleek Hill is about 50 miles east of Ottawa.

UK Market Loss Costs 150 Million

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (CP)—R W. Morrison, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture said in a statement Thursday night that loss of the British market for Canadian bacon, cheese, eggs and other products means a loss to Canada of about $150,000,000 in income next year.

"The only solution," said the statement, "is a continuing pressure upon the Canadian government for an expanding volume of trade with Great Britain. This is primarily a matter of reducing tariffs and permitting the British to sell in Canada the manufactured goods which will give her the income with which to buy our produce."

M. M. Robinson, secretary of the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Association, said that loss of the British apple market would result in the "dumping" of British Columbia and Nova Scotia apples on the Ontario market.

Mystery Blast Wrecks Frame House Near Sarnia

SARNIA, Dec. 16 —(CP)—A mystery explosion Thursday at nearby Bluewater reduced a one-storey frame house to debris and sent one man to hospital with burns about the head and hands. His son said he was blown right through a crumbling wall and suffered only cuts.

The blast wrecked the home of Fred Iwarych, 54, which he occupied alone with his son, Henry.

The father's burns are not considered serious. Doctors said that the heavy clothing he was wearing probably saved him from serious injury.

Henry said he had been ill in bed all day and that the explosion occurred just after his father returned from work at a district factory. The house was heated only by a coal and wood stove. It was out during the day and he did not know whether his father had lighted it.

For several days, Henry related there had been "a bad smell like gas" around the house, but neither he nor his father could explain it because the house is not piped for natural gas.

"I didn't hear any warning noise, but suddenly I seemed to be blown right out of the house. I had to scramble out of the way into the open air or part of the roof would have fallen on me."

Bluewater residents said, however, that the sound of the blast was heard half a mile away. Firemen found no evidence of a blaze among the ruins.

Parts of the frame walls were scattered over the front and rear yards, and broken furniture was strewn all over the lot.

A GREAT NIECE of Mrs. Catherine Moher, 26 Park St., Peterborough, was found safe Thursday night after four days in the wilderness. She is Ruth Aberle, 16, of Kelso, Washington.

Girl Scout, 16 Rescued, 4 Days In Woods

LONGVIEW, Wash., Dec. 16—(AP)—A plucky girl Scout, who had waited patiently in a wilderness cabin four wintry nights for her rescue, today was resting in a warm hospital bed.

A doctor said 16-year-old Ruth Aberle, of Kelso, Wash., was responding quickly to nourishment and need only a few days of rest. Her safety had been almost a Christmas present to this entire southwest Washington area.

She is the great niece of Mrs. Catherine Moher, 26 Park St., Peterborough.

Business men, loggers, stevedores, boys and girls — even housewives—had joined the hunt.

The girl had disappeared from a group of teen-agers cutting Christmas trees Sunday. Since then, while 500 men combed the countain country northeast of here, Ruth had been alone and without food in the snow and rain. But when found Thursday she calmly identified herself and said, "Will you take me home?"

Later she told rescuer Charles E. Smith: "I knew I'd get out. I wasn't scared."

Spot Girl In Clearing

Smith and his son, Phillip, had started over a mountain to join the main search party when they saw the girl in a clearing. She was returning from getting a drink at a creek near the small 12-by 12-foot-square hut where she had curled up to sleep four previous nighis.

As soon as Ruth identified herself, the younger Smith fired a gun three times. The shots were heard by a group of Kelso boys. They relayed the signal back to the main camp 10 miles away.

The sturdy physical health of the girl kept her on her feet until she reached an ambulance sent to the road nearest the forest scene. Smith said the girl walked "all the way to the road—several miles—except when I carried her across the streams."

Ruth had smiles for her rescuers and was still without tears until her mother, Mrs. William Aberle, Sr., took her in her arms at the hospital. "I'm all right, mother. I'm all right; I'm happy now."

Her father later quoted her as saying, "Daddy, it was my Scout training that saved me."

Steal Salesman's Car With $30,000 Jewels

HAMILTON, Dec. 16 (CP). — Dalton L. Browne, salesman for a Montreal diamond firm, Thursday night reported to police the theft of his motor car containing between $15,000 and $30,000 worth of diamonds.

Browne said the car was stolen from in front of a jewellery firm when he was doing business on King Street in downtown Hamilton. He could not estimate exactly how much the diamonds in the car were worth. "They might be $15,000 or $30,000," he said.

Browne was in the store from 7 p.m. to about 9:30 and when he emerged the car had disappeared. He said that last Tuesday night his home here had been entered and some costume jewellery stolen, and he was sure the theft of the car was a planned job.

Hides Body In Quarry, Shows Police

Says He Killed Sailor In Drunken Brawl Uses Concrete Slab

PORT COLBORNE, Dec. 16 (CP)—Police said a 43-year-old man walked into Port Colborne police station Thursday night and told them he had killed George Morrison, 41-year-old transient sailor, and dumped his body into a quarry in nearby Humberstone township.

Held by provincial police is William Mahagen of Port Colborne, who told them he had struck Morrison on the head with a heavy piece of concrete during a drunken fight Wednesday night. The two men lived in an old galvanized-iron shack in the bush near the quarry, a mile west of Port Colborne.

Police said Mahagen led them along a blood-stained trail from the shack to the quarry where they found Morrison's body in two inches of ice. The back of the skull was crushed.

Mahagen had told them the two men were drinking when the argument broke out. When Morrison did not revive after being felled by the piece of concrete, Mahagen said he became panicky and dragged the body to the quarry.

Dr. A. A. Thompson, coroner, said Morrison died instantly when the blow was struck.

Advised To Surrender

Police said Mahagen told them his brother had advised him to give himself up.

Morrison, a veteran of wartime service in the merchant marine, was a prisoner of war in Germany after his ship was captured. He had no known relatives.

Police said Mahagen's wife, Frances, from whom he has been separated for several years, resides in Port Hope. A sister, Mrs. Ed. Kaobale, resides in Humberstone.

The killing is the third in Humberstone township in eight months. In April George Szendry of Humberstone shot and killed a Buffalo youth and wounded another as he attacked the two youths who were leaving a weiner roast with girl companions at Pleasant Beach. Later in the year Jake Koabel of Humerstone township was beaten to death in his shack and William Christiansen arrested.

Believe Way Found To Ease Border Bars

OTTAWA, Dec. 16—(CP)—The External Affairs Department expressed hope today that a way has been found to "reduce to a minimum" the border bars the United States has placed against some Canadians on the grounds their entry would not be in the American national interest.

The hope sprang from a conference in Washington Thursday between officials of the two countries. The department said in a statement "good progress was made and it is hoped that, as a result, difficulties in individual cases will in future be reduced to a minimum."

The department said the meeting reviewed "immigration and customs procedures affecting travel" between the countries.

"It was recognized that only a very small proportion of individual border crossings, which number many millions annually from each side, give rise to any difficulties. The causes of possible and existing difficulties were examined in a frank, friendly and co-operative spirit within the framework of the laws and regulations of both countries . . ."

Mexican Plane Missing With 17 Passengers

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 16—(AP) —A Mexican plane with 17 passengers aboard was reported four hours overdue today at Veracruz.

The plane left here at 5:30 a.m. for Merida by way of Veracruz, where it should have arrived at 6:30 a.m.

It was reported near Nautla, 80 miles north of Veracruz on the Gulf Coast, at 6:05 a.m.

Name Arthur Irwin Head Of National Film Board

OTTAWA, Dec. 16—(CP)—W. Arthur Irwin, veteran Canadian newspaper and magazine editor, is to be the new commissioner of the Dominion's much-criticized National Film Board. Appointment of the 51-year-old editor of 'Maclean's Magazine as NFB commissioner was disclosed Thursday. He will replace Ross McLean, 44, whose three-year contract expires Jan. 9.

Reconstruction Minister Winters confirmed reports that Mr. McLean's contract was not being renewed.

He declined to disclose the name of the new commissioner, but Mr. Irwin said in Toronto that he had been offered the job and that he had accepted.

Mr. McLean also confirmed his retirement but said he had no statement to make immediately.

It was expected that an official government announcement would be issued once Mr. Winters had an opportunity to discuss Mr. Irwin's appointment with the cabinet.

A Fresh Approach

Mr. Winters said that as NFB chairman he had decided there "should be a fresh approach" to the "great work" being done by the board. As a result, a new commissioner would be appointed.

He paid tribute to the service Mr. McLean had rendered to the board in the 11 years he has been associated with it, the last four as commissioner.

He emphasized that Mr. McLean was not being let out due to recent criticism in the Commons over the disclosure that Film Board employees were being screened for loyalty. He said this "had nothing to do with it."

Has Free Hand

It was reported Thursday that Mr. Irwin will receive a "free hand" in Film Board matters on the understanding he will clear up the board "situation" in such a way that it would regain public confidence. Reports said he will receive a salary of $15,000 annually. Mr. McLean's salary has been $8,000 a year.

Native of Ayr, Ont., Mr. Irwin is a former associate editor of the old Toronto Globe and served for one year in the parliamentary press gallery with that newspaper. He joined Maclean's editorial staff in 1925 and eight years ago became its managing editor, graduating to editor about four years ago.

Mr. McLean, native of Ethelbert, Man., has served with the Film Board since it was set up in

2 Indians Die Trying To Cross Ice

PEFFERLAW, Ont., Dec. 16 (CP)—Two Indian guides died Thursday night as they tried to cross the ice of Lake Simcoe from Georgina Island to Virginia Beach miles north of Toronto.

The body of Georg eMcCue, 40, near this community some 50 was found today frozen in the ice. His head was above the surface and police believe he found a footing after the ice broke and then died of exposure. A search is unuderway for the body of his companion, Tom Port, 45, father of seven children.

It is believed the pair were crossing from the island to the mainland to get supplies. The stretch of treacherous ice has claimed the lives of several Indians in the last few years.

Uprising In Sikang Blow At Guerrillas

TAIPEH, Formosa, Dec. 16 — (AP)—An uprising in far-west Sikang province today threatened to undo Chinese Nationalist plans to use that mountainous retreat as a base for guerilla warfare against the Reds.

(Hong Kong heard the situation was grave for the Nationalists. Troops in Szechwang province to the east were said to have joined with the Sikang rebels.

The Governors' Central News Agency there said the two groups had attacked loyal Nationalist forces around Chengtu, which was abandoned last week as a Nationalist refugee capital. The agency's dispatch from Chengtu asserted the mutineers were crushed.)

The government struggled to restore the situation. The Sikang defection followed closely the revolt in Yunnan province, south of Sikang.

Britain's Costly Dock Strike Said Deliberate Red Plan

LONDON, Dec. 16 —(CP)—A "cold and deliberate" Communist plan cooked up months ahead of time caused last spring's serious British dock strikes, Labor Minister George Isaacs said today.

In a long report on the strikes, Isaacs said the British disputes began after collapse of a similar strike in Canada. He said the British action was planned in Canada even before the Canadian deep-sea dispute began.

(The Canadian walkout came to an official end in mid-October although it had lost much of its effectiveness in preceding weeks. By then, most Canadian shipowners had signed with the S.I.U.)

Isaac said the British strikes cost 400,000 man days of labor, laid up much British shipping for weeks, brought on a proclamation of a national emergency and use of troops to unload ships.

Because of the strike "valuable exports were lost that can never be made up and the setback to our economic recovery program was severe." He added:

"A review of the circumstances in which these strikes started and spread makes it clear that preparations for the strikes began as early as the latter part of last year, although the first strike did not take place until May of this year.

"Evidence shows that there was throughout a cold and deliberate plan and that the unofficial leaders were completely indifferent to the loss and suffering that might result.

"They had one aim and one aim only—to restore the fortunes of the Communist-dominated Canadian Seamen's Union."

Flames Bar Rescuers From Cottage

Sister Getting Wood When Blaze Starts Unable To Re-Enter

TORONTO, Dec. 16 — (CP).—Two children were burned to death today when a fire destroyed a three-room wooden cottage at suburban Islington.

Dead are Hughie Roberts 3, and his one-year-old brother Lloyd.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Roberts, were both absent at work when the fire started. The children were in charge of their 17-year-old sister Rosie.

Four other children were at school: Morris 15, William 13, Bella 12, and Ronald 6.

Overheated stovepipes are believed to have caused the fire. There was no estimate of damage.

A neighbor, Mrs. Bert Hiscott, noticed the blaze and called to an Etobicoke policeman who was working at a nearby building. The policeman tried several times to enter the house and rescue the children but he was driven back by smoke and heat.

Could Not Get In

Rosie Roberts said she was out of the house getting some wood from a neighbor when the fire broke out and was prevented by flames from re-entering the house.

Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson of Toronto ordered an inquest.

The dead children were found by firemen in bed with blankets pulled over their heads, dead of asphyxiation and burns.

Firemen said the house was gutted. They had no chance to enter during the fire, which started at 10:45 a.m. and was under control by 11:30.

4 Firemen Hurt In Toronto Fire

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (CP)—Four firemen were injured and damage was estimated at $100,000 today in a fire which swept through an east-end warehouse.

Firemen from six stations answered the alarm and had the blaze under control within two hours.

Employees of the Canadian Food factory and Women's Bakery, owners of the building, blamed the fire on an old furnace. No one was in the building when the fire broke out.

Fireman Arthur Chalmers was most severely injured. He was overcome by smoke and collapsed, injuring his back.

German Gov't In An Uproar

BONN, Germany, Dec. 16 (AP) —For the second time in three weeks a session of the West-German parliament broke up in an uproar today over charges that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government is a puppet of the Western Allies.

Tumult broke out on the floor when Communist leader Max Reimann bitterly accused Adenauer of fostering a German rearmament plan "backed by German and American Imperialism."

"If it were left to the German people, this puppet government would be finished off in 48 hours," Reimann shouted.

At this members leaped to their feet, shouting angry objections. The parliament president, Dr. Erich Koehler, recessed the session, but Reimann continued shouting over the uproar for several minutes before he walked out of the chamber.

Socialist leader Kurt Schumacher also disrupted a parliament session Nov. 25 when he called Adenauer "Chancellor of the Allies" during criticism of the Chancellor's decision to end West Germany's boycott of the international Ruhr authority.

Before Reimann's outburst, Adenauer denied in the chamber that he had ever proposed creation of a new German army.

Cavan Reeve President Of Crop Group

Reeve Robert Armstrong of Cavan took on another job on Thursday as president of the Peterborough district Crop Improvement Association, succeeding W. W Dawson of Otonabee who urged that the position be passed around.

The members elected Bert Armstrong of Otonabee and Lyle McMillan of Norwood vice-presidents.

Delegates to the provincial convention in January are: Alan Eason and Mr. McMillan, with Bert Armstrong and Jack Matchett alternates.

A new project committee was appointed to promote some of the experimental work the association has been considering. Its members are: Fred Fife, W. W. Dawson, Stewart Nelson, Lyle McMillan, Stuart Whittington and J. Matchett.

Cheques were presented by Mr. Dawson to the winners of the 50 Bushel Fall Wheat Club. The top prize went to Lyle McMillan, whose grain also placed fifth at the Royal Winter Fair. The McMillan yield was 58.9 bushels an acre. Robert Armstrong was second, Alex Huston third, Alan Eason fourth, J. E. Manley, Charles Whittington, Jack Matchett, Fred Fife, Ross Harrison, Mr. Dawson and Harold Tait.

Carry On With Club

Because fall wheat is one of the basic and staple crops of this county, opinion was expressed that the club should be carried on again in 1950.

The secretary, Frank C. Paterson, was requested to send a letter to Art McIntyre, who is in hospital with a heart condition, expressing the members' regret in his illness and their wishes for his recovery.

Bert Armstrong of Otonabee outlined his experience in growing hybrid corn. Off 2½ acres in 1948 he had taken about 250 bushels in the cob. This year he sowed a six-acre field which had been in a rotation of fallow, clover and oats. Last winter he used about 20 loads of barn manure to the acre and planted No. 275 hybrid on the 21st day of May. The ground was fairly moist and the crop looked good from the beginning. Mr. Armstrong cultivated the field until the corn was too high any more of that attention. A side dressing of nitrogen produced such strong growth "that ten days later people called in to enquire about it." Several of them said their corn was not even up.

Gets 900 Bushels

Mr. Armstrong modestly said it was a tall crop, heavily cobbed. He harvested more than 900 bushels in the cobs, estimating that the yield was from between five and six acres. "Stewart Dawson harvested it, and after that I turned 35 cattle and some hogs into the field. They were eating corn for weeks. There was still plenty left on the ground when I started to plow it."

Mr. Armstrong is breaking down the grain and cobs with a hammermill, mixing in oats and barley to increase the protein content. He is using a two-hopper machine.

"It provides a first class meal, even if it isn't quite up to a balanced ration. The stock are doing well. From my experience I would say that it would be a poor crop of hybrid corn that did not turn out as much as spring grain. I intend to sow it again next year, but I haven't decided on the acreage."

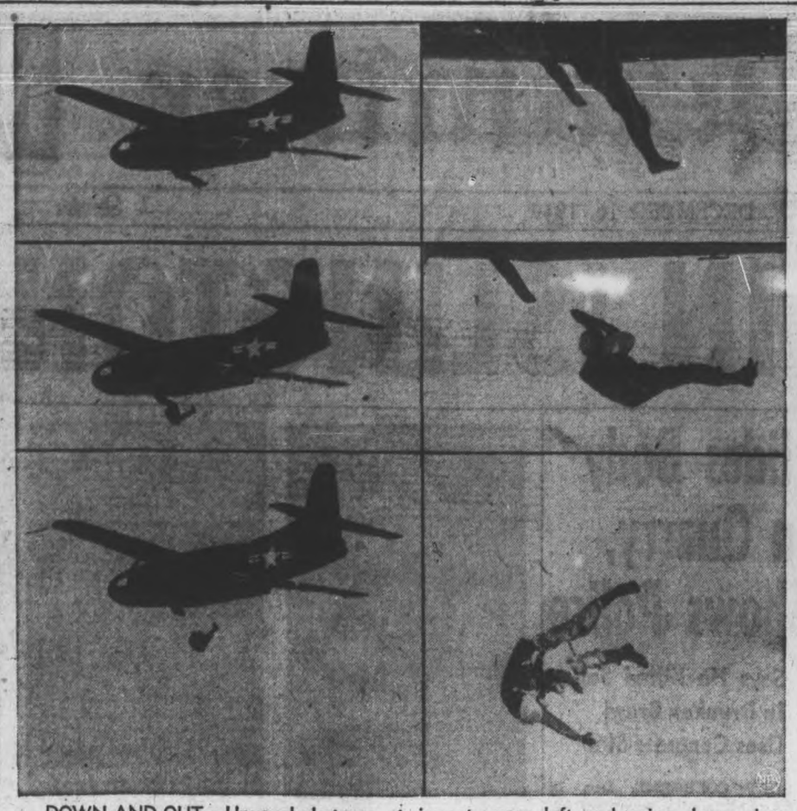
So far, Mr. Armstrong said, the corn had kept in good condition on the barn floor, although he was aware that the preferable storage was in cribs outside.

"It's nice to have a lot of corn, especially in a short grain season like this one."

Hold Discussion

Earl Petrie, Mr. Dawson, Frank Paterson and others joined in the discussion of the hybrid variety. They were united in advising Mr. Armstrong to keep a close watch on his grain, especially with the changes in the temperature of the weather.

It was said that some farmers were using more of hybrid varieties for ensilage because the cobs contributed a more concentrated feed.



Ken Fallis of the seeds branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture mentioned that York, Peel and Halton counties have carried on hybrid corn contests using three-acre plots. It was noticed that the prizes for the last two years went to farms in the northern part of the county, near Lake Simcoe. Some of the plots yielded 90 bushels an acre of shelled grain this year.

Mr. Fallis said department policy for next year was to encourage the improvement of old, rough pasture land. There were hundreds of thousands of acres of it, from shallow soil of six inches to stony and hilly stuff, light or flooded. As its fertility dropped, a variety of other growth appeared from weeds to thorn trees. The Department is again offering demonstrations of hay pasture and problem pastures, and will pay for the seed, and possibly for fertilizer.

Seed Uncertain

The outlook for seed next year was somewhat uncertain as to quantity. Red clover, alsike, and alfalfa were on the scarce side, and grass seed, brome, orchard grass, and meadow fescue appeared to be in short supply. Reed canary grass was almost off the market.

A bright spot was birdsfoot trefoil, a legume that could not be regarded as a competitor of alfalfa, but it could be planted in poorer fields where drainage was light. Mr. Fallis said there was a fair quantity of that seed available, and farmers might try some of it, especially on old fields, and observe the results.

DOWN AND OUT—Unusual photographic sequence above shows demonstration of a new pilot ejection seat being tested on Navy F3D "Skyknight" jet fighters at El Centro, Calif. Conventional ejection device catapults the pilot straight up from his seat. In the F3D the pilot slides down a chute in the cockpit floor and drop out from the belly of the plane. Pictures, starting at upper left and going down, show pilot's course until he is completely free of ship and is ready to pull the ripcord of his parachute. Pictures at left were taken from another plane in formation. Those at right were taken with the aid of a mirror on wingtip of the F3D. Successful "bailouts" of this type have been made at speeds up to 450 miles an hour.

Ask Ottawa Support Price Of 1950 Cheese, Potatoes

OTTAWA, Dec. 16—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner Thursday was asked to support the price of cheese and potatoes during 1950. Spokesmen for Canada's potato and cheese producers followed each other into Mr. Gardiner's office asking that in view of anticipated price declines, the government put a floor on these two products. Mr. Gardiner made no announcement after the all-day conferences. Piling up on top of these requests to shell out government money for food price-support, are others by the Canadian Confederation of Agriculture, asking for a floor price on eggs, and on bacon, if a definite bacon contract with the United Kingdom does not develop.

With a crop estimated at about 75,000,000 bushels this year, Maritime potato growers are facing a heavy selling job. The biggest market is in the United States, where a quota has been placed on the import of the Canadian product.

Dairy farmers already have placed the cheese problem before Mr. Gardiner in a brief presented to him last Dec. 2.

Dairy experts believe that with the 17,000,000 pounds surplus this year, Canada may have a total cheese surplus about 100,000,000 pounds of cheese by the end of 1950.

The UK has allocated dollars to buy Canadian cheese next year.

Far Too High

If agreement is reached to ship the whole of Canada's surplus next year at 24 cents a pound as the UK would like, the government would have to foot a bill of $6,000,000 to keep the price at 30 cents.

It is understood the CFA has asked that eggs—for which there is no contract with the UK next year—be supported at 46 cents a dozen. Government officials say this is far too high If a decision to grant price support is made, it likely will drop the floor to about 40 cents.

The estimated surplus next year ranges between 40,000,000 and 45,000,000 dozens. There are no export markets of any size in sight.

The surplus of bacon may run to about 80,000,000 pounds next year.

The CFA asks that the price be supported at $36 a hundredweight and any drop be absorbed by the Federal Government.

Intimidation ChargesDropped

MONTREAL, Dec. 16 (CP) — Charges of intimidation and illegal dismissal against the Montreal Herald and editor Robert Hanson were dismissed in court today when counsel for the complainant said he had no proof to offer.

The charges were brought two months ago by Ed Bantey, former Herald reporter and secretary of Local 100 of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO-CCL) in Montreal. He was dismissed from the paper Sept. 24.

Bantey charged "illegal dismissal of an employee for union membership" and "intimidation of an employee for the purpose of making him abstain from membership of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO-CCL)."

Local 100 of the Guild has not yet been certified by the Quebec Labor Board nor has application for certification been made. The Local is not recognized by The Herald.

Cockshutt Plow was the centre of attraction in industrials, gaining 1⅜ at 17 and touching a new high at 17⅜ in heavy trading following news of an increased dividend rate. Union Gas continued brisk and higher for a gain of ⅜ at a new high at 16¼. Dominion Steel B reacted to dividend news for a gain of 7-8 at a new top at 18 7-8.

Western Oils advanced strongly early in the session but found profit-taknig pressuce at the halfway mark.

A few smaller issues were heavy traders in golds for moderate advances. Hudson Bay was strong in base metals, adding 1½ at 48½ while Consolidated Smelters, ex-dividend $4.50, dipped $3.50 at $102.50.

Township Clerk Killed By Truck

Lawrence Cuthbert Sprung, 61, Clerk of Laxton Township, Victoria County, was killed Thursday night almost immediately after being hit by a truck on Highway 35, about 17 miles north of Fenelon.

Driver of the truck was William C. McMinn, Norland.

Provincial Constable L. G. Lyle who investigated, says Mr. Sprung was dead when he arrived at the scene. Dr. R. E. Jamieson, Coboconk, 12 miles north of Fenelon Falls, who arrived shortly before the police, says Mr. Sprung was bleeding when he got there and died almost immediately.

The constable reports that Mr. Sprung's car went off the highway into a ditch and it appeared he got out of the car to look over the situation and was knocked down by the oncoming truck.

Coroner Dr. C. Gratton has not yet announced whether an inquest will be held. The body was taken to Brant's Funeral Home, Fenelon Falls.

Railway Inspector Killed While On Job

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (CP) — A railway car inspector was killed at work Thursday night, a woman accidentally drowned in her bathtub, and two persons took their own lives, police said today.

Railway employees found the mangled body of Michael Klasch 40, of suburban New Toronto, who had been checking freight cars for defects. Nobody saw the accident.

Firemen worked for more than 30 minutes with an inhalator in a futile attempt to revive Iris Bryan, 33, who drowned in her bathtub. Coroner Dr. R. J. W. Brooke said he believed the woman fainted and her head slipped under the water.

A 24-year-old man was found hanged in his west-end home after what police said was a domestic quarrel. A 24-year-old woman took her own life, police said, by turning gas jets on in her home.

Lowering Of Academic Standards For Teachers Said All Wrong

Lowering academic standards as a means of securing a large supply of elementary school teachers within the next few years is definitely a backward step, K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, believes.

This controversial recommendation made recently by the Royal Commission on Education has met with a steady barrage of verbal brickbats from Ontario educational authorities since it was first announced.

"It's just plain silly," said Mr. Wightman. "There are enough half-trained people coming into the profession now."

He contended there was a sort of Gresham's Law operating. An influx of bad quality teachers, like money, tends to drive out the good.

"You don't want to let in every Tom, Dick and Harry."

Effect Teachers

In the end it would adversely effect the teachers themselves. The reduction in standards would allow a greater number into the profession and eventually salaries would suffer.

"What we need are higher qualifications and a longer period of professional training," stated Mr. Wightman.

(The Royal Commission advocated this measure to bridge an emergency period over the next 10 years when a shortage of as many as 8,000 elementary school teachers was expected.)

Even as a temporary expedient it would be a short-sighted policy, in the view of the Peterborough Superintendent of Schools. Continue with the present method of recruiting teachers from summer schools, he advised, and the gradually raise the qualifications and inject a longer period of training.

Fail to be Temporary

He was not impressed with the contention that the lowering of standards would only be a temporary measure.

"Its my experience that these so-called temporary measures tend to remain. Somebody finds a vested interest in maintaining them."

"Most people who are well acquainted with educational matters in this province agree that the present system of training is inadequate," he said. "It requires a longer period of professional training."

At the moment the upper school in collegiates functions primarily to qualify students for entrance to university.

It would be advisable, he said, if some different subjects were available for those going on to Normal School and the teaching profession. Additional years of Latin and French, for example, were all right for academic students but alternatives such as geography and history would be better for prospective teachers.

But while anxious to see some changes made in secondary schools Mr. Wightman is dead against lowering of teachers' qualifications.

"They're moving in the wrong direction," he said.

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (CP) — Harold Myers, 24, was found dead Thursday night, hanging from a rafter in the basement of his home. Police said he committed suicide after a violent argument with his wife.

Find Clergyman Guilty Of Shooting Wife

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Dec. 16 — (AP)—The Rev. George P. Hetenyi 40 year-old Episcopal clergyman, today was found guilty of a second degree murder in the shooting of his wife. Her body was found in the Genesee River on April 23.

The clergyman has steadfastly maintained he was innocent. Judge Daniel J. O'Mara set Jan. 16 for sentencing. The maximum for second degree murder is 20 years to life.

Mr. Hetenyi showed no emotion as he heard the verdict. A Monroe county jury returned the verdict after more than seven hours deliberation.

The defence of the supply minister from Amherst, N.Y., consisted simply of a summation by his lawyer, George J. Skivington. Skivington rested his case without calling a single witness. He said that there was "no possible motive" for Mr. Hetenyi to have killed his wife.

"There is a complete absence of the things you usually find in a case where a man kills his wife," he said.

He reviewed testimony of prosecution witnesses that the clergyman had beaten his wife, and said domestic squabbles "far worse, far more grievous," were common.

District Attorney Clarence J. Henry said Hetenyi's wearing of clerical garb during the trial was "a deliberate attempt to arouse sympathy and prejudice."

"He's a fraud,' Henry declared. "The church to him is a selfish proposition to get out of it only what he could."

India Preserves Old Privileges

LONDON, Dec. 16 (Reuters)— A bill became law today preserving for India after she becomes a republic Jan. 6 the rights and privileges at present enjoyed under British law.

Called "The India (consequential provision) Bill," it was one of 33 bills given the Royal assent before Parliament was prorogued today.

Another was one which entitled all British married heiresses to have control over the capital—as well as the interest—of an inheritance.

An act passed in 1935 nullified restrictions on inheritances by married women, but was not retrospective. Today's Act makes it retrospective.

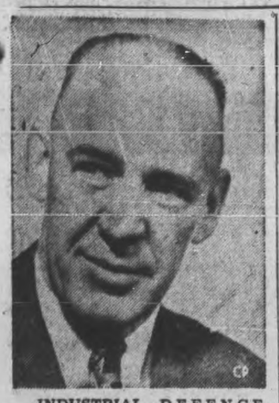
One of the chief beneficiaries under the new law will be Viscountess Mountbatten, wife of the last Governor of India.

It was a private bill sponsored by her in the House of Lords which led to the change in the law. Her bill was withdrawn when the government decided that the relief she sought should be enjoyed generally.

B-29 Hits Windmill Kills 6 Out Of Crew

ROSWELL, N.M., Dec. 16.— (AP).—A B-29 hit a windmill and tumbled to the ground in flames Thursday, killing six of the 14 crew members aboard.

Three crew members were severely injured. Five others walked away from the wreckage with cuts and bruises.



The United States Air Force bomber was coming in for a landing. It sheared off the windmill which stood near one of the runways.

Rescue crews worked for two hours cutting bodies and survivors out of the twisted wreckage.

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, Dec. 16 (CP)—The United Nations trusteeship council today takes up a French proposal that Israel be warned against accepting international rule for Jerusalem.

The French resolution is the first move in the UN countering Israel's defiance of the UN Assembly's decision to internationalize the Holy City. Israeli government offices have been moved from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem since the Assembly's decision last Friday.

"Very grave consequences," were mentioned in the French proposal as a possible result of Israel's non-observance of the plan.

Council president Roger Carreau of France, however, summed up many of the delegation views here when he told reporters that the council members' attempts to enforce the plan in the Trusteeship Council are like "Eunuchs in a harem."

To Vote on Propjosal

The 12-member council which meets at 3 p.m. EST is expected to vote today on the French proposal which terms the Israeli move to Jerusalem as a "obvious contradiction" of the Assembly decision.

John Fletcher-Cqoke of Britain told reporters he is not sure that the council has the right to rebuke any country.

Britain, the United States and Canada opposed the plan for international rule, contending before the Assembly that it was unworkable and might endanger the holy places. Canada is not a member of the trusteeship council.

The council has the job of carrying out the assembly's decision for international rule, opposed by both Israel and Hashemite Jordan whose forces divide control of the holy city.

Britain Hopeful Dollar Gap Soon Be Closed

LONDON, Dec. 16 (Reuters)—The speech from the throne, proroguing the 1948-49 session of parliament today, said there is every reason to believe Britain's dollar gap will be closed—thanks to the "generous help" of Canada and the United States.

The throne speech, read in both Houses, said the parliamentary session just ending had been marked by a "contnuaton of the economic difficulties with which we have been confronted since the end of the war." But "fortunately there is work for all, and through the sustained efforts of my people a notable increase in production has been achieved."

The speech outlined the financial talks between British, Canadian and United States government representatives in Washington in September—shortly before sterling was devalued—and said "complete understanding" had been achieved.

Need Sustained Effort

"There was recognition that the freer development of world trade required the sustained effort, not only of these three countries, but of all other countries which desired to promote a free exchange of goods throughout the world," the speech said.

The throne speech concluded with a prayer for prosperity in Britain:

"I pray that under the guidance of Almighty God we shall overcome the difficulties that will beset us and reach the goal of a stable and prosperous economy."

The speech closed a 14-month session. Parliament is scheduled to be reconvened Jan. 24.

Just before the recess, royal assent was given to the major legislation of the session, a bill to limit the Lords' power to delay Commons' legislation for only one year instead of two.

British Paper Raps Squabbling

LONDON, Dec. 16—(CP)—The Daily Express today editorially takes to task both Agriculture Minister Gardiner of Canada and Sir Andrew Jones, head of the British Food Mission in Ottawa, for what the newspaper calls "squabbling publicly about trade relations."

The commonwealth-minded express says the British and Canadian governments ought to get out of bulk trading.

Starting off the editorial with the heading "Britain does nothing but wrangle with other nations about food," the newspaper asks:

"Are you hapoy when Jones accuses Canada of 'hoodwinking' Britain over an apple deal?

"And do you like Gardiner's charge that this country is making a 'deliberate onslaught' on Canada's economy?

"This public washing of the empire's dirty linen is horrible and sordid."

How To Get More Teachers?

The Royal Commission on Education for Ontario, constituted in the spring of 1945, feels that the present and future shortage of teachers is so critical that it has released a part of its Report dealing with the situation, before the main Report is completed. It anticipates in the next decade a need for 8,000 teachers more than there is any present likelihood of getting, under existing conditions. In order to increase the supply of elementary school teachers, where the real shortages exists, the Commission proposes that an "emergency teacher training program" be set up, beginning next September and continuing until the supply of "duly trained" teachers is adequate. The proposal in general and in all its parts is being vigorously opposed by the Ontario Teachers' Federation, representing the majority of Ontario teachers.

* * *

The Commission recommends that teachers-in-training at Normal Schools, under the proposed one-year training Emergency System, be given living allowances for themselves and their families. "This would attract to the profession persons more interested in having their training paid for, than in becoming teachers", the Federation says in its letter of protest to the Minister of Education. Is this statement justified, in view of the success of the university training and family allowances given veterans? What has been the result in England, where a not dissimilar emergency training scheme was adopted four years ago?

The Federation's chief objections centre on the lowering of standards which it fears would follow if the Commission's recommendations are acted upon. While present standards are temporarily low "Letters of Permission" to teach are being granted (even to persons who have had only two or three years of High School, and six weeks of summer training or no teacher-training whatever), these certificates are not permanent. The Commission recommends that permanent certificates be given persons who have Middle School certificates, a successful year at the Normal School under its emergency plan, and two years' successful teaching. It would grant admission to the course, and subsequently permanent teaching certificates to candidates chosen by Selection Committees who have good health, character and citizenship and "successful experience in employment in other fields and have in educational achievement at least the equivalent of Grades XI and XII standing". The Federation attacks this proposal sharply:

"This would mean that a person who had ended his schooling in Grades 7 or 8 and who, in the opinion of a selection committee, had made a success of his employment in some field of endeavour, could be allowed to enter a training school for one year and after two years of teaching secure a permanent teaching certificate. Such a view of the requirements for successful teaching shows little or no consideration for the welfare of the children of the province and would make it impossible for teachers to consider their calling one of the learned professions. Nor would people with full matriculation standing ever enter teaching, except perhaps as a stepping stone to a profession or calling whose prestige and worth is respected and recognized by the public.

We believe that nothing should be done to lower the standards of the profession and the schools. Rather they should be raised. We believe that the way to attract more teachers should not be by lowering standards.

* * *

The school populations have grown so enormously that there are not enough people who would "gladly teach" to staff classrooms. Therefore the profession must be made attractive, for other than the sheer joy of teaching. There are three ways in which this can be done: adequate, even very good salaries; better working conditions; greater public esteem for the profession, especially for elementary school teachers.

* * *

The matter of salaries has already received attention. In most cities the new salary schedules are quite liberal. Even in rural schools (where the school trustees are in excellent position to pay good salaries because of the liberal government grants) starting salaries are around $2,000. If more young people were aware that teachers' salaries now run from $2,000 to $4,000, more would be attracted to the profession. And when it is realized that top salaries available to public school teachers, are equal to the top salaries available to High School teachers, more teachers would be willing to stay in elementary school work.

* * *

Teachers' working conditions could be improved. One of the most obvious ways is to reduce the size of the classes. Another would be not to expect of a teacher that he work twelve hours a day at school and at home. People outside the profession do not fully realize what an intense drain on the nervous energy a day's teaching is. The drain has become more serious lately, because of the unquiet condition of society and the way parents are increasingly placing the burden of their children's behaviour and development on the schools.

* * *

The third way the profession could be made more attractive is to give it greater prestige in the community. This will come, of course, with good salaries and well-qualified, well-educated people in the profession, whose attainments and character command respect. Many teachers seem to be enemies of their own profession; some because they are ill-educated, narrow, or their minds have been closed for thirty years; (we regret to say that some teachers should not be classed as members of a learned profession); others because they act and talk as if they were perpetual drudges, the worms of society, and despised and rejected of men. If more teachers acknowledged the pride they feel in their work, the satisfaction they get from it and from the opportunities the holidays give to travel and enrich the mind, if more praised instead of grouched about their jobs, more young people would be attracted to teaching. It is said that teaching is a noble profession. If more teachers acted as if they believed it, and even took on a bit of nobility, more nobles and fewer commoners would rush to their ranks.

Superior Mosquitoes

People have been wondering about D.D.T. ever since it came into general use. Canadian soldiers in Italy in 1943, who had been rather out of touch with back-home science, would come upon a house in an area recently taken from the Germans and find the legend DDT/3/43 scrawled on its stone walls. They passed it off as some secret German code known to our own Intelligence. However, by 1945 they realized that D.D.T. was an Allied safeguard against lice and other vermin, and as soon as they took occupancy of some hovel formerly occupied by Germans they would ask that it be D.D.T.'d. The stuff became so popular that in Holland at the war's end all the Dutch were asking to have their once German-occupied houses cleansed.

The wonder of D.D.T. increased when civilian life came into a new routine after the war. Even housewives were using it against moths, flies and mosquitoes. It was a special weapon against mosquitoes. Wonderful, wonderful!

Now comes disturbing news from the U.S. Department of Agriculture: D.D.T. is losing its effectiveness against mosquitoes. Not only that, some mosquitoes are flourishing on it, growing bigger and tougher and breeding types immune to the insecticide. The weaker go to the wall, of course, but those which are surviving, probably about a quarter of all the mosquitoes D.D.T.'d in Florida, where the discovery has been made, are lusty fellows, real whoppers.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is now experimenting with newer and more powerful insecticides. Is this wise? If D.D.T. is resulting in a quarter of the mosquitoes surviving to grow bigger and nastier, what will result from a stronger insecticide? Even if it killed seven out of eight, the eighth may be positively supernormal. Perhaps it is time the human race took a powder—not D.D.T.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The F.B.I. are investigating a man in the States who admits to having eight wives and twelve cars. If this indicates anything, he is the roaming, rather than the homebody, type.

"Owner Wins Court Action Against Contractor Who Built Faulty House" says a headline. If that sort of thing should catch on it will be a grey day for the contractors.

A columnist says that parents should be thankful that children at least keep out of more trouble than they get into. Well, after all, a child has to take some time out to eat and sleep.

The Canadian Temperance Federation has asked the Government to ban liquor in the Royal Canadian Navy. The exceptional blue which we note in the sky must be the comments of Nelson in Paradise on the notion of a dry Navy.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: Why don't the city authorities force people to use proper garbage pails with proper covers on them? When I walk to work on garbage collection days along certain streets, they are always littered with nauseating rubbish, because dogs have pawed the paper bags, cardboard boxes, and open tins in which people put their garbage.

ANSWER: Why not take your complaint to the Sanitation department, City Buildings, Simcoe Street and Water? I quite agree that the morning sight on garbage collection days turns the stomach at times, and that officials should take steps to put the lid on open garbage. Perhaps a few fines here and there would encourage people to invest in proper garbage pails.

SIR: How much larger is a Canadian gallon than an American?

ANSWER: If you are referring to such a liquid as gasoline, the Imperial gallon is 20 per cent. (1-5) larger than the U.S. gallon. That is, five Canadain gallons equal six American. If you are referring to a bottled liquid like beer, I think that there is no difference. What are called pints are not pints, nor are quarts quarts. Actually, it is against the law to label a large bottle of beer a "quart", a small bottle a "pint". If you have been in Britain, you will know what a pint bottle of beer looks like.

CHARLES FOTHERGILL: I shall close these spotty notes of the last several Fridays by mentioning Fothergill's relations with William Lyon Mackenzie, the rebel and grandfather of Prime Minister Mackenzie King. Mackenzie was a contemporary of Fothergill. The latter was sufficiently radical and opposed to the Family Compact to support some of Mackenzie's views. He did not, however, support him during the rebellion of 1837.

He was on friendly terms with Mackenzie until money matters parted them. He has written saying that he had some personal respect for the little Scot; but elsewhere has described him as a "crack-brained demagogue and a caterer of loathsome food for depraved appetites".

The rupture seems to have come when Fothergill was unable to pay back money he had borrowed from Mackenzie. One of Fothergill's pet projects was to establish a museum and zoo in Toronto, and to this end he bought and stored many objects of historical or botanical interest. He borrowed money and raised some funds by public subscription to establish the Lyceum and Zoological Gardens. He did not get enough and the scheme came to nothing.

In the spring of 1837 William Lyon Mackenzie issued writs against Fothergill, and Fothergill, completely unable to pay, was arrested. He wrote a pathetic letter to Mackenzie from the City Hall, Toronto, on July 25th, 1837. As Mr. E. S. Clarry writes in his Examiner articles of October 1945 (on which I have relied heavily for these notes) that at that time Mackenzie was very busy preparing to seize the City Hall, and overthrow the government. Fothergill wrote: "I was greatly shocked by finding myself the victim of three writs which increased the expenses in all to £22 for a matter in which I had no personal benefit whatever. This you know: at the time I gave you my note in hand I had no more right to do so than any other of the gentlemen who were interested in the proposed institution....But I did so without any hesitation because you asked me, little suspecting that you would take advantage of my confidence in your liberality and leniency as presumed on my part....Reflect for a moment how different I acted towards you when your fortunes hung in the balance that might have been turned either way by the slightest effort on my part. Yes, when your entire hope of success in this country depended upon my single word, as your letter to me at that time, and as a verdict of the jury fully testify, what did I do? I instantly quit the bed of sickness on which I was then lying and came up to this city at imminent hazard of my life....I gave evidence in your favour which produced a verdict that laid the foundation of all your subsequent power and celebrity". And Fothergill goes on to ask Mackenzie to accept a note backed by a Dr. Rees, in settlement of his debt.

Whether Mackenzie needed every penny he could lay hands on at that time, to finance the revolt he was planning; or whether he was bitter because Fothergill was not giving him the full support of his able pen; or whether Mackenzie had a mean nature about money matters, I do not know. His greatest "power" and "celebrity" were to come in a few weeks, and then to decline.

I now take leave of the fine gentleman and visionary Charles Fothergill who with Adam Scott was responsible for the first mill in Peterborough.

SIR: Do members of the Board of Education receive any pay?

ANSWER: None at all. As a matter of fact, any person running for the Board and serving on it is out of pocket, sometimes to the tune of several hundred dollars—this apart from any evaluation put on the time he gives to the public service.

DEAR ALPHA: If a man's wife dies and he marries again, what will be the situation in heaven, after all three die? Who will be who's wife? Is polygamy permitted in heaven?

ANSWER: That is a question I am quite incompetent to answer.

✧ ✧ ✧

SIR: How far is it "from sea to sea" in Canada?

ANSWER: By the most travelled routes it is 3,560 miles from Halifax to Vancouver, 3,741 from Halifax to Prince Rupert. By air (T.C.A.) from Halifax to Vancouver it is 3,114 miles; by rail 3,466.

QUESTION: Are there any Quakers in Canada?

ANSWER: Yes. About 1,200, divided among three groups: the "Orthodox" Friends, the "Hicksite" Friends, and the "Wilburite" or "Conservative" Friends. The largest group is the first. Their annual meetings are usually held at Pickering College, a school in Newmarket. This religious body, generally called "The Society of Friends" is highly respected all over the world. Most of the Quakers are in the U.S.A. There is a strong group in Switzerland.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR THE RECORD: People this week have remarked on the mild weather at the beginning, and the disappearance of most of the snow. I should like to remark on the quality of the sunlight at this season, and the delicate tinting given buildings, like the stone of St. John's Church, in the middle afternoon. In this light and against the grayblues of the skies the naked elms stand out delightfully.

Letters To The Editor

REPLIES TO MR. GLAUM

Sir: This letter is in reply to one which you published in your paper of Dec. 12, signed by Bernard Glaum of Toronto, in which Mr. Glaum expressed his views of the "Local Labour Situation". I would like to say at the outset that this letter of Mr. Glaum's had very little to do with labour, whether locally or otherwise. It was mainly a piece of partisan political propaganda for the C.C.F. Mr. Glaum states, "The labour movement needs a political arm and the C.C.F. today is the only party that is fighting for the workers". Either Mr. Glaum is blind, or he is living in the clouds of political ignorance.

In my opinion the top leadership of the C.C.F. has done more harm to the labour movement in Canada than almost any employer, or combination of employers. In the above statement I do not include rank and file members of the C.C.F. who are sick at heart at the way their party is sponsoring raiding and red-baiting in the labour movement. Peterborough is feeling the evil effects of the policies of the C.C.F. as put into effect by their "labour statesmen", Hanna, Cotterill, Rhodes, Williams, Conroy, Mosher and Millard. These gentlemen have introduced "cannibalism" into the labour movement—that is the attempt by one Union to swallow the membership of another Union without regard to the wishes of the membership or serious effects on their living standards. Before these "labour statesmen" attacked the U.E. they were on their "cannibalistic" warfare against the Mine, Mill Union. What has been the result of their raiding policy against Mine, Mill? They have failed in their attempt to take control of Mine, Mill from its membership. The Ontario Labour Relations Board has been forced to throw out applications for certification by the C.C.L. in Northern Mines because of their failure to sign a majority of Mine, Mill members. The Mine, Mill Union in Canada stands stronger than ever today since it got rid of the friends of Millard, Conroy and Mosher.

In revenge against the membership of Mine, Mill for refusing to be dragooned into the C.C.L. the top leadership of the C.C.L. suspended and finally expelled the miners from the Congress. We should remember that the top leadership of the Mine, Mill Union was also C.C.F.; but C.C.F.'ers who refused to endorse the raiding policies of the C.C.L. What happened to them? Bob Carlin, C.C.F. M.P., was expelled from the C.C.L. for the terrible crime of refusing to allow his own union to be wrecked by C.C.F. raiders.

Those of us in the U.E. remember now our former leadership attempted to dragoon us into support of the C.C.F., and how they wanted us to contribute regularly to the C.C.F. campaign chest. They told us that if we refused to go along with this policy we were "Communists".

We have no quarrel in our union with the rank and file members who are C.C.F. or of any other political belief. But we resent, and we will fight against, any effort of the top leadership of the C.C.F. to turn our Union, in Peterborough and elsewhere, into a financial milch cow, and a blind supporter of C.C.F. policies.

At the last C.C.L. convention, largely controlled by the machine vote by the C.C.F.-C.C.L. leadership, we were told that because we had failed to elect a C.C.F. government we must suffer the consequences for another four years until we had a chance to vote for the C.C.F. again! We were told that if we had only voted C.C.F. everything would be perfect. Is there anyone outside of Mr. Glaum who honestly believes that?

Does labour have to sit on its haunches for four years and suffer from high prices, increased rents, growing unemployment and a stiffening attitude of employers towards wage increases because the C.C.F. failed to get elected?

I have heard C.C.F.'ers say that "the worse conditions are in Canada the better our chances of being elected". I used to think they were joking, but now I believe them because the C.C.F. itself in the labour movement is working to make things "worse" for working people by raiding and disrupting our unions.

Although I am not a C.C.F.'er I would like to ask all honest rank and file members of the C.C.F. why they allow their party to be used by a few dishonest and unscrupulous "labour statesmen" for their own political ends.

Is there any honest rank and file C.C.F.'ers who can look a member of Mine, Mill or U.E. in the face and say: "My party was right in trying to ruin your chances of wage increases by raiding your union".

Is there any honest C.C.F.'ers who can look a member of Mine, Mill in the face and say: "My party was right in expelling Bob Carlin and the other C.C.F.'ers in your union when they refused to turn over your membership to the C.C.L."

Yours truly,
ROGER R. ALLCHIN.

Yours sincerely,
RUTH N. THOMPSON.

No Good Will Toward Men Seen In Pro Grapple Bouts

Hammer-headed Seelie Samara cracked his noggin against Steve Stanlee to win the final round of the main bout of the pro mat card at the Brock arena last night in just six minutes. The chunky Negro got his blond opponent with a head butt and slam in a rough final session, in which Referee Bert Maxwell was busy in turn warning both as they roughed it up and used plenty of fists. The fall was fairly popular, more of the fans pulling for Seelie when Stanlee started earlier to play it rough.

Seelie won the second fall in seven and a half minutes with a flying leg scissors as Steve came off the ropes, the latter being flattened and helpless and forced to concede. It was a speedy go with Steve playing it rough and having an edge for a space, though Seelie evened it up later with a few fists on the side—acting the picture of ebony innocence when warned. Each in turn roughed the other up on ropes, and Stanlee—who weighed but 230 to Samara's 248—had to be rough to hold any advantage. But the fans, who liked both at the start, gradually leaned toward the husky colored grappler, figuring Steve was too rough in this go.

Rough It Up

Stanlee gained the firstfall in 17 minutes with flying headlocks and slams, after roughing Seelie up plenty before that. They started it off quite cleanly and the fans didn't know which one to cheer for, but later more of them started yelling for the Negro as Steve turned it on against his heavier opponent. Seelie broke when told to and Steve got in the odd extra slap and warning by the referee for illegal stuff. It was a rather tame round, the only good wrestling being a mammerlock Stanlee used to good effect several times.

Johnny Barend managed to win the semi-final without doing much wrestling. The 215-pounder won over 239-pound Mayes McLain. The latter had both the referee and Barend out of the ring at the time, and he spent the next five minutes strutting about and inviting booing fans to come up and say it to his face. None of them did. Barend took quite a beating most of the way from his stronger and rougher rival, who used a lot of illegal stuff and got away with plenty before the angry referee called it off. Barend made the odd brief comeback but was thrown around plenty in a fairly good scrap.

A Mat Villain

Kaye Belle, at 240, took Bill Stack, 227, in 19 minutes of the prelim, and the crowd was peeved. The husky villain, who doubled for Victor Mature in "Samson and Delilah"—a show in which Wee Willie Davis had a character spot—proved to be a real bad man on a mat. Stack turned in a good effort and looked to have Belle in trouble at the last with mule kicks when Kaye hooked his arms in the ropes and fell on the flattened Stack. The fact that he used the ropes for leverage in getting Bill counted out burned up a lot of fans, and the police had to step in and chase them back to their seats before Belle could tread his villainous way to the dressing room. It was a good bout most of the way, and the show was the last pro grappling one to be seen here till out in January.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

After that sizzling struggle by the junior Oddfellows and Lindsay Kinsmen on the Scugog sheet night before last, the return match at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena ought to be a humdinger of especial interest to fans. The game Wednesday ended in a 7-7 tie with a free-for-all fight near the end and as many guys cooling off in the sin bin as on the ice. No, never a dull moment when the junior "B" puckists tear into each other. Lindsay has a big, scrappy bunch this semester, one that will make any of them step, while the IOOF-ers are full of fight and hustle, and a 7-7 draw would indicate they are quite well-matched. As the Oddfellows go away Monday, they're hoping for a big initial crowd to give them a start.

Ontario Arenas Association is growing rapidly, owing to so many new rinks being built. December meeting was held recently at Weston, Toronto, where the new arena there was inspected. Last Sunday the place was used continuously for practices from six a.m. right through to one a.m. Monday. On Saturday night, 814 skaters jammed the ice surface, which is 180 by 85 feet. Some of the local arena officials—usually Al Cameron, Walt Smillie and Shorty Barrett—have been taking in these monthly meetings this year and getting a lot of good tips through exchange of ideas. Incidentally, the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, is suing the association, asking that a royalty be paid on every record played during games or skating. A clinic will be held in the spring for arena engineers on refrigeration.

Until the Memorial Centre is built here, there will be lots of overcrowding at Civic Arena, though outdoor rinks will lift the pressure some. OHA clubs here kick when the ice isn't ready for their games or is bumpy, but there just isn't time to have it ready always, after a couple of minor puck tilts earlier in the evening. Or after several hundred school kids have been skating in the late afternoon. The OHA-ers deserve consideration, but you can't keep the PMHA-ers out, either, or the kids and adults who want to skate. Nor the industrial hockeyists. Figure skaters, also. It's just a case of one covered rink not being enough for everyone in a city this size.

An idea which may spread to many amateur sports was started just lately in Brantford. The senior ball club there put seat tickets on sale for next year, and they've been grabbel up rapidly till now only 55 or 60 are left for subscribers in the summer of 1950. This isn't new in pro or senior "A" or "B" hockey—where subscribers get an early whack at seats, and only a small number of the "rush" variety are left for late fans. But it's new for amateur ball in Ontario, especially when the sale is put on so far in advance — and proves so successful, eh?

Nope, the pro wrestlers don't seem as yet to have that old Christmas spirit, that good will to men stuff. The villains still maul the good guys, even though the matmen plan to be home at Christmas, too. That's why there'll be no more shows till out in January here. A Hollywood villain named Belle beat the whey out of Bill Stack (using the ropes illegally) to win in the prelim. A mean guy named McLain did everything but murder Johnny Barend—and chucked the referee around, too—ere being disqualified in the semi-final. And the main bout was a tossup. Seelie Samara won it over Steve Stanlee, but darned if the crowd knew how to cheer for quite a spell. Both are popular here, but Steve roughed it up earlier, so Seelie got more cheers toward the last. Oh, well....

Fashion-Crafts slapped the pins around last p.m. for a hefty 3713 count, including a single of 1365, in the men's City Bowling League. George Robertson helped their cause along with a healthy high cross of 899, his best single being 343. Doug Abraham took down single honors with 369. Other good rollers last gloaming were Walter Firth, Jack Wade, Vince Anthony, Bill Howes, Frank McCormack, Fred Martin and Bill Harris. And these guys bowled over Christmas turkeys: George Robertson, Doug Abraham, Jack Mackness, Fred Martin, Walt Crary, Alf Mattucci, Jack Playford, Tom Curvin, Howie Dalton and Ron Bassett. Winners of other prizes listed elsewhere.

You know there is such a thing as being too good a curler. The story goes that Dr. C. McKee and Dr. M. McCartney, accompanied by Dr. Laidley and Dr. Scott of Lindsay, attended a dentists' bonspiel at Brampton. They won their three games but missed out on the prize department. As Dr. McKee says, "We'll try losing our three the next time and see what that gets us."

It has been officially announced that W. M. Cruthers and E. G. Braund, members of the Peterborough Curling Club, have been chosen as members of the team that will represent the Ontario Curling Association in this coming extended tour of Canadian curlers, to the Old Country next month. They sail on December 31 from Montreal and expect to be away all January.

It not only brings honor to our club but is an individual honor to be chosen. Percy Skitch, of Lindsay, will also be in the party.

OHA Star Of '06 R. H. Moore Dies In Toronto

A former member of a Peterborough championship hockey team, Richard Melville Moore died yesterday at his home in Toronto. He was manager of catering services at the Woodbine race track and also at Fort Erie. After leaving Peterborough, he played for Toronto Argos and the Toronto Canoe Club.

Mel Moore was with the Petes of 1905-06 when they won the OHA intermediate championship, defeating Cobourg, Port Hope, Uxbridge, Brockville, Parry Sound and finally Goderich. With him on that team were W. E. Wasson, R. M. Glover, William Crowley, Fred Whitcroft, Harry Morgan, Chris Graham, and W. H. Cavanah, with W. Breen the trainer. R. M. Moore played on the defence.

Besides his widow, Mary Louise Sanders, Mr. Moore is survived by a daughter, Charlotte Louise, and his sisters, Mrs. F. H. Jobbitt (Lillian), Mrs. Bruce Hutchison (Eva) and Mrs. D. A. Patterson (Jean), all of Peterborough.

The body is resting at the Newbigging-Brown Funeral Home at 733 Mount Pleasant Road. Service will be in the chapel at eight tonight and the remains will be brought to the Comstock Funeral Home here for service Saturday at 3:30 p.m. Interment is in Little Lake Cemetery.

Last Night's Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Elmer Lach of Montreal who tallied two goals and assisted on a third to pace Canadiens to a 4-1 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs in the only scheduled National Hockey League fixture.

Lach Canadien Sparkplug As Habs Crush Leafs 4-1

By JIM BASTABLE,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

If it's punch alone that's keeping the Canadiens in the thick of the National Hockey League right—as some hockey experts claim—then you don't have to look farther than Elmer Lach to see where the Montrealers are getting the old college spirit.

The keep punching centre racked up two goals and an assist last night to lead Canadiens to a 4-1 conquest over Toronto Maple Leafs. He now has eight goals and 13 assists—not bad for a guy who decided hockey wasn't his meat after spending most of last season in a hospital bed with a painful broken jaw.

The victory lifted the Flying Frenchmen out of a tie with the Leafs and put them all alone in second place. The experts may be right in saying the only reason for their high altitude is about five players—Durnan, Richard, Lach, Reardon and Reay — and that the team would collapse without almost any one of them.

Lach Sparkplug

Lach might not get the headlines awarded Big Bill and the Rocket, but the five foot ten inch native of Nokomis, Sask., is the ginger man of the team. It's partly his never give up spirit that ptobably prompted coach Dick Irvin to label him the best two way centre he's ever seen—and the Irvin career goes somewhere back to the middle ages.

But the injuries still are plaguing the 31 year old star. He was forced to retire from the game late in the second period last night with a cut left foot. It was an addition to an unenviable assortment of plain and fancy fractures amassed during his 10 year NHL career.

Lach suffered his most serious injury two seasons ago — a fractured skull in a game with the Leafs at Montreal Forum. Earlier that season he suffered a fractured cheek bone and several seasons before that a smashed elbow, which threatened to end his playing days.

Mackell Spoils It

A record of 15,026 fans saw Lach get his first goal in the first period and add another in the second. They also watched Durnan's shutout ruined when Toronto's Fleming Mackell broke loose after a long pass from Ray Timgren and beat him cleanly with a minute left to play.

Richard counted his 22nd goal of the season and the other went to Bobby Fillion—his first of the season. The Montrealers outshot the Leafs 30 to 19.

After a quiet night tonight, all six teams move into action this week-end. Saturday it's Detroit at Montreal; Chicago Black Hawks at Toronto and New York Rangers at Boston Bruins. Sunday, Canadiens play at Boston, Toronto clashes with New York and Detroit meets Chicago.

JIMMY COMES HOME — Jimmy McLarnin, right, former welterweight boxing champion, displays his right hand—broken seven times—to Frank Almond, young Vancouver featherweight who's been sidelined recently because of hand trouble. McLarnin, who now is a business man in California, is visiting his old Vancouver home.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Vancouver's Jimmy McLarnin and Billy Townsend scored knockouts at Boston 17 years ago tonight. McLarnin, who later became world's welterweight champion, put Sammy Fuller down for keeps in the eighth round after flooring him four times while Townsend, semi-finalist on the card, sprawled Andy Saviola to the m[illegible] three rounds.

Labor Experts Study Problem Of Farm Hands

OTTAWA, Dec. 16 — (CP). — Experts on farm-labor questions will take a good look today at the problems involved in putting experienced farm workers in the right place at the right time.

The experts — Provincial and Federal labor and farm officials anl placement officers of the National Employment Service— on Thursday heard reports on 1949 developments in the field.

Today, closing day of the annual Dominion-Provincial farm-labor conference, will be devoted to a study of the problems.

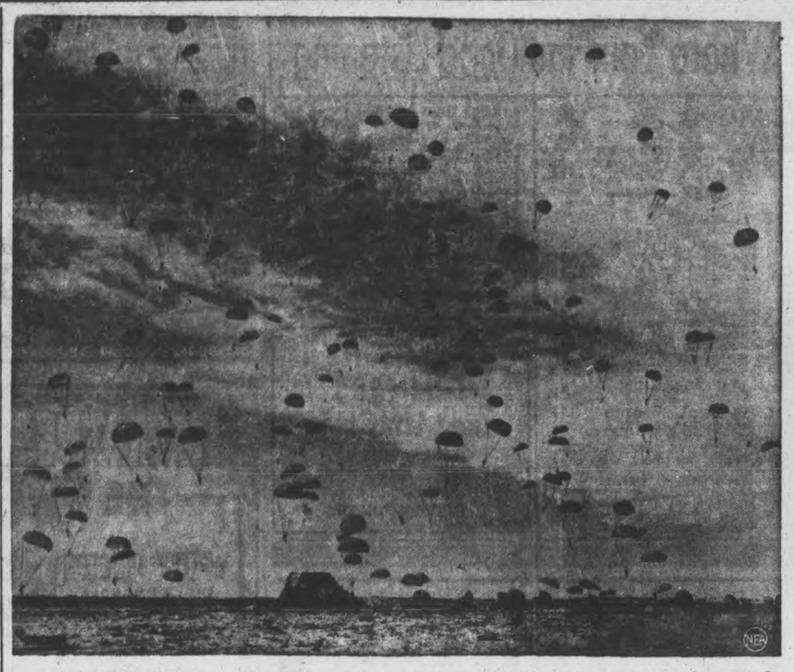
Some of the problems raised on Thursday in reports by provincial officers were:

1—Difficulties in working out the policy of bringing in European displaced persons to serve for one year as farm help.

2—Poor living conditions on farms for farm workers.

3—Finding other employment for farm workers when seasonal periods of peak employment are over, especially when there is rising industrial unemployment.

Disregard Contracts



Delegates told the conference that both the displaced persons and their employers sometimes disregarded contracts under which the immigrants agree to work on farms during their first year in Canada.

One delegate, R S. Duncan of the Ontario Agriculture Department, said some DP's left immediately their year was up. If the contract year ended in June or July , farm operations were disrupted.

But Armand Theriault, National Employment Service advisor in Quebec, said many of the problems in that province had been caused by the farmers, not the immigrants.

W. W. Davison of Toronto, NES placement officer for Ontario, said working conditions for farm help still were far from satisfactory. In some cases, the NES Legal Department had to be called in to help DP workers get their wages.

Delegates from every province agreed there had been a greater supply of farm labor this year than in 1948. This, in many cases, was the result of higher industrial unemployment.

SILKEN SHOWER — This spectacular picture of a mass parachute jump was taken at the paratrooper training centre, Fort Benning, Ga. Only nine years ago at Ft. Benning, 50 men volunteered as the first test unit in airborne operations. Since then, more than 124,111 men have qualified as airborne soldiers and more than 850,000 parachute jumps have been made over the training area.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Canadian Amateur Ski Association Thursday night announced names of 37 entries who will represent Canada at the 1950 world ski championships at Lake Placid, N. Y., and Aspen, Colo. Eleven men and six women were named for the Aspen downhill and slalom event in February as well as 10 entries for jumping and 10 for cross-country at Lake Placid in January.

The list did not include names of several racers who last month were invited to participate by the CASA, but who were unable to make the trip. These included Montreal's Hec Sutherland, member of the Canadian Olympic team in 1948.

The Canadian team includes for the downhill-slalom, Jim Georgas of Owen Sound.

Bill Johnson and Lauri Hukki of North Bay, Ont., still are possibilities for the cross-country team.

As had been strongly suspected Jackie Robinson of the champion Brooklyn Dodgers led the National League in batting for the 1949 season with an average of .342, nosing out his closest rival, Stan Musial of St. Louis, by four percentage points. Official averages released Thursday show that the great Negro second baseman, recently voted the most valuable player in the circuit, also led all league rivals in stolen bases, with 37, and tied Marty Marion of St. Louis for the most sacrifices, 17.

Eighteen English thoroughbreds valued at $100,000 left Britain on Thursday night for the United States. The horses are consigned to Americans who bought them last week at December auctions at Newmarket.

Phil Rizzuto, brilliant little shortstop of the world champion New York Yankees, Thursday was named "player of the year" for 1949 by the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association. Rizzuto will be presented the Sid Mercer plaque at the Chapter's annual dinner Feb. 5.

Health Minister Martin said on Thursday in an interview that the government has no wish "to dominate sports, take them over, even remotely control them or interfere with them in any way." He was commenting on statements Wednesday by Clarence Campbell National Hockey League president, urging that sports be kept out of the hands of taxing authorities. Mr. Campbell referred to a resolution passed last year at a conference of Canadian sports governing bodies that federal funds be provided to assist sports.

A cauliflower ear Thursday night cost the Canadian featherweight champ, Jean Richard, 138, Montreal, a TKO loss to Jimmie Sullivan, 135½, Boston. Richard's left ear injured by a series of hard rights, swelled so badly that referee Ken McDowell stopped the bout in the seventh of 10 rounds at Portland, Me. Richard went to a hospital for treatment.

Haileybury is the only spot in Ontario where skiing conditions even get into the "fair" class this week-end. The Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity, in the first of its weekly ski reports, said that packed snow make conditions fair at the Northern Ontario spot, both on tow hills and in the bush.

Hymie Caplin, 48, who managed five world ring champions before he went to prison on a grand larceny charge, died Thursday night in a New York hospital after a year's illness. He was a leading fight manager in the golden era of sports, handling many of the great boxers of the time. One-time champions under his wing were middleweights Ben Jeby and Solly Kreiger, lightweights Al Singer and Lew Jenkins and bantamweight Lou Salica.

New York Giants Thursday took a step toward bolstering their mediocre relief pitching department with the announcement of the purchase of Cecil (Tex) Hughson from Boston Red Sox. The purchase price was undisclosed but it was believed to be in excess of the $10,000 waiver figure.

Quaker Oats Wins

Quakers defeated De Laval 5-2 at Civic Arena last evening in a neat Industrial Hockey League fixture. After a scoreless first period, with one penalty to White, Quakers counted three goals, R. Willshaw getting two of them and D. Willshaw a goal and an assist, Wesenberg also getting one assist and a penalty Trude scored once in the third for the winners, with H. Willshaw getting a goal and an assist. D Willshaw and R. Willshaw drew down penalties. The losers battled all the way but couldn't catch up.

Providence Reds Lead Hold Ramblers To Tie

By The Canadian Press.

The scramble for first place in the eastern division of the American Hockey League grows tighter day by day.

Providence Reds moved back into sole possession of the top rung Thursday night when they held New Haven Ramblers to a 1-1 draw but they lead the runner-up Buffalo Bisons by only a single point while the Ramblers are two points off the pace. Springfield Indians are fourth but only four points out of first place. Both the Indians and Bisons were idle Thursday night.

Meanwhile Indianapolis Capitals swept into third place in the league's western section by walloping the lowly Cincinnati Mohawks 9-1 in the only other scheduled contest.

Plan To Reopen Senators Trade Talks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP) —Clark Griffith plans to reopen the New York Yankees-Washington Senators trade negotiations.

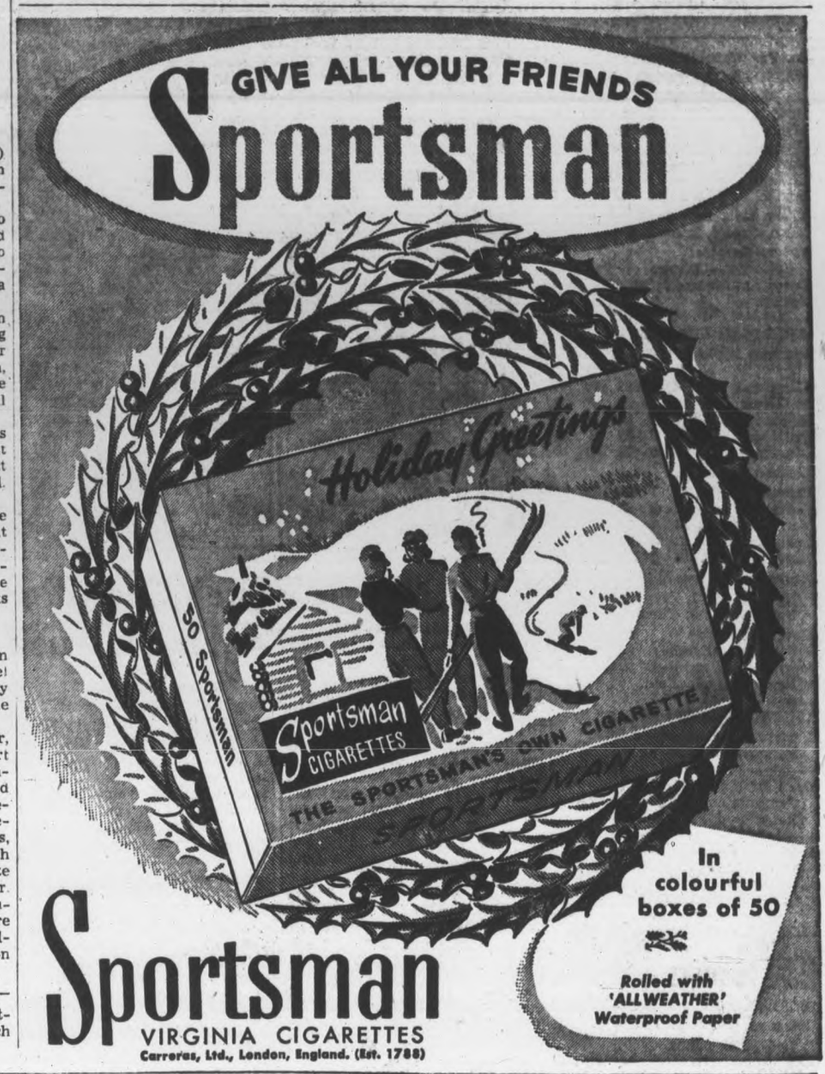
Discussion on the four for two player swap which would send first baseman Eddie Robinson to the Yankees was halted temporarily Thursday because of a misunderstanding.

While Griffith spent the day in his office at the Stadium waiting for New York general manager George Weiss to telephone him, Weiss spent the day in his office waiting for "the old fox" to call him.

However, when the matter was straightened out Thursday night Griffith said: "I suppose I must have gotten the wires crossed. I'll give him a ring tomorrow."

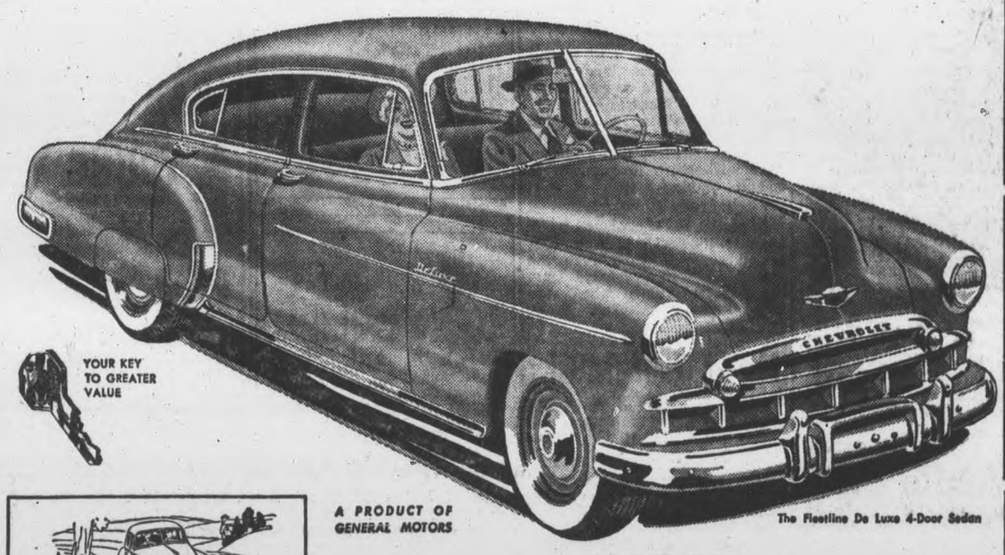
The reported deal between the American League's 1949 pennant winner and last place club is essentially the same one that opened trade talks in Baltimore at the minor league meeting two weeks ago.

Hours of Sparring



Hours of sparring between Weiss and manager Casey Stengel and Griffith and his pilot, Bucky Harris, have taken place and the final result appears to be:

Robinson and another Senator, either outfielder Eddie Stewart or a pitcher other than the Senators' ace, Rae Scarborough would go to the Bombers for first baseman Dick Kryhoski, second baseman George (Snuffy) Stirnweiss, pitcher Don Johnson, and a fourth player, presumably Duane Pillette another pitcher, or an outfielder.



If Griffith doesn't receive satisfaction from the Yanks, there appeared to be a strong possibility that he might send Robinson to either Chicago or Detroit.

Working Hours For Nurses Under Review

By The Canadian Press

Salary and working conditions of registered nurses throughout Canada have generally improved since the close of the Second World War, but the question of working hours is a lively topic in some provinces.

The Nova Scotia Registered Nurses Association has just approved a wage increase for that province, but a Canadian Press survey today showed that wages generally are not an issue at present in the rest of Canada.

The Nova Scotia increase of $1 provides $6 for registered nurses working an eight-hour day for private duty, either in or out side hospitals. The current rate is $7 in Montreal, $6 in most of Quebec province; $8 in Ontario, $7 in Manitoba, $7 in Alberta and $8 in British Columbia.

The Registered Nurses Association of Ontario said that it is working toward higher wages, but other provincial associations are not asking increases at present.

Quebec has an eight-hour, six day limit on working hours in hospitals and for nurses associated with the Catholic Nurses Association. Ontario nurses work either eight or 10 hours with no extra pay for overtime, and the hospital shift generally is eight hours.

There is an eight-hour shift in Alberta hospitals and the Calgary General Hospital has just introduced a 40-hour week. But Jean F. Clarke, president of the Alberta Registered Nurses Association, says "it doesn't seem timely to advocate a five-day week due to the present shortage of nurses."

MONTREAL'S CENTRAL STATION is bedecked for the Christmas season, both inside and outside the depot. The walls of the interior are highlighted with 18 illuminated Christmas trees, while the tops of the entrances to the tracks below are decorated with snow scenes and Santa Claus in Jolly mood.

Palace Room Sold By Earl

LONDON, Dec. 16—(AP)—The sale for U.S. dollars of a historic drawing room from one of Britain's famed castle brought protests today from a member of parliament.

The Earl of Coventry confirmed he had sold the room—ceiling, floor, windows, walls and all from his castle, Earls Croome Court in Worcestershire, to a London art dealer acting for the Metropolitan Museum in New York. The price was not disclosed.

The room was designed by British architect Robert Adam in the 18th century. It will be displayed in the Metropolitan.

Henderson Stewart, Liberal member for East Fife, said he is protesting to the government in the House of Commons today because Earls Croome Court was listed by the government for preservation as of special architectural interest.

"I am going to ask the minister of town and country planning, Lewis Silkin, what action he proposes to take to prevent further listed buildings from being demolished," Stewart said.

There was no immediate comment from the ministry.

Peasants Clash

VIENNA, Dec. 1 (Reuters) — Hungarian refugee sources quoting reports from "underground routes" said here that Hungarian and Ukrainian peasants, helped by Russian deserters, had clashed several times with Soviet troops sent to hunt them out of the northeast Carpathian mountains.

Cuba On Alert

HAVANA, Dec. 16 (AP)—President Carlos Rio Socarras Thursday called on Cuba's armed forces to be alert in the fact of war threats in the Caribbean. While he did not name any foreign power, observers said his remarks on preparedness related to charges raised Monday by Dominican president Rafael Leonidas Trujillo.

Easy-To-Make Ornaments To Decorate Christmas Tree

No matter how many Christmas tree ornaments you have, it's fun to make new ones. These are easy to make and materials for them easy to find. An afternoon session with the children helping turns out more than enough for your tree, with plenty to spare for the tree at school or the one you plan for the club.

You will need: Pipe cleaners. Chocolate drops wrapped in silver foil. The narrowest red decorative stick-on tape—¼-inch. Paper, metallic, and red and white striped. Water colors. Pliable wire.

To make the chain, dip pipe cleaners in water first, then paint with bright water colors, red, yellow, and blue. The pipe cleaners keep their chenille-like fluffiness better when the water color is brushed on than when they are soaked in paint or dye. When the paint is dry, twist each pipe cleaner into a circle, linking circles as you go.

Bells for the bell ornaments are silver foil wrapped chocolate drops. Because the chocolate drops look so much like bells they'll inspire you to try ideas of your own. The string of bells is made with the narrow red stick-on tape. Lay a length of the tape, adhesive side up, flat on a table. Notice that each candy has a very thin tissue paper strip at the top. Stick these paper strips on to the tape so the bells space about 4 inches apart. Now double the tape back on to itself so the colored sides are out and the sticky sides are together.

The other bell ornaments are made with pipe cleaners. Make a hole in each chocolate drop to about half its depth with an ice pick or nut pick. For the curlicue ornament, wrap a pipe cleaner around a pencil and insert one end into a chocolate drop. For the bell cluster use three pipe cleaners and three chocolate drops. Bend each pipe cleaner in the middle. Shape one half of each pipe cleaner into a loop, twist the three together and insert the straight ends of the pipe cleaners into the chocolate drops.

You might use the whirligigs with other trimmings or you might like the idea of a whirligig tree. These little fly-away ornaments in red and white striped paper would make a very gay and different tree. Of course you remember how to make them—squares, cut diagonally from the corners almost to the centre. Face the striped paper with another square of the same because both sides show. Gold, silver or colored metallic paper should also be double faced. Use pliable wire to fasten the points of the whirligig together. Twist the wire at the front and back of the whirligig to hold it loosely, then use the same wire to fasten the ornament to the tree. Use wire that is long enough to lift or suspend the whirligig away from the branch so it may whirl.

Use the decorative tape to fasten the pleated ornament together and to make a loop for it to hang by. Use metallic paper, or odds and ends of bright patterned wrapping paper for these, also double faced.

Mother Given Child

TORONTO, Dec. 16 — (CP)—The Ontario Court of Appeal, in three separate written judgments Thursday restored custody of an illegitimate child to a British immigrant mother who had given the child to foster parents by written consent

Further Consultations

LONDON, Dec. 16 — (Reuters) —Further consultations among Commonwealth Governments will determine the exact date of British recognition of the Chinese Communist government, it was learned Thursday night from a reliable source.

Wiping Out Quota

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The government said Thursday it is wiping out import quotas on a long list of raw materials and manufactured goods which it buys from other European countries.

Canadian Pacific Gets Jet Planes

MONTREAL, Dec. 16 (CP)—G. W. G. McConachie, president of Canadian Pacific Air Lines, announced Thursday that the first order by a North American company for jet-propelled airliners has been placed by CPA with the Dehavilland company in England —an order for two four-motored "Comets."

The planes, with a cruising speed of 500 miles an hour, will be used in the company's North Pacific service. They will be delivered late in 1951 or early in 1952 and negotiations are under way for additional Comets to be delivered later.

The jet planes, which normally cruise at about 40,000 feet and have a maximum range of more than 4,200 miles, will be able to fly from Vancouver to Tokyo in 10 hours with two stops. Because of prevailing winds on the return flight, Vancouver will be only eight hours from Tokyo.

The planes will replace 36-passenger Canadair 4 planes which inaugurated the 7,000-mile Pacific route in August and Mr. McConachie said it now is planning to place these four-engine planes in operation from Vancouver and Edmonton to Alaska.

Woman 24 Years Old Leader In Physics

DURHAM, England, Dec 16 — (CP) — Mrs. Elizabeth Laverick has made history by being the first woman to lecture to the British Institute of Radio Engineers

Though only 24—tall, slim and good-looking—she is engaged in research work at one of the university science laboratories in Durham.

She has an honors degree in physics and within the next year hopes to put in a thesis that will give her the title of doctor of philosophy. Her husband, a former army officer, is reading for his honors degree in physics at the same university.

Elizabeth, on finishing school, worked in the radar research laboratory at Slough, Buckinghamshire. After a year there she went to Durham University where she first met her husband.

During her lunch hours she reverts to the role of housewife and goes shopping

"I have to rush around to get it all done in the space of an hour each day," she said.

Fight Farm Plan

CHICAGO, Dec. 16 (AP)—The powerful American Farm Bureau Thursday resolved to fight the Brannan farm plan backed by President Truman. Illustrious Pickwick Club Still Makes Rafters Ring

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Dec. 16—(CP)— Go to the George and Vulture, an old Dickens Inn tucked away in the heart of financial London, and you may run into a plump, bespectacled gentleman called "Mr Pickwick."

If "Mr. Pickwick" is there it will mean that the illustrious Pickwick Club, founded in 1909, is holding a reunion. And with him will be 45 fat, thin, short tall, handsome and ugly Pickwickians laughing and joking around a steaming bowl of hot punch—just as they did in Dickens' famous "Pickwick Papers."

The Club met recently after a lapse of 10 years and from now on regular reunions will be held In the chair is 76-year-old W Fred Bonsor, who has been known as "Mr. Pickwick" for the last 33 years.

"Bless my soul!" he exclaims at regular intervals while his fellow characters—big business men who call themselves Sam Weller, Nathaniel Winkle, Tracy Tupman and Mr. Snodgrass — disport themselves noisily around him.

As the contents of the punch bowl—largely rum—ebb away, the ancient time-blackened beams of the George and Vulture ring with the shouts and guffaws of the festive Pickwickians. But the menu for the Pickwickian repast has suffered under Cripps-Wicklan conditions.

Before the war it consisted of the tradional oysters, turle soup, Pickwick pudding — steak, kidneys and oyste — potatoes in their jackets, sprouts and Pick wick tart (apple and cranberries).

Nowadays the turtle, steak and kidneys and cramberries are hard to get and even the oysters are limited in number.

"But we do our best," said ruddy-cheeked Douglas Williamson, 69-year-old secretary of the Club, who is known to his colleagues as Sam Weller.

"Object of the Club is to perpetuate the memory of Dickens in his blithest form. We have lost some of our members during the war, and there will be some titles to fill. But we intend to confine our membership to 60 because there were just that number of Pickwick characters."

Prime Minister Jubilee Speaker

BOSTON, Dec. 16 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada said Thursday night he wants his 14 grandchildren to live in a world where they won't fear "men or their machines,' and where airplanes bring "joy and not bombs."

He addressed the golden jubilee dinner of the Societie Historique Franco-Americaine.

Canada, he said, is "an American country and an American nation. We have the characteristics, failings also perhaps, but the same qualities and aspirations, the same confidence and even impetuosity native to the New World."

After pointing out that the Canadian parliament no longer needs to appeal to the Privy Council in London for needed constitutional change, the Prime Minister said that represented "the last stage of our evolution towards absolute sovereignty."

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

About 300 members of the Cub Packs and Scout Groups in the city together with officers and members of the Local Association gathered in George St. Sunday School on Wednesday for the eight annual Carol service. The boys showed their appreciation of the service in good singing under the leadership of Scouter Quirt McKinney.

Many of the favourite carols were illustrated on the screen.

The Rev. Dr. James Semple welcomed the lads to the Church and congratulated them on the work they were doing. Mr. B. I. Burgess, President of the Peterborough Boy Scouts Association extended greetings to all.

A great deal of thanks goes to Charlton McBride and his assistant Ralph Brown for operating the machines and to Miss Dorothy White, and Mr. Charles Allen pianists and Mr. George Gatfield violinist for their musical renditions.

Field Commissioner Art Jackson of Trenton read the Bible story and also told a Christmas story during the program.

A very delightful part was taken by Master Terry Huffman, a member of the Salvation Army Pack and also side drummer in the Junior Army Band when he entertained with carols on the chimes and Vibra-Celeste. Mr. Gatfield played a violin solo.

Before the evening closed two pictures were shown, E. J. Wolff the retiring District Commissioner congratulated the boys for the grand turnout. Commissioner G. E. Groombridge acted as chairman. The sincere thanks goes to all those who assisted in making the evening a success.

Service Please:—

Highway Experts Holding Secret Meetings At Ottawa

OTTAWA, Dec. 16 — (CP) — Highway experts from Canada's 10 provinces and the federal government met behind closed doors again today to work out specifications for the propose 5,000-mile Trans-Canada Highway.

Final standards for the two-lane, hard-surfaced highway from Newfoundland to Vancouver Island were expected to be approved at today's final session of the two-day Dominion-Provincial conference.

Reconstruction Minister Winters said Thursday night the opening session Thursday had not touched on the controversial question of the route to be followed by the $300,000,000 road. And he added that the provincial highway ministers, or their Deputies, who are attending the gathering, would not enter into the question at this meeting.

The conference, he said, was dealing with purely technical problems such as the width of the proposed right-of-way, methods of financing; standards and specifications; and co-ordination of building direction.

Difficult Problem

Agreement on the route for the highway may be one of the most difficult problems to be ironed out.

Supporters of alternative routes have been pressing the advantages of a road through their own areas.

In Alberta, for example, three different routes are being advocated. One would run through Lethbridge and the Crow's Nest Pass in the southern section of the province; a second through Calgary and Banff National Park in Central Alberta; and the third through Edmonton and into British Columbia via the Yellowhead Pass.

Mr. Winters, however, said the question of a route would be a matter for the individual provinces to arrange on the basis of general road rules laid down by the federal government. One of the rules is that the highways must follow the shortest practical route across Canada.

Has 3 Plans For U.K. Trade

OTTAWA, Dec. 16 (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, national C.C.F. leader, Thursday night suggested a three-point program for improving Canada's trade with the United Kingdom.

The proposals were contained in a prepared statement in which he criticized government export policies.

He urged that the government institute the following policies:

"1. Accept payment in sterling for a substantial and reasonable part of our exports to the sterling area. This money could be left in Britain to be used for investment purposes or to purchase British goods when and as they become available.

"2. Increase British imports to Canada by tariff reductions and by reducing Canadian purchases in dollar areas.

"3. Meet our own U.S. dollar deficit by cutting out luxury travel to that country and by curtailing unessential imports from the United States.

These policies, said Mr. Coldwell, "would improve our trading position with Britain immediately."

POPULAR IN YUKON

"Tezra" is the Indian name for the Mackenzie whitefish, which is renowned in the Yukon for its delicate flavor.

25,000 Migrants To Canada From Britain Last Year

By MICHAEL O'MARA
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (CP)—The flow of human movement from the shores of Britain swept up over the 2,500,000 mark in 1948 but, despite heavy emigration, was almost balanced by the number of people coming into the country.

Board of Trade Journal figures show that total passenger journeys to and from the country last year including business and pleasure trips as well as permanent movement, were up 15 per cent over 1947. Exact figures were: Outward, 2,596,000; inward, 2,587,000.

About 20 per cent of all journeys were by air. The Journal did not break down air passages to and from Canada but reported that 29,188 persons travelled by sea from Canada to the United Kingdom in 1948 and 51,158 travelled in the reverse direction.

These figures compared with 1947 totals respectively of 14,905 and 29,744.

Of those who actually emigrated to Canada, in the over-18 age group, 11,200 were men and 14,057 women. Here was the breakdown by occupation.

Men: agricultural, 1,102; commerce, finance and insurance, 2,083; professional, 585; skilled trades, 4,971; transport and communications, 732; laborers other 280; students, 284; "ill-defined than agricultural and transport, occupations," 1,163.

Women: domestic and hotel service, 897; commerce, finance and insurance, 1,997; professional, 571; clothing trades, 455; wife or housewife, 9,330; students, 108; "ill-defined occupations," 699.

Breakdown by age group:

Males: under 12, 3,576; 12-17, 1,053; 18-19, 310; 20-24, 1,827; 25-29, 2,394; 30-84, 1,769; 35-44, 2,329; 45-54, 1,574; 55 and over, 988; unspecified ,9.

Provinces Planning Committees For Trade Fairs

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Country-wide committees are being set up to insure that the Canadian International Trade Fair this year will present a detailed picture of Canada to world traders.

This is not intended to take away from the idea that it is an international fair, which can be successful only if exhibitors from other countries get worthwhile benefit, but it is intended to see that the Canadian scene is given more completely than ever before.

It is expected that each province will give a presentation of its various resources. In addition to separate displays by individual producers, some co-operative presentations are planned, such as a composite display of potatoes, lobsters and oysters from Prince Edward Island and combined exhibits by Alberta food producers and packers.

Special Trains

Two provinces, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan, plan special trains to the fair, which will be held May 29-June 9 at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds in Toronto.

Forty per cent more exhibit space is being provided this year than last. More than half the space is already taken, well ahead of reservations at this time a year ago. Based on previous years, some 30 odd countries will exhibit and buyers will attend from about 75. More than 25,000 people will attend, creating the usual packed hotel situation.

Regional committees will include representatives of local business organizations, including the Canadian Manufacturers Association, Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade, Retail Merchants Commercial Travellers and Chambers of Commerce.

F. J. Lyle of the Ontario Department of Planning and development will head his province's steering committee.

Choir Groups To Carol On George St. Corners

Efforts to eliminate some of the commercialism of Christmas will be made next week by 75 choir members of churches throughout the city. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, December 21, 22 and 23, the choristers singers will assemble downtown to sing Christmas carols along George St. and perhaps in several of the stores. There is no commercial motive, the choirs singing to help develop a truer Christmas attitude.

Lack of Christmas music, other than the music for commercial attraction, during the festive season last year prompted the plans for the music this year. Robert King, a member of the newly-formed Peterborough Choral Society, is arranging the carol program, with the support of James Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Some time ago Mr. King sent out 100 letters to people in choirs of the city asking them if they would sing carols on the three chosen nights. At least 20 people will be out each night to present the carols from 7:30 until 9.

8 Chennault Planes Leave For Formosa

HONG KONG, Dec. 16 (AP)—Eight of Maj.-Gen. Claire L. Chennault's civil air transport planes left unexpectedly Thursday for Formosa and a highly reliable source said they were spurred by possible British recognition of Communist China.

Eight other Chennault planes were getting ready to leave for that Nationalist island fortress off the southeast China coast.

Chennault's planes are under Nationalist China registry and fly the Nationalist flag. Therefore, it is believed they could be impounded in case of recognition.

Ground crews and other personnel of the airline were left in Hong Kong.

Sergeant-Major Angus Duffy Of The Hasty Pees Honored

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Dec. 16 — (Special) — Memorable event in the history of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment Regimental Sergeant took place this week when Major Angus Duffy, of Belleville, turned over his duties to Company Sergeant Major Stanley Brown of Trenton.

The Sergeant Major, who enlisted with the regiment 15 years ago and served as the RSM of the outfit for the last 10 years, was handed a full Lieutenant's commission in another ceremony immediately following his retirement. Major Gen. Hyslop read the part in military orders conferring the rank of ex-Sergeant Major Duffy. Lt. Col. Max Porritt present officer commanding the regiment read the address to his new lieutenant.

Lt.-Col. Porritt praised Duffy for building the regiment into a fighting unit that brought glory and fame to Canada under the command of Lt. Col. Salmon who later was killed serving as a Major Gen. in an operational role. Col. Porritt said Duffy proved his efficiency and leadership with the regiment in its eventful march through Sicily and Italy "We are all proud of the job the ex-Sergeant Major did," said the Hastings and Prince Edward commanding officer.

The ceremony took place in a hollow square formed by 250 all ranks of the regiment. Parading before Brigadier Geoffery Walsh CBE DSO, Eastern Ontario area Commander from Kingston at the annual inspection of the regiment in the Belleville armouries.

Watching the ceremony from the sidelines was Major General A. E. Potts DSO and Sergeant Major Duffy's former officer commanding in the field, Col. J. K. Kennedy of Owe Sound.

Piper Major Jimmy Clark of Belleville in his 81st, year who served under 14 colonels since joining his Majesty's Forces before the turn of the century was the oldest soldier on parade.

A large crowd of local citizens and close friends looked down on the ceremony from the balcony of the Armouries.

In a letter of congratulation from Major General Chris Vokes at Oakville Lieutenant Angus Duffy was pictured as the epitomy of a soldier. Little chief, a wooden replica of an Indian chief in full head dress the mascot carried by the regiment throughout its entire campaigning on the continent stood on the reviewing stand for the march past with Brigadier Walsh taking the salute.

Lieutenant Duffy was presented with two pieces of a silver service by Brigadier Walsh on behalf of the officers and men of the regiment.

Hint Bergman Will Wed Soon

ROME, Dec. 16 (AP)—Roberto Rossellini, Italian movie maker, said Thursday that within a week he and Ingrid Bergman expect to announce their marriage plans.

"We are overcoming the difficulties which have thus far delayed Ingrid's divorce," the director told a reporter. He did not disclose what the difficulties were, but indicated a legal way around had been found—possibly through a European divorce.

"It might be called," he said, "an act of God."

Miss Bergman announced her intention last summer to seek a divorce from her surgeon-husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom of Los Angeles. They have an 11-year-old daughter, Pia.

Rossellini disclosed that the blonde Swedish actress is in virtual seclusion here, "terribly upset by the fires of rumor burning around us."

As for reports that she expects a baby in Februray, Rosselliini said "Ingrid has decided to say nothing. No action means no trouble—that's our policy. And we've had our share of trouble, don't you think?

"These stories," he exclaimed, waving a hand. "How can anyone be so vicious?"

"It's all so delicate and involved, you understand, one cannot just comment on such things which may involve many others."

Discover Plane Crash Just Garbled Message

EDMONTON, Dec. 16 (CP)—A report of a plane crash deep in the Northern Alberta bush appeared today to have been the result of a garbled message, but RCAF investigation is continuing.

First reports received here said an Edmonton pilot, Don Londells, had been injured severely in a crack-up at Loon Lake, 200 miles northwest of Edmonton. Further investigation showed Landells had not been involved in a crash.

Then, the Edmonton pilot flew to the scene. He returned to report there was no evidence of a crash in the Loon Lake and Martin River areas.

Forestry officials said the crash report apparently originated from a radio message from Loon Lake Dec. 9 saying there was a sick man who wanted a plane to pick him up.

A Little Cheer For Housewives Lots Of Turkeys At Lower Prices

By The Canadian Press

For the housewife planning a Christmas dinner centred on the traditional roast turkey, here's good news: turkeys are plentiful at prices lower than last year's. Turkey breeders raised more gobblers this year than in 1948 and exports were fewer. Prices last year of 75-80 cents a pound in many parts of Canada encouraged growers to build up their flocks for this season and this has been a favorable year for turkey raising. This means that most Canadians can count on buying a good turkey for approximately 57-65 cents, depending on the locality. Where buying has already started —many families choose their bird during the last week before Christmas—retailers report a preference for birds weighing 10-16 pounds, smaller birds than in some other years.

But where a family is large enough to do justice to a big bird —and the kitchen oven will accommodate a turkey weighing 17 or 20 pounds—a heavyweight bird should be the best buy this year. In Montreal, for instance, grade A turkeys weighing more than 17 pounds are on sale at 52 cents a pound, compared with 63 cents for lighter birds of comparable quality.

Mild Weather Helps

A Canadian Press survey shows the turkey situation good almost everywhere in Canada, especially in the maritimes where mild weather in recent weeks has kept birds healthy and growing fast and in the turkey-raising regions of the Saskatchewan grainland.

Chickens are in good supply at prices slightly below those charged last Christmas but geese and ducks are scarce in many cities.

Close to 2,000,000 pounds of Christmas turkeys from the district surrounding Quebec city are going on the eastern Canada market. Breeders in the same area last year produced 1,500,000 pounds and sold every bird.

In the eastern cities, the Quebec birds compete for sales with the turkey hens and gobblers from Saskatchewan and Alberta and from Manitolin Island in northern Ontario. The 300 Manitoulin turkey ranches are shipping 17,000 birds this year, mostly to Toronto and elsewhere in southern Ontario.

Hoping to cash in on eight-pound turkeys suitable for families with up to two children is Otto Wiggins, farmer in the Inglewood district northwest of Toronto. Wiggins, who sells directly to about 300 customers, has spent several years on developing a small strain of turkeys.

Say Exchange Of Harvesters Not Needed Now

OTTAWA, Dec. 16 (CP)—The need for big movement of migratory farm workers for harvesting is disappearing.

Reports presented Thursday to the Dominion-Provincial conference on farm labor showed that greater organization for farm operations is slowly doing away with the need for extra help at harvest time.

In addition, gradually increasing industrial unemployment has made more local labor available for harvesting.

Farm-labor officers of provincial agriculture departments and placement officers of the National Employment Service indicated those trends in their reports to the two-day conference.

They said, too, that it is becoming more and more difficult to find jobs for seasonal workers when the harvest period is over.

These district migratory movements developed during the war when labor was scarce in Canada. Temporary workers went into the fruit belts of British Columbia, Nova Scotia and Ontario, frequently from other provinces; Western farmers went to Ontario for haying in midsummer and Eastern workers later went West for the grain harvest; prairie farmers went south to the United States to harvest; workers from Quebec and the Maritimes went to Maine to dig potatoes, and other workers from the Maritimes went to Prince Edward Island for the potato harvest.

Reports showed British Columbia may not need any help from outside the province next year to pick fruit. The movement of grain harvesters to the U.S. almost disappeared this year.

Fire Destroys Bridge Station

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Dec. 16—(AP)—Fire virtually destroyed the historic suspension bridge passenger station of the New York Central Railroad Thursday.

One woman who lived in an apartment on the second floor was overcome by smoke and a fireman was injured before the blaze was extinguished.

The smoke victim, Mrs. Evelyn Van Epps, was rescued by two Canadian National Railways employees summoned by her mother, Mrs. Lola Wardell.

The railroaders, Robert Steinmann and Thomas Smith, both of Niagara Falls, Ont., were called by Mrs. Wardell when she discovered the blaze.

They put up a ladder to the burning building and brought Mrs. Van Epps out the window after the flames prevented them from entering by way of the stairs. She was taken to hospital, where her condition was described as "not serious".

Fire Chief James H. O'Neill estimated the damage to the frame and stone structure at $50,000. A general alarm summoned all available fire equipment to the scene.

The building was constructed in 1886.

The station, one block east of the Whirlpool Bridge, is a customs port of entry for railroad passengers crossing the United States-Canadian border.

New York Central officials said train service would continue.

Horse Kicks Farmer Inflicts Head Cut

MARMORA, Dec. 16 (ENS).—An accident from which Carl Heath had a fortunate escape, occurred in his stables on Tuesday evening. Mr. Heath had occasion to visit his stable where a newly acquired horse had been tied up.

Some pigs kept in part of the building had broken out of their pen and, getting in where the horse was, made it nervous. Mr. Heath entered the stable after dark for the purpose of leading the horse out. The animal in some way had got turned round, so that when Mr. Heath went up behind it, it lashed out with its hind feet, one foot striking him on the forehead inflicting a bad bruise and cut there.

It was fortunate that the horse was unshod or the consequences would have been more serious. After receiving first-aid in Dr. W. J. Donevan's office, Mr. Heath was able to return home.

Council Refuses To Adjudicate Damages Claim

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 16 — (ENS)—Chief Constable George H. Hardy reported a special meeting of the Council Thursday night on an accident on Raglan St. that had involved Mr. Albert Hollings' car.

At a previous council meeting, Mrs. Hollings claimed that a bill for $6.50 for car damage repairs should be paid to her husband by the Rev. J. E. Latimer. She attached the blame on Mr. Latimer, who was excavating for a sewer line at the scene of the accident, and asked the council to compel him to meet the bill.

Chief Constable Hardy said he had investigated the accident and found a small dent in the left front fender of Mr. Hollings' car. He stated there was ample room between the excavation and the sidewalk for a car to pass. He further stated that he had advised Mr. Hollings that the court was the proper place to enter his claim.

On motion of Councillor Maier the council refused to take sides in the dispute, believing it was a case for the courts.

E. F. Clark's tender for the weigh scales at $170 a year rent was accepted. It was the only tender received by Council.

Wants To Resign

J. C. Birmingham asked the council by letter to relieve him of the duties of relief officer. On motion of Deputy-Reeve Locke, the clerk was instructed to ask Mr. Birmingham to reconsider his resignation, otherwise his other duties may be considered.

A petition from the business men, requesting that Dec. 27 be declared a holiday and that all stores remain open on Wednesday, Dec. 28, was granted.

A request from the Santa Claus committee to keep Front and Bridge Sts. free of cars during the parade from one to three o'clock on Saturday afternoon was allowed.

The meter repair man, Walter Lowe, was voted his regular salary for December. It was stated that several meters had been removed to allow for parallel parking.

John Storie of the Public Utilities Commission, was voted $5 for removing the meter standards.

Reeve J. C. Anderson was chosen to represent the council at a high school area meeting in Warkworth, Dec. 21.

Mayor H. M. Donald eulogized the work of the municipal officers and thanked the councillors for their co-operation during the year. He said it had been a very difficult year and it had been hard to satisfy one group without antagonizing another.

A vote of thanks to the mayor for his patience and understanding was moved by Reeve J. C. Anderson and seconded by Deputy-Reeve Ralph Locke.

Name Yuzwa As Scuffling With Loucks

The Examiner

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1949

REMAINS OF A NORTHERN VISITOR, a snowy owl, is being studied with great interest these days at the PCVS senior physics laboratory. This bird, which nests in the Canada's Arctic tundras, was shot in Smith township; the species live on ptarmigan and rabbits and may have come south this year, presumably in search of food. Headmaster of the physic department, V. R. Henry, is shown above giving some Grade 9 boys a lesson in orthinology. He said the owl was a young one with a wing-span of 4½ feet.

Fight On Street Described At Preliminary

By DAVE WHITE
Examiner Staff Reporter

LINDSAY, Dec. 16.—A crown witness today testified at the preliminary hearing into the slaying of Jack Loucks of Lindsay that he had seen William Yuzwa, 33, Hamilton, scuffle with the fatally injured man.

"Afterwards Loucks turned to the right and put his hand over his mouth," Wesley Aldred, Lindsay, told the court. "And I saw some blood on the sidewalk."

Aldred was the first of three chief witnesses called before the noon recess today by Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordan.

Arrainged for the preliminary inquiry held at the Victoria County court house before Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay, were the three Zohodnik brothers, Paul, 28, James, 33, John, 30, and William Yuzwa, 33. All live in Hamilton but John whose home is in Toronto.

The four men were taken into custody in the early hours of the morning exactly four weeks ago at a road block on the outksirts of Peterborough.

Shots by Chief Constable Garnet Samis of Lakefield and Constable Claire McGillen of the city police force punctured the right rear tire of the panel truck which was speeding into Peterborough after the Lindsay murder.

W. J. (Jack) Loucks, 36-year-old father of three children was fatally stabbed on the main street of Lindsay just in front of the Big 20 cafe, where he became involved in a street brawl.

Testimony at this morning's inquiry indicated there had been a bitter argument just previously with Yuzwa, one of the four accused.

Two witnesses—Aldred, who parked his bicycle six feet west of the panel truck, and Lionel Tracey, a Lindsay contractor — both said that Yuzwa, while sitting in his truck swung at Loucks with his fist.

G. J. Robinette, Toronto, is appearing for the Zahodnik brothers and B. J. Spencer Pitt, Toronto, is representing Yuzwa.

The inquiry was delayed three quarters of an hour while Pitt conferred with Yuzwa in the cells.

The four men appeared in court dressed in the same clothes they were wearing when arrested. Yuzwa was wearing the green shirt which was the chief means of identifying him.

Saw Loucks Near Truck

Wesley Aldred said he first saw Loucks standing near the right front fender of Yuzwa's truck. He then saw Loucks go to the truck and speak to Yuzwa, the driver, sitting at the right side of the truck.

"I heard an argument and I heard Joseph Kearns say to Yuzwa, "You——, why don't you get out and fight like a man."

Yuzwa got out of the truck and crossed the main street in the direction of the Benson House, opposite the cafe. Loucks called out, "Where are you going, you——?"

Yuzwa appeared to pay no attention and continued across the street and Aldred did not know where he went.

Then Loucks went to the truck and put his hand on the right door and said, "What do you want, boys?" which Aldred testified he took as a sort of jest.

He continued saying Yuzwa then returned to the truck and said, "I own this truck and you keep to hell away from it." He got back in the truck on the right side.

(Aldred also said he saw Yuzwa strike out at Loucks and he "heard two cracks." Then Loucks walked away. As far as Aldred knew, nothing more was said between Loucks and Yuzwa.

Quiet For Few Minutes

He said things quietened down and nothing happened for about three minutes. Then he saw the three Zahodnik brothers come out of the cafe. Yuzwa jumped out of the truck and ran to them saying something excitedly. James Zahodink then said, "Whoa, just a minute," and the three turned west on Kent St.

They turned to Floyd Smith, 27-year-old truck driver from Hagersville, who was standing just west of the cafe and Aldred said the next thing he saw was some blood coming down Smith's face.

Smith was treated later that night and seven stitches were required to close a gash in his scalp.

Aldred said two men went farther west to Loucks who was about six feet away from Smith Loucks was standing facing east with his hands at his side.

"I saw Mr. Yuzwa crowd Mr. Loucks," Aldred said. He added that he saw a forward motion of the back of Yuzwa's elbows. It was then that Loucks turned to the right and went away with blood coming from him.

At this point Crown Attorney Jordan asked, "Where was James at this point?"

Aldred's answer was "A couple of feet away to the left of Yuzwa."

Aldred said he then saw Yuzwa make a swipe at Smith with his right hand. Smith ducked his head and ran to the Big 20 cafe. "I couldn't see whether Yuzwa hit him or not," Aldred said.

He also saw James and Yuzwa come in front of Thornton Olver, 37, Lindsay. He just saw Olver sink his head down on his chest.

Olver later received medical treatment. He had received a thrust by a knife or some other sharp instrument which had nearly seevred the tip of his nose.

Knife Not Seen

None of the witnesses mentioned seeing a knife or any other sharp instrument such as it believed caused the fatal wound to Loucks.

James and Yugwa then turned to a third man, Sidney Risley, 50, Lindsay. Risley received a slash on his right arm which required many stitches to close.

One of the two who approached Risley said "What the hell do you want?" Risley replied that he was minding his own business.

"If you are, you'd better get out of here," he was told by one of them, probably James."

Aldred next saw Loucks weaving down the street with blood streaming from him.

In his testimony, Smith said he had gone into the Big 20 to buy a packet of cigarettes. He said he was uncertain of what had happened to him, but he had received a wound from some sharp instrument which had pierced his cap and slashed open his scalp. He said he couldn't identify the man who had struck him. His windbreaker had also been pierced on the shoulder.

Tracey testified he had pulled into the curb about 12.30 a.m. Friday about five feet west of the panel truck. He confirmed what Aldred had said that Yuzwa struck at Loucks after an argument. He said after Loucks walked away from the truck, he saw Yuzwa get out of the truck and go in the same direction.

The next time he saw Yuzwa, said Tracey, he was returning to the truck with James and John. He noticed Olver had blood on his face and James standing close to him.

He also said he saw Smith knocked down and kicked but didn't know who was Smith's assailant. He saw Risley as well going up the street bleeding.

James came over to the car occupied by Tracey and Robert Williams and asked them what they were doing. Tracey did not reply and started to back his car out. James reached through the window and struck Tracey on the lip and told him to get out and then somebody made another attack on the car as it was being backed out onto the main street.

Then Tracey noticed the panel truck pass him, going east on its flight towards Peterborough.

Asked by Mr. Robinette if he had been drinking, Tracey said he had had two bottles of beer.

"This was a sidewalk brawl wasn't it and somebody hit you and you supposed that somebody to be James?" Mr. Robinette asked. Tracey nodded assent.

Mrs. James Zahodnik of Hamilton and Mrs. John Zahodnik, Toronto, were present at the hearing.

Cash Register Rifled Of $193 Thief Missed $40

Bonds clothing store was broken into and $193 stolen from the cash register some time during the night, police said today.

Entry had apparently been made through a back window. The glass was broken and the thief apparently squeezed through horizontal steel bars.

The thief missed $40 which was under a cheque in one of the sections of the till drawer. No merchandise was taken.

Lights are left on during the night in the store and a spotlight shines on the cash register itself.

Detective Sergeant John Stevenson is investigating.

Egg Prices Paid Farmers Down 10 Cents In Two Days

The egg market during the last few days is nothing short of a mad scramble for producers and buyers as result of Canada having lost the export market to the United Kingdom. During the past two days John Public has benefitted by the egg depression to the extent of 10 cents a dozen price reduction for all grades across the board.

A price poster to-day in the egg receiving department of the Peterborough Co-Operative shows the following prices to farmers: A large, .33, A medium, .31, A pullet, .27, B large, .29, and C's, 24 cents. Both manager R. M. Peirson and Canada Packer's assistant-manager Lionel Brown said there was no means of telling at the present time where these prices would level off. Canada Packers will post the above listings on Saturday morning.

The loss of export market comes as an additional blow to the Christmas egg market which is normally a soft one at this time of the year, both of the above officials stated.

Retail prices also took a drop in some of the stores in Peterborough at noon today with one chain of stores quoting A large at 47 and A medium at 43.

CHATHAM, Dec. 16—(CP)—Cancellation of the Canadian-British egg contract has kicked the bottom out of the egg market in this district.

A further overnight drop brought the total slash since the contract was cancelled to nine cents.

Eggs were retailing in Chatham today at 45 cents for grade A large.

YOUNG SHOPLIFTER

Maybe the little girl is fascinated by red; maybe she wanted a Christmas present for her momma. Mr. and Mrs. J. Mitchell Married 45 Years Ago

WARKWORTH, Dec. 16. —(ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Mitchell celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary among their family, who travelled from various points to the parents' home for the occasion. An oyster supper Tuesday was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell's sons and daughters and their families.

A gift from the family was an electric table lamp and table.

Mr. Mitchell is the younger son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mitchell of Percy Township and Mrs. Mitchell was the former Charlotte Brisbin younger daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brisbin of Fenella in Haldimand township.

They were married on December 14, 1904 at the home of the bride's parents, by the late Rev. M. E. Sexsmith in the presence of about 65 wedding guests. They recall that the day was cold but bright with just enough snow for the wedding guests to travel either with cutters or buggies.

After their weding trip to Toronto and Niagara they returned to take up residence on their farm at Oak Heights in Percy township. There they lived for more than 43 years.

While on the farm they were faithful members of the Oak Heights United Church where Mrs. Mitchell served as organist for 22 years and Mr. Mitchell was trustee and Sunday School teacher.

In March, 1948, they moved to their present home in Warkworth and have since joined St. Paul's United Church in the village and the various organization connected with it

Those who were present included their daughter, Mrs. Dennis Pittuck (Hazel) and daughter Evelyn of Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Mitchell, Irvin of Oak Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Mitchell and Shirley Marie of Colborne; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Reycraft (Clara) and their family, Kenneth, Frances and Joan Marie of Orland; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hay (Doreen) of Fenela and Mr. and Mrs. Marwood Mitchell of Warkworth. Their daughters, Mrs. Wm. Carr (Ada) of Toronto and Mrs. C. Simpson (Ruby) of Campbellford and their families were unable to be present.

Puts Union Leaders In Jail But Welder Not Reinstated

VANCOUVER, Dec. 16—(CP)—A fiery little welder seeking reentry to a union which expelled him five years ago has helped to put two of the union's leaders behind bars. But he's still without a union card.

The man is Myron Kuzych, a robust Galician who years ago had Vancouver's High School authorities in an uproar when he formed the "Young Communist League," an underground against "monopolistic capitalism."

Muzych, who has since renounced his beliefs in Marxism, succeeded Thursday having William Lloyd White and William A. Stewart committed to prison farm on contempt charges.

White and Stewart are officers of the Marine Workers & Boilermakers Industrial union which expelled Kuzych five years ago because he talked too much against the union's closed shop principles.

Kuzych, who calls himself a "37-year-old student of the world's social systems," sued for $5000 damages and reinstatement. He won but the union refused reinstatement. They said that since his expulsion the old Boilermakers union had amalgamated with the Industrial Workers Union (CCL) and consequently did not have to abide by the court order.

Thursday, Mr. Justice R. W. Whittaker ordered union officers White and Stewart to jail for contempt of court, and ruled they stay there until they reinstate Kuzych.

It was an untenable union stand the Justice ruled, since present union members had received union cards bearing the same numbers as their old cards and since "the court is not bound to take notice of the union by-laws."

The shoot was under the supervision of Capt. Len Foster and the Administrative and Training Staff at the armouries.

Winners of chickens in a draw were: Sgt.-Major C. A. Churchill of the workshop unit; Lt. F. E. Draper, Sgt. L. H. Bennewith, Bdr. D. C. Barranger, Bdr. W. H. Torrance, Gunner R. I. Bannister, Gunner D. A. Northley, all of the regiment.

Granite Statue To Be Dedicated To Voortrekkers

PRETORIA, South Africa, Dec —(CP)—A great granite monument will be dedicated here tomorrow to the voortrekkers.

Precisely at noon, a beam of sunlight will strike down through a narrow shaft upon a marble sarcophagus, set in the centre of a tessellated marble pavement 130 feet square. The beam will illumine simple lettering atop the shaft: "ons vir jou suid Afrika" (we for you, South Africa).

Generally, the monument, built at a cost of £350,000 ($1,085,000), commemorates the achievements of the voortrekkers, the hardy, God - fearing covered - wagon pioneer who were the first to strike out boldly from the Cape into the hinterland of the Southern part of Africa in the early 1800s. They paved the way for the South Africa of today.

Specifically, it commemorates the sacrifice of Piet Retief and 70 men, teacherously slaughtered at Ungungundhlovu, place of the elephant by Dingaan, king of the Zulus, in 1838. It also commemorates the battle of blood river where Retief was avenged and the Zulu Impis were smashed in the rolling hills of Northern Natal.

High Toll

The Voortrekkers went with Bible in one hand and gun in the other in a trek from the Cap of Good Hope in a search for greater freedom and a new country in the north. On one trek, history relates, 90 percent of the women in the march died of malaria. Not one was 30 years of age. But they won through and in 1852 Great Britain recognized the Vootrekker Republics.

Lured by the promise of a grant of land, Retief led a band of pioneers into the country of the Zulu King Dingaan. Dingaan signed a deed of cession giving Natal to Retief. Retief and his followers were enticed, unarmed, into the Royal Kraal. Dingaan explained away a great noise our-side by saying: "that is my herd of wildbeest." is was the Wildebeest Impi which fell upon the Voortrekkers and slaughtered them.

In a battle at the Blood River, Dec. 16, 1838, Andries Pretorius and a band of Voortrekkers avenged Dingaan's treachery, killing the Zulu leader and burning his Kraal.

The monument, paid for largely by state funds, was designed by the South African architect, Gerard Moerdyk. Before the main entrance stands the great bronze figure of a Voortrekker mother, one arm protectively about her young son, and the other hand on the head of a daughter. On a frieze above and behind the group are the shapes of Wildebeest, all running from mother and children.

Likenesses of three Voortrekker leaders stand at corners of the massive mausoleum of stone. At the fourth corner stands the "unknown Voortrekker," looking out confidently across the rolling countryside.

Brod Crawford Skips B's, Gets Top Jobs

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 16—(AP)—Broderick Crawford is doing all right, thank you, after nearly succumbing to a Hollywood disease known as "the B look."

The malady strikes nearly every Hollywood performer at some time in his career. It sets in when he begins to find jobs scarce in top pictures; producers then think he is suitable only for B pictures.

Crawford had it bad. But suddenly he pulled out of it and scored big in "All The King's Men." Next he gets the coveted role in "Born Yesterday." He is a cinch to be nominated for an Academy Award and may walk off with the big prize. He takes these events lightly:

Second Fiddle

"It's nice to be in a good picture for a change."

For 12 years, Brod has been in pictures — good, bad and mostly indifferent. After three years in the army, he returned to his universal contract and was greeted coolly.

His first post-war job was playing second to Maria Montez. Then he played about third cello in an Yvonne DeCarlo epic. "It cost $2,000,000 and grossed about $35," he recalled. The studio then underwent a merger and upheaval.

"The new bosses swept the place clean," said Crawford. "They were so busy firing executives, they didn't have time to tell me I was being dropped."

A La Long

He tried free-lancing and found acting jobs now and then, "often enough to keep the wolf away." Finally, he landed "King's Men" and has been in high gear ever since.

I asked the actor if he patterned his performance after Huey Long, the thinly disguised prototype of his screen part.

"I saw some of his newsreels," Crawford answered, "but I didn't try to imitate him. We all believed the story was about Long naturally."

He doesn't know how the picture will be received in Long's home state. "But," he smiled, "I think I'll stay away from Louisiana for a couple of years."

TWO PEOPLE, 28 FINGERS—This man and his wife have seven fingers on each hand, but that's not unusual where they live. In their village of Cervera de Buitrago, Spain, a five-fingered person is a freak. Almost every one of the 300 inhabitants has at least six fingers on one or both hands. Some have as many as nine. Close intermarriage and village restrictions that keep out settlers with the normal number of fingers produced this odd situation.

Father Of 7 Jailed Tries To Burn Hall

KIRKLAND LAKE, Dec. 16—(CP)—Eddy Lamarche, 32-year-old father of seven children, was sentenced Thursday to two years in penitentiary for attempting to burn down the township hall and jail Dec. 2.

Lamarche admitted before magistrate Siegfried Atkinson he lit the fire, but said he was not aware of his action because he was under the influence of liquor. Police said he tried to burn his way out of jail after being charged with assault.

Trying To Save Veterans' Money

TORONTO, Dec. 16 (CP) — Lawyer Gourley L. Powell is figuring out a way of saving 100 war veterans in danger of losing $20,000 they invested in a North York housing project through lack of additional funds.

The entire plan was not divulged but it came up for discussion in court here Wednesday when the veterans and representatives of construction companies met to organize and complete the undertaking or admit defeat.

The project, taken by Gable Homes, Ltd., and now a collection of eight finished houses, three partially finished and the others an array of walls and cellars—started 18 months ago. That was when 158 veterans paid down payments of $850 to $1,100. Work stopped last July.

Mr. Powell said he would try to have the numerous lien holders paid off at 50 cents on the dollar and have the blanket mortgage on the project paid, so work could at least proceed on the project. This way, he said, the veterans will pay $500 more than they figured but they'll at least have homes.

The case was adjourned to Jan. 17 to allow Mr. Powell a chance with the plan.

Robeson, Group Sue For Damages

NEW YORK, Dec. 16—(AP)—Paul Robeson, Negro singer, and 27 others Thursday filed in federal court a $2,000,000 damage suit as the result of a disturbance which followed the singer's appearance at a rally near Peekskill, N.Y., several months ago.

The action was directed against two Westchester County veterans' organizations and 14 other persons.

The plaintiffs asked for judgments ranging from $10,000 to $200,000 for alleged personal injuries, assault and deprivation of civil rights.

In the first clash, Aug. 27, some 500 war veterans engaged in a pitched battle with thousands of concert-goers. At least eight persons were injured, three seriously, in the three-hour riot. Although Robeson was scheduled to sing, he did not appear.

At least 54 persons were sent to hospitals as a result of the second clash Sept. 4. Half a dozen automobiles and one empty bus were reported overturned. Stones and other missiles were hurled as buses and autos drove by stone-throwers after a half-hour concert by the left-wing baritone.

To Make Contribution

LONDON, Dec. 16 (Reuters)—Britain will make her full contribution to the mutual defence assistance program — with or without a bilateral agreement with the United States for the supply of military aid—a foreign office spokesman said here on Thursday night.

Buckets For Brooklyn

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The London Evening News proposes a "buckets for Brooklyn" scheme Thursday to keep New Year's from dying of thirst.

"They could be flown across the Atlantic in a constant ferry service," the Conservative newspaper suggests in a tongue-in-cheek editorial titled "Out the Buckets".

The editorial comments on the plan of water-short New York to give up bathing and shaving tomorrow in an attempt to keep its reservoirs from running dry.

"We offer the suggestion because the very idea of all those scrubby masculine chins gives us the shudders when we think of our bountiful water supply."

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

Boxing's best!

When champion and challenger met for the century's most skillfull exhibition!

The Canadian Amateur Boxing Championships were held this year in Port Arthur, Ont., to determine the boxers who would represent Canada at the British Empire Games in New Zealand next February.

Toronto's old Adelaide Street rink blazed with light. Fresh sawdust littered the smooth floor. A crowd of sports mingled round the ring while the Lieutenant Governor and his party watched from their box. It was a February night in 1885 . . . and the century's biggest event in Canadian boxing. The world-famous Champion of England, Charlie Mitchell, was to meet John F. Scholes, the local challenger.

In the opening rounds, Scholes smashed Mitchell with a surprise barrage of punches. Wary, Mitchell backed off. The haze of cigar smoke thickened as the rounds went on. Suddenly Mitchell came off the ropes with a hard blow. Scholes went down, only for a moment . . . but the fight had been decided. Mitchell won the bout . . . 35-26.

Good sportsmanship has won many world friends for Canada . . . just as the spirit of working together has made us one of the world's great nations. These two—sportsmanship and enterprise—keep your opportunities for work and play in Canada—unlimited.

Chinese Reds Disappointment Inflation, Control Rampant Again

(Editor's Note: Fred Hampson, chief of the Associated Press staff in China, got out of Communist Shanghai Dec. 9 after four years in the great city. This dispatch tells of mounting opposition to Communist rule.)

By FRED HAMPSON

Aboard the Sir John Franklin off Shanghai, Dec. 10 (AP)—(Delayed)—Chinese Communists are racing with time as the chill blasts of their first winter in power sweep over China.

They are racing to get their police-state type of control consolidated and to end the civil war before internal opposition to their regime stiffens.

Their huge armies, their growing bureaucracy, costs of war and reorganization have imposed upon them the same burdens that crushed their Kuomintang (Nationalist party) enemies.

Sixty to 90 per cent of the Chinese I polled who were opposed to the Kuomintang now are opposed to the Reds.

Inflation is rampant again. Price controls have broken down.

Discontent is widespread in both cities and countryside. Unemployment is at dangerously high levels. Worried farmers sell rice they ordinarily stockpile against the off season because they are afraid of more commandeering by the Red military. Taxes are high and getting higher.

Food Shortages

There are reports already of food shortages in some districts. But the controlled press and the limitations on Tracel make it impossible to get the facts. There still is enough food in the cities.

The Communist New China News Agency in a dispatch from Peiping Dec. 4 admitted the Reds were in serious economic and financial difficulties. The dispatch obviously came from high quarters.

It seems to me the Reds are attempting to hold power in spite of economic reverses in two ways:

1. By intensive countrywide indoctrination, trying to convince a skeptical population that the present troubles merely are growing pains to greatness.

2. By direct military force at danger points.

There is no immediate danger of a major uprising against the Reds because the Communist party has or is permeating every phase of Chinese life to organize and to watch.

Pressure Dangerous

The danger to the Red regime lies rather in the steady pressures of an unhappy people, the resistance of overburdened peasants who are short of food, the opposition of labor which is tired of promises and pay envelopes which already won't stretch far enough.

When the Communists entered Shanghai last May their dollar was quoted at 300 to $1 (US). When I left Shanghai Dec. 9, one American dollar bought 16,500 Communist dollars, and up to 20,000 on the risky black market.

Few Chinese seem to have faith in the future under the Reds. These are the same people who felt the Kuomintang government had become corrupted and crumpled into uselessness and who hoped the Reds would bring new vitality and hope.

Would they rather have the old Kuomintang government back? Most of them hesitate over that one. But quite a number answered like this:

"At least I could make a living under the Kuomintang, not a very good living but a living."

HERO'S HAPPY HOUR—Plucky Mike Rector, who'll be five years old Dec. 23, is a happy hero, because he's going home for Christmas after more than a year of battling the agony of burns over 70 per cent of his body. On Nov. 12, 1948, two boys seized Mike and set fire to his cowboy suit. The doctors shook their heads. Seldom had anyone so badly burned lived. But they didn't give up. Neither did mike. And now he hopes to leave Casualty Hospital, Washington, DC, to go home for a few hours and see what Santa brought in response to the letter his sister, Rose, is helping him write.

Diamond Wedding Despite Register

NORTH SOMERCOTES, Lincolshire, England, Dec. 16—(CP)—Although the marriage register at St. Mary's Church gives the date of their wedding as 59 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Houlden insisted on celebrating their diamond wedding.

They refused to accept the register's date and produced a family Bible to show that it was 60 years since they stood before the altar.

"The register is wrong," Houlden said.

Mrs. M. Thomson Of Marmora Dies

MARMORA, Dec. 16 (ENS) — The death occurred in Belleville early Wednesday morning of Mrs. Mary Swan Thomson, a resident of Marmora for the past 38 years. She was one of the best known and respected citizens having lived a life of great usefulness in church and community activities.

Her death came after an extended period of ill health and suffering patiently borne. She maintained until the end that friendly interest in people in general that so characterized the years of her health and vigor.

Mrs. Thomson was a daughter of the late George Riddell and his wife, Ann Cowper and was born in Woodford near Owen Sound 70 years ago.

In the latter part of October, 1904, she was married to Dr. David Thomson who died several years ago.

For about seven years they lived at Lion's Head in the Bruce Peninsula, moving to Marmora in 1911.

Organist At Church

For a number of years, Mrs. Thomson was organist at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and when the Presbyterian and Methodist congregations united she accepted the position of organist of Marmora United Church, giving valued and faithful service in that capacity for several years.

For a number of years she was also a member of the Session of the same church. Also she was an active member of its Women's Association, besides assisting with other church activities. She was president of St. Andrew's Glee Club for the past two years. For a long period, Mrs. Thomson was Librarian of Marmora Public Library. For most of its history she has been closely identified with the activities of Marmora Women's Institute.

She is survived by a daughter Jean, of New York City, and a son James, who is resident in Marmora. One daughter Hilda died several years ago.

She is also survived by a brother William Riddell, Owen Sound; and two sisters, Mrs. Neelands, Owen Sound, and Mrs Harry Rogers, Plumas, Man.

A short funeral service was held at the home of her son James on Friday morning, after which the cortege proceeded to Scott Funeral Parlors, Woodbridge, for service followed by burial in Hillcrest cemetery, Woodbridge.

Ferry To Remain Another Three Months

COBOURG, Dec. 16—(ENS) — Mayor Joe Smith received a letter Thursday from the secretary of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce advising him that the car ferry would remain in service unttil the end of March next year.

It was pointed out in the letter that the joint ownership of the line by the CNR and the Baltimore and Ohio Railway made it necessary for an application to be filed with the U.S. Interstate Board of Commerce before the line could be closed. However, there is nothing to indicate that the ferry system will continue after March 31.

Institute Votes Money To Library Board

MARMORA, Dec. 16 (ENS) — The home of Mrs. H. W. Sabine was the venue for the Christmas meeting of Marmora Women's Institute held on Wednesday evening with a large attendance of members under presidency of Mrs. Eugene Brady.

A minute's silence was observed in memoriam of Mrs. M. Thomson, beloved member of the branch for many years standing. Following the roll call, Mrs. W. G. Chrysler gave the treasurer's report indicating finances in the general fund to be sound and giving also a statement of the Town Hall renovation fund as operated by the branch.

The secretary read a letter from the secretary of the Madoc Women's Institute expressing the hope that the latter would be able to sponsor a presentation of "The Kitchen Band" early in the new year.

An appeal for financial aid was received from the Sick Children's Hospital to be later given practical consideration.

The branch voted a grant of fifty dollars to Marmora Public Library Board. The report of the sick committee was given by Mrs. F. S. Sweet. An appropriate reading on the month's motto "More blessed to give than to receive" was given by Miss Grace Warren. Mrs. George Young then entertained the gathering with her reading of a Christmas story.

Following a round of Christmas carols Mesdames P. Gray and L. R. Rundle gave two duets.

The exchange of Christmas gifts between members as the last number on the program lent its own charm to the occasion.

Sought To Rob Poor Box Given 4 Years

HAMILTON, Dec. 16 (CP) — Convicted last week of attempting to rob the poor box at St. Mary's Church, Gordon Chase, 27, today was sentenced to four years in prison.

"From an examination of your record, you appear to be persistent in wanting a life of crime," Judge Theo L. McCombs told the prisoner, adding that the record showed 16 convictions since 1939. One of the convictions was for the same offense—breaking and entering St. Mary's Church.

Police arrested Chase outside the church after they had been summoned to the scene by the parish priests who had been awakened by a burglar alarm system. The alarm had been installed some years ago when other attempts had been made to rob the church.

Pictures Show Wild Life In Arizona Desert

The series of lectures and movies being presented by the Peterborough Nature Club throughout the winter is arousing widspread interest and Thursday's audience at Queen Mary school filled the auditorium almost to capacity.

The speaker was Karl H. Maslowski, the third American ornithologist to visit Peterborough this winter, who showed colored movies of wild life in the south western Arizona desert.

One of a panel of expert naturalists who tour the States and Canada under the auspices of the Audubon Society, Mr. Maslowski described and illustrated on the screen his observations of wild life in the Arizona desert, which he had made on behalf of the Cincinnati Museum of Natural History.

The giant saguaro cactus plant —its strange appearance and the uses to which it is put by man and birds, was described.

He took his audience on a visit to a feeding station from where he had observed a variety of southern birds and ground animals. He showed how he had captured several types of snakes for preservation in the Natural History Museum, pictures of the nesting habits of desert birds and relics of ban's habitation of the desert before the American continent was discovered by white man.

V. R. Henry introduced the speaker.

Evidence in the trial, which was held in camera, showed that Hill approached a married woman with a picture he claimed was of her, and said that he knew her.

"You didn't know this girl at all, did you?" Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., asked Hill.

"No; after I seen her today, I didn't know her at all," Hill answered. "I was just stupid on the whole affair."

Say Field Crops At Lowest Value

OTAWA, Dec. 16 (CP) —Decreased production and lower prices have pushed the value of Canadas principle field crops to the lowest point since 1946.

Although considerably below the mark reached in the last two years, the estimated $427,000,000 value of the 1949 field crops is the fifth highest in the country's history, the bureau of statistics reported Thursday.

Canada's main crops — wheat, oats, barley, rye and flax—led the 16 per cent drop from last year's all-time high of $1,196,000,000. The five crops alone accounted for $237,000,000 of the total $269,000,000 decline. The 1949 crop was also down $104,000,000 from the 1947 figure.

Value of the 1949 crops in Ontario was $340,990,000, compared with $378,269,000 in 1948.

Under the impetus of the lower production and a four-cent decline in the average price, the value of wheat crops was down $56,000,000 to $556,600,000 from last year. The average 1949 wheat price was $1.54 a bushel compared with $1.58 a year ago.

Donald, although not yet 16, will be given a work permit and will not return to school.

The report stated that on Nov. 30 Donald entered the tool crib in Mr. Reed's classroom from which all students had been barred.

When the teacher entered the room, he seized Donald, the two grappled and the boy was struck.

Child Attacked By Vicious Dog

As the result of an attack by a vicious dog on Wednesday afternoon, three-year-old Johnny Foote, 136 Elgin St. S., Port Hope, came dangerously near to losing an eye had the gash come one-sixteenth of inch closer.

Witness to the accident were playmates who said that the dog suddenly jumped at Johnny without apparent reason. His mother said she did not know whether or not Johnny had been teasing the dog but did not think so since he had a pet of his own with which he was used to playing.

Owned by Albert Hoover, the collie dog has been ordered tied up and held for observation under instructions of the Durham Health Unit. Attending physician to Johnny's accident, Dr. C. P. Hamilton said the child was progressing favourably.

Honey-Almond Balls Have Special Christmas Appeal

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Dec. 16 —(CP)— If mother would avoid bending over a hot stove all day Christmas, she had best get her baking done early.

Many of those festive cookies, cakes and candy can be prepared well ahead of time, thus giving mother the chance to relax and enjoy the holiday visits of relatives and friends.

Home economists say that home-made candy has a "special appeal" at Christmas. When it has that perfect smoothness that literally melts in your mouth and a flavor that is slightly different from anything one can buy, then the maker may be justly proud.

Honey-Almond Balls

Ingredients: four ounces (four squares) unsweetened chocolates; one-half cup liquid honey; one-quarter teaspoon cinnamon; one-eighth teaspoon salt; one-half cup finely-chopped blanched almonds

Melt chocolate over hot water add honey, cinnamon and salt Beat well, add almonds. Chill until firm enough to handle. Form into small balls about one inch in diameter. Roll balls in icing sugar Yield: 30 balls.

Popcorn Balls

Ingredients: one cup honey; one cup sugar; one-half cup water; one teaspoon salt; one teaspoon vanilla extract.

Combine honey, sugar, water and salt in saucepan. Place over low heat, stirring until mixture begins to boil. Cook to firm ball stage (250 degrees Fahrenheit) Remove from heat. Add vanilla and stir just enough to blend well. Pour slowly over three quarts popped corn in large bowl. Grease the hands lightly or rinse them in cold water and press corn into balls.

Wrap in waxed paper. Yield: eight medium popcorn balls.

Ice-Box Cookies

Ice-box cookies are ideal holiday fare because the dough can be prepared days ahead of time, and the cookies baked as needed.

Ingredients: one cup brown sugar; one cup white sugar; one cup butter (or margarine); one cup lard; three eggs, well beaten; one teaspoon vanilla; one cup pastry flour, sifted, and add to this one-quarter teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup chopped nuts, one cup raisins; four more cups flour.

Cream shortening and sugar; add beaten eggs. Sift one cup flour, add other dry ingredients, including nuts and raisins, and add to first mixture together with flavoring. Mix thoroughly, then work in the four additional cups of flour. Form in rolls, wrap in wax paper, and let stand in ice-box 24 hours. Slice and bake as needed, in oven at 375 degrees Fahrenheit.

Newfoundland Village Joins in Marriage Feast

By RUPERT JACKSON
Canadian Press Correspondent

ST CARROLLS, Nfld. Dec. 16 —(CP)—A wedding in a newfoundland out-port is a community affair. And in the celebrations which follow even shotguns are brought into play.

A recent wedding in this tniy settlement nestling at the base of two towering cliffs was a good example of how the event is marked in similar villages along the coast.

In a place like St. Carrolls everybody knows everybody else so when Betty Pottle and Tom Martin announced their marriage everybody was automatically invited.

For weeks, the women left their chores and worked with needle and thread on the bride's trousseau. Sewing bees and hushed conversations were the order of the day. Bedsheets, curtains and other household goods were stored away for the surprise party.

On the final day, Tom Martin showed little signs of nervousness; instead he carried out his usual daily chores.

The minister, travelling by boat as the only means available, appeared at the church half an hour late. The entire population of the village was waiting.

The simple ceremony was performed and the bride and groom signed the register.

Then the shotguns came into play. As Tom and Betty stepped out of the neat white church blasts of gunfire split the air. Muzzle-loaders and heavy sealing guns are all part of the celebrations.

Babies And Old Folk

The wedding feast, also, is a community affair. Everyone donated something. Everyone came, even babies and 91-year-old grandfather Martin.

Fried chicken, potatoes, carrots and cabbage boiled with pork, followed by ice-cream made in a hand-cranked freezer, featured the feast.

Toasts were crunk in a potent, home-made blueberry wine.

Then the parlor rug was rolled back and the dancing begun. An old fiddler sat in the corner and provided the music for the jigs and reels.

As youngsters fell asleep they were put to bed on chairs drawn together. No one wanted to leave early.

When the dancing ended, the entire community escorted the newly-weds to their home atop the hill.

Another outport wedding had been performed in the traditional style.

Mothers Bring Shelter Gifts

Mrs. M. Pomeroy, 322 Rogers St., was hostess Wednesday evening to Mark St. Baby Band Mothers for the annual meeting. Her house was lovely with Christmas decorations and a lighted tree unuder which each members placed a gift which is to be sent to the Children's Shelter.

The meeting opened with Mrs. R. Wood, vice-president, in the chair in absence of president Mrs W. Parnell. Plans were made for a children's party at the church on December 21. Reports of the past year were given by secretary Mrs. J. Southgate, treasurer Mrs. W. Beggs and sewing convener Mrs. B. Pammett.

Installation of the following officers for 1950 took place. Honorary president, Mrs. K. Ferguson; president, Mrs. R Wood; vice-president, Mrs. H. Guppy; secretary, Mrs M. Martin; treasurer, Mrs. W. Beggs; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. Toms; sewing, Mrs. B. Pammett, and Mrs. A Downer; press, Mrs. P. Cooper; group leaders, Mrs. M. Spears. Mrs. S. Craig, Mrs. H. Cawker.

Mrs. H. Guppy was in charge of the devotions. Scripture was read by Mrs. E. Davis; Miss M. Pomeroy favored with a piano solo and accompanied Miss D. Ferguson singing "Shepherds in the hush of night." The Rev. B. Morwood spoke on the meaning of Christmas.

During a social hour following lunch was served by the hostess and Mrs. H. Guppy and her committee.

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. B. Morwood, 427 Mark St., on January 11.

Blind Handicraft On Sale Saturday

Last opportunity to purchase handicraft of the local blind people while downtown will be this Saturday.

Their leatherwork, knitting and wicker work has been on display at Grafton's store with members of the city and county advisory board in attendance. The articles are most suitable for Christmas gifts and the prices extremely reasonable, compared with the usual charges for hand-made goods.

Those seeking a small gift might choose a leather belt, change purse, or possibly a shoe cleaner in leather case. For children there are beautifully knitted suits, sweaters and socks, and for mother fine print aprons and wicker hampers.

Girls are really delighted with the "Barbara Ann" skating bonnets, made of Angora and fine wool in a range of colors, and the supply of these is running low.

Woollen Glamor Hats

These gay hats are designed for teen-agers' holiday fun. Hollyberry red wool is crocheted to form a straight brimmed cloche (left). Gold tinsel thread in puffy popcorn stitch bands the rounded crown. The visored cap of cocoa-colored jersey (upper right) is a style idea borrowed from jockeys. A crocheted bumper cap of snowflake white yarn has a thick halo edge made of layers of yarn loops.

New York Bra Designer Sees Trend to More Roundness

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 —(CP)— Get that old judy out of the attic, girls, it's back to bosoms again!

So, at least, says Edith Lances, figure consultant at Saks Fifth Avenue.

"My customers are backing me up in this," says Miss Lances. "We realize that today's designers are veering away from the completely flat-chested look of the '20s, even though their designs are reminiscent of that period."

The new trend, says she, calls for a naturally-rounded look — but no exaggeration.

What does Miss Lances do to create this natural look?

In the Lances brassiere, says its designer, this effect is created by using a special bias construction. The bias cut makes the fabric more expansive and flexible. A sculptured line that follows the natural contours is designed with seams underneath the bust and at the sides.

"But, first of all," warns Miss Lances," consult an experienced fitter as to the basic type of brassiere needed. A brassiere is primarily corrective so style is dependent on the figure. A fitter may recommend a bandeau, a long line for midriff control, or perhaps a wired brassiere for deeper separation. But whatever it is, it is meant to meet individual requirements."

Here are some tips to watch for, when buying a brassiere:

1. Select one with a closing other than elastic, if possible. If the elastic is essential to the design, it should be full and broad.

2. A double set of hooks and eyes to provide extra adjustability.

3. Fluted shoulder straps that won't cut into the skin.

4. A high line under the arms and a firm tight line across the back for added support.

5. Make sure the fabric in the brassiere is not averse to soap and water.

"Frequent launderings," says Miss Lances, "won't affect the shape of the brassiere because it takes its outlines from the bias cut. It will give better fit and prolong its life as well."

"What's Right?"

After ordering lunch in a restaurant you see that a group who entered after you did are served before your table.

WRONG WAY: Complain to your waitress about her slowness.

RIGHT WAY: Assume that factors beyond the control of the waitress caused the delay.

✧ ✧ ✧

One of your co-workers asks you what your salary is.

WRONG WAY: Feel you must give the information, even though you would rather not.

RIGHT WAY: Turn the question off with a light answer.

DOROTHY DIX

Recipe for Popularity Good Nature, Not Beauty

DEAR MISS DIX: What is your definition of a popular girl? What makes a girl popular? Is it necessary for her to be beautiful?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A popular girl is one who is liked and admired by her own sex as well as the opposite one. She is the girl at whose coming every eye brightens and who makes every party complete. She is never left out of things. She is the first one thought of when any sort of pleasure is arranged and the boys flock around her like bees around a honey pot. She has always plenty of dates and lots of cut-ins at dances.

Dorothy Dix

Beauty Not Essential

Of course, it helps a girl to be popular to be beautiful, because we all like to look at pretty and attractive things, and there is nothing lovelier in nature than a beautiful woman, but beauty is not essential to popularity. Indeed, in a way, it is a hindrance to a girl's popularity with her own sex, because it rouses envy in their bosoms, and so it has to be offset with a lot of sweetness and amiability. Nor does beauty make a girl popular with men if her good looks cause her to be arrogant and haughty. Many of the most popular girls are those who have not a single good feature to bless themselves with, but who are so kind and genial and pleasant to get along with that everybody loves them.

I should say the things that make a girl popular are for her to be amiable and good-natured to have the kindness that comes from a tender heart for her to be willing to take the trouble to make other people happy, for her to have the gracious tact that keeps her from saying or doing the things that hurt and mortify others, for her to be wide awake and intelligent and able to talk entertainingly and for her to be able to do the things that make her always welcome in society—for her to be able to play games and dance, to cook a little, play the piano a little and sing a little to do the things that makes her fit in any picture.

Nobody can tell you, may dear, just what beauty is because there are no fixed standards, and what one person thinks is beauty another doesn't. Some people admire only blondes. Others rave only over brunettes. In our own country the accepted type of feminine puchritude is the living skeleton, while in Oriental countries the fatter a woman is the more of a living picture she is esteemed.

It has been said that beauty lies in the eye of the beholder, and that is true. We all see beauty in those we love, whether they are really beautiful or homely.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I are 39 years old. We have been married sixteen years and have two girls, one 14, one 10, and my husband's mother, who is an invalid, lives with us. We have always been happy, even though my husband has a mean quick temper, until now, when I have discovered that he is unfaithful to me. I own our home, which is a very nice one, and have enough income of my own to pay the taxes and insurance, which I have always done, but would not be able to support the home alone. I have told my husband that as he was not happy with me I would give him his freedom, but he doesnt want a divorce. What would you do under the circumstances?

S. T. K.

ANSWER: I think a case like yours is one in which no human being can judge—or has the right to judge—for another. It is purely a matter of how you feel toward your hsuabnd, and what you know of his character.

Sometimes a woman cares enough for a man to make it worth her while to shut her eyes to his infidelity. Sometimes a wife knows that her husband is a born philanderer, that it isn't in him to be true to any woman for long. And every wife is wise to recognize that fact that men from 40 to 50 or 60 go through an age of indiscretion when they do foolish and irrational things and need to be treated with patience instead of divorce.

Of course, in your case there are the young girls to be considered. They are almost grown and divorced parents and a broken-up home do not make the best background for them. Also, with the husband contributing to the family support you can live in a style you could not afford if you had to earn the upkeep for the family.

Certainly the plight of a woman with a unfaithful husband is a pitiful one, but she does not always better it by fleeing to the divorce court.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: A young man just graduated from a medical school wonders as to the relative advantages and disadvantages of immediately marrying.

DOCTOR

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Unless the young doctor has money of his own or is marrying a girl with money it would certainly be foolhardy for him to get married just as soon as he graduates from a medical school. It generally takes several years for a young doctor to make enough to live on, and he would certainly stand a fine chance of starving or having to give up his profession in order to support his family, if he rushed into a precipitate marriage.

✧ ✧ ✧

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

Hurry up, Dally, hurry!

You'd better start to worry.

Holiday Hints For the Home

If candles drip on your best table linens, there's no need to throw up your hands in despair. When the meal is over, scrape off the drippings with a dull-edged knife or spatula. Then place a clean, white blotter over and under the spot and press with a warm iron for several minutes. Change blotters as they become soiled. You can launder the cloth as usual. Same method can be used to remove candle wax on rugs—scrape off excess, cover spot with blotter, and press. Change blotters as often as necessary. Then go over spot with brush to raise nap.

✧ ✧ ✧

Christmas spirit will permeate the house if you spray a pine scent around the rooms. Waxing attachment of vacuum cleaner or hand-operated spray gun does a fine job.

✧ ✧ ✧

Like uncreased tablecloths for holiday dinners? Roll them around a broom handle. Or spread out several thicknesses of newspaper, roll them tightly with a sheet of plain paper on the outside, and roll cloth on it. Save old mailing tubes to roll up place mats.

✧ ✧ ✧

Drape an old sheet around the Christmas-tree holder and under the tree. It forms a snowlike base and collects fallen needles—all ready for an easy shake-out.

✧ ✧ ✧

Christmas is no time for accidents. All decorations should be fire resistant. And remember to place tree away from fireplace and strong electric lights.

✧ ✧ ✧

It's more important than ever at this season to be certain the vacuum cleaner is working perfectly. Use a magnet to pick up small metal objects from carpets before vacuuming. Sharp objects might cut vacuum cleaner's belt or puncture dust bag. You might tie magnet on to one end of a yardstick so you won't have to stoop.

✧ ✧ ✧

Shattered Christmas-tree ball? Pick up all those tiny, hard-to-get fragments with a little dampened cotton or cleansing tissue. Saves fingers from cuts, too.

✧ ✧ ✧

Help protect table tops from unsightly watermarks by waxing them well before the season's festivities start.

✧ ✧ ✧

Decorating day is more fun if you outfit a large market basket with evergreen boughs, ribbon, mistletoe, scissors, and string. You'll be able to make the rounds to windows, doorways, and mantel with a minimum of steps.

✧ ✧ ✧

A Christmas scrapbook or loose-leaf notebook is a grand memory-booster from one Christmas to the next. You mgiht include such information as Christmas-card lists with addreses, the gifts you gave, decorations and refreshments at your holiday parties.

✧ ✧ ✧

Bring in the laundry basket or a large packing carton on Christmas morning. Let everyone drop torn wrappings into basket—all ready for a one-trip cleanup job.

"What's Right?"

A friend of yours from out of town is visiting a couple you know only slightly.

WRONG WAY: Invite the visiting friend to your home for dinner, but do not feel that it is necessary to include the friend's host and hostess in the invitation.

RIGHT WAY: Realize that the visitor cannot accept your invitation unless it includes the host and hostess in whose home the guest is staying.

WA Reports Year's Work

ROSENEATH, Dec. 16 (ENS)—The presentation of annual reports were combined with the Christmas meeting when the members of the W.A. of Roseneath United Church met in the Township Hall on Wednesday. Mesdames Eliza and Charles Sandercock were joint hostesses.

The president, Mrs. Ford Derry presided and the pianist was Mrs. Bart Trackeray.

Rev. R. C. White was in charge of the devotional period.

Balance of $398

The reports were presented by the following: Mrs. Isaac Skuce, secretary's report; Mrs. Arthur Braithwaite, "The Good Cheer report; Mrs. Charles Sandercock, Convener of the parsonage committee, who reported having spent $69.55 on the parsonage during the year; Mrs. Bart Thackeray, Convener of the Sewing Committee reported having realized $113 from sales of sewing; Mrs. Fred Norris, treasurer reported a balance of $398.27.

An appeal was made to the members to assist a needy family in the community with clothing bedding and food.

It was decided to donate $10 to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, and $25 to the M. and M. Fund of the United Church.

The flower committee reported having purchased flowers for the church for Christmas.

Mrs. Earl Waldie and Mrs. Ford Derry were the program committee, and in charge of an exchange of gifts.

Mrs. Derry had a Christmas tree, gaily decorated with lights.

Mrs. Waldie announced the following numbers: a duet by Misses Mary Skuce and Carol McMillan; a talk on the Meaning of Christmas by Mrs. Bart Thackeray. Mrs. Clarence Down was the winner of a lucky candy draw. The convener was in charge of a Christmas quiz.

Miss Joan McMillan was the pianist for the singing of carols.

Plans were made for the January meeting with Mrs. Harold Taylor as hostess.

CITY PRAYS FOR HER—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Reno of El Monte, Calif., keep their vigil at the bedside of their 10-month-old daughter, Sheila, who was born with malignant tumors in both eyes. Doctors fear the child will not live until Christmas. All the citizens of El Monte joined in prayers that she will survive.

Isle of Bali Cock-Fighting Honors Demon, Lasts 5 Days

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN.

On the Island of Bali there was a country fair recently to the honor of a demon in a small town of no importance. The gods on the temples were decorated with the scraps of cloth for the festival, and before them dishes of flowers and fruit went stale in the bright sun.

In one corner of the fair ground which was built wholly of rice straw and consisted entirely of gambling booths, a tall roof without walls stood upon wooden pillars. A gentle murmur, rising occasionally to fierce shouting, came from within. It was a cock-fight; it is the national sport of this soft green island.

Inside the tall building, some hundreds of men were crowded round an earthen platform the size of a boxing ring. Four gross men in singlets lolled on raised chairs and they supervised the betting and ran their hands over every bird and decided if the match was fair. The crowd wore sarongs rolled any way round their waists, some bare to the waist, all bare-footed. Some carried birds in their arms and most hard a basket between their legs that held another, so that above the noise of their betting rose the crowing of innumerable cocks that were to fight before the end of the day.

Two young men entered the ring, their heavy black hair down to their shoulders, long purple sarongs falling to their ankles. With a sort of high ceremony, they walked to their corners and squatted silently. Each held a bird, one a white cock, the other a brown. Each bird had three inches of narrow razor-sharp steel bound with a string to its left claw.

A judge sounded a gong and they carried the two birds to the centre, pushed them together to infuriate them and then released them. The birds walked towards each other and a few inches apart stopped, their heads thrust forward just above the earth, their feather ruffs standing out like starched collars.

Suddenly they leapt into the air and as they passed, slashed with their spurs. They turned and the brown one leaped again, but the white ran low along the ground under the other's steel blade and the crowd gave a long "ah" of excitement. They turned again and met a foot in the air in a flurry of beating wings, kicking with their armed legs and pecking at each other's heads. A few feathers drifted quietly down to the earth.

They separated and faced again and now you could see that all one side of the white bird was red with its own blood and one of his legs had been terribly slashed so that it could scarcely walk.

The gong rang and the two youngsters picked up their birds. The owner of the white blew straight into his bird's beak to revive it, but when the next round started neither bird would fight. So they were picked up again and thrust at each other, and feathers were plucked from their collars to anger them.

They started to fight, but almost at once the white bird collapsed and the brown stood over it and pecked its comb and the white bird died and the two youngsters picked up their birds and thrust them, dead and alive, into baskets and wiped the blood off their hands on scraps of towel that hung in a corner. It was not, I was told, a very good fight.

In another, both birds fell almost at once and the two owners worked for a minute to make one stand up and prove itself the winner. But both were dead and the bets were returned. In another a bird flew into the crowd who cowered away and in its panic the bird opened the cheek of a boy with a slash from its spur and the crowd rocked with laughter.

This fighting had gone on for five days from 11 to 8 each day, with a fight every quarter of an hour, in which at least one bird died. I do not know in how many places on the island such things were happening on that day.

Santa Claus Parade Planned

HAVELOCK, Dec. 16 (ENS)—Mrs. Fred Bennett was hostess at the Christmas meeting of the Young Women's Association of Knox Presbyterian Church, when 19 members attended.

Miss Essie McQuigge, vice-president, conducted the devotional period. Mrs. Bennett was appointed convener to arrange for sending Christmas cards to the out-of-town members and gifts to the shut-ins. A gift is to be sent to a woman from this district who is a patient in the Gravenhurst Sanitarium.

Mrs. George Kennedy entertained with a monologue and played the piano. A contest was won by Mrs. Fred McKenzie.

Santa Claus paid a visit to the meeting and distributed gifts from a gaily decorated Christmas tree.

A letter was read from Mrs. J. Davey of 61 Burnaby Road, Toronto, thanking the Association for remembering her husband, Rev. John Davey, a former minister of Knox Church, while he was in hospital, where he underwent a successful operation.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. G. Kennedy and Mrs. F. McKenzie.

Will Keep Levy

TORONTO, Dec. 16.—(CP) — Heavy claims on the province's unsatisfied judgment fund are expected to force continuance of the 50-cent levy on licensed drivers in 1950, it was said at Queen's Park Thursday. The levy goes to the fund which pays court judgments against financially irresponsible or unlocated drivers involved in accidents with damage to claimants. There were no figures given, however, on payments that have been made.

New Rates Set For Hall Rental

WARKWORTH, Dec. 16. — (ENS).—Percy township municipal council Tuesday rescinded all former resolutions concerning the rent of the town hall and set the new charge at $6 for the upper hall and $3 for the council chamber for all agricultural, religious and education organizations.

The new resolution is to be effective Nov. 1 - April 1. From April 1 - Nov. 1, only caretaking charges will be required.

The new ruling permits the Legion, Women's Institute and Band to have the use of the council chamber for paying the caretaker's fee.

The following charges will be made for dances, concerts, political meetings, etc.; hall $9, piano $1, cloakroom $1.50, canteen $1.50 and the badminton fee remains as before.

The council appointed Gordon McCubbin to represent the township on the Brighton High School Board and Arnold Poole was appointed to the Norwood Board.

He said "if this practice is extended to other industries it can seriously affect employment in Canada."

DelegateReports WI Convention

BETHANY, Dec. 16.—(ENS).—The December meeting of the Bethany Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Mansell Finney with 19 members present and Mrs. H. L. Challice presiding.

Mrs. Finney, who attended the convention of the Central Ontario Women's Institutes in Toronto last month as the delegate from the Bethany branch, gave a most interesting and enthusiastic report of this gathering of more than 1,000 women from all parts of the province. "Education for World Democracy" was the convention theme and citizenship was stressed by every speaker.

Hon. T. L. Kennedy, a guest at the convention, said, "Wherever Women's Institutes are strong, young people stay on the farm... we can't express what an asset that is to us in millions of dollars. Premier Frost, greeting the convention, thanked the women for their work in education, better citizenship, work in maintaining and improving our great moral background and developing our province. Dr. Hugh Keenleyside said the friendly approach of the institutes might well be copied by other organizations. His main address centred around the development of the Northwest Territories.

Mr. Napier Moore, editorial director of MacLean Hunter Publications, also commended the women who had played so big a part pioneering this country, recalling some of the dramatic highlights in his own life as a newspaper man over the years, and spoke of the incredible world changes in one man's lifetime.

In concluding her report on the convention, Mrs. Finney thanked the members for the privilege of attending the convention as the Bethany delegate.

The roll call was answered by an exchange of gifts, which created quite a Christmassy atmosphere. Christmas songs and carols were sung throughout the evening, accompanied by Mrs. T. Jennings at the piano. Due to the illness of the secretary, Mrs. R. W. Price was appointed to fill that office for the remainder of the term. It had been requested that the institute take more interest in the local school and all members were urged to attend the annual trustee meeting, with Mrs. R. Palmer and Mrs. H. Bristow being appointed as an official representative. Letters of thanks were read from several sick members for baskets of fruit received during illness, and the secretary was requested to remember all shut-in members with Christmas cards. An amusing "car" contest, won by Mrs. Cavano and Miss Lily Thompson, after which Mrs. Finney and Mrs. Jennings, assisted by other members of the group, served lunch.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Peterborough District Folk School Begins Jan. 8 At Home Of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stewart—Louis Bromfield Dinner Speaker At Ontario Crop Improvement Association Convention—Vern Campbell Re-Elected President Of Plowmen.

Louis Bromfield, author and farmer, will be guest speaker at the dinner of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association Jan. 19, in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. His rural home is at Malabar Farm, Lucas, O.

Mr. Bromfield's first intention was to be a farmer. He entered Cornell University in 1914 to study agriculture, but after a year there he felt an urge to become a writer and transferred to Columbia school of journalism. He planned to spend a year at each of four different colleges, but the First World War interrupted that preparation. Bromfield joined the French army and later became liaison officer between the French and British forces. He was awarded the Croix de Guerre and Star of the Legion of Honor.

Returning to the United States Mr. Bromfield worked for the New York City News Association and then for the Associated Press. Subsequent positions included that of editor, tutor, foreign editor and critic for Musical America; theatre, music and art critic for the Bookman; assistant to the theatrical producer; advertising manager for the publishing house of Putnam. He was also one of the original members of the staff of Time Magazine.

A successful novelist, Mr. Bromfield finally yielded to his first desire and bought the Ohio farm. He has lived there since 1939. He says: "After 25 years of witnessing revolutions, inflations and the ruin of whole nations, I knew the nearest thing to security that unstable man could still have was the land."

Two recent Bromfield books have been preoccupied with agriculture. One was "Malabar Farm." Its criticisms of accepted methods of farming in Ohio attracted wide rural and also urban attention. "Pleasant Valley" was written in another mood. Louis Bromfield has acquired a reputation as a modern farmer, and with his background and ability as a speaker he should fill the banquet hall of the King Edward.

He conducts his 600 acre farm on a co-operative basis. Profits beyond the first five per cent on his investment are divided among the employees who live on the place. His dozen tenant helpers and their families live on the farm and also "off" it. They share in its meats, poultry, eggs, dairy products and vegetables before the bulk is marketed.

Malabar Farm has become a show place. The house has 30 rooms. Each has a telephone and typewriter with one exception, the owner's bedroom. It is also an international post office and rendez-vous for European refugees. Their mail goes to Malabar. Mr. Bromfield says that at least 18 persons sit down for every meal served in his home.

He continues his literary work, to which he allots a few hours daily. He says his secret lies in knowing what he is going to write before he begins.

CAMPBELL PRESIDENT

Vern Campbell was re-elected president of Peterborough Plowmen's Association this week. All the officers were retained in their positions for another year. The vice-presidents are Art McIntyre and Henry Batten; secretary-treasurer is Frank C. Paterson and Stuart Hall is assistant.

Mr. Hall and Don Garbutt were appointed delegates to the provincial convention with Hanlan Payne and Leo Scollard as alternates.

Len Henderson, of Cavan, attending the meeting from the Durham Plowmen's Association, suggested that the two groups should agree to the extension of their closed classes mutually to include each other. Instead of several of the classes being reserved for residents of Peterborough, they should admit also the plowmen of Durham and Northumberland. Similarly at the Durham matches, the county classes should take in Peterborough, Mr. Henderson said.

Mr. Henderson argued that times had radically changed. Travel is easy between Peterborough and Durham and they were virtually one community. An invisible boundary should not be permitted to perpetuate a municipal division which had no connection with the agricultural interests on both sides of it.

The idea may be accepted by both associations. The Ennismore directors were complimented on the success of the October match on the Corkery farm. The township committee had done a good job, Vern Campbell said, and everything about the match was most satisfactory. The county association was able to renew its connection with Ennismore as an effect from the Gifford causeway.

The women of St. James' Anglican Church, Emily township, were also thanked for providing lunch at the match. The women of St. Martin's Church, Ennismore, were fully agreeable about co-operating, but they hesitated about getting the necessary equipment, and it was said they were quite happy when the St. James' women assumed the work.

The weather, the site, the co-operation of the Ennismore people, and the efforts of the county committee, all combined in a successful day.

TURKEYS FOR COUNCILLORS

Waterloo county council presents a new Christmas idea to rural municipal Ontario. Its members have voted themselves a Yule turkey, each, and out of county funds. Nine of the 17 members of the council approved the proposal. They said they go in the hole annually on mileage, due to the government limit of five cents a mile.

Reeve Simon Ditner, opposing the "gift" said: "It's going a bit too far."

Apart from the propriety of this draft on the county treasury, it is a move in the direction of marketing, the major agricultural problem of this beset December.

✦ ✦ ✦

FARM INCOMES COMPARED

Lawrence Kerr, prominent farmer of Kent county, was the speaker at the recent annual meeting of the Middlesex Federation of Agriculture. He said investigation had shown that the ten most prosperous farmers in Kent had smaller net incomes than the ten most prosperous men in the automobile business in the city of Chatham.

The ten farmers found themselves with less net incomes than that of corresponding men in the elevator business and other lines. Those top farmers were selected from among 5,500 engaged in agriculture. The ten most prosperous in the other lines, with larger net incomes than the group of good farmers, were selected from among 40 or 50, and in some instances fewer, engaged in the other industries.

Mr. Kerr's comment was that these facts tended to controvert the statement so often heard that farmers were unduly prosperous. He suggested that society had much revising to do in respect to attitudes toward the basic, dignified profession of farming.

DOGS ATTACKS TURKEYS

Ravaging dogs killed or maimed nearly 100 turkeys on the farm of John Rive, Brantford township, one night this week. He shot one of the animals. His loss is estimated at $1,500, and his claim on the township council for indemnity, a heavy penalty on the township. Some of the turkeys were found a mile away from the farm buildings. Mr. Rive's comment was: "From now on I'm going to shoot every dog that comes on my place." Why farmers submit to the nuisance and losses caused by predatory dogs is something known only in their patience.

KAWARTHA TEAM TROPHIES

Kawartha Buttermakers Club judging team recently won two trophies at the annual meeting of the Ontario Creamery Association. H. M. Arbuckle of Lindsay was instructor of the team, and the members were: Milton Gibney of Mount Albert; Sam Black of Lakefield; and Murray Smith, Uxbridge.

They were high team in cream judging for the Canadian Vegetable Parchment trophy, and also had the high aggregate score in butter and cream judging for the S. F. Lawrawson trophy.

✦ ✦ ✦

TO BEEF CATTLE BREEDERS

How many farmers in Peterborough county want artificial breeding of beef cattle? That question may be answered at a meeting here Thursday Dec. 29 at 1.30 in the office of the Department of Agriculture.

"It has been suggested that we might begin with Shorthorns," Frank Paterson writes in a circular letter. "We have heard that 40 farmers have already signed up under a program. They have had a trial season in Dufferin, and there has been a demand for this kind of service in several other parts of the province."

✦ ✦ ✦

ONTARIO TOBACCO

"The cash value of the Ontario tobacco crop 25 years ago was barely $3,000,000. Today it is well over $50 million, all of which flows into the channels of trade."

That is a quotation from an address by Edward C. Wood, vice-president of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, at a farmers' night dinner sponsored by the Rotary Club of Aylmer. Of the 550 guests at the tuckey dinner it was estimated that 450 were agriculturists.

Elgin county is in the tobacco belt of the eastern section of the province, a reminder of the diversity of crops and production that has evolved from the old-fashioned farming a generation or more ago in Ontario.

"Few people realize," said Mr. Wood, "that our federal treasury gets 21½ cents as tax out of every 35c package of cigarettes. If there were no tax, that package would sell for about 13c . . . I am told there are about 300,000 people depending on the tobacco industry for their livelihood in this country. They range from growers to retailers. More than $200 million will be paid this year into the federal treasury as excise taxes on tobacco products manufactured in Canada from tobacco grown here."

Mr. Wood talked about maintenance of soil fertility, and emphasized in another topic that in Canada the freedom of the individual was supreme, freedom to do things, to think, to worship, to meet in assembly, to work and to play and enjoy the fruits of thrift and foresight.

FIRST FOLK SCHOOL

Peterborough country's first Folk School will be centered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Stewart, on the Wallace Point Road, Otonabee, Jan. 8 to 18. It is a project in training for rural community life that has been inspired by the Radio Forums and the Federation of Agriculture.

This Folk School has been planned for the eight counties comprising Zone 5 of Farm Radio Forums. Each county is expected to send at least two representatives for whom accommodation will be provided at the Stewart home for the ten day period of the school. Mr. W. W. Sutton is chairman of the county committee.

Some of the subjects for discussion are: the home in the community; culture in every day living; the church in the community; political ideology; the school in the community; folk games and dances; public health in the community; philosophy of the soil, and so on.

The Danish folk school, which contributed so much to the culture of that nation, provides the broad pattern of the Forum schools One of them is being held at Dorchester for seven counties of western Ontario, including Middlesex, Essex, Kent, Huron The school may also be regarded as an extension of the programs for leadership in community life which is a progressive mark of rural thought and action in this generation.

In addition to the representatives of the constituent counties of zone 5, it is expected that there will be local day students with others who may be able to attend occasionally. The fee for day students is one dollar a day, and meals for the occasionals are 50c.

NOT FOR SALE at any price is Bardolier III of the Aberdeen Angus herd of White Gates Farm, Flanders, N.J. He is owned by Eugene J. Denton, head of an exclusive women's shop in New York. The Bard has never been beaten in a show. Mr. Denton says he is one of the three or four greatest bulls of our time. "Once a man of wealth offered me an open checkbook and said: "Fill it out for whatever you want." I told him he didn't have enough money to buy my bull."

Plants In Dark On U.K. Orders

MONTREAL, Dec. 16 (CP)— Canadian newsprint sources said Thursday they are completely in the dark about Britain's requirements from Canada in 1950.

They were commenting on a London report which quoted a British spokesman as saying Britain's 1950 contract with Canada for 100,000 tons of newsprint will be allowed to go by the board because of the dollar shortage.

The London report said a Canadian proposal that Britain continue to import a certain amount of newsprint to "keep open the lifeline" had been rejected.

Officials of the Newsprint Association of Canada said they were unaware of the nature of this proposal but it was considered possible that individual mills might have made some proposals

3 ZAHODNIKS CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

Cars And Houses Seized By Zealous Sheriff For Back Income Taxes

Canadians Near Niagara Border Hit By Ottawa Get-Tough Policy, All Employed At Jobs In United States

WELLAND, Dec. 17—(CP)—It may be "routine" to Federal income tax authorities at Ottawa, but a lot of Canadians along the Niagara border today scanned with apprehension the word that there's a drive to collect back income tax from delinquents who work in the United States. Sheriff V. L. Davidson of Welland County announced Friday that he had been instructed to seize motorcars and even houses owned by tax delinquents, and that three sheriff's deputies had arrived in Niagara Falls to spark the campaign. Port Colborne and Welland are among other municipalities affected.

One bank account and bonds totalling $3,500 were seized by sheriff's deputies here Friday. Sheriff Davidson said that about $300,000 is owing in Welland county on income tax dating back to 1941, with the average delinquent account running between $500 and $3,500. A printer who works in New York State said his car had been seized.

Regular Move

A spokesman at the National Revenue Department in Ottawa said Friday night that steps to recover overdue income tax are constantly being taken throughout Canada and he knew of no special drive in the Niagara border area. The Ottawa official surmised that the Welland sheriff had received a larger number of writs to execute than is normal In any event, the Welland sheriff is doing something about it.

In Niagara Falls and other border communities, many persons work across the United States border and therefore their wages paid at United States points, cannot be garnisheed as is done in the case of Canadian tax delinquents who are paid in Canada. Canadians working and getting paid in the United States have to pay United States income tax at the source, but are still liable for Canadian income tax when they maintain residence in Canada.

What sheriff Davidson said was that he had been instructed by Ottawa to seize motorcars and, after holding them for eight days sell them and use the proceeds toward the back taxes. If the delinquent has no car, his house or land may be seized, the sheriff added.

5 OHA Players Injured, Car Overturns

OWEN SOUND, Dc. 17 (CP)—Five members of the Owen Sound Mercurys of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series had a miraculous escape from serious injury early today when the car in which they were driving struck an icy spot and careened into the ditch six miles south of here. All suffered bruises and a severe shaking up, but none were hospitalized.

The club physician, Dr. A. L. Magill today ordered the five not to take part in the game scheduled here tonight between the Mercurys and Toronto Marlboros.

The injured players were: "Speed" McCauley, driver of the car, and the team alternate goaltender, and forwards Jack Ingoldsby, Pete Donaleshen, Hub Beaudry, and Harry Kazarian.

McCauley was the most severely injured with possible fracture of the chest, either ribs or sternum, and cuts on his nose and chin. Kazarian, who suffered possible broken ribs in the game in Toronto on Friday night, which was aggravated by his injuries. He also suffered a twisted knee.

Ingoldsby suffered a bruised right shoulder, Beaudry an injured chest, and Donaleshen two twisted knees. All five players were dazed by the crash.

The car shot between a hydro pole and its brace before striking a culvert and coming to rest upside down in the ditch.

Scots Remember Canadian Troops

LONDON, Dec. 17 (CP)—Ten years ago today the first contingent of Canada's overseas army arrived in Britain to give aid to the Motherland in her hour of need.

The historic occasion was recalled throughout the country today but particularly in Glasgow, Gourock and Greenock where singing Canadian soldiers disembarked a decade ago.

No large-scale celebrations or official functions were planned but through the country informal reunions were held by former Canadian servicemen who have taken up resident in Britain since the war.

In Glasgow a solemn, impressive ceremony was observed in George Square. Chief Magistrate H. Brown, deputizing for Victor Warren, the city's lord provost, placed a wreath at the base of the cenotaph in honor of the memory of the Dominion's forces which failed to return. A second wreath was laid specially in honor of the Dominion's Scottish regiments.

Nab Montreal Man With Loaded Revolver

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP)—Two men, one from Mntreal, were arrested Friday night after police received a telephone tip that a man had just stored a revolver in a locker at Union Station.

Eric Tetley, 21, of Montreal, was charged with illegal possession of a loaded revolver. A few minutes later Arthur Wildman, 23, was picked up and charged with theft.

Police said Wildman was arrested as he was boarding a Montreal train. They said he was carrying allegedly stolen silverware.

Trenton Strike Ends Will Have Conciliation

TRENTON, Dec. 17 — (CP)—A strike at the Downs-Coulter textile plant over wage and contract disputes ended Friday when management and union agreed to submit their differences to conciliation. The United Textile Union (AFL) claimed the 120 employees were locked out after a series of work stoppages. J. E. Uttley, managing director of the company, said the union was asking an 8 cents an hour general wage boost and a 40-hour week instead of the present 47½-hour week.

Airmen Play Santa Claus To Isolated Weathermen

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 (CP)—It didn't have reindeer and jingle bells but men at the meteorological station at Nottingham Island, at the western mouth of Hudson Strait, were sure the big Lancaster was carrying Santa Claus.

The RCAF transport bomber was taking time out from an ice survey of Hudson Bay to drop mail to the Transport Department staff as a special Christmas present. The mail came down in six boxes by parachute as the Lancaster swooped over the bleak outpost of 500 feet.

It happened Wednesday and today the crew of the aircraft recalled that the half-dozen men on the station "just about went crazy." They hadn't expected mail until next August.

In radio communication with the plane, the station called as each box of mail was dropped:

"Okay, Santa Claus . . . ready for the next box."

Three smaller meteorological stations may get the same treat next week when an RCAF training flight will play St. Nick, weather permitting.

These stations are Zugluk, Cape Smith and Ivugivik, all on the shoreline of the north-western peninsula of Quebec Province.

In Wednesday's flight, the Lancaster was piloted by FO. D. E. Biden, a wartime bomber pilot of Moncton and Ottawa. Crew members were Flying Officers D. F. Robertson, D. W. J. Carr, A. F. Hearnden and D. G. Doyle, all of Ottawa.

This is the first year the RCAF has a program of ice surveys of Hudson Bay on an extensive scale.

BULLETIN

WELLAND, (CP)—Savagely beaten about the head, the body of Sam Delibasich, Welland taxi driver, was found today in a field five miles north of here by rabbit hunters. Delibasich, about 45, had been missing a week.

Chinese Leader Mao Tse-tung Visiting Stalin

MOSCOW, Dec. 17 — (AP). — A Chinese-Soviet friendship pact today appeared almost a certainty here following the arrival of China's Communist leader Mao Tze-tung in Moscow on Friday night.

Some observers speculated that the subject of the pact already may have been introduced when Mao and Prime Minister Stalin met soon after the Chinese leader arrived from Peiping.

The two countries also are expected to work out trade and mutual assistance agreements during Mao's first visit to the Soviet capital.

On his arrival at the Moscow railway station Mao spoke immediately of his admiration for Stalin and of stronger ties between China's Communist government and that of Russia.

The most important tasks facing them, Mao said, would be fulfilled thanks to the correct international policy of Stalin.

Strengthen Relations

And these tasks, he said, were the strengthening of the peace front, the struggle against the warmongers, the strengthening of good neighborly relations between China and the Soviet Union and the strengthening of the friendship between the Chinese and Russian peoples.

After his long rail trip across Siberia and Russia in a special railway car, Mao was met at the station by Deputy Prime Minister V. M. Molotov, Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin of the Politburo, Foreign Trade Minister Michael A. Menshikov, and Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

At his first meeting with Stalin those present included Molotov, Bulganin, Deputy Prime Minister Georgi M. Malenkov, and Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky.

Fate Sentences Pair Harsher Than Court

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—Fate carved its own penalty for two confessed holdup men.

During a Brooklyn holdup in November, 1947, George Del Toro, 21, was shot in the spine by a policeman.

Pedro Hernandez, 31, was shot in the groin after a holdup of a taxi-cab driver in September, 1948.

Friday, Judge Carmine J. Marasco held temporary court in a hospital prison ward where both men are paralyzed from the bullet wounds, and will be confined to wheel chairs for life.

The judge told them:

"I am convinced that no matter how severe my sentence might be, it could not compare to the punishment that is already yours. You are facing a living death. My sentence is the time you have served here, less one day."

Murder Count Stands For W. Yuzwa

Grant Three Brothers Bail $1,000 Each In Peterborough Court

By DAVE WHITE,
Examiner Staff Reporter.

Three Zahodnik brothers, Paul, 28 and James 33, both of Hamilton, and John, 30, Toronto, were each charged with assaulting James and Hazel Hogan, Lakefield, in police court here today before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K. C. The three were acquitted Friday in Lindsay on charges of murdering W. J. (Jack) Loucks, 36, Lindsay, in a preliminary hearing before Magistrate E. A. Gee.

Committed For Murder

Their companion on the hunting trip, William Yuzwa, 32, Hamilton, was committed for trial on a charge of murder by Magistrate Gee.

The Zahodnik brothers were brought to Peterborough county jail Friday. They were represented by P. D. Scollard acting for their lawyer J. J. Robinette, Toronto.

All three were remanded with plea until Jan. 10 on bail of $1,000 each. They were charged with common assault against James Hogan and with assaulting a female, Hazel Hogan, occasioning actual bodily harm.

Immediately after receiving the excited greetings of their wives and friends after the decision was announced Friday afternoon, they were taken into custody by Provincial Police on the assault charges.

It is alleged that the quartet started the eventful night of violence by beating up James Hogan, 26, and his slight young wife, Hazel, at the Melody Inn, Lakefield, shortly before midnight on November 17.

Then began an 80-mile chase involving Provincial Police, city police from Peterborough and Lindsay, and Chief Garnet Samis of Lakefield.

Before they were captured at a roadblock on the outskirts of Peterborough to the accompaniment of a fusillade of police bullets, 36 year old Jack Loucks, father of three children had been stabbed to death, three other participants in a wild street brawl in Lindsay had been wounded, and the Hogans of the Melody Inn had been beaten up.

Provincial Constable Roy Feeley of the Peterborough detachment said he and Chief Samis of Lakefield made a preliminary search of the panel truck at the city police station, after the four had been captured.

A full 26-ounce bottle of whiskey was found still sealed, and another one in the front compartment half empty.

Winters-McLean Split On Pay

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 — (CP). — W. Arthur Irwin of Toronto will pick up the reins of Canada's National Film Board February 1.

Appointment of the 51-year-old editor of Maclean's Magazine as Commissioner of the National Film Board was announced Friday night by Reconstruction Minister Winters, NFB chairman.

Mr. Winters said in statement the new commissioner had been named for a two-year period at a salary of $15,000 a year.

In announcing Mr. Irwin's appointment, Mr. Winters also released the text of a memorandum he had received from Mr. McLean last month advising the government that should the question of his re-appointment arise before the expiry of his three-year term, he would not be able to accept re-appointment at the present salary. His salary was $8,000 a year.

Mr. Winters said that following receipt of the memorandum, Mr. McLean had been advised that "under the circumstances, the government did not propose to re-appoint him a csommissioner."

To his new appointment, Mr. Irwin brings a wealth of experience gained as a newspaper and magazine editor.

Bathless New Yorkers Make Objective

Eight Million People Save 11 Gallons Apiece On Dry Friday

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—They turned the water faucets tight here Friday and 8,000,000 New Yorkers saved nearly 11 gallons apiece.

That's the amount of a skimpy tub bath. . . or a fast shower . . . or two big dish-washings. . . and it may not seem so much.

But when you get 8,000,000 people saving that much water it means 90,000,000 gallons that are still in the big city's giant but drought-stricken reservoirs.

It was a water holiday. . . dry Friday. . . or if you want to go along with the gag, "Dri-day."

Water officials, apparently astonished by this blase city's response, called it all a "huge success." Then they crossed their fingers and hoped people wouldn't throw a water binge to celebrate.

The final figures won't be known for certain until later today. The 90,000,000 gallon figure was a cagy estimate based on 17 hours of the 24.

The best part of the saving was that it was an extra saving—on top of the 173,000,000 gallons the city has already managed to trim off its daily water budget since the shortage began two weeks ago.

If New Yorkers can cut it that much every day, water commissioner Stephen J. Carney thinks the city may sneak through the winter without rationing until the big spring thaws solve the problem.

The water holiday passed without a broken water main or bad fire—but almost at the stroke of midnight a four-alarm blaze broke out in a Harlem factory and swept through the building.

But even the fire department saved city water.

It moved a fire boat into the nearby Harlem river and ran hoselines a block and a half from the boat's big river pumpers to the fire scene.

CIO Tosses Out 6 More Unions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(AP)—The split within the CIO gaped wider today with the announcement that six unions accused of being Communist-influenced have been dropped from good standing for non-payment of dues. The statement by CIO officials that the unions have fallen behind in their monthly 10-cent-a-person payments to the parent organization brought a sharp denial from one of the unions involved. Secretary-Treasurer Louis Goldblatt of the Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union said the CIO statement was "deliberately misleading."

"By all established standards we are paid up," he said. "The last two months per capita payments have been delayed slightly only because of heavy expenditures resulting from strikes in Hawaii and on the mainland."

The six unions, with a total membership of about 300,000, are among 10 being investigated by the CIO on charges that they are too "left-wing". Two other unions were ousted from the CIO on the same grounds at the national convention in Cleveland last month.

Others Thrown Out

Besides the Longshoremen — who President Harry Bridges is on trial in San Francisco on charges of falsely swearing he is not a Communist — the unions listed by the CIO as being in arrears are:

United Office and Professional Workers, headed by James H. Durkin, United Public Workers, headed by Abram Flaxer; Food, Tobacco, Agricultural and Allied workers, headed by John Tisa; Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, headed by John Clark and United Furniture Workers headed by Morris Pizer.

The four unions being investigated but still paid up are the American Communications Association, Marine Cooks and Stewards, Fishermen and Allied Workers, and Fur and Leather Workers.

The two ousted from the CIO last month are the United Electrical Workers and Farm and Equipment Workers.

Mackenzie King 75 Today Enjoying His Retirement

OTTAWA, Dec. 17—(CP)—Remembered by high and low and blessed with a returning vigor, William Lyon Mackenzie King turned 75 today and looked ahead to a year that will start his looking back The former Prime Minister will spend the day quietly at Laurier House, his city residence, opening and replying to messages of greeting that started pouring in well before the event. By Friday night great people and humble people of the United Kingdom, United States, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland and his own Canada had showered him with their good wishes. Behind him is his first full year of retirement after more than two decades as Prime Minister.

It was, he told a reporter before a great fire in his library, a year of rest and reading, of readjustment and recovery from the "frightful fatigue" that ruled his body before he left office.

It brought a return of vigor that makes him "feel much stronger" that he did a year ago.

But it wasn't a year that brought a start on the writing of his memoirs. That lies in the year ahead.

There were two reasons for this. One was the difficulty of readjustment, of shifting the basis of his life from a job that demanded all his time and energies to one that left him entirely to himself.

Quantity of Material

The other was the "amazing" quantity of material he found he had collected in 30 years in public life. That has had to be sorted out, analyzed and put in place for the job ahead.

Mr. King indicated two factors that will govern his book. One is that he will give part but not all his time to his memoirs. He has found too much enjoyment out of sitting in front of the fire, reading and corresponding or talking with his friends to go back to a full time devotion to the recording of the past.

The second factor is his avowed intention to deal with those issues and events in which he feels the public will have the most interest, to "focus on the things the country would think most important." He wants to put his own interpretation on them, to "tell why certain things were done and others were not done."

He has no final objective about the size or the number of volumes he will write.

Mr. King said he thought Canada had gone ahead in this century's first half as had no other country and this was "a good augury" for the second.

Reconciliation Hinted In Air

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 17 (AP)—Shirley Temple's ex-husband, John Agar, is back in town, and Shirley's got him—for the holidays anyway. But there could be more than mistletoe in the air.

"I'll be at home with Susan all Christmas Day," said the 21-year-old Shirley. "John is welcome to come over."

"We haven't discussed the time as yet, but I certainly will see the baby on Christmas," Agar said as he stepped from a plane here Friday, clutching two imported French dolls.

"I've bought the baby (full name: Linda Susan, 22 months) a number of little things, but I still have to pick out her main present," said the 28-year-old actor whom Shirley divorced Dec. 6, while he was on a personal appearance tour.

Reconciliation?

"Maybe if all this furore dies down, it isn't impossible. I sure hope we can get back together again," said Agar before he left Chicago. But when he arrived here he declared:

"I haven't called Shirley since the divorce, nor have I tried to contact her any other way. I won't either, except to make arrangements to see our daughter.

"Of course nobody can say what the future brings—so you can't tell what will eventually develop from this."

Beer Sales Justify Rent Increases—Abbott

MONTREAL, Dec. 17—(CP)—A delegation representing the St. Andrews Tenants League met Finance Minister Abbott here on Friday and in a subsequent statement said Mr. Abbott had been asked to resign his House of Commons seat because he had "lost the confidence of the majority of electors of his attitude on the rental increase."

Mr. Abbott is member for the Montreal constituency of St. Antoine-Westmount.

The league said a short statement was read to Mr. Abbott stating that the government's policy placed the interests of property owners before the welfare of Canadian families and the health of their children.

The league reported that Mr. Abbott, in reply, said that in view of large sales of beer, it appeared most tenants could well afford to pay the rent increases and that in comparison with the increase in the cost of living, rents should actually be at least 50 per cent above 1941 levels.

New Revolt Blitzes Chiang Opens Gates To Red Army

HONG KONG, Dec. 17 (AP) — A new revolt today was reported to have opened wide the gates for a Red army now sweeping into the mountain lands of Western China, proposed base for Nationalist guerrilla warfare.

Private reports said Szechwan province militia went over to the Reds in the borderlands north of Chengtu, last of a series of refugee capitals abandoned by the Nationalist government.

The militia had been stationed there to check the troops of Red Gen. Peng Teh-hwai. Now they had joined Peng in a drive on Chengtu.

This new defection left Gen. Hu Tsung-nan and his 40,000-man army to face alone the blows of two Red armies. Revolts at his back in Sikang province and in Yunnan to the south had him in a tight corner.

The Hong Kong Standard said Hu's forces already had been sliced into three segments, presumably by the army of the one-eyed Red Gen. Liu Po-cheng. Liu's troops are pounding toward Chengtu and southward toward Yunnan.

Hu's largest forces are centred around Chengtu. It was believed he would try to pull them westward into Sikang province. There they would fall upon the private army of turncoat Gen Liu Wen-hui, Sikang warlord.

A private dispatch from Chengtu indicated Hu might have to move fast to make it. The report said Gen. Peng's Red divisions were moving swiftly on Chengtu along the main road that winds out of Shensi province north of Szechwan.

Gales Batter Britain Shipping Delayed

LONDON, Dec. 17 (Reuters)—Gales over Britain early today delayed shipping and caused damage. There were heavy snowfalls in northern Scotland.

The 20,000-ton Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada was weatherbound in dock at Liverpool and unable to come around to the landing stage to embark passengers for Canada.

She will now sail direct from the dock—with only one day to spare if she is to get her passengers to Canada in time for Christmas.

Eskimos Safe As Ice Floe Drifts Back

Pair Said Starving But Not Hurt, Search Called Off

WINNIPEG, Dec. 17 (CP)—The RCAF reported today that two Eskimos who had been adrift on an ice floe in Hudson Bay now have reached safety. The Air Force received a report that the floe had drifted ashore after carrying the Eskimos for five days.

An air force officer said the report of the Eskimos' safety came from Port Harrison, about halfway up the eastern coast of Hudson Bay. The Eskimos had been hunting on a ice-field off Cape Smith, another 150 miles north of Port Harrison, when they were cast adrift.

The officer said the Port Harrison radio message advised the Eskimos were "suffering from hunger and from exhaustion due to exposure but otherwise were all right."

An air force search plane already had taken off from Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island to search for the drifting Eskimos when word of their safety was flashed. Air force authorities here said the search plane would be notified immediately. Depending on its location it might return to Frobisher, continue to the Northern Manitoba port of Churchill or veer off to Ottawa en route to its original home base of Greenland.

Holiday Tragedy Student Killed

BURKS FALLS, Ont., Dec. 17 (CP)—A Christmas holiday homecoming ended tragically Friday night when Daniel Beattie McDonald of Sudbury 24-year-old University of Toronto student, died in hospital here two hours after a car-truck collision.

The accident occurred on Highway 11 a short distance north of the town. McDonald, with five other students, was in a car headed for North Bay which met a southbound truck on a curve. The two vehicles sideswiped, hurling the car upside-down into a ditch.

McDonald was rushed to hospital here suffering numerous facial and scalp injuries. He died two hours later. Another student, Frank Armstrong of North Bay, was treated for severe hand lacerations.

Four other North Bay students, all from the University of Toronto, suffered minor hurts and shock.

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 17 (CP)—Thrown out onto the highway when he lost control of his car on the outskirts of nearby Trenton, Kenneth Smith, 26, Trenton taxi driver, suffered fatal injuries early today. He died three hours after the accident in Belleville General Hospital.

Smith suffered a fractured skull and other head injuries. He is thought to have been struck by the rolling car as he was thrown out.

There were two passengers in the taxi which went out of control as the wheels struck the shoulder of the road. The car was found overturned in the ditch 110 feet further east.

The passengers were Miss Geraldine Young, 17, of Trenton, who was admitted to hospital with undetermined injuries and Fred Davis, 23, also of Trenton. Davis was uninjured.

$50 Income Cut

TORONTO, Dec. 17—(CP)—R. W. Morrison, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture said in an interview Friday loss of the British market for Canadian bacon, cheese, eggs and other products will mean an income cut of roughly $50 for each family in Canada in 1950.

Britain Takes $20,000,000 Bacon Order

Shift Wheat Purchase Canada's Plan UK Refuses Any Eggs

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 — (CP) — Anglo-Canadian agreement has been reached whereby the United Kingdom will shift some $20,000,000 from Canadian wheat purchases to provide Britain with Canadian bacon next year, it was learned Friday.

Meanwhile, the price of eggs across the country began declining and a government food official said it was the direct result of announcement that the United Kingdom will not buy Canadian eggs next year.

He predicted that the price of eggs will drop from last week's wholesale level of 48 cents for Grade "A" large to 36 cents—approximately the same price being paid in the U.S. market.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said he could not comment on completion of the wheat-bacon negotiations. He disclosed, however, that the original plan had been a Canadian proposal.

"It is our plan," he said.

Under the plan, Canada will defer shipment of approximately 10,000,000 bushels of wheat under the 140,000,000-bushel 1949-50 contract.

It is understood the agreement specifies that Britain will take delivery of this deferred wheat early in the 1950-51 crop year, paying prices fixed under the 1949 contract, $2 a bushel for No. 1 Northern.

Anglo-Canadian negotiators still are in the midst of discussions on the price per pound the UK will pay for the bacon. The 1949 price was $36 a hundredweight, but British negotiators are asking that it be reduced to $30.

At $30 a hundredweight, the UK will be able to buy some 60,000,000 pounds of Canadian bacon next year, which is approximately the amount shipped in 1949.

A Canadian Federation of Agriculture spokesman said if the agreement is reached on the $30 a hundredweight basis, the CFA, which represents some 400,000 farmers, would ask the government for price support.

Report Unemployment Hits Highest Level Since War

OTTAWA, Dec. 17—(CP)—Unemployment in Canada this winter has reached the highest level since the war. So has employment. Federal Labor Department officials say the unemployment problem is "serious" but "not alarming." No accurate estimate is available of the number of people in the country who want jobs but can't find them. Around 208,000 jobseekers are registered with the National Employment Service. Some of them probably have jobs but are seeking N.E.S. help to change them. The most serious cases, Federal economists say, are seasonal workers in agriculture and logging whose traditional pattern of seasonal work has been disrupted by a loss of foreign markets.

There also is higher unemployment in the industrial areas of central Canada, largely due to foreign-trade difficulties.

The bureau of statistics estimates that late in August there were around 98,000 unemployed, 31,000 more than at the same time last year. That figure probably is higher now. Many people then working on farms have been unable to find winter jobs.

Worst In East

In October, there were nearly 77,100 claims for unemployment insurance, nearly two-thirds of them in Ontario and Quebec. That was nearly double the number in October, 1948.

But many people—in lumbering, fishing and farming—aren't covered by unemployment insurance. For that reason, some of them are the most serious cases.

Economists say, however, the number of people working — an estimated 5,155,000 on Aug. 20—is the highest in Canada's history for that time of year. Late August is a peak period of employment in Canada.

Most of those were working full-time—4,449,000 were working 35 hours a week or more.

The economists say, however, that there's liable to be a gradual increase in unemployment for some time yet unless foreign-currency problems change and permit Canadian exports to increase.

Grade A Eggs Drop 5 Cents In Toronto

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP) — Grade A large eggs dropped five cents a dozen in Toronto from 57 to 52 cents. Dealers said the retail price will drop to 47 cents a dozen immediately after Christmas.

Grocers said they are absorbing the loss created by the sudden drop in prices during the last week.

Loss of the British market for Canadian eggs is given as reason for the drop.

$625 Required By UEFB Fund For Christmas

By F. G. MANN

One year ago, and for most of the annual Christmas celebrations during the war, this community demonstrated this goodwill in a very decided manner, by giving of their means to help the people of the mother country, and specially the children overseas.

Last year the City and District branch of the United Emergency Fund for Britain set out to raise $1,000 for this purpose to assist those in the namesake City of Peterborough, England, and exceeded this by over $300.

Having set the same objective this year, which is quite a modest one in proportion to the field it serves to cover, there still remains a need of raising a little over $600 to reach that amount.

More Donations

The most recent donations to the Fund include the names of Miss Elizabeth Shearer at Birdsall, $25; Peterborough Women's Art Association, per Pearl Brooks, $20; Mrs. Elizabeth Falkner, $15; Miss Elsie Taylor, $15; St. John's Women's Friendly Bible Class, per Miss A. Jenkinson, $5; Rev. James and Mrs. Brown, $5; Dr. E. A. Hammond, $5; A Friend, G. F., $5; M.E.M., $5; In As Much, $5; Anonymous, $3; Mr. and Mrs. McGee and Dorothy, $2; and W. G. S., $1.

This makes a total of $114, in this one report, and brings the amount contributed close to the $400 mark, at this date.

A large proportion of these donors are women who contributed regularly during the days of the British War Victims Fund operations, one in particular having made a contribution on a monthly basis for 53 months in a row.

With only this coming week to reach the objective set, the local committee earnestly hopes that donations will be forthcoming to reach the desired result.

These may be left at any bank, the Examiner Office, or with any member of the committee or the chairman, Fred G. Mann, at 199 London St., City.

Churchill Sails Dec. 29 For Madeira Holiday

LONDON, Dec. 17 (AP)—Winston Churchill sales Dec. 29 for a two-week holiday on the Portuguese island of Madeira. The Conservative party headquarters said he will start homeward Jan. 16 unless "events in Britain" demand his presence earlier.

Churchill and his advisers seemed to have in mind the responsibility that Prime Minister Attlee might call a general election soon after the beginning of the year.

The general expectation is that Attlee will make no election announcement until around Feb. 1 at the earliest. He can and may delay it several months later.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Dec. 17 (CP) — A stronger tone was displayed in all coarse grains Friday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Oats attracted a fair shipper demand and barley came in for buying by American houses plus shipping interests. Rye was taken by United States houses. Flax was listless. In the export business, 500,000 buhels of wheat went to the United Kingdom. Prices of Class 2 wheat held steady to Thursday's level of $2.22.

MORE ABOUT—

Murder Count

Lying midway between the passenger's seat and the driver's seat a bone handled knife was found lying on the floor. He described it as "more of a bread or butcher knife" than one used for hunting.

Subsequent examination revealed it bore "reddish brown stains" and Miss Verda Vincent, chemical analyst of the Attorney General's Department, said she had tested the knife and found the stains were human blood.

A smaller jack-knife was taken from John Zadonik at the time of the capture but it bore no traces of blood.

Arthur Webster, chief constable of Lindsay, took charge of the weapon and showed it to Dr. W. L. Broadfoot who performed the post mortem. In the doctor's opinion such a knife could have made the wound, and he testified to this effect when he entered the witness box later in the day.

At no time in proceedings was the knife linked directly with any of the four men.

Blood On Hand

"I noticed some blood on the left hand of William Yuzwa," said the Chief. "He told me it was from a cut over his left ear received at the time of his arrest."

He made no additional comment.

Dr. Broadfoot who performed the post mortem on the instructions of Coroner Dr. W. R. Crowe, stated Lonuck's death was due to a haemorrhage caused by the severing of the large artery in his neck. The gaping wound was on the right-hand side of the neck just below the ear and was nearly one and a half inches in depth.

'Could a wound of that shape and size be made by a knife like that?" asked Crown Attorney producing what is presumably the murder weapon.

"It could," replied the doctor.

"What pressure would have to be applied to make such a wound?"

"It would have to be a forceful blow."

Not Strong Case

In a powerful plea on behalf of the three Zahodnik brothers, defence counsel J. J. Robinette, famed for his submissions in the Evelyn Dick murder case a few years ago, claimed the Crown had not made out a sufficiently strong case against any of the three.

Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordon tended to agree in the case of John and Paul, but not so regarding James.

"I feel that so far as John and Paul Zahodnik are concerned perhaps there is not sufficient evidence to warrant a charge of murder," he conceded. "But with James it is different."

The Crown Attorney said his chief reason for laying the murder charge against all was because one man came to his death and others were injured. He felt the whole matter should be "aired in a public court."

He stated witnesses had testified that after James Zahodnik and Yuzwa had approached Floyd Smith, a 27-year-old Hagersville truck driver, Loucks and Thornton Olver, 37, of Lindsay—in that order—all three men were wounded and dripping blood.

Identified By Witnesses

"There was a concerted action on behalf of James and Yuzwa to do something," said the Crown Attorney. "These two were identified by witnesses after assaults drawing blood."

Mr. Robinette instantly objected that the Crown's key witness at the hearing, Wesley Aldred of Lindsay, had testified Yuzwa attacked Olver by himself.

Referring to the fact none of the Crown witnesses had seen a knife or sharp instrument in the hands of any of the four accused, Mr. Jordan said the blood-stained knife found in the front compartment of the panel truck had a broken blade less than two inches long.

"On such a night as that a man might hold such a knife in his hand without anyone seeing it," he claimed.

Mr. Robinette said he thought the preliminary hearing "unique" in that Paul Zahodnik's name was not once mentioned in witnesses' testimony, and his brother John's name was only mentioned twice, and then incidentally.

"There is no evidence that John had the knife or participated in any illegality whatsoever."

No Testimony

Nor did any witnes testify that James had a knife, continued Mr. Robinette. He conceded that James had been in "a street brawl" but added that witness Lionel Tracey who was struck in the face by Zahodnik stated the blow was by a bare fist.

Aldred had related how Yuzwa, after his quarrel with Loucks at the truck, had run over to the door of the Big 20 Cafe as the three brothers emerged. He spoke excitedly to the Zahodniks.

"Whoa! Just a minute," James had said.

Restraining Attitude

Mr. Robinette contended this indicated a possible restraining attitude toward the excited Yuzwa.

Drawing a verbal picture of a wild street brawl, the defence counsel concluded by saying there was no evidence that James, acting as a reasonable person would know that someone would strike Loucks.

Magistrate Gee in giving judgment almost immediately dismissed the murder charge against John and Paul, but he deliberated for some minutes over the case of James.

He decided there had not been sufficient evidence to commit James for trial and then dismissed him along with his three brothers At the same time he warned that other charges might be pending

"In regard to Yuzwa I am afraid there is sufficient evidence to warrant committal," the magistrate said.

Earlier in the day Aldred said he saw Yuzwa scuffling with the fatally-injured man. James Zahodnik was "a couple of feet away to the left of Yuzwa."

Moved His Arms

He testified he saw the stocky Hamilton salesman close with Loucks, and saw a forward motion of his arms."

"Afterwards Loucks turned to the right and put his hand over his mouth," Aldred stated. "And I saw some blood on the sidewalk."

This was probably the key statement in the day's inquiry.

Identified by all witnesses as "the man in the green shirt," Yuzwa heard the dismissal of the murder charge against his three companions and his own committal with only the slightest sign of emotion.

After he had been officially warned by the magistrate he was asked if he wished to say anything. He consulted nervously for several minutes with his counsel, B. J. Spencer Pitt of Toronto and then decided to remain silent.

Shake Hands

As the brothers stepped from the prisoners' box, John and James were greeted by their wives. Other friends and relatives joined in the general handshaking.

For the first time in the long day's hearing smiles broke across the usually stolid faces of the trio. They chatted amiably with police officers involved in their arrest and inquired as to the likely amount of bail required in the assault charge.

"You'll be home for Christmas," assured a relative patting Paul on the back.

Also in the courtroom was Mrs. Jack Loucks, the widowed mother of three children. Shortly after the murder of her husband she told newsmen she bore the men no malice and hoped the four would escape the murder penalty.

Friday afternoon her wish was three-quarters granted.

Report Kostov Confesses Guilt Before Hanging

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Dec. 17 (AP) —The government press claimed today that former Deputy Premier Traicho Kostov in the last days before he was hanged confessed he was guilty of treason. The report said he had vainly appealed to the government for mercy.

Kostov and 10 others were convicted last Wednesday as plotters and spies, aiming to turn Bulgaria into a nasal state of Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia. Only Kostov was sentenced to death.

Meanwhile, top government leaders threatened further purges of alleged spies working for Britain and the United States in their final campaign speeches before tomorrow's parliamentary elections. Only the ruling Fatherland Front headed by the Communists is running in the election.

In the trial before the Bulgarian Supreme Court the 52-year-old bespectacled Kostov, onetime No. 2 Communist in Bulgaria, twice denied his guilt, repudiating the confession he was said to have made to interrogating police during his long confinement.

Plea For Mercy

But the newspaper Otechestven Front, organ of the Communist-controlled Fatherland Front, published today a facsimile of an alleged plea for mercy over Kostov's signature. The plea said "I admit my guilt" and reinstated the twice-repudiated confession.

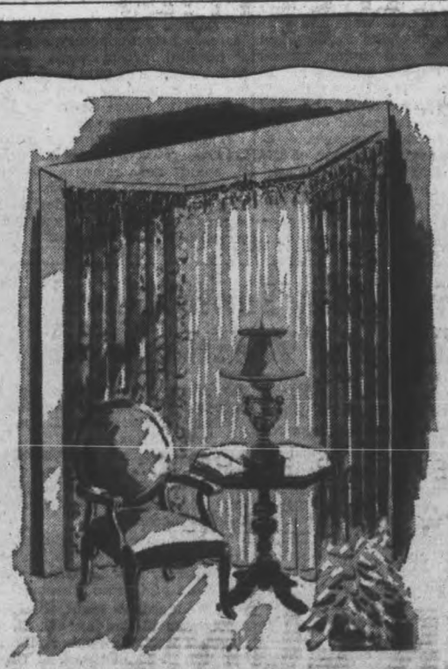
No formal communique was issued to foreign correspondents concerning Kostov's execution, but the official press and radio said he was hanged Friday.

Five of those on trial with Kostov were sentenced to life imprisonment and also received heavy fines and lost their civil rights permanently.

The remaining five defendants received sentences ranging from 10 to 20 years and lesser fines and loss of civil rights for varying periods of time.

Family Of Eight Out On Street

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP) — A family of eight was evicted from its one-room home in the east-end Friday by five men who smashed the barricaded front dor off its hinges and said they were representing the landlord.



Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker and their six children, ranging from six months to nine years, were ordered out of the room by the leader of the five men who said the family had not paid its rent.

The leader of the gorup, who said he was acting on the orders of Charles Ingwire, the landlord, told police he did not have a court order. He also admitted he had refused to accept the rent of $2 a week and was evicting the Bakers because they were "undesirables."

The Bakers came from Nova Scotia in August and were on their way to the west coast when their early model automobile broke down, leaving them stranded. Mr. Baker said the family was moving to the coast for the health of one of the children, suffering from asthma.

1949 Shoppers Counting Pennies Before Buying Christmas Gifts

By The Canadian Press.

The 1949 edition of the Christmas shopper is a practical buyer—but he's in no hurry to get the job done.

This year's shopper, a cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press shows, looks longer before he buys, and he counts his pennies twice before handing them across the counter.

While most dealers report business is good—at least on a par with 1948—the word in the main is that the season got away to a sluggish start. Shoppers indicated they have less money now than they had during the war years.

The buying trend has swung from luxury articles to practical items such as wearing apparel and household furnishings. The buyer looks for both quality and durability at low cost.

From well stocked counters and shelves or stores across the country, the 1949 shopper has a wide assortment of wares to choose from, increased by imports from Britain, France, Czechslovakia and Japan. Among the few shortages reported were electrical goods—pop-up toasters and so on.

Like British Goods

British goods, down in price following devaluation of the pound, have been selling well. In some centres French perfumes also have sold well.

Lure Shoppers

In Montreal, storekeepers reported an increase in Christmas buying "on time," the shopper showing a tendency to purchase the more expensive types of gifts through charge accounts.

Various themes were followed in advertising to warm shoppers into a buying mood and get them out early. In Halifax, one store held a "stag night," on which only men were allowed inside its doors to buy.

In Toronto, one department store set up an exclusive department for men where they can do their Christmas shopping "with comfort and assurance."

TROOPS ARRIVED AT THE BRIMSDOWN POWER STATION just outside London, to take over the work of striking electricity workers, out of an unofficial strike. Pictured here are naval ratings stoking up the furnaces at Brimsdown. The four-day-old wildcat strike threatened to spread because the Labor government refused to promise not to take reprisals against strikers who go back to work.

Truckers Find Letter To Santa Send Walker To Crippled Boy

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 17 (AP)—An expensive "walker" for a crippled child soon will be en route to Bonny River, NB, because a little girl's letter to Santa reached some New Orleans truckmen instead.

Eleven-year-old Betty Lee of Bonny River, wanted the North Pole gentleman to send the "walker" to her crippled baby brother.

Thinking Christmas trees surely went to Santa, she tied her letter to a tree cut for shipment from her native region.

And as only grownups should understand, the tree wound up in New Orleans where the pleading message it bore was found by truckmen.

Attached to the letter was a picture of a plump little tyke with twisted legs — which, of course, had the same effect on the rought-and ready truckmen as it would have on Santa.

So, led by Andrew J. Seither, who found the letter, the workers quickly chipped in the $90 necessary for the "walker."

But the truckmen are not stopping there. They are pushing a fund drive to send a whopping pile of gifts to the Lee family just to prove the North Pole is not any more generous than the South.

Local Cheesemakers Expect 30c Price, Subsidy

Fred Crowe of Dummer was re-elected president of Peterborough Cheese Producers Association at their annual meeting in the city on Friday.

Acclamation was also given to Reeve Stuart Clysdale, vice-president, who was recently elected reeve of Dummer, succeeding Warden Wm. Darling.

The association presented George Elliott of Norwood with a pen and pencil set and leather wallet in appreciation of his 13 years as president and also director of the provincial association. The presentation was made by Mr. Clysdale.

Mr. Elliott retired from the presidency a year ago, and at that time, Mr. Crowe said, the association was not aware of his intention and did not have time to arrange for a suitable acknowledgment of the long service of Mr. Elliott.

"It was always a pleasure to do what I could for our Peterborough factories," Mr. Elliott said in reply. "I enjoyed the work, and still take as much interest in the cheese business as ever."

Expect 30c Price

Hector Arnold of Campbellford, a member of the executive of the Ontario Cheese Producers, reported their expectation of a price of 30 cents a pound in 1950 even if the government has to provide a subsidy.

"We met the Hon. James Gardiner a week ago," Mr. Arnold said. "We asked him to sell our cheese and give us 30c a pound. We are not in a position to know whether the British can pay that price, but the government has a price stabilization fund of $200,000,000 that was accumulated during the war years. We suggested to Mr. Gardiner that the government should arrange to make up the difference between 30 cents and whatever price the British can pay."

Mr. Arnold said that 10 or 11% of Canada's milk supply went into cheese, and half the output was consumed in this country.

"The other half sets the price for all our cheese, and has a large bearing on the prices of condensed, whole and bottled milk. For that reason it looks like good business for the government to subsidize our cheese, and give us some support for our entire dairy industry. That was our view, and time will tell how right we were. When we left the Minister we felt that we had convinced that it would be good business to provide for us the price level we asked."

Congratulations Given

The congratulations of the association were expressed to Howard Andrews maker at Pine Grove factory on his dual success at the British Empire cheese show at Belleville. Mr. Crowe mentioned the death some weeks ago of Howard Bullock, president of Pine Grove, and Frank C. Paterson, secretary, was requested to write to his wife and family a letter conveying the condolence of the Peterborough producers.

Grants of $10 to Norwood Fair and $15 to the Belleville cheese show were authorized for 1949, and similar contributions for 1950.

Mr. Arnold complimented Mr. Andrews on the honors he had won and the distinction he had brought to his factory and its patrons. "We also appreciate your new president. He has been a big help to us, following your worthy president George Elliott."

Should Subsidize Cheese

Mr. Arnold said it should be evident to farmers as a while that to retain their trade relations with Britain this country must be buyers as well as sellers.

"We can't be expected to accept the standard of living in Europe and Britain where we sell our food products. As long as we have food surplus we should expect our government to bonus cheese and support the whole dairy industry. We believe the British would like to buy from us, but as Sir Andrew Jones said the other day they haven't enough dollars to pay us. If we would buy more British goods, they would have more dollars to spend on our food products. That is the big issue before us today."

W. P. Moore, Campbellford, district dairy instructor, reviewed the season's work, and touched upon the satisfactory quality of the output, with the exception of a puzzling slump during part of July.

TTC Workers Reject Contract

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP)—The Street Railway Workers Union (AFL) announced Friday night that employees of the Toronto Transportation Commission have rejected the commission's wage and contract offer in a union-conducted referendum.

The union said the vote was 4,095 to 172 aginst the TTC offer—a 13-cents-an-hour wage boost to include the present 12-cents-an-hour cost-of-living bonus. The union is seeking an increase of 23 cents an hour including the cost-of-living bonus. The general base rate figures for $1.20 an hour offered by the commission and $1.30 sought by the men.

U.S. Consul Permits Czech Enter Country

HAMILTON, Dec. 17—(CP) — The United States consul here said Friday that the admissability of Dennis Chrastansky, Czech immigrant, to enter the United States to visit his fiancee for Christmas has been established.

Chrastancky's brother John said Thursday he had been informed by the consulate here that permission granted earlier for Dennis to see Kitty Kleiner had been withdrawn.

Dennis and Miss Kleiner taking post-graduate medical studies in North Carolina, met several times last summer on the Niagara River boat Maid of the Mist which plies between the two countries.

Courtesy

Courtesy like sincerity cannot be bought or sold. It can be found in the market place but it has no price tag on it. It plays an irreplaceable, indispensable role in human relationship. Politeness may be merely a pleasing attitude. True courtesy, however, shows a practical consideration for the feelings of others by respecting their wishes.

Cripps Praises Ballet As Big Dollar Earner

LONDON, Dec. 17 (Reuters)—Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Friday told the Sadlers Wells Ballet Company, just back from its triumphant North American tour, he was pleased "as a ballet lover" that it had proved "a first-class dollar earner."

The dancers brought $74,500 back to Britain Sir John Anderson, former Chancellor of the Exchequer and chairman of the Covent Garden Trust, announced at a welcome-home party for the dancers at the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden.

David L. Webster, the Sadlers Wells Trust general administrator, said the company might go back to Canada and the United States next year, in response to many requests.

Britain Not Living Beyond Her Income

Mr. Louis Rasminsky, C.B.E., Alternate Chairman of the Foreign Exchange Control Board and a world authority on international finance has a flair for explaining complicated financial matters simply and clearly. He demonstrated this in a speech on some aspects of the dollar problem delivered to the Canadian Club of Toronto last Monday. In the course of his address he brought out a fact which many Canadians are not sufficiently aware of: Britain has come within striking distance of living within her international earnings, yet is still severely racked by the so-called "dollar problem".

* * *

Since the war, all the world except the United States has been, in a sense, living beyond its income. In 1946 Britain had a deficit amounting to $1,500 million and in 1947 it was $2,500 million. But Britain has been taking remarkable strides towards recovery of its productive powers and exports trade. U.K. production is now 35 per cent. above its pre-war level, the volume of its exports is 50 per cent. higher, the physical volume of imports has been cut to 15-20 per cent. less than it was before the war. In fact, so large has this recovery been that in the second half of last year the United Kingdom actually achieved a small overall surplus in her current account balance of payments. In other words, the United Kingdom is living within her international earnings. Yet this year the U.K. had another dollar crisis which was followed by the conference in London of Ministers of Finance of all Commonwealth countries, by the tripartite conference in Washington, and the convulsive devaluation of currencies around the world.

* * *

Mr. Rasminsky gave these explanations why Britain, so near to living within her earnings, is nevertheless in rocky dollar straits: (1) The United Kingdom came out of the war with enormous new foreign liabilities in the form of sterling balances owned by foreign countries—chiefly India and Egypt. These undeveloped countries had an enormous appetite for British goods. They had no dollars; they had sterling credits. "It was therefore not unnatural that in addition to getting what dollars they could from the United Kingdom (and the amounts have been substantial) these countries should have wished to use their sterling accumulations to buy goods in the United Kingdom or elsewhere in the sterling area". From the U.K. points of view these exports extinguish a liability but do not create an asset. They do not earn dollars. Mr. Rasminsky said that these "unrequited exports" have been an enormous drain on the British economy.
(2) A great deal of British private capital has gone out from the U.K. to other sterling areas (such as South Africa) which has enabled these countries to make purchases in the United Kingdom.
(3) Britain has contributed large amounts of sterling to certain of her partners in the European Recovery program, notably France.

* * *

"These unrequited exports from the United Kingdom have added up to a very large sum and they represent an impressive contribution which the United Kingdom has made to the economic recovery and political stability of the rest of the world." They also explain why the U.K. has almost balanced its international accounts and at the same time has a large dollar deficit.

"For the past eighteen months or more, the United Kingdom has been in the position of a man who is earning about enough to cover his own cost of living but not nearly enough to repay his debts at the rate which he is in fact repaying them. The gap is covered by accepting gifts or going into debt himself. The British have in a sense been borrowing (or rather taking gifts) from Peter to pay Paul".

* * *

It should also be realized that Britain is the banker for the sterling area, which has an immense dollar deficit, and the burden of this deficit falls on her. Another consideration is that countries having a large amount of sterling available, and undergoing sharp inflation, have bid up the prices of British export goods to levels at which they could not be sold in the dollar markets.

* * *

And so came devaluation which is not a cure-all. It does not solve the dollar problem. It does only two things, Mr. Rasminsky said: "It stops the speculative drain on British reserves, and it restores for the time being the competitive position of the sterling in dollar markets."

* * *

Mr. Rasminsky concluded his observations on the British financial situation with the not very encouraging comment that: "If the pressures on British production of home demand and demand from non-dollar countries remain as persistent as they have been in the past, then the devaluation of sterling will turn out to be a rapidly wasting asset, so far as any lasting contribution to the solution of the dollar problem is concerned".

Should M.P.'s Be Examined?

We read of a British business man who suggests that all candidates for Parliament should undergo a test, answering the following questions:

1. What is your experience that qualifies you to run one of the biggest businesses in the world?
2. What have you managed?
3. With what success?
4. Could you earn the amount of your parliamentary indemnity in any other way?

This is not a particularly good test, in our view. It does not go far enough and it dwells too heavily on a single aspect of a man's ability—his ability to manage things. Members of Parliament are not called upon to manage anything; it is their ability to weigh and create policies, and not their ability to administrate them, which counts. The Civil Service will do all the administering when once the policy has been decided upon.

Nevertheless, the questions have some merit. There are too few men in Parliament, here as in Britain, who understand the problems of business. Business is a mueh maligned pursuit, and the business man is a figure of fun to too many people in this age of semi-socialism. A man cannot be a success in business without certain good qualities, of which honesty and a decent regard for economy may be mentioned, and these are virtues which never come amiss in government. A few more business men, to offset the crowd of lawyers who go into politics, would be no bad thing. Lawyers, too, have their place in government, but when there are too many of them their passion for complication and intrigue bedevils parliamentary proceedings. It must be said in criticism of business men, however, that they are too ready, as a group, to complain of what the government does to them without entering public life to correct the situation.

The notion that some sort of examination should be imposed upon parliamentarians is by no means a bad one, and it is certainly not an impossibility. We choose our M.Ps just as they were chosen three hundred years ago, when the nation's affairs were far simpler than they are now; we choose them by a method which has strong resemblances to a popularity contest. It is desirable that the man who goes to Ottawa should be the man that most people want to represent them, but that is no reason why, having been chosen by his electorate, the aspiring parliamentarian should not be required to give some written proof of his intelligence, the breadth of his knowledge and the extent of his experience. Too often proofs of these qualities are not forthcoming on the floor of the House.

Low Changes Papers

David Low is, without doubt, the greatest political cartoonist living today, and one of the great political critics of our time. His drawings are familiar to our readers, for they appear frequently on this page because of an arrangement which we have with the London Evening Standard. Whether we shall be able to continue to publish Low's cartoons is a matter of conjecture, for he has now joined the staff of the London Daily Herald. If arrangements can be made with the Herald Low's pointed comments will continue to be a feature of the Examiner.

We shall be interested to see what effect, if any, the transfer to the Herald makes on Low. It is a Labour paper, and the Trade Union Congress owns a lot of stock in it. Low has been friendly toward Labour in his cartoons, but from time to time he has caricatured Labour leaders and Labour policies, and he has represented the Trade Union Congress as a large, strong but stupid cart horse. How the Herald will treat such criticism remains to be seen.

On the Standard Low enjoyed complete liberty, and he was often in strong disagreement with the policy of the paper. Whether that kind of liberty will pertain in the Herald offices remains to be seen.

How again,
OSCEOLA THUNDERBELLY,
(Chief of the Crokinoles).

To Dr. Raymond Cataplasm, F.R.C.P.
Dear Dr. Cataplasm:

May I ask you, as a psychologist, to explain something which I observed recently at a wedding where I was a guest. At the wedding breakfast the centre of attraction was a huge cake upon the topmost tier of which stood little effigies of a bride and groom, made (I suppose) of sugar. After the cake had been cut and slabs of it had been distributed among the guests, it came the turn of the happy pair to partake. The groom offered the bride a piece of cake on a plate, but she shook her head, smiling a secret smile. And then this girl, who for weeks before had been as meek as Moses, plucked the sugar groom from the top of the cake, crunched it up in her strong white teeth, and swallowed it at a gulp.

Please, Dr. Cataplasm, what does this mean?

Your inquisitive patient,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Dear Mr. Marchbanks:

As this is the season of goodwill, I know that you will accept the invitation of the Militant Female Society, of which I am Program Convenor, to address us at our regular meeting next week. As your subject we have chosen: "Why Not a Female Santa Claus?"

We do not expect you to do this for nothing, of course. We have a committee which assesses the claims of our various speakers to remuneration, and we have decided to offer you two dollars, plus expenses. The latter will mean bus fare to and from the meeting, making a grand total of $2.10.

Oddly enough, we are completing our Christmas Collection at present, and observe that you have not yet made any contribution toward it. We are, therefore, putting you down for $2.10, which by an odd coincidence is the exact amount of your fee. It would be foolish to exchange cheques, so let's call it quits.

Yours in the Christmas Spirit,
(MRS.) KEDIJAH SCISSORBILL.

To The Rev. Simon Goaste, B.D.
Dear Rector:

I was in a magnificent shop recently, looking around before doing my Christmas shopping elsewhere, and I saw two handsome silver goblets—the finest things of their kind I have seen in a long while. They were engraved with the coat-of-arms of a former owner, and the motto on this decoration was "Honesty Is Best Policy".

Is this really true? I am often tortured, dear Rector, by a suspicion that the people who think that honesty is best policy are people who are not smart enough to get away with dishonesty. I know that this is an unworthy thought, probably prompted by the Evil One, but it will keep popping up. As a man deeply learned in theology and ethics, and the advisor of a lot of wealthy parishioners, what do you really think?

Your troubled,
S. MARCHBANKS.

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.
Dear Pil:

There is no doubt about it, Winter has come far too early. Here it is, not Christmas yet, and already I have that February feeling. What will I feel in February? Suicide will be insufficient to my needs; I shall have to devise some elaborate course of self-mutilation to express my misery.

I went to the movies last night, and before we were allowed to see the film which had brought us to the theatre, there was a newsreel with a lot of pictures of rich people having what they thought was fun in Florida, and a "short" about the delights of California. I was not impressed. The solution of the winter problem is not to go to a warmer climate.

Something seems to go wrong with people who live in the sun all the year long. They are brown, and healthy and they smile a good deal, but they seem to me to lack interest. It is the same with fruit. California fruit is big and impressive and has a fine colour, but it has no particular taste. Grim though our northern winters certainly are, they give us the flavour which comes of ups and downs, disappointments and poignant joys. Not only a moralist, but a cannibal would agree with this opinion.

Nobody has asked me to go South. Nobody has offered to pay my expenses. But if that were to happen I hope I would have the courage to refuse. We Northerners go pulpy and tasteless if we have too much warm weather.

Yours with wintry resignation,
SAM.

To Mrs. Morrigan
My very dear Mrs. Morrigan:

Because, for many years, there has been confusion in the popular mind regarding the terms which are used to describe periods of sleep which are enjoyed with the clothes on, I have prepared the following definitions, which I am sending to the editors of the Great Oxford Dictionary. I thought that you might like to see them, my dear friend:

1. nod: a "nod" is any brief period of informal sleep, enjoyed without benefit of bed. e.g. "I had a nod in my chair".
2. doze: a "doze" is a nod which one takes when one should not — as for instance when somebody important is talking. e.g. "I was just dozing—I heard every word you said".
3. snooze: a "snooze" is an extended nod, accompanied by sound effects, gagging on accumulations of spittle, murmuring, moaning, neighing, bad dreams, and being cross when one wakes up. e.g. "Sh! Grandpapa is having his snooze".
4. swoon: a "swoon" is an illicit snooze, enjoyed in one's office, in church or at the movies. Skilled swoonsters can do it with their eyes open (though obviously sightless) e.g. "He did not mean to snarl at the preacher; he was swooning".
5. doss: any sleep enjoyed in a reasonably upright posture, lasting for more than an hour. e.g. "He had a nice doss from lunch till tea".
6. 40 winks: the deepest kind of upright sleep, with noises, loosening the shoes, cushions, and a handkerchief over the face. e.g. "Now I don't want to hear a sound out of you children all afternoon: Daddy is going to have 40 winks".

Yours in all admiration,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

TWO OF THE STATIONS OF THE CROSS are seen in this study of a corner in St. Peter's Cathedral, for in this faith of sacraments and devotions these centres of private prayer are of greater significance than the pulpit. The Church of Rome—"of religions the most poetical", as Macaulay characterized it—embraces approximately a quarter of the people of Peterborough.

Citizens Of A Mean Country

QUEBEC CHRONICLE-TELEGRAPH

In one of the earliest recorded expressions of patriotic spirit, St. Paul once proudly declared, "I am a citizen of no mean city," making reference thereby to his Roman citizenship. Today, by contrast, Canadians must hang their heads to admit if they are truthful—that they are citizens of a country that is mean indeed: a country not bold enough to shake off its allegiance to an hereditary Crown yet too mean to admit it; a country churlishly eager to discard the established national flag and national anthem yet not big enough of soul to be able to agree on others to take their place.

In its own peculiar democratic style, the federal Government—without any consultation of or authority from Parliament—suddenly announces that for several months past it has ceased to recognize the style, "Dominion of Canada", and is employing "Canada" simply, instead.

Now we know that there is a noisy demand from a certain school of thought for the renunciation of Canada's Dominion status but there has never been any such demand from the majority of the people nor was the Government given any such mandate in the last general elections. Moreover, before such change was made, it ought to have been submitted to and approved by Parliament. But, of course, the Government found it prudent to confront the country with a fait accompli —several months after the change had been made in secret.

But where does this act of irresponsible absolutism leave us? Exactly nowhere. Every country—except Canada—uses some style to denote its political status. Thus Britain, Holland or Norway are Kingdoms, while Soviet Russia and the United States are Republics. Eire and India have ceased to be Dominions and have proclaimed themselves Republics, while still retaining membership in the British Comonwealth.

By the mere fiat of the Government of the day, Canada to be different, has ceased to be a Dominion but has neither renounced her allegiance to the Crown nor proclaimed herself a republic. In other words the old firm name has been scraped off our national portal without painting in any other in its place — situation that is no less impossible than ridiculous. And every one of the group of men who have committed this weasel act swore a solemn oath of allegiance to the Crown on taking office. Truly we are citizens of a mean country!

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The word of the Lord came unto me again, saying, What mean ye, that ye use this proverb concerning the land of Israel, saying, The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge?

As I live, saith the Lord God, ye shall not have occasion any more to use this proverb in Israel. (Ezek. 18: 1-3.)

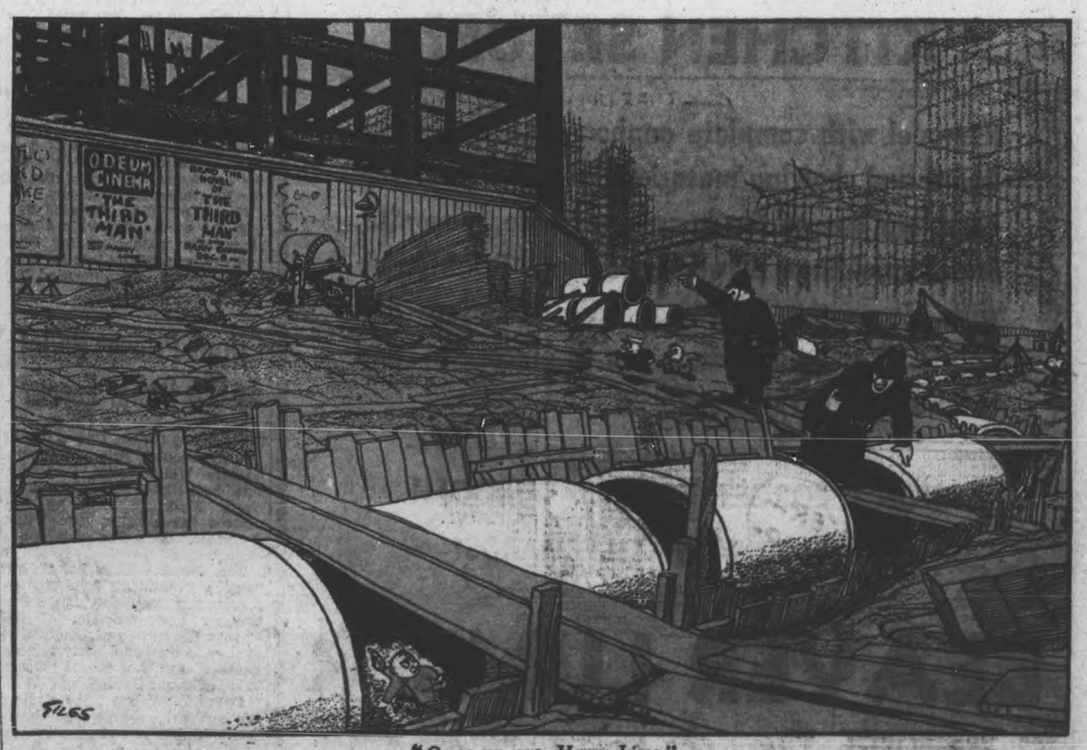
And as Jesus passed by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth. And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sin, this man, or his parents, that he was born blind?

Jesus answered, Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents: but that the works of God should be made manifest in him. I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work. As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world.

When he had this spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and he anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay, and said unto him, Go, wash in the pool of Siloam, (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore, and washed, and came seeing. (John 9: 1-7.)

Roosevelt's Papers



The great bulk of the papers of President Franklin D. Roosevelt will be opened for research purposes next March 17, although a small number will be kept under seal for another 25 years, it is announced by Dr. Wayne C. Grover, Archivist of the United States. The papers are kept in the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park, N.Y.

Dr. Grover estimated that about 85 per cent. of the total volume of papers left by President Roosevelt could be opened to the public on March 17 under conditions set by Miss Grace Tully, the President's secretary, and Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, adviser to the President.

"I believe that this action", Dr. Grover said, "which will open so large a percentage of a President's personal papers less than five years after his death, is unprecedented in our history. It will be warmly approved by the many scholars and others who are interested in research in recent history".

There are four or five million documents in the collection.—New York Times.

A BRITISH OPINION

"Come on out, Harry Lime."

London Express Service

The Sitz-mark Season, skiing, opened with the first snowfall a few weeks ago on fast and gentle slopes throughout Peterborough and neighbouring counties. It looked, at the outset, as if this season would set all records for an early and continuous mayhem on hickory. But last week-end's rain spoiled it all. With current cold weather tightening up around us again perhaps there will be a new fall of snow to entice skiers to the slopes on Sunday. For their sakes, we hope so. Theirs is the language of maple vs. ash vs. hickory of boots, bindings, poles and waxes, of slacks and goggles and long red flannels; (they come in all other shades this year, so the lady says). They talk in terms of gelandersprung, slalom, schuss. Several years ago we wrapped it all in a simple bundle, called "skiing", and had a heck of a time down down on Hypocrite Hill in Otonabee. Remember those days, Rog Amys, Bob Beal, Bun Henry, Bob McClellan, and other old timers? We had fun, too.

• • • •

We may well go along with modern times. As an industry in Peterborough, it has reached giant proportions. I visited the Canoe Company's ski plant the other day; it may well be the largest in the British Empire; the management will not commit themselves. Production has been in full swing since mid-October with 14 men blending their various skills to produce the finest products in Canada. Dozens of operations on the production line, from cutting the raw wooden billets to spray painting the finished product, employ the latest methods. American hickory and Canadian maple are made up in three types of skiis, flat, ridge and dome-topped. Ash is used for children's models. This year's production is down because of last winter's lack of snow. Dealers warehouses are packed with carry-over stocks but a survey of sales shows they are moving quickly now. There are none better than skiis "Made in Peterborough." They are used from coast to coast and in New Zealand. During the war they were even shipped to Iceland. A world-wide reputation for skiis and boats is one that Peterborough may well be proud of.

'Twas Good For Coon Hunters

'Coon hunting has been highly successful for Bill Jewell of 650 Stewart St., during the short season from Nov. 1st, to the end of December. Hunting with his one airdale dog Mike, he has taken 55 animals in Smith and Otonabee townships. He was accompanied by his son Norman or other enthusiasts from the De Laval, on different occasions. Cold weather has made the animals hole up, Bill said, and he is through with the sport this year. His method of hunting was to have Mike tree the 'coons which were disposed of with a stick. To keep the pelts in the best shape, he does not believe in shooting the animals.

A new schedule of fur royalties issued by the Department of Lands and Forests is as follows: beaver pelts, $2; fisher and lynx, $1.50; silver, black, cross, blue, white or not specified foxes, 50 cents; and red fox, 10 cents. Martin and otter will bring $1, mink, 50 cents and muskrat and raccoon, each 10 cents. Skunk skins will be taxed a nickle. The only uncommon wild animal in the province, the wolverine, is worth 40 cents in royalty to the Department.

Long List of Lost Hounds

An aftermath of the deer hunting season is the number of dogs lost, strayed and even stolen. A check in the Lost and Found section of the Examiner over the past three weeks, shows a long list of hounds that have strayed to various homes in outlying villages in the county. "Found north-east of Bobcaygeon, near Magee's Lake, Warsaw, Apsley, Fishtail and Eel's Lakes," the terse ads tell hunters who have lost their animals where they might be. Conservation officers say the number of lost dogs is unusually large this year—that if left in the bush they are a decided menace to game and they also feel that most of them will be recovered. Game Wardens think, too, that hunters carrying dogs in their cars and letting them out to run, and their driving to another spot, is one of the main reasons the animals are left in the woods, without their masters' scents to lead them back. This trouble may be overcome if, as and when, resolutions are passed to prohibit the use of deer dogs in Ontario, one of the few remaining places it is allowed on the continent.

Wives, mothers and sweethearts of outdoor sports, you will bless us for this suggestion. Give your man of the wilds more than his usual shopping allowance and let him pick his own Christmas present, from you. Though you mean well, you will be rewarded with wide grins for having purchased the right gift, this time. Even Little Junior will approve. Instead of Pop crowding him out of the way at the toy train exhibit, by being next in line to fiddle with the switching gear, he will be pawing the merchandise that he loves. Mother happy. Father happy and Junior happy, can we do more? mittee of one to foster an affair of this kind for the festive season in '50.

FIFTH HUNTER STREET BRIDGE in late December afternoon light. This structure was built in 1919-20 at a cost of more than half a million dollars. The debentures for it will be paid up and retired in a few months, and for the first time since it was built, the bridge will be debt-free. The story of two predecessors, as outlined in verse, is sketched in the article by Mrs. Helen Marryat.

Old Hunter St. Bridges And The New Called Forth 19th Century Versifier's Pen

By MRS. HELEN MARRYAT

No outsider can place exactly the bridge described by the Examiner poet, Alexander Graham, in one of the 235 miscellaneous pieces written between 1840 and 1873, but is seems to have been the one on page 86 of F. H. Dobbin's "Our Home Town." But first the poem, written in 1872.

"Foul fa' the loon, wha' burnt doun
The auld substantial brigg,
'T would serve him weel, the ugly chiel,
To chain him by the leg."
Or serve him right to gae' ma fright,
A dook into the stream,
There him sweal till he cry he'll Ne'er do the like again."
The guilty one, who the burning done,
Ought to be punished sore;
We hope that he will found out be,
Put where he'll burn no more.
The new brigg has got an iron coat,
They cannot burn it down,
But much ado its cost, I trow,
And expense to the town."
We hope it long will stand out strong,
That there may be no blame
On Davis and Whyte, who made it right,
But rather raise their fame."

Let us being at the end, for a change, to analyze this historical document, for such it is.

A Business Guide, published by Dun, Wiman, and Co. in January, 1872, yields the information that Whyte and Davis were dealers in Agricultural Implements as well as conducting a General Store. Not much evidence of bridges built by them in past years, but that is a quibble, in view of the further information that in the same lists was Alexander Graham, printer, who must have known them well. And, going back to the beginning again, in the very same list is the name of Frank H. Dobbin, printer.

According to Mr. Dobbin, the "auld Brig" was the one destroyed in 1847-48, and the "New Brig" was the "cast iron bridge".

> If a man indulges himself in murder, very soon he comes to think little of robbing; and from robbing he next comes to drinking and Sabbath-breaking, and from that to incivility and procrastination.
> Thomas De Quincey, 1785-1859

When Mr. Graham wrote, apparently, he made use of his poetic license to go back and hope for swift apprehension and punishment of the miscreant who burned the bridge; and then to leap forward with a hope that the structure of Messrs. Whyte and Davis would have better luck. Actually, it was to be denied him. Mr. Dobbin records that "the ill-fated cast iron bridge had a comparatively short life, and fell as the result of the severe frosts of a Canadian winter." Perhaps it was wiser to blame it on Jack Frost who was not a tax payer, rather than hint that Agricultural Implement dealers and general storekeepers Whyte and Davis might have been unused to bridge building. Friend Graham turned a blind eye on that catastrophe, didn't he?

Mr. Dobbin's 1847-8 bridge had an interesting history for it was built by public subscription plus Provincial aid to replace a ferry, which had operated when an earlier bridge, built by Horace Perry, had collapsed. The ferry was a large flat-bottomed boat made to carry a team of horses and a loaded waggon; run by a Wiltshire weaver, Joseph Ford, father of Norwood's beloved physician, Dr. Samuel P. Ford, the ferry was moved back and forth by ropes attached to trees;—one on the west bank near the Quaker Oats Co. steam power plant and on the east bank, about the shore end of Wand's shop.

Apparently, then the latest Hunter street bridge is the newest of a series, and Peterborough can boast of having had its predecessor praised in verse, and hope that it may last till its forebears, the Auld and New Briggs, are forgotten and that it may live to rival in antiquity, the present "Auld Brig of Ayr," where Friend Graham probably got his notion in the first place.

Now, if someone can remember who really burned his bridges in the fire of a century ago, then the circle will be complete. So far, Mr. Dobbin and Mr. Graham have supplied all the information in this story of the "Auld and New Otonabee Briggs."

For the farmers of Otonabee who used the bridges to fetch and carry from town to country, Poet Graham has a word of advice. . .

"Ye farmers of Otonabee,
Who now do occupy
The farms which the old folks cleared
In days that are gone by.
Times had changed since the early settlers chopped through winter's frost and logged under summer's sun. . .
"Fashion's fineries they did not need
To occupy their thoughts
Women were dress't in flannel gowns
The men in full'd cloth coats."
In fine cloth now ye all can dress
And get what food you need.
And have, too, now, at resting time,
The local news to read."
Which every farmer ought to have
The leading local paper,
See where to go for what he wants,
From grocer and from draper."
Ye who have not subscribed for one,
Go do it right away.
'Twill profit you more through the year
Than double what you pay."
All you who true reforms seek,
And plead for truth and right
If the Examiner you don't take
You stand in your own light."

Thousands of Millions Locusts Threaten To Lay Waste 2,000 Middle East Miles

Ed. Note: The grasshopper plague which threatens the Canadian west next summer makes this special article on even more devastating locusts timely.

By O. M. GREEN

Just 60 years ago a swarm of locusts crossing the Red Sea was estimated to be 2,000 square miles in extent.

That, of course, is exceptional. But once a plague of locusts is well started, it is almost impossible to stop. Hence the anxiety of the Anti-Locust Research Centre in London headquarters when news was received last week of 12 locust swarms crossing Pakistan on the way to southern Persia or more probably to Oman (which juts out from southern Arabia into the Persian Gulf), their favorite breeding ground.

None of these 12 swarms was very big, I am told by Dr. B. P. Uvarov, of the Natural History Museum in London, the world's greatest authority on locusts. Each one might measure half-an-acre in size or even less. But a locust begins to breed at the age of six weeks, and the nymph (or female) lays 100 eggs at a time, of which about 90 come to maturity. To recall another record, in Cyprus in 1881 no less than 1,300 tons of eggs were dug up and destroyed. The damage to crops in India alone between 1925 and 1934 (the last 10-year period of which accurate records are available) was estimated at nearly £2,000,000. (More than £4,000,000 at present prices.)

Those small swarms reported crossing Pakistan may develop into thousands of millions of locusts spreading from Oman down the east coat of Africa and returning to India for the winter and spring crops. And there are grave fears that a new plague of locusts, which could have been checked at the source in the summer for a comparatively small sum, now threatens.

Locusts breed, of course, in many parts of the world from American to New Zealand. But there is no worse starting-point for them than the desert spaces of Rajputana and across the border in the Pakistan states of Bahawalpur and Khaipur. It is from these areas that the 12 swarms crossing Pakistan are believed to have come.

The locusts begin breeding as soon as the monsoon stops. The monsoon is always intermittent in the districts just mentioned and has been irregular elsewhere too. So that conditions were more than usually favorable for the locusts' breeding.

In July and August this fact was pressed upon the Indian Government's notice in New Delhi. But, for economy reasons, preventive measures, though their cost then would have been small, were neglected. But if the locusts are to be fought when they should be, at the beginning of their career, before they start to fly, the active co-operation of both India and Pakistan is essential—yet another of the many instances in which the wretched quarrel in Kashmir still blocks the way to fruitful co-operation between the two Dominions.

In Oman, now regarded as the crucial area, a vigorous campaign has been begun by the British Desert Locust Survey. Great Britain has a special interest in Oman, both because of her close friendship, 150 years old, with the Sultans of Muscat and Oman, and because of the need to protect Kenya and other East African territories from locust invasion.

There are many ways of fighting locusts. Aeroplanes are used only against big swarms actually on the move. For these, too, screens are erected, against which the hoppers (the young locusts) bang, to fall into trenches filled with water and kerosene. But the regular day-by-day methods of the Desert Survey are dusting, spraying and baiting with poisoned grain, performed by mechanized vehicles, camels and men with tanks on their backs.

But the funds and equipment available are pitiably small considering the huge, wild and sparsely populated regions to be covered. The budget for the present campaign is only £40,000, of which Great Britain pays half and Iran and Pakistan share the balance. The team arranged by the Desert-Locust Survey comprises only three field officers, seven light vehicles and two jeeps, with camels and human labor. This force (it was emphasized at the recent International Anti-Locust Conference at Karachi) must be reinforced both in cash and kind.

These international conferences began in 1930 and five of them had been held before the war. Since then the increasing population and decreased food supply of Asia have intensified the urgency of the problem. Good work has been done by the French and Belgians in equatorial Africa. Iran has an anti-loctus department with a large scientific staff, but there is room for much more practical work in the danger-fields of southern Persia.

If man is to protect himself against these fearful pests, which can strip a smiling field to bare earth almost in minutes, it must be by the weapons of active international collaboration.

Sweet Singing In The Choir Even With Too Few Tenors!

By HAZEL PAULL

The Christmas season is essentially a time of music and in Peterborough there are some 20 church choirs and a smaller number of other choral groups which are now presenting some of the finest music heard in Peterborough churches. The discerning music lovers take Christmas as an annual opportunity to go shopping—shopping among the various choirs in the community in search of something perhaps a little richer and more stimulating than the usual Sunday church music.

One of the finest qualities of a church choir is its remoteness from commercial platford. Choir appeal does not need to be projected to meet the demands of any particular section of the community. It is composed of a group of men and women whose sole purpose is to sing for the sheer joy of singing and the personal reward of finding pleasure from whatever degree of accomplishment can be attained.

When a group of people gets together to sing, a certain amount of discipline and direction is essential unless the results are to be a disappointment to both listeners and singer. All too often the difficulties which face a choral group are numerous. A competent director is a necessity, there must be a satisfactory meeting place and there must be co-operation among the members.

These are all factors which in Peterborough cause little deterrent to group singing. The facilities are readily available. Greatest handicap which faces nearly every choir is a satisfactory balance between the various sections of the choir.

A land of plenty in nearly every other respect, Canada is in a similar position to many other parts of the world in regard to its supply of male singers and particularly tenors. Voices are rarely regarded in relation to supply and demand like the more concrete commodities in daily use. But there is today a deplorable shortage of tenor voices which is felt in varying degrees in every Peterborough choir.

The OLD GUIDE & TRAPPER "Oh Deer!"

Is there a Santa Claus?

IS THERE a Santa Claus? Millions of children have asked that question, since visits from St. Nicholas began to be associated with the observance of Christmas. In 1897, one little girl wrote to the editor of The New York Sun, asking him about Santa, and the next day an editorial appeared that has been reprinted thousands of times since.

Here is that famous editorial:

THE EDITORIAL:

We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of The Sun:

Dear Editor.—I am 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus.

Papa says, "Is you see it in The Sun, it's so."

Please tell me the truth, Is there a Santa Claus?"

VIRGINIA O'HANLON,
115 West Ninety-fifth St.

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe unless they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas, how dreary would be the world if there was no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment except in sense and sight. This eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children or man can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not. But that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle to see what makes the noise inside but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God: he lives, and lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

CGE And Neills Gain Wins In Girls' Loop

CGE pulled out an 11-6 win over Nurses Juniors, while Neill's romped to a 48-10 decision against Normals in two Girls' Basketball League fixtures at the YW gym last evening. Plenty of action was served up in both tussles. The league now takes a holiday for the Christmas season.

In the first contest last night, the Electrics took a 6-0 lead at the halfway mark, but were outscored 6-5 as Nurses Jrs. fought back in the second half. CGE had but five players but played hard all the way through. Marg Batley and B. Luther went good down the floor, passing to Betty Barry. Marg Kennedy and Teresa Stewart also worked well. CGE had but six fouls to nine called on them. Pat Martyn, V. Latondresse and B. Green were best for Nurses. Teams:

Nurses Jrs.—V. Latondresse 2, P. Martyn 2, B. Green, S. Brooks 1, P. Boadway, J. Brown, B. Wiley 1.

CGE—M. Batley 3, M. Kennedy, B. Barry 4, B. Luther 4, T. Stewart.

Second Game

Neill's were in great form in the second game to rack up a 26-6 margin during the first half, and coast home on a 22-4 edge the last part of the tussle. They played fast and passed and shot accurately. Normals fought hard with Amy Curtis, M. Kerr, S. McEwen and L. Cullis going best for them. Jean Vass shone for the winners with 14 points, Joan Dunk, Pauline Stewart, Vilma Floyd, Dot Calland and D. Saunders also being effective, the whole squad playing a fine brand of basketball. Teams:

D. Callan 4, W. Floyd 8, J. Vass 14, D. Saunders 4, M. Freeman 6, P. Stewart 6, J. Dunk 6.

Referees, H. Smith and W. Borland; timer, I. Black.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

Bob Guertin, manager of Hull Volants, recently returned from a trip to England, where he saw a lot of hockey games. He says that hockey over there does not permit boarding, and officials are real strict on any bodychecking near the boards. Also no bodying is allowed by the defending team except on its own side of the centre red line. Bob claims that these are good rules and make for faster hockey. A puck-carrying forward gets away to a good start—past centre ice—before he has to worry about a bodycheck. And he never has to worry about one close to the boards. Consequently, the puck carrier can really turn it on and not be afraid of having his teeth rattled with a jarring bodycheck, at least not until he's going in pretty close.

Legionnaires are off to Kingston tonight, and then they're at home on Monday to the Petes. Yes, sir, Santa is coming early to local puck fans, who will have this present Monday eve at 8.30 in Civic Arena. A full house last time greeted these teams when they clashed to open their schedule, and the crowd saw a thriller, winding up in a draw. Both Legionnaires and the Petes recently beat Belleville Diesels here by hefty scores, and many an argument locally is still unsettled as to the superiority of the Ellis outfit or the Foley flock. Both teams will be trying desperately to settle that question—at least for the time being — in the senior "B" fixure Monday night.

* * * * * *

Forget That Feuding

Fireworks didn't break out (except once) in the previous Petes-Legion clash, and it made for better hockey. Several more fights threatened, and there certainly isn't any love lost between the squads when they meet in iced warfare. Anything is liable to happen, but both coaches urge their men to take the bumps and keep out of the penalty box, as a few penalties can prove pretty costly when teams are well-matched and fighting fiercely for every goal. We were glad to see the feud kept within reason the first fray and hope it will be in this next one. After all, hockeyists aren't pugilists and they should leave the gloved game to the pugs, sticking to the puck sport.

Our OHA junior "B" schedule has been published, Frank Buckland working it out after one Kingston entry withdrew. teams in are: Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa, Lindsay and the local Oddfellows. Locals have been in action twice now with Lindsay, and they go to Belleville on Monday while Lindsay treks to the Motor City. Quinte crew is at Lindsay next Wednesday, and Oshawa comes here to meet the IOOF-ers. A layoff then till the end of the month, followed by heavy action till Feb. 20. Four clubs in playoffs, and a winner must be declared by March 10, going right into provincial playdowns then. So, lets doing from now on for the junior puckists and their followers.

IOOF-ers Take Tussle

A rather good gallery of payees at Civic Arena last p.m. saw the Oddfellows sweep to a 5-2 OHA junior "B" victory o'er the Lindsay Kin. It was speedy and a bit rough in spots, but the hockey wasn't of the highest calibre. They'll improve as the season wears on. Game was kept under control okay, with no free-for-alls marring proceedings. The Desjardin-Mason Bros. line looked best for Bun Kingdon's local crew, and Floyd flashed some fine stickwork several times. Nicholls, Kimball and Lewis were the pick of the visitors. Jack Richlark sat this one out on an automatic suspension and he might miss another game ere he gets the OHA green light. Got into trouble in Lindsay and hit a linesman to get a match penalty.

Two colleens' cage contests in the YW gym last gloaming with CGE defeating Nurses Juniors 11-6 in the initial encounter, and Neill's steamrollering through for a 48-10 verdict against Normals. M. Batley, M. Barry and B. Luther led Electrics in scoring, with V. Latondresse and P. Martyn best for Nurses. A. Curtis and S. McEwen looked good for Normals in the nightcap, while most of Neill's were in on some heavy scoring. J. Vass topped 'em all, with W. Floyd next, and then J. Dunk, P. Stewart, D. Saunders and D. Callan. No more loop tilts till after New Year's. Towne Togs have an exhibition tonight in Port Hope.

The Civic Parks Department of Toronto will be asked to prepare estimates on the cost of installing artificial ice rinks in the big automotive building at the Canadian National Exhibiton here.

Mayor Hiram McCallum, director Elwood Hughes of the CNE and Conn Smythe, managing director of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, Friday inspected the building in Exhibition Park and figured four ice rinks could be installed. It would ease the pressure on existing artificial ice arenas in Toronto.

Yanks Demand Weik In Deal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—A Yankee demand that Washington Senators throw in promising rookie pitcher Dick Weik Friday stalled the long negotiations with the New York club over a proposed player swap.

Washington President Clark Griffith said that he and Yankee general manager George Weiss conferred at length over the telephone but accomplished nothing.

"We just couldn't get together Friday," he said, "maybe we'll continue to talk, but I wouldn't be too surprised if the deal fell through."

Weiss, it was learned, is insisting that Weik be coupled with Senator first baseman Eddie Robinson in the four for two deal which would bring to the Senators Dick Kryhoski, Snuffy Stirnweiss and two New York hurlers—Don Johnson and Duane Pillette.

Griffith is resolute in his determination to keep Weik. He has repeatedly stated that Weik is neither for sale or on the trading block.

Injury Bugaboo Plagues Teams in NHL

By JIM BASTABLE, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

A second glance at that 70 game National Hockey League schedule might bring a few gulps from both players and coaches.

The injury bugaboo is a big factor in the extended campaign. All six teams, replete with injuries, move into high gear for a six-game schedule this week-end, but a lot of them will be limping. They've just passed the one-third mark of the schedule, which had 10 extra games tacked on this season.

Montreal Canadiens have taken the brunt of those injuries but they're still good enough to hold down second place, eight points behind the leading Detroit Red Wings.

It may show this week-end when they clash with the Wings and Boston Bruins. They'll be without the services of Elmer Lach, a key man when the Montrealers beat Toronto Maple Leafs Wednesday. Lach suffered a cut foot in the game. Also out will be Glen Harmon and Hal Laycoe.

The Canadiens may also be without Kenny Reardon, who suffered a broken nose recently. Reardon was scheduled to have the nose set today. Meanwhile, Billy Reay will replace Lach between Maurice Richard and Rip Riopelle.

The Leafs aren't having any more trouble with the excess poundage but they're still having it with centres. Captain Ted Kennedy and Cal Gardiner still are in the sidelines with injuries.

All seems well in the New York camp. Manager Frank Boucher just shrugged off that 5-3 defeat handed the Rangers by Chicago last Wednesday. It ended New York's four-game winning streak.

Remember When—

New York Yankees went to the Pacific Coast 24 years ago today to pluck Tony Lazzeri for the second-base position. He was with the Yankees until released in October, 1937, so that he could "dicker" for a managerial job. He spent two seasons managing the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Rough Spirited Hockey As Juniors Victorious

Bone, muscle and solid wood clashed more than once Friday night at the Civic Arena as the Lindsay Kinsmen were turned back 5-2 by the Triplelinks. Although fast the game was rough with poor hockey displayed throughout the first third and the last of the second period. At the first of the second period the boys on both teams settled down to a fast, passing game. The teams tied 7-7 in Lindsay Wednesday in the Junior B League opener.

Peterborough jumped into a 3-0 lead in the first period as the Lindsayites failed to clear the puck from their defensive zone. Goals by Turner and Wyatt early in the second made the score 5-0. With a minute and a half left in the second, Karrys, classy centre of the Kinsmen, broke the goose-egg for Lindsay. Kimbal racked up the only score of the third period of rough, ragged hockey.

Receive Penalties

Although only six penalties were handed out by referee Doug Love, of Oshawa, the teams laid on the wood, knees and elbows throughout the game. Lindsay received two in the first both together, Stewart for high-checking and Lewis for cross-checking. Desjardin tallied the second Trips' goal while they were sitting it out in the sin-bin. The second went by penalty-less while in the third four were handed out, two to each team. Walling, of Lindsay, drew for highsticking Desjardin while three minutes later his teammate, Lewis, followed him for elbowing. Dean Wasson and Desjardin each received trips to the box for interference.

Turner and Desjardin had two goals apiece while Wyatt got the single. Benny Mason and Don Floyd each were in on two goals. Karrys and Kimbel scored the Lindsay goals.

Desjardin and the Mason brothers provided some passing attacks for the Petes as they led the team offensively throughout. Don Floyd and Ron Turner sparked several attacks on the Lindsay squad.

Red Wasson, in the nets for the Triplelinks had his work come in spurts. He had little to do until late in the second period. Then he calmly turned aside the Lindsay attacks. Both the Lindsay goals were well earned.

Jerry Nichols, Kimbal and Bob Lewis carried the Lindsay attack. Kimbal back - checked well throughout as well as working hard on the plays up the ice. Nichols and Kimbal were finally rewarded with a goal at the 16-minute mark of the third.

The Oddfellows will go to Belleville Monday to play the Rockets. The locals have one win and a tie in two attempts while the Belleville squad will be playing their first fray in this Junior B group. Oshawa will be the guests of the Trips next Wednesday at the Civic Arena.

Portuguez Holds Split Decision

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(AP) — Tuzo Portuguez, a crude young prospect from Costa Rica, holds a split decision win over Beau Jack today but the International Boxing Club is more concerned with the impresssive showing of New York's Paddy Young and Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N.J., in preliminary knockout victories.

Young got off the floor to flatten Sal Dimartino, a Hartford, Conn., middleweight, in the semi-final 10 on last night's Madison Square Garden show.

Paddy applied the kayo powder in 1.54 of the sixth round with a left-right-left flurry that chilled the New England. Young weighed 155¼ to 152 for Dimartino.

Durando, New Jersey's version of Rocky Graziano, scored his 16th knockout victory in 28 pro fights by stopping Jimmy Sanders of Pittsburgh in 1.44 of the second. Sanders went down twice for counts of five. Durando weighed 153¼, Sanders 150¼.

Portuguez outlasted Jack, a shell of the former lightweight champion, to take a split verdict in the main 10 before a crowd of 7,281 who paid $20,382. Condition told the story for 21-year-old Portuguez over the 28-year-old former shoe-shine boy from Augusta, Ga.

Marlies Shellack Mercurys In Bruising 7-1 Triumph

By The Canadian Press.

Johnny McCormack and Scotty Mair, running one-two in the scoring department of the Senior A division of the Ontario Hockey Association, each potted two goals and a pair of assists last night to pace Toronto Marlboros to a 7-1 triumph over third place Owen Sound Mercurys.

The win kept the Toronto club's first place margin at 12 points over second place Kitchener-Waterloo.

In another senior game last night, Hamilton Tigers were pushed deeper into the cellar by absorbing a 4-1 shellacking at the hands of Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen. In two junior contests, Guelph Biltmores moved alone into fourth place by gaining a single point in their 3-3 tie with Galt Black Hawks and St. Michael's College Majors bowed to the cellar-place Stratford Kroehlers 6-3.

At Toronto the Dukes took a 3-1 lead in the first period, ran it to 4-1 in the middle session and clicked for two more in the final frame. Owen Sound's single tally came in the first period off the stick of Howie Beaudry.

Duke scorers, other than McCormack and Mair with their two goals each, were Al Buchanan, Red Johnson and Johnny McClellan.

Starts Things Off

Jack Shewchuck rapped in the first tally of the night in the Waterloo Arena, scoring after only 24 seconds of the first period had elapsed to give the home club Dutchmen a 1-0 lead.

Mickey Roth increased the twin-city lead to 2-0 with the only score of the middle period, blasting home Billy Flick's pass at 11:54.

Johnny Blute and Billy Flick made it 4-0 in the finale before Hamilton's Max Taylor broke the goose egg with less than five minutes remaining in the contest.

Galt Black Hawks outscored the host Biltmores 2-1 in the opening frame of their game, Bronco Horvath and Ken Green pulling the trigger for the visitors and Don Bellringer supplying the tally for the homesters.

The teams split tallies in the second stanza, Jack Green punching in the third Galt goal and Steve Brklacich doing the honors for the Biltmores.

Guelph put the teams on even terms with seven minutes remaining in the game, Ron Plumb sinking their third counter to send the contest into overtime. The clubs played a scoreless 10 minutes of overtime play for the resultant split in points.

On Even Terms

Stratford and St. Michael's played the first period on even terms, each club clicking for a single. Doug Williams pulled the trigger for the homesters, Red Ingoldsby supplying the evener for the Collegians.

Stratford pulled ahead in the middle frame, outscoring the Irish 2-1. Jim Pernfuss was the star of the piece, rapping in both tallies. Leo Labine was the only Collegian to flash the red light behind Boat Hurley, in the nets for Stratford.

The Kroehlers continued the rampage in the final frame counting three times, and holding the Toronto crew to a single. Aurry Dunnette, Doug French and Bibber O'Hearn were the marksmen for the host club while Willy Marshall collected the third St. Michael's score.

Get Water Rights

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 17 (CP) A licence has been granted the Aluminum Company of Canada for water rights on two British Columbia rivers. The company has plans for a $300,000,000 aluminum development, but it will be some time before construction starts. It will include a vast hydro electric project on the Nechako and Naniko rivers, 350 miles northwest of Vancouver.

Smugglers Pay Up

LONDON, Dec. 17 (Reuters)—British smugglers helped boost Britain's record customs and excise revenue of £1,557,000,000 ($4,826,700,000) in 1948-49, the customs department annual report issued Friday showed. The total revenue was £136,000,000 higher than in the previous year. Number of seizures of smuggled goods jumped sharply from 24,624 in 1947-48 to 31,908 in the year under review.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Slugging Sid Gordon, a native New Yorker, is not unhappy about the trade which sent him from the Giants to Boston Braves.

A chance for regular work in left field with the Braves overshadows the shift out of the congenial surroundings in his home town, figures Gordon.

The 31 year old clouter has shuttled back and forth from the outfield to third base in his nine years with the Giants. Despite the fact that he had to fight for a regular berth each spring, Gordon's extra base blows made him a highly paid athlete.

Sid is believed to have received close to $25,000 for last year's work. He hit .284 in 141 games, belted 26 homers and drove in 90 runs.

Gordon got along with manager Leo Durocher and owner Horace Stoneham and leaves the Polo Grounds with pleasant memories. But he expects to do better in Boston with regular status.

At Ann Arbor, Mich., a tight Toronto defence lapsed in the final five minutes Friday night and enabled University of Michigan to chalk up a 2-1 hockey victory. The real game was played in the final period when both teams came alive in a rough scoring display that resulted in nine penalties and all the scoring

---

The University of Buffalo scored an easy 60-34 basketball victory over the University of Toronto at Buffalo Friday night, with the second team going most of the way. Toronto was held to one field goal and two free throws during the first half as Buffalo rolled to a 20-4 lead. Jack Chalmers paced the winners with 14 points. Johnny Braithwaite had nine for Toronto.

Julius Schroeder, manager of the Berkeley Iceland, home ice of the Oakland Oaks of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, said at Oakland Friday the Oaks are being disbanded. Schroeder said Eddie Shore, owner of the Oaks, confirmed that the club will fold in a telephone conversation from Vancouver. The disbanding will take place after tonight's game at Fresno, Schroeder said.

At Havana, Cary Middlecoff, United States open golf champion from Ormand Beach, Fla., led 29 US pros Friday in the $10,000 Havana pro-amateur invitational tournament, but the team of Melvin (Chick) Harbert, Detroit, and Havana amateur Pedro Menocal led in best ball scores with 122. Middlecoff shot a five under par 67 to raise his total individual score in 36 holes to 133.

Koslo Chosen Best Pitcher Of 1949 League

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(AP) — Give a guess at National League's leading pitcher for 1949.

Don Newcombe? Nope. Warren Sphan? Not even close.

Okay, we'll tell you. It was Dave Koslo of New York Giants, and supporting the statements are the league's official averages announced today.

Koslo, a lefthander, posted the lowest earned-run average of any pitcher in the league who worked 10 or more complete games. His figure of 2.50 for each nine-inning stint gave him a clear advantage over his closest rival, Howie Pollet of St. Louis Cardinals, with 2.77.

Never mind that in games won and lost (11-14) the Giants' southpaw ranked no higher than No. 21 among his league contemporaries

In percentage of games won and lost Elwin (Preacher) Roe of Brooklyn was on top with a final mark of 15-6 for .714. Pollet again stood second with 20-9 .690.

Looking at it from still another viewpoint, Warren Spahn, Boston's classy southpaw, won the most games 21. But he dropped 14. Spahn also completed the most games, 25, pitched the most innings and led the league in strikeouts.

Places Third

Newcombe, Brooklyn's big Negro righthander who won the "rookie of the year" award, placed third in winning percentage with his 17-8 and was seventh in effectivness with an E. R., of 3.17. He also tied with three others, including Pollet, for pitching the most shutouts, five.

Ken Heintzelman, Phillie veteran, enjoyed the longest winning streak, nine games, and Bob Chesnes of Pittsburgh suffered the most consecutive defeats, also nine.

Johnny Sain, who helped pitch Boston Braves to the '48 pennant, suffered the most disastrous reversal of form, allowing the most runs and the most earned runs (a 4.81 average) and finishing with a won and lost of 10-17.

The St. Louis staff led in effectiveness with an earned run mark of 3.44 a game, followed by Brooklyn 3.80 and New York 3.82.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Attractive Floral Stencils For Decorating Bathroom

QUESTION: We recently obtained some attractive floral stencils with which we planned to decorate our painted bathroom. Somehow we don't seem to have the knack of applying the paint, for the results are, to put it mildly, terrible. Just what do we do to obtain a "professional" job?

ANSWER: Clean, sharp designs require the use of a comparatively dry brush. Too much paint is nearly always the trouble. First, dip the brush to load it well with paint, then wipe out all you can on the side of the can. Then stamp or rub it out more on a pad of newspapers. When no more colour comes off in thick bolts the brush is ready to use, not before.

To reload the brush, pick up colour from the newspaper. Use the stencil brush with a rotary motion. Wipe off any material that may have run through around the edges of the stencil cuts each time the stencil is lifted. This avoids possible smearing when making the next impression.

Lowering High Ceilings

QUESTION: We are planning to remodel our 35-year-old house next spring. The ceilings are unattractively high and we are wondering about the advisability of lowering them 8 or 10 inches with wallboard. Do you think this is practical?

ANSWER: By all means do so if lower ceilings will look more attractive. Not a particularly expensive project, it creates a dead air space between the old and new ceilings which produces insulation to help keep a cool, even temperature in the room.

Transplanting Trees

QUESTION: Due to plans for laying a new septic tank tile field at our suburban home, we are faced with the necessity of transplanting three rather prized maple trees that are almost 4" in diameter. One larger tree, about 7" in diameter, we are resigned to cutting down. Can you give me some suggestions for transplanting the smaller ones?

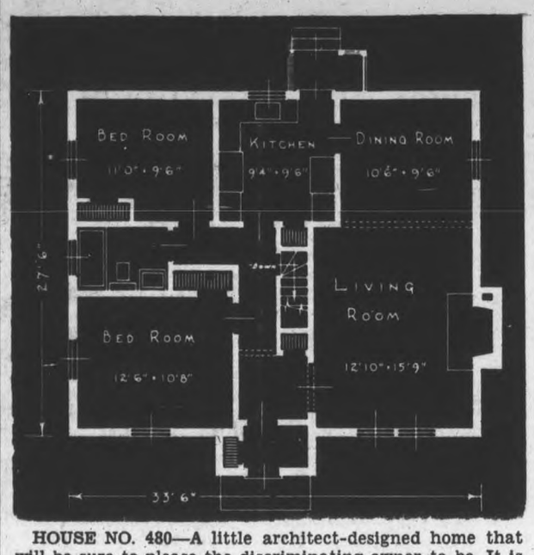
ANSWER: With care, it is reasonable to transplant trees up to four or five inches in diameter. Larger trees must be moved in winter in order to include a large quantity of frozen earth around them, and is not recommended for the amateur without equipment.

In transplanting the smaller trees, the main thing to remember is to carefully retain as many fibrous roots as possible. Nursery trees from 8' to 12' tall can be handled by digging a trench around the tree about 2' from the trunk and about 18" wide. When this trench is about 18" deep or below the level of the main roots, cut underneath with a spade so that the tree is finally loose in the hole with a ball of earth attached. Each added bit of earth attached to the roots renders the shock lighter and assists re-establishment.

How to "Spatter" Paint Floors

QUESTION: Recently saw reference to "spatter work paint floors." How is this done?

ANSWER: The floor is first covered with a neutral coat of paint, then several other colours are "spattered" on. This is done by dipping a paint brush or whisk broom into each colour used and tapping lightly to shake off the small drops of colour over the surface in polka dot fashion. A sponge may be used instead of a brush for patting on the colour through stencils.



Finishing Unpainted Furniture

QUESTION: Against the advice of some friends, we plan to buy unpainted furniture for our kitchen, finishing it ourselves in cream or ivory. Though inexperienced, we're ready to give all the time needed to do a good job and avoid the possibility of "I told you so's." How do we go about obtaining that "professional" touch?

ANSWER: Finishing unpainted furniture takes patience and time for a good job. It's best done in a warm, dry, airy room. Sandpapering is important for a smooth surface. Let the air clear and then wipe the finished surfaces. Do this between each coat.

A good paint job will take a primer coat, a coat of flat white, a mixture of flat and enamel and then one or two coats of enamel. Light shades can be used on the outside with contrasting colours on the inside of cupboards and drawers. Wax finished surfaces to reduce scratching and cleaning. Sometimes varnish is used over the painted interiors before waxing.

HOUSE NO. 480—A little architect-designed home that will be sure to please the discriminating owner-to-be. It is of variegated red brick, with pale green roof, door and shutters. Hasn't the exterior an appealing air about it? Its sturdy lines would make it welcome in any neighbourhood. The plan provides easy circulation between rooms and with it comes a feeling of pleasant livability, so often lacking in run-of-the-mill small homes. Space is allotted in the full-sized basement for furnace and fuel storage, with ample room remaining for a recreation room if desired. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Sweet Singing

Are there fewer men with voices in the higher range, or is it shyness which prevents them from taking part in what for many, is one of the pleasantest forms of recreation?

Whatever the cause, it appears to be an unsurpassable obstacle. And it is not unique to Peterborough, nor even to Canada.

Sopranos Outweigh

Sopranos outweigh practically every choir and in instances where this is not the case, The balance is kept only by the strict ruling of the director. Choirs with 18, 20 and even 25 sopranos, a considerably lesser number of contraltos, perhaps five, six or seven tenors and nine or ten basses are not the best balanced and yet it is with some difficulty that even this ratio can be maintained in Peterborough churches.

Most common reason put forward by city choirmasters for the shortage of tenors, is a reluctance among boys in their late teens to desert the hockey rink or the ball field to devote the necessary time to voice training.

As one of the city's choirmasters put it, a boy often feels it is sissy to prefer an evening round the piano rather than on the football field. A tenor voice rarely develops naturally without training, as will a baritone, and by the time a man has passed the sensitive age he often falls easily into the baritone section. That is, unless he is a natural tenor or bass.

Be it as it may, it is an undisputed fact that a man with a creditable tenor voice is guaranteed a warm welcome into a number of music circles.

Music In Sports

Organised recreation in a variety of fields is too great in attraction for some would-be male singers, was the opinion of another music director. When a man's time is divided between business, the service club, sports and the family, singing is invariably the first form of recreation to be dropped.

The situation is not always true to pattern, however. One city choirmaster discussing the matter with another from Toronto, discovered that his Toronto colleague would gladly have spared half a dozen of his tenors for half a dozen basses. This, it was discovered, would have been an admirable arrangement for both parties except for the matter of geography.

The Oxford Companion To Music blames the unequal balance on Mother Nature. "The commonest voices are the mezzo-soprano and baritone; nature has made too many of them and too few of the others," it claims.

A lack of boy soprano sections in Peterborough choirs was considered by another choirmaster as one of the reasons for a lack of interest in choral singing among boys and young men.

More Border Traffic

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 (CP)—October volume of traffic entering Canada from the United States was 11 per cent higher than in October last year, the Bureau of Statistics reported Friday. A total of 807,300 vehicles crossed into Canada, including 551,100 foreign entries and 256,200 Canadian vehicles returning. Foreign traffic entries into Canada in the month were seven per cent higher than in October last year.

Charge Envoys With Sabotage

WARSAW, Dec. 17 — (CP) — French diplomats Friday were accused of plotting to sabotage Polish mines and mills. The charges were made in the trial of four Frenchmen and two others accused of espionage and sabotage.

The indictment against the accused, two of them employees in the French Wroclaw Consulate, said French diplomats in Poland organized attempts to cut off ventilation systems in mines so that the miners would be asphyxiated by poisonous gases. French diplomats also were said to have ordered sabotage agents to set fire to a cotton mill.

The six went on trial Thursday in Wroclaw. One of the accused Frenchmen, Albert Hoffman, who was not further identified, is charged with possessing instructions to blow up a glass works in Silesia.

The indictment, hitherto secret, added more fuel to a raging feud between France and Poland in which numerous embassy and consulate officials and employees have been arrested and expelled by both countries.

Eskimos Adrift On Big Ice-Pan

HALIFAX, Dec. 17 — (CP) — RCAF search and rescue received a call Friday for assistance in locating two Eskimos adrift on an ice-pan in Hudson Bay since Monday.

A Hudson's Bay Company post manager said the Eskimos and their dog teams were floating to sea about 20 miles south of Cape Smith Island, off the northeast shore of Hudson Bay.

The Air Force said an RCAF Lancaster in the area on a training flight probably would be diverted to the search.

Retail Sales Up

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 (CP)—Sales in Canada's retail stores grossed $696,000,000 in October, compared with $682,000,000 in October, 1948, the Bureau of Statistics reported Friday. Sales in September totalled $685000,000. The increase of two per cent over last year was the smallest increase so far in 1949.

Howe Put To Bed

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 (CP)—Trade Minister Howe is spending a few days at home resting, under doctor's orders, following a strenuous house session, it was learned Friday night. Mr. Home was ordered to bed earlier this week by his doctor. However, a member of his family said that "there is nothing serious, he is just tired."

Quash Conviction

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP)—Ontario Court of Appeal Friday quashed a three year penitentiary term against Victor Russo, 17, of Buffalo, N. Y., convicted Sept. 28 at Welland of raping a 17 year old girl at Crystal Beach. The court ruled there had not been sufficient evidence to warrant the conviction.

Family Grows Fast 8 Children In Year

CAISTORVILLE, Dec. 17 (CP)—It's going to be a "big" Christmas for Edward and Doreen Kobialka, who live in this southern Ontario community.

Last year the Kobialka's had no children. This Christmas they'll have eight kiddies—all of them orphaned last year just before Christmas. The children's mother was Mrs. Kobialka's sister.

Ed Kobialka, 38, says he is not a rich man but he has cared for the children ever since their parents died. "We didn't want to see them separated," said Mrs. Kobialka.

The couple has a 100-acre farm in this Lincoln county district. Although she has trouble making ends meet, Mrs. Kobialka says they are getting along "fairly well."

CLEAN AND EASY

If dishes and glassware have been rinsed properly, it is more sanitary to let them dry in rack than to use a towel.

EVEN REDUCING THEIR WORLDLY WEALTH to one dollar bills, most Canadians wouldn't have half this heap. But to a Chinese airline pilot a few months ago, the bundle of bills shown here was only a month's salary. In those days, it took millions of yen to equal a few American dollars.

Favorite Guessing Topic Success of January Talks

By MEL SUFRIN

OTTAWA, Dec. 16.—(CP).—A favorite topic of speculation on Parliament Hill these days is the question of whether the January Dominion-Provincial conference on constitutional matters will succeed.

Its purpose is to find a formula for future amendment of the constitution on matters which aren't wholly within federal jurisdiction. While few observers will venture a straight success-or-failure guess on the outcome, most agree there should be some lively and highly controversial discussions.

Quebec and Alberta are two provinces which indicated they didn't exactly care for the measure approved at the last session of Parliament which gave the Federal government the right to amend the constitution on federal matters. They would have liked to see the measure put over until after the Dominion-Provincial meeting which gets under way here Jan. 10.

There will doubtless be other differences and the success of the conference might well depend on whether delegates are permitted to roam over the whole constitutional field or are more or less restricted to the particular matter for which the conference is called.

Public Sittings

Present plans are to have the Dominion-Provincial meetings open to the public. They'll be held in the Commons chamber.

Prime Minister St. Laurent will be chairman of the conference that probably will include 55 or 60 delegates.

Justice Minister Garson will be a member of the Federal delegation which will include several other members of the cabinet.

Provincial delegations will vary in size. Ontario and Quebec will probably have the largest delegations.

In some cases the provinces will be represented by the Premier and one or more cabinet colleagues. In other cases it will probably by the premier accompanied by a group of advisors.

The question of how long the conference will last is one that depends to a great extent on how things go. A stalemate might cut the meeting short after three or four days.

Agreement on some method of amending the constitution might mean extra meetings at which various committees would draft detailed plans arising out of the general discussions.

Triumph Of Christ Said Real Christmas Story

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Our celebration of Christmas centers chiefly, if not entirely, around the infant Jesus, and the story of the birth in Bethlehem.

That, in a measure, is as it should be; for it brings Christmas into every home, and surrounds with sanctity every birth, ennobling and sanctifying motherhood as well. That, at least, is what Christmas means in every place where there is the sanctity of home and marriage.

Christmas emphasizes the cult of home, motherhood, and the child. And if one would understand the full significance and glory of this, he must contemplate, in contrast, the low estate of women, the neglect of children and even their exposure to death in primitive, and even cultured areas in which the Jewish and Christian ideals have not prevailed. Even the culture of Greece did not prohibit or prevent the exposure of unwanted children, regardless of mother-love.

We must never forget what the coming of the Babe of Bethlehem, and the Jewish heritage out of which He came, have meant to the world.

But Christmas ought to have a deeper significance as well. It is not enough to glorify or worship the Babe, bringing adoration like the shepherds, and gifts like the Wise Men. The true celebration of Christmas must be related to the whole life, and death, and resurrection in the ministry of the Savior of Men.

The note of tragedy, crowned with glory and triumph, is in the story of Christmas. It began in sadness as well as joy, as Mary pondered in her heart the strange sayings, and the prophecy of the sword that should pierce through her own heart. That prophecy was fulfilled as she followed her Son to Calvary, and stood by the cross (John 19:25), a marvelous revelation of strength, courage, and devotion; a mother worthy of such a Son, and sharing the reality and glory of His sacrifice.

In that hour on Calvary one could see the climax of that problem of suffering, set forth so poignantly in the portrayal of the Suffering Servant in the 53rd chapter of Isaiah. That suffering could not be in vain, but could be a part of the divine plan of blessing and redemption, was the message of that chapter, confirmed and fulfilled in the suffering and triumph of the Christ.

Whether or not the portrayal referred to some earlier Suffering Servant, or to the suffering remnant of Israel, or directly to the coming Christ, the fulfillment in the life, death, and resurrection of the Master is none the less real.

"He shall see the travail of his soul and shall be satisfied." Even in the dark hour as the cross awaited Him Jesus could say to the disciples, "Be of good cheer, I have overcome the world."

So, let our Christmas celebration be one of joy and beauty, of rejoicing in the glorious birth, of the sanctity of love, and home, and children, of the Christ who took them up in His arms and blessed them! But let it be also a celebration of victory and triumph, the Christmas of a Christ who died that we, and all men, might live!

Breaking Of Alabaster Box Of Ointment Upon Christ

REV. E. R. JAMES

The House Was Filled With The Odour Of the Ointment St. John 12. 3.

Can you see the inwardness of this writing: "The house was filled with the odour—the sweetness, sweet smell, of the ointment." If so, you will enjoy the following attempt to reveal the inner meaning. It happened before the Passion. The atmosphere is tense Mary, with a woman's instinct, senses there is some horror overshadowing the Master. She remembers the box of ointment very precious. She enters the guest chamber with it and breaks it over the Feet of the Lord and wipes His Feet with her hair. Others found fault but only one saw the inward meaning:—"The house was filled with the odour of the ointment", It goes through the guest chamber, down into the kitchen, where a strongwoman is toiling at the pots and pans. She lifts up her head, slowly inhails and exclaims:—"What a sweet smell, I never smelt anything like it before." True. It is because Mary had broken the vase and poured all the ointment over His Feet that this poor woman was so thrilled with the sweet smell. The smell has entered into her very soul; an experience she will never forget.

What does your maid think of you? Do you keep your sweetness for your drawing room and church circles. She smells your bitterness and selfishness. What do the men in your offices and store think of you? Do they see your hardness and meanness. Its odour is not sweet. You may be sure of one thing, they will not come to your Church.

The Alabaster Vase. It is the work of a skilled craftsman. An artist has thrown his very soul into it. Its curves satisfy his eye for beauty. It is has very best work. It must be worthy to contain the very precious ointment, "A body hast Thou prepared me" Do you catch the meaning? The beloved disciple tells us of the Alabaster Vase; the human Body of the Lord, "The Word was made flesh and dwelt among us. It was a perfect human body prepared to contain the divine ointment, very precious, of God Himself. "We beheld His glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth".

Just as Mary broke the vase and gladly poured out all its contents, so Our Lord breaks His Body and poured out His life "This is My body which is broken for you. The beloved disciple saw the inwardness of the house being filled with the odour of the ointment.

When you fill your body with the ointment of the Risen Christ and break it in your home there will be much sweetness in your home. The sweetness comes from the crucified Christ, Who gave Himself for us. When you take some gift of self sacrificing love to some lonely soul, that cottage in the back street, or upper room in some tenement house, that room is filled with the odour of ointment. The risen Christ has passed some of His sweetness through you. This is Christ's religion. "Thanks be uto Thee, O Lord."

Arena Problem Big Issue In Three Cities

Kitchener, Brantford, and Peterborough are three Ontario cities with similar auditorium-arena problems on their doorsteps.

Kitchener has decided to try to raise by public subscription $200,000 for an auditorium. Property owners approved in 1945 the issue of debentures for $450,000 for that purpose, but today's cost of the proposed bulding is estimated at nearly $1,000,000. If the $200,000 is collected, it is believed that the Ontario Municipal Board might be more favorable to a further issue of debentures for the total amount required. It is understood that Kitchener hopes to build an arena-auditorium.

At Brantford this week, E. G. Christilaw of Kitchener said an arena and community hall could not be satisfactorily incorporated in one building. He suggested that Brantford build one or the other, whichever was most needed.

H. W. MacLeod, recreation director of Simcoe, questioned the Kitchener man's opinion. He said that a Northern Ontario town had a community centre, with ices for hockey and curling, bowling alleys, two cafeterias, and provision for general auditorium uses.

The Brantford discussion of a civic arena was discussed at a meeting there of the recreation directors of the West Central Ontario zone.

BOXING DAY POLICY

Peterborough's stores are closing on Tuesday, Dec. 27, but factories will be in operation, it was said at the Utilities Commission meeting Friday. The Simcoe St. office of the Commission will fall in with whatever the council decides for the offices of the city hall. If the city staffs get a holiday, the office of the Commission will not be open.

Foreign Spies In City!

Lindsay and Lakefield Chambers of Commerce have invaded the precincts of our fair city to erect two metal signs about 150 feet east and west of George St. on Lawrence directing traffic to the shopping districts of their towns.

The signs read "To Lindsay and Lakefield Shopping Districts." An unremarkable little sign on a telephone pole at Lansdowne and George Sts., is Peterborough's effort, with the phrase "To Shopping District."

Furniture Call For Burnt-Outs

An appeal for house furnishings to help re-establish Gordon F. Chappell, his wife and two children who were burned out of their Chemong Park cottage home Monday afternoon losing all their possessions, has been issued by the Peterborough branch of the Red Cross.

Another cottage has been procured and the following articles are needed to help them furnish it: a kitchen table and chairs, cooking and cleaning utensils, dishes and cutlery.

Anyone who has something he can contribute, can send the articles to the Red Cross rooms at Brock and George Sts. Monday. The rooms will be open in the morning from 9:30 a.m. to 12 and in the afternoon from 2:00 to 5:00.

Any of the furniture will be picked up by the Red Cross if the donor will telephone 8222.

PILES OF TREES

Probably there are some young evergreens left in the back country. Heaps of them on the market this morning indicated the heaviest Christmas trimming the woods have suffered in these parts. As one man commented: "The woods look to be taking a beating this year". They are not only on the market, but also scattered here and there around town. The circumstance that worries most people is the unregulated cutting that is going on at a time when the planting of trees is a general community promotion.

Fontaine Given Additional Three Months

Joseph Fontaine, 75 Park S at present serving a six montl sentence imposed Dec. 8 whe Judge S. L. Smoke found hi guilty of receiving a stolen ou board motor, was Friday senten ed to an additional three month when convicted of threateni a crown witness.

Charged with attempting dissuade Kenneth Griffin threat, from giving eviden against him in a case of illeg sale of liquor, Fontaine pleade not guilty.

Griffin, who laid the char against Fontaine, said in coun court Friday, that Fontaine h told him he would get him f it, if he gave evidence again him of illegal sale of liquor.

After Fontaine had been a raigned in Police Court, the tw men had a conversation about t case. Griffin said Fontaine h asked him if he was going give evidence against him a he had replied that he would ha to if the court asked him.

Griffin claimed that Fontai replied that if he did he wou get him for it.

Fontaine denied having us that threat and told the jud that his reply to Griffin had be to the effect that if he did gi evidence against him he (t accused) would be in a fix.

No Immediate Increases In City's Hydro Rates

Utilities Commission has nothing on their file from the Hydro-Electric Commission about the impending increase in electric power rates announced a few days ago by Robert Saunders, Hydro chairman. The Utilities members are not worrying about any oversight in Hydro quarters. They expect that the official statement will be in the mail one of these days.

In the meantime Peterborough's consumer rates will likely remain unchanged until March. The Commission should receive its audited financial report for 1949 towards the end of January.

"Then we can study it and look into our position," G. S. Matthews, chairman, said with reference to adjusting revenue to the new Hydro demands.

Peterborough's power peak in November was 24,850 horse power as compared with 21,750 h.p. a year ago, an increase of 3100 h.p.

The number of kilowatt hours delivered from the local stations was 7,780,600 last month as against 6,166,000 kwh. a year ago. That increase is 12½%, and the peak load was up 11%, R. L. Dobbin, manager, reported to the Commission Friday.

Mr. Matthews presided, with G. A. Macdonald and Fred Hills present.

"Construction was begun in November on a new circuit to serve Civic Hospital, from Sherbrooke St. north to Weller St. and then by way of Weller St., jointly with Bell Telephone Co., to the hospital site. Eventually this line will have to be extended along Sherbrooke St. to the Aylmer St. sub-station," Mr. Dobbin reported.

"Electric department work last month included 155 three-wire services and 11 two-wire services built and 82 flat rate water heaters connected. Short extensions were constructed on Montrose, McKellar and Albertus Street, and new transformer stands at Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co. and Ventilating Shades Co.

Waterworks Report

"The November pumpage was 126,695,000 gals. as compared with 122,606,000 gals. for November, 1948 and increase of 133,000 gals. a day. Average temperature was 26.8 degrees, and for November last year 40.5 deg., much colder than a year ago.

"Rainfall was 1.55 inches as against 3.87 in., last year. The water level above the dam was lowered on Sunday, and an inspection made of the condition of the piers and other parts of the structure. A contracting company experienced in this class of work, will be submitting an estimate of the cost of repairs.

"During the month we laid 220 ft. of 12-in. main and 100 ft. of 6-in. main on Burham's Point. The connection to the underwater crossing was completed and the water turned on, Nov. 28.

"On Gillespie St., west of Monaghan Road, 582 ft. of 6-in. main was laid for the new housing development. We laid 596 ft. of 6-in. main on Fairburn St. for the township of Smith. During the month we laid 60 new water services and repaired eight. Three old services were relaid. Continuous fire hydrant inspection was begun November 28 and will be continued through the winter.

"Water was turned into the elevated tank at Civic Hospital November 22. It has been in service since then. The booster station on Weller St. has been placed in service, and is now operating automatically."

In the gas department the production was 4,993,000 cu. ft., using 32,454 gals. of liquid propane. The new gas-fired boiler was in use all month."

Telephone Repairman Suffers Back Injuries

David White, 341 St. Joseph St. a repairman for the Bell Telephone Company, fell 12 feet from a telephone post Friday. He is now a patient at Civic Hospital, with back injuries.

Harold Pammett, 249 Woodbine Ave., is in Civic Hospital with a badly cut hand. His right hand was caught in a band saw Friday at Tilco Plastics and the index finger was injured.

Another victim of a saw accident is Thomas Anderson, 741 Chamberlain St., whose left hand was cut Friday when he was using a hand saw at Canada Packers. He is also a Civic Hospital patient.

De Laval Employees' Children Honored

About 300 children of employees of the DeLaval Co. had a preview of Christmas at a Christmas party sponsored by the Social and Athletic Association under president Stan Ivison at the PCVS auditorium Friday night.

The children, all from age 12 down, each received a gift from Santa Claus and decided that Christmas was probably a good thing.

Twelve were given an extra award when they volunteered to climb up on the stage and sing Jingle Bells.

Adam Hawley sang several songs accompanied by Mrs. Oscar Jamieson.

Santa Claus had some help in distributing the gifts from factory controller Bert Cutmore and factory superintendent George A. Macdonald.

Turkeys Down From 1948 Biggest Least

Housewives in Peterborough are paying 65c a pound for choice Grade A hen turkeys this week. Gobblers and the heavier birds, tipping the scales over the 20-pound mark, are being offered on the local markets for as low as 49c. These prices are expected by the retailers to rise slightly by the first of next week.

During the 1947 Yuletide season choice Grade A birds sold at 59c while the heavier birds, above 20 pounds, ranged down to 55c or less on the local market and stores. Many of the big birds were halved but still sold at the lower price. Last year the choice hens brought as high as 79c a pound but the average price the week before Christmas was 75c. As in 1947 there were many large turkeys on the market and these went for 55c a pound.

The goose that laid the golden egg will just be an ordinary bird in the flocks this year. Geese are keeping up to their feathered friends, the turkeys, selling between 65c and 69c a pound. They are quite scarce in the Peterborough area this year.

Few Western Gobblers

Only one local butcher is reported to be bringing in western turkeys. These birds will be selling on the fowl market at lower prices than the local birds. Most of the dealers frowned when western turkeys were mentioned, saying the frozen birds were unpopular here.

Small turkey farmers say this year has been better because losses caused by skunk, foxes and weasels have been less. Last year a number of the smal-time ranchers barely made a profit their losses to the wild life being heavy. Several farmers in the area who have turned to specializing in the business of raising turkeys have had a good year. One local man sold 3,500 turkeys recently on the hoof or the claw.

MEETING FOR MEN

H. B. Cowan of Toronto will speak on the subject "What is Happening in the World and the Churches" to men of the city at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Sunday at 2.30 p.m. A general invitation is extended to the men of the city to hear Mr. Cowan, a former resident of Peterborough and who in the past 12 years has spent much time in Australia and New Zealand.

36 Cents Dozen Wholesale Predicted As Price of Eggs

OTTAWA, Dec. 17—(CP)—A government trade official Friday predicted that the price of eggs—Grade "A" large—will drop 12 cents a dozen within a week and sell for 36 cents a dozen wholesale. The sharp drop in price, he said, is a direct result of the fact that the United Kingdom has not given Canada an egg contract for 1950.

Prices across the country began dropping Friday as the government gave producers notice that the government now is nearing the end of its egg-buying program to fill the 1949 Anglo-Canadian egg contract.

Eggs dropped 15 cents a dozen in Edmonton, three cents in Toronto and 10 cents in Peterborough.

Last week Grade "A" large eggs were selling on the wholesale market for about 48 cents a dozen Next week they likely will be selling for 36 cents—approximately the same as the price in the United States, the expert said.

Houses Must Await Water Connections

The Seifried houses on Swanston Ave. may have to wait longer than the owner expects until they get water connections. The application to the Utilities Commission Friday was dated Dec. 14.

Ross Dobbin, general manager, said there was at least a foot of frost in the ground, that the mechanical digger could not be used now, and that excavation would have to wait until the air compressor is returned from a repair job. The letter said the first houses would be ready toward the end of January. Mr. Dobbin told the Commission he did not consider it possible to get the building work advanced to that stage.

The attitude of the Commission was that if Mr. P. E. Seifried could wait until the middle of December to ask for a water main he could also wait longer to get done the job that is going to cost the Commission more than they know it should. May be if there is a January thaw, the main may be laid, but on the other hand the winter may take hold and delay things until spring.

However, it is likely the Commission will weaken later on when the buildings are further advanced.

REVENUE UP

Parking meter revenue for the first eleven months of 1949 in Lindsay is $489.65 higher than 1948's total for the same period. The meters have netted so far this year $12,468.45.

Lifted off its stone wall foundation, a red brick house immediately west of Campbell's Dairy on Sherbrooke St., was taking off to a new site this morning, leaving extra space for the dairy.

OTONABEE RINK OPENING

The Otonabee skating and hockey rink is completed, a water supply has been tapped, and the big new building is ready for some formality of opening. It is understood that this event will be Friday, Dec. 30. An announcement will be made definitely some time next week.

LINDSAY H.S. PLANS

Lindsay, in need of High School accommodation, is considering two proposals which have already been under the eye of the Department of Education. It will have to build a new school at a cost of $890,000, or remodel and extend the existing school, at a cost of $550,000. It has not yet been determined whether the structural condition of the present building warrants such an extensive remodelling and addition.

KITCHENER AUDITORIUM

Kitchener is hoping to raise by public subscription $200,000 for its Memorial auditorium-arena fund. The property owners approved in 1945 a bylaw authorizing debentures for $450,000, but today's cost of the proposed building is about $1,000,000. If the $200,000 objective is realized, it is believed the Municipal Board might permit issuing debentures for the additional sum required.

Dr. J. L. Calvert Joins City Clinic

Dr. Leslie John Calvert, a young Toronto man, comes to Peterborough today to start a practice at the Medical Centre Charlotte St. He recently completed the two years Gallie course at the School of Post Graduate Study, University of Toronto.

At the age of 32, he already has had a notable medical career with the Canadian Army, during which time he was awarded the Military Cross, and at Christie St. Hospital.

Shortly after graduating from the University of Western Ontario, he joined the R.C.A.M.C. in 1943 and in July of that year, he served in England. From December 1943 until February 1945 he saw service in Italy with the Fourth Princess Louise Dragoon Guards and then served in France, Belgium and Holland.

DR. LESLIE CALVERT, Toronto, starts practising in Peterborough today. A wartime medical officer with the RCAMC, he attained the rank of Major and was awarded the Military Cross. He has since done surgical work at Christie St. Hospital, Toronto, and has recently completed a two-year post graduate course.

Upon return to Canada in 1946, he did plastic and general surgery at Christie St. Hospital and has now completed the post graduate course.

In 1946 he became a member of Ontario Medical Association and in 1947, the Academy of Medicine He became second in command of the 7th Canadian Field Ambulance of the R.C.A.M.C. Reserve in 1946.

Dr. Calvert's war service is recorded in the citation to his award of the Military Cross which states:

"During the period of May 20-24, 1944, the fourth Canadian Reconnaissance Regiment (Fourth Princess Louise Dragoon Guards) were in action against the Adolf Hitler line south of Pontecorvo in Italy.

"Captain Calvert was the medical officer attached to this unit Whenever an attack was in progress and our troops were actively engaged in combat with the enemy, Captain Calvert insisted working in the most forward areas.

"On many ocassions he went beyond our front line defences to attend to the wounded without waiting for them to be brought in.

"This medical officer worked with skill and coolness although in many cases under direct small arms fire and under heavy artillery and mortar fire. With complete disregard for his own safety he eased the pain of the wounded Throughout the entire operation he set an example of courage and devotion to duty which inspired and encouraged every man in the unit."

Dr. Calvert was born and educated in Toronto.

NOWHERE IN CANADA is Christmas more welcome than in the bush. A hush falls over the woodlands as the sharp sound of axes and the steely whirr of saws are stilled for the winter's most important holiday. And nowhere is the feast observed with more gayety on the one hand and more solemnity on the other. While most of the 250,000 pulpwood cutters join their families, those whose homes are too distant converge on the central depot, snowshoeing from the outlying camps over considerable distances to join in the festivities. Midnight Mass, in the long, low-ceilinged hut is a particularly inspiring sight. Food in the mountainous quantities customary to pulpwood camps, with added delicacies, decorated Christmas trees, gifts for all, snowshoe races, games and of all things, log-sawing competitions, mark the joyfulness of the occasion. The remoteness of civilization does not bother these pulpwood workers as they rejoice surrounded by the beauty of snow and woods. These photographs, illustrate a typical Christmas in the bush. They show scenes at Trout Depot, 200 miles north of Ottawa in the Gatineau watershed, centre of woods operations for a large pulp and paper company. Photo at left shows a Christmas tree and a huge yule log being towed toward camp. Cook E. Lacroix and his wife (centre) have prepared 225 poundsof turkey, 100 dozen doughnuts, 75 meat pies and 300 sandwiches for the early morning "reveillon" after midnight mass and the dinner on Christmas Day, but they are particularly proud of their king-size cakes with their gay frosting and messages of Happy Christmas. Two daughters of a depot employee (right) kneel in prayer in front of the crib recalling the eBthlehem scene of 2,000 years ago.

Ontario Orders New Readers For Elementary Schools

TORONTO, Dec. 17 (CP)—A list of readers for grades one to six in Ontario's elementary schools was issued Friday in a memorandum signed by Education Minister Porter.

The memorandum dealt with the revision in curriculum which Mr. Porter announced six weeks ago. Readers now in use will be discarded next June 30.

The list is divided into two groups—one for the primary division covering grades one to three, and the other for the junior division of grades four to six. Individual school boards must obtain the department's permission to use the books they select.

The books are to be supplied free to the pupils by the school boards and the department will make grants toward their purchase.

The approved series for the primary division: Curriculum Foundation Series, 1948; Easy Growth in Reading, 1947; Ginn Basic Reading Series, 1948; New Alice and Jerry Books, 1947, and Today's Work-Play Books, 1945.

Junior division: Canadian Parade Readers; Canadian Reading Development Series; Highroads to Reading and New World Readers.

Consideration is being given to adding readers for schools where French is taught.

Use of the Ontario public school geography will also be discontinued and certain modern text books to replace it will be announced at an early date. New books in English and social studies are also being studied by the department.

St. Aidan's, Young's Point Celebrates Half Century

YOUNG'S POINT, Dec. 17 — (ENS) — St. Aiden's Anglican Church, built of local granite and limestone by a band of voluntary helpers, celebrates it 50th anniversary December 28. Today there are still a number of worshippers who were members of the church when it was built.

The story of the growth of a small group of men and women into an established congregation is recorded in the parish register. Early notes on parish life tell of services held in private homes, in tents and even above the blacksmith's shop.

The late Canon Hartley was the first to minister to the congregation and it was through his hard work and devotion that the church was started in 1894.

In 1898 the late Rev. W. Creswick came to the parish and a site on Chalmer's Avenue was donated by Richard Heard for the erection of a church.

Building started immediately and St. Aidan's was dedicated Dec. 28, 1899 by the Ven. Archdeacon Allen.

The Rev. Canon F. H. Battersly, then a student, came into residence in the parish.

In 1906 the Rev. Canon C. R. Spencer took charge of the parish and was responsible for many improvenments, including installation of the bell.

It was in 1915 that the Rev. J. J. Robbins came and during his ministry the ceremony of burning the mortgage took place.

The records show that the Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Hughes came to the parish in 1921 and the ceremony of the consecration of St. Aidan's by the Rt. Rev. James F. Sweeney is recorded.

The Rev. Robert T. C. Dwelly took charge in 1926 and with the assistance of the Peterborough Laymen's Association and the Diocesan Women's Association, more improvements were made and the church and rectory were re-shingled and decorated.

Install Organ

The year 1930 brought the Rev E. C. Moore to the parish, where he remained for 12 years. During that time improvements included installation of a pipe organ, the gift of Grove School. and the erection of the spacious hall in place of the old driving shed.

The Rev. W. D. Knox was next to take charge and he remained there until joining the Air Force during the war.

During Mr. Knox's absence, the Rev. C. A. G. Spence came out of retirement to take charge. He carried on until the present incumbent, the Rev. Canon F. J. Fife came.

Insulation of the church and rectory, interior and exterior decorating to both buildings and renewing the fence are items being done in connection with the half century anniversary.

The anniversary service of thanksgiving will be held in the church on Dec. 28 at 3 p.m., when the Rev. Walter J. Gilling, MBE, recently appointed Rural Dean, will preach. The service will be followed by a reception and supper in the parish hall, when greetings will be extended to former incumbents and other friends of the church.

New Rate System For Telegrams In U.S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17 (AP)—A new rate system for telegrams, with lower charges for some messages and higher for others, was proposed by the Western Union Telegraph Company Friday.

The proposed revision won at least tentative approval from the Federal Communications Commission, which called it "a major step toward rationalization of the domestic telegraph rate structure."

Unless FCC objects, the new rates will go into effect next February 1.

As an example of the new rates, a 10-word straight telegram from New York to Washington would cost eight cents less. From New York to Philadelphia, it would cost four cents higher.

Blame Gas Pocket

SARNIA, Dec. 17 (CP)—Fire department officials Friday blamed a pocket of gas for the explosion which wrecked the frame home of Fred Zawarych at nearby Bluewater Thursday. They ordered the house fenced off until workers fix the trouble. Zawarych was sent to hospital with burns about the head and hands and his son was blown through a crumbling wall.

Apostolic Blessing Conferred On Hospital Auxiliary

At an executive meeting of St. Joseph's Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary Thursday evening in the Nurses' Residence, date of the annual meeting was set for Jan. 26. A nominating committee of Mrs. F. J. Hickey, chairman, and Mrs. J. Grady, Mrs. N. McConkey, Mrs. J. T. Doleman and Mrs. A. Doris was named to bring in a slate of officers for 1950. Mrs. J. V. Gallivan, president, was chairman.

Mrs. Gallivan reported that His Holiness, Pius XII, had bestowed his Apostolic Blessing upon the auxiliary and its work. Announcement of this favor was conveyed to the auxiliary by His Excellency, Bishop Berry, on his return from Rome.

A motor for the infant resuscitator and a gas machine will be purchased by the auxiliary for the case room of the hospital. A gift of yearly subscriptions to two magazines will be sent to the library of the nurses' residence.

Mrs. J. F. O'Brien gave a report of meetings held at Norwood, Hastings and Ennismore to enlist support in these communities for auxiliary work. The response was enthusiastic at each gathering.

A Christmas message was read from the president of the Ontario Hospital Aid Association stressing the important work being done by the different branches and asking for continued co-operation.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served by the Sisters of the hospital.

Christmas Meeting Of WCTU Held

Members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union were entertained at the home of Mrs. Wm. Tinker, Burnham St., Thursday for their annual Christmas meeting. An entertaining program had been prepared by Mrs. W. H. Morton, who presided.

Singing of Christmas carols opened the meeting. Miss E. Tomlinson read a Christmas story of Gospel narratives of Christ's birth and offered prayer.

The Rev. E. J. Whan, guest speaker, pictured the darkness and the brightness of present-day living and pointed out that as Christ elevated the spiritual standards of his day on earth, the same can be done for today, through His followers.

Mrs. L. McLaren rendered two solos, "The Christ Child" and "Night of Nights" accompanied by Mrs. Jas. Ellis. The reading, "Out To Old Aunt Mary's" by Jas. Whitcombe Riley, given by Mrs. J. F. Reycraft, took the hearers in fancy back to childhood days and pleasures.

The program was followed by the serving of refreshments. A hearty vote of thanks was expressed to the hostess.

For Bad Winter Coughs, Mix This Syrup at Home

This well known recipe is used by many thousands of housewives, because they have found that it gives them an effective, dependable medicine for distressing winter coughs. It's so easy to mix—anyone can do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for effect on throat irritations.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all and takes but a moment. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey instead of sugar syrup.)

Put the Pinex into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of cough syrup, unusually quick-acting and dependable, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be surprised by the way it takes hold of severe coughs, giving quick, satisfying relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please in every way.

Pinex Saves You Money. Fast Relief. Easily Mixed.

Parents Should Consider Child's Feelings, Use Tact

I often wonder why tact is a discredited domestic virtue, and why we never feel that it is necessary to use the same finesse in dealing with our own families that we do with strangers? Yet Heaven knows it is far more important to us to get along amiably and smoothly with our husbands and wives and children than it is to smooth the fur of casual acquaintances the right way.

Dorothy Dix

Not long ago at dinner in a house in which I was visiting, the small son spilt soup on the tablecloth and his mother reprimanded him publicly and sharply. "You clumsy creature," she cried "look what youve done spotted my best cloth. You have the table manners of a pig. Why can't you learn how to eat decently?"

To which the little chap, hurt and humiliated, responded: "Why don't you say to me that it doesn't make a bit of difference and the tablecloth has to be washed, anyway, as you said to Mr. X. yesterday when he spilt his coffee?"

And I thought, why not, indeed? Why should she have been more tender of Mr. X.'s feelings than she was of her own little child's? Why should she treat Mr X. with more consideration than she did the little boy she really loved?

Too Much Trouble

And if the mother had answered the question honestly she would have been forced to reply that is was because she didn't think it was worthwhile to take the trouble even to be civil to her own child. And we all fall under the same condemnation. Why, if we said to other people the things we say to our own we wouldn't have a friend left in the world nor ever be invited to another party.

When Mr. A. goes to dinner at Mrs. B.'s he is suavity itself. He tells her how beautiful and young she is looking, though he may be thinking quite the contrary, and when she says that she is afraid the cook has a little too much salt in the soup, he says not at all, that he likes salty soup. And if the roast is tough and stringy he gulps it down without comment.

But does he use any such tact in dealing with the wife of his bosom? I should say not. "Say, this soup is nothing but brine. It is a funny thing to me that a woman of even average intelligence can make soup every day of her life without ever finding out how much salt to put in, or how to pick out a roast that is edible instead of letting the butcher palm off on her something that would pull a bulldog's teeth out if he tried to chew it."

Wife At Fault, Too

Nor is his wife any more diplomatic in dealing with her husband. "For pity sake, Henry are you going to tell that old story over again? Everbody has heard you tell it forty times and it wasn't funny in the first place."

Haven't you seen a man's face fall when he brought his wife home a bunch or roses and she looked at them and sniffed and said: "Oh, roses. Violets are the only flowers I care for." Or when he presented her with a box of candy and she thrust it aside without even thanks because she preferred caramels to chocolates or vice versa. Yet if any strange man had brought her flowers or candy, she would have gone into ecstasies over them, no matter what they had been.

And haven't you seen a man refuse even to taste the dessert his wife has spent an hour on a hot day in summer preparing for him? Yet he would have been touched to tears, almost, at the thought of any other woman foregoing her beauty sleep to cater to his appetite.

And who but our families are tactless enough to tell us that we are getting fat, or are looking sick, or that we are spoiling our children, or that we haven't any taste in clothes, or that we talk too much about our babies?

Curious that those who loves us best should be the ones who are least considerate of our feelings.

Perhaps that is the reason that there are so many divorces and why children leave home. We fly to those who use some diplomacy in dealing with us.

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest her column.

Carol Channing Toast of City For Latest Play

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(CP)—A tall, solidly-built blonde actress is the latest toast of Broadway She is saucer-eyed Carol Channing who tops six feet.

The occasion for the hoopla was the arrival of the musical version of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

As unfolded at the Ziegfield Theatre, it proves a highly diverting reissue of the saga of Lorelei Lee of Little Rock, Ark., whose adventures brought author Anita Loos into the spotlight of fame in the 1920s. Subsequently her best-selling novel was made into a straight play.

Now Miss Loos and Joseph Fields have collaborated to turn out the story in musical form with lively music by Jules Styne and some entertaining lyrics by Leo Robin. Such experts hands as director John C. Wilson and dance arrnger Agnes de Mille contributed to the production and the results afford a happy, if nostalgic, whiff of the rowdy decade that followed the First World War.

One of Miss Channing's main assets in the musical is her ability to look dumb. Another is her voice, at times throaty, at times piping. And she minces across the stage in a manner so grotesque that it is laughable in itself.

Miss Channing, whose husband, Alex Carson, played football this fall for Ottawa Rough Riders, brings the house down with some of her songs, notably "A Little Girl From Little Rock" and "Diamonds Are A Girl's Best Friend."

Canadian Dancers

The Volkoff Canadian Ballet, a Toronto group, will be seen in New York tonight in a production of a ballet called "Red Ear of Corn," first produced at the Canadian Ballet Festival. Appearing on the same program will be the Ruth Sorel dance group of Montreal. Both are performing at the Choreographers' Workshop in their first appearances in the United States.

Milestones

Fay Kanin's play, "Goodbye, My Fancy," in which Madeleine Carroll and Ann Harding respectively starred, bowed out last Saturday after 446 performances. Closing the same night was the double bill of Terance Rattigan plays, "The Browning Version" and "A Harlequinade," with Maurice Evans and Edna Best.

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

From the many letters I receive concerning Canasta and the information I have gathered while traveling, it appears that the rules and some of the finer points of the game are still confusing to many people.

In this new series of columns. I will endeavor to clear up questions on Canasta and help you to play better, score more points and have more fun at the game. Today I am going to discuss some of the conflicting points in connection with the canastas themselves, in question and answer form:

✧ ✧ ✧

Question: I meld a completed canasta at one time, either natural or mixed. Does this meet the requirements for minimum melds? In other words, suppose that I am less than 1,500 on the score and therefore need only 50 for a minimum meld. If I have seven natural five-spots in my hand, can I meld them? Do the seven five-spots count 35 points or 535 points?

✧ ✧ ✧

Answer: It is unfortunate that a set of rules was distributed which stated that the meld of a natural canasta always satisfied the minimum (the bonus for a canasta being counted for that purpose). This is wrong. The newer rules state that for the purpose of fulfilling the minimum count, a meld is valued by totalling the total values of its component parts.

Therefore, if you meld seven five-spots, you have melded a total of only 35 points. It is true that at the end of the hand, you will receive a bonus of 500 or 300 points for your Canasta, but so far as the meld is concerned, only the actual value of the cards counts.

✧ ✧ ✧

Question: Someone told me that I could not receive the 800-point bonus for four red treys unless I had completed a canasta. Is that true?

✧ ✧ ✧

Answer: No, this is not true. If you have four red treys on the table, they count 800 points for you as soon as you have made a legal minimum meld. However, if the opponents go out before your side makes a legal meld, the red treys count against you.

✧ ✧ ✧

Question: If I have a completed canasta in my hand, and can play all of my cards, can I go out with a concealed hand even though we do not have the minimum meld down on the table?

✧ ✧ ✧

Answer: Yes, you can go out with a concealed hand which contains a canasta. The minimum meld requirement is waived for concealed hands.

✧ ✧ ✧

Question: When a canasta has been completed, may I add as many wild cards to it as I want to, or do I have to add two natural cards for each wild card?

✧ ✧ ✧

Answer: After a canasta has been completed, you may add as many natural or wild cards to it as you please. Remember, however, that if you have a natural canasta, and you add one or more wild cards to it, you reduce your canasta from a natural one to a mixed one.

Mr. McKenney is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions on Canasta in his column.

"What's Right?"

You are making up your Christmas card list.

WRONG WAY: Scratch anyone of the list who neglected to send you a card last year.

RIGHT WAY: Let the Christmas cards you send be a gesture of friendship, rather than a calculated attempt to come out even, sending cards only to the persons you feel sure will send a card to you

Stock Markets Push Higher During Week

By The Canadian Press

Stock prices pushed their way into higher ground this week.

Wall Street held the spotlight as investors rushed into the market, carrying the average price level to the highest peak in about 18 months.

Canadian markets largely failed to reflect the upsurge in New York.

Interest on Wall Street increased steadily during the five days. Feeling of some investors is that the first half of 1950 will be continued improvement in business. They want to be the in on the present upward movement.

Many observers, however, say that there is a considerable number of investors—those who salted their holdings away in 1946—waiting to get out of the market and they look for a slight upward movement at the most for early 1950.

The New York market plowed steadily upwards, through profit-taking in brisk trade this week. Advances were slow Monday and Tuesday. The broadest market on record was chalked up Wednesday as prices slowly gained. Oils were strong Thursday and price movements were narrow Friday.

Highest Since July

The Associated Press 60 stock average closed Friday at 71—the highest point since mid-July and a gain of 1.6 from the previous Friday.

Canadian markets were uncertain, only slightly mirroring the Wall Street advance.

In Toronto, industrials showed a gain of 1.05 on the exchange's index. Several individual issues featured, especially on dividend developments.

The Toronto trading spotlight turned to Western oil stocks during the five days. Heavy demand lifted the list ahead for four successive sessions before it encountered profit-taking Friday. Western oils showed an advance of 3.20 on the exchange's index.

Consolidated mining and smelting dipped in base metals following news of a dividend reduction. The group lost 1.36. Golds moved narrowly, ending down .01.

Grain markets were mixed from last Friday. In Chicago, a slightly firmer tone prevailed, with December wheat, corn and oats gaining. Rye dipped. In Winnipeg, trends were downwards, December barley leading oats lower. Rye firmed.

EARLY ALMANAC

The first almanac published in the United States came from the Bradford press in Philadelphia in 1687.

Premier Frost Opens Addition To Hospital

BRAMPTON, Ont., Dec. 17 (CP)—Premier Frost of Ontario, opening a new $335,000 addition to the Brampton General Hospital Friday, said that since the Ontario government in 1947 began contributing so much per bed towards new hospital construction, it has approved grants totalling $10,652,000 for this purpose.

The government, in addition, has provided maintenance grants, amounting this year to $6,500,000 compared with $987,155 in 1943, which was Mr. Frost's first year as provincial treasurer.

Church Unity Slogan In U.S.

GREENWICH, Conn., Dec. 17—(AP)—From today on, American Protestants are going to hear more and more about a thing called Church Unity.

For the first time in the history of the country, a day-to-day campaign will be under way to create a single Protestant church in the United States in some fashion yet to be decided.

That was the result of the conference on church union which ended here Friday after months of preparation and three days of actual sessions.

The conference didn't rush things—it didn't come up with an actual "plan for union," but rather a "plan for a plan."

Instead of a hard-and-fast plan for a Protestant merger, the conference gave its name to a permanent, official organization that will try to find the royal road to unification during the next year and present it at a new conference early in 1951.

Seven churches with more than 14,000,000 members sponsored the conference, and seven other churches and the four great interchurch councils lent them moral support by sending observers. American Protestantism as a whole has nearly 45,000,000 members.

Methodist bishop Ivan Lee Holt, of St. Louis, a veteran of the long Methodist struggle for unification, was named to lead the conference as chairman of the continuing executive committee.

Elephant Goes Wild

PRESTON, Lancashire, England, Dec. 17 (Reuters)—A three-ton circus elephant went wild on a train near here today, smashed the sides of its truck, and injured a Swiss bear trainer. A detachment of soldiers from a nearby barracks shot the elephant dead. The bear trainer, 22-year-old Auguste S. Natsche, struggled to soothe the elephant and was flung about in the shattered truck. He was rushed to the hospital here.

OLD ST. NICHOLAS GETS AROUND — Santa Clause really rolls—at this time of year, anyway—seeing more people, and doing more things than you would ever expect one jolly, old man to do. He has his troubles now and then, too, just like the ordinary, run-of-the-sidewalk Christmas shopper. ABOVE LEFT: Santa meets an Eskimo, in a Chicago store. The youngster is Luther Neagoruk, 8, a hospital patient. ABOVE RIGHT: Three Kings of the Orient, Latin version of the Christmas spirit, flew up from Mexico to meet an American Santa Clause in Los Angeles. RIGHT: Tops in the trade is Jacob Nacken, 7-foot, 8-inch Santa, being groomed for his role at a New York kiddies' party.

Expect Postponement In Albert Guay Trial

QUEBEC, Dec. 17 (CP)—Postponement was indicated Friday of the murder trial of J. Albert Guay, 32-year-old Quebec jeweller, arising from a September plane crash that killed 23 persons.

The trial was fixed in October for Jan. 9 but Premier Duplessis said at a press conference Friday that a special sitting of Quebec Criminal Assizes Court, now adjourned, will start Feb. 13.

Selling Military Goods To Warring Parties

OTTAWA, Dec. 17 (CP) — A diplomat from troubled Asia disclosed Friday that Canada is selling military goods to both parties of a dispute which could at any time erupt into war.

Mushtaq Gurmani, ambassador-at-large for Pakistan, said that both his country and neighboring India have bought "military" equipment from Canada.

He emphasized later that in the case of Pakistan, this equipment included only such items as trucks, boots and clothing.

Arrested In Hungary

VIENNA, Dec. 17 (AP)—Israel Jacobson, director of the American Joint Distribution Committee in Hungary, has been arrested by Hungarian police, it was learned here today. Hungarian officials confirmed his arrest, but refused to specify the charges against him.

Fifth Convention

MONTREAL, Dec. 17 (CP) — The fifth annual conference of the Canadian Industrial Editors Association will be held here Feb. 16-17 with delegates from many parts of the dominion and the United States in attendance, it was learned Friday night. More than 2000 are expected to attend.

Decide Mother Starved Her Son

CHICAGO, Dec. 17 (AP) — A coroner's jury blamed a twice-married mother Friday for the starvation death of her three-year-old son—a nearly blind boy who weighed only 13 pounds.

The jury recommended that Mrs. Florence Nykaza Ramsey, 28, be charged with manslaughter in the death Thursday of Tommy Nykaza. The jurors also urged that her other three youngsters "be taken into juvenile custody where they may be provided with proper care."

Mrs. Ramsey screamed hysterically and gahetred her children around her when she heard the verdict.

Car Crashes Into Trees Along Douro Road

The car of Dennis Remnant of Lakefield was damaged to the extent of about $100 Friday when it crashed into some trees by the side of the township road between Concessions 5 and 6 in Douro.

Remnant was not injured.

The vehicle struck a rut on the ice-covered road and veered off into the ditch eventually coming to rest against a clump of trees, three miles north of Lakefield.

Provincial Constable D. W. Coffey investigated.

Post Police Guard

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Dec. 17 (AP)—A police guard was posted Friday outside the Montchoisi Clinic, where Princess Aly Khan—movie actress Rita Hayworth—is expected to have a baby shortly. The Princess herself is still at the Palace Hotel here. The baby's expected date of birth is still being kept secret.

Chain Gang Prisoner Finds Windsor Haven

WINDSOR, Dec. 17 (CP) — A prisoner who escaped a Tennessee chain gang has found a haven in his native Windsor.

Essex County Judge Albert J. Gordon denied Tennessee's request for extradition of Lawrence Sidney Guy, 20, who escaped from the Shelby County Penal Farm last April 20.

It was the first time in Windsor's history that such a request had been denied.

Guy returned home after serving six months of a three-year sentence for the $1,066 robbery of a Nashville couple.

Seventh Man Dies

ROSWELL, N. M., Dec. 17 (AP)—Sgt. Adria L. Edgell, 21, Bristol, Va., died Friday, bringing to seven the toll in Thursday's B-29 crash. He was the second to die of injuries after being rescued from the flaming wreckage. Five others were killed outright when the United States Air Force plane clipped a windmill and crashed on the edge of Roswell on a routine flight.

Red Scientists Develop Atom-Splitting Device

BERLIN, Dec. 17 (Reuters) — Russian scientists have developed a "super atom-splitting" machine combining the advantages of the American cyclotron and betatron, the Soviet news bureau reported Friday night in a cable from Moscow.

The story said the machine, called a synchrotron, was developed by Russian Professor W. L. Weksler, and is claimed to give electron much greater energy than can be achieved by the betatron.

"Any desired change in the nuclei can be carried out with this machine," the report said. "By the use of particularly fast electrons it is hoped to penetrate the secrets of the cosmic rays."

80 Years Railroading

HAMILTON, Dec. 17 (CP) — Eighty years of railroading by three generations of a family was concluded Friday with the retirement of Edward G. Dartnell, 63, from the Canadian National Railways. Mr. Dartnell, 46 years on the job, started as a section hand in 1903 as a member of a gang bossed by his father. His grandfather started the family working on the railroad when he got a job in 1870 with the Toronto and Nipissing Railway.

End 3-Day Hearing In Ford Dispute

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 17 (CP)—An Ontario Government conciliation board Friday concluded three days of hearing a contract dispute between the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., and the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

The main issue is the union's demand for a company-financed pension plan, similar to that won by United States Ford workers.

The board's decision is not binding on either party. After receiving supplementary written arguments, it will report to Labor Minister Charles Daley, of Ontario. It's report is not likely to be ready before year-end.

Says Witnesses Paid $60 A Week

JOLIETTE, Que., Dec. 17 (CP)—Police Chief Valmore Lapierre said Friday night he learned "from a confidential source" that Winnifred Parsons of Sarnia, and Olive Lundell, Toronto, received "$60 a week each' for distributing Jehovah's Witnesses literature.

He told The Canadian Press in a telephone interview that the two girls had tried to "indoctrinate" him in his office the day before they were taken to Montreal by two men Wednesday.

When he told them he knew they were being paid for their work in distributing the sect's literature, "neither of the girls denied it," the police official said.

Lie Refuses To Stand For Executive Position

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Dec. 17 (CP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie announced Friday he is not a candidate for reappointment as executive head of the United Nations.

Expected difficulty in obtaining big-five agreement on a successor, raised the strong possibility, however, that the former Norwegian foreign minister would be kept on the job after his five-year term expires in January, 1951.

Rent Controversy Going Strong With Duplessis

QUEBEC, Dec. 17 (CP)—Rentals control controversy between Premier Duplessis and Finance Minister Abbott today remained in full-flight following a 24-hour exchange of telegrams.

Premier Duplessis Friday disclosed that he had sent a message to Mr. Abbott Thursday night expressing the view that a provincial system of rent controls would "aggravate" the rents problem while Federal controls remained in effect.

The telegram also expressed the view that the Federal government should extend financial compensation to "interested parties" who have suffered from Federal controls.

The Finance Minister came back with a telegram reply late Friday reiterating the Federal government's stand expressed in telegram the day before that controls will be suspended in any province that chooses to take over the rent problem.

Shortly after Premier Duplessis held his brief rent control press conference, he held his regular weekly meeting with newspaper men and released a copy of the Quebec government's reply to Prime Minister St. Laurent's proposal for a general Federal-Provincial conference next autumn.

Premier Duplessis said the Quebec Government's view was that a Federal-Provincial conference fixed for Jan. 10 to discuss constitutional questions should also decide the dates and agenda of any further conferences that are necessary.

Increases Libel Suit

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP) — Drew Pearson, radio commentator and columnist, Friday won court permission to increase from $500,000 to $1,200,000 his libel actions against columnist Westbrook Pegler and others. Pearson contends he and Pegler reached an agreement in 1946 not to criticize each other publicly. Pearson claims Pegler violated the agreement in his columns of last May 23, June 8 and July 2. Pegler denies making any such pact.

What Causes Film Stars Fall From Fame

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 17 (AP)—Ever wonder what happens when a movie star falls from fame?

That thought intrigued me this week as I watched a bunch of old-time stars gather to honor Cecil B. DeMille, who began shooting the first feature picture 36 years ago.

There were many stars who were national idols 20 and 30 years ago, but are just half-remembered names today. I asked some of them how they left the Hollywood scene.

Francis X. Bushman, dashing hero with the classic profile, said he was ruined by the disclosure that he had a family.

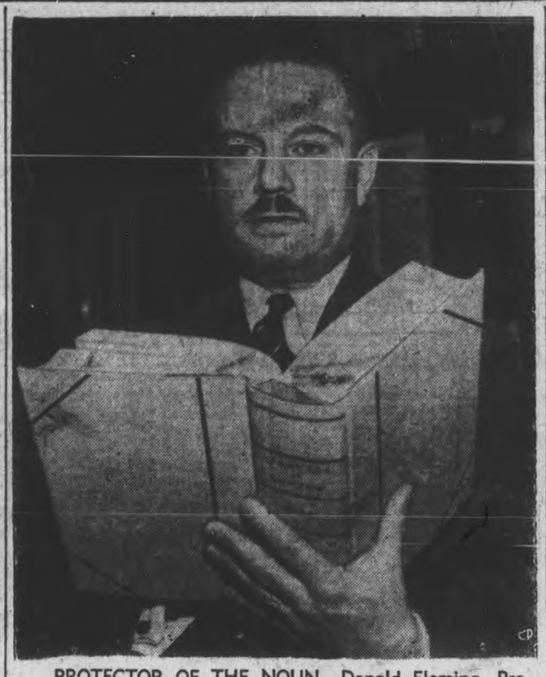
"It wasn't so bad that I was married," he remarked, "but the real blow was that I had five kids. Women had been writing me to marry them and naturally they were outraged by the news. I was finished.

A Pioneer

"Nowadays movie stars can have large families and it does not affect their popularity. I had to be the pioneer."

Mae Murray, once the epitome of glamor, told a more personal reason for her screen retirement. "I had risen to the heights," she said. "I could go no higher. So I decided to leave it all behind and listen to my soul for a while."

William Farnum, perhaps the highest paid star of all time: "I had saved $4,000,000, so I decided to quit and enjoy it. I wanted to go back to the stage and do the things I had always yearned to do. Then the crash of '29 wiped me out and I had to go back to pictures. By then, it was too late to take over where I had left."



Never Quit

Herbert Rawlinson, one-time matinee idol: "When you reach a certain age, the face changes, the hair turns color, and you are a different person. When I was around 35, I found I couldn't play romantic leads any more. So I went back to the stage. When I returned to pictures, my hair was white, and I began playing characters."

Ramon Novarro, famed for Ben Hur: "In those days, you were a romantic hero, and you couldn't change your character. In time, you ran out of roles and there was nothing left for you to do but get out."

Manslaughter Sentence

HULL, Que., Dec. 17 (CP) — Roma Anderson, 47, of Deschenes, Que., Friday was sentenced to 4½ years in penitentiary when she was convicted on a charge of manslaughter. The charge was laid in connection with the death last March of Jacqueline Lambert 21, of Hull following an illegal operation.

PROTECTOR OF THE NOUN—Donald Fleming, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Toronto Eglinton, scans the Statutes of Canada for possible grammatical errors, such as the use of the noun as an adjective, which he deplored during a Commons debate. J. D. Robins, professor of English at Victoria College in Toronto, says Mr. Fleming is needlessly severe in his condemnation of such phrases as "corporation director" and "taxation year," which Mr. Fleming considers bad grammar.

Fleming Nearly Wipes Out Many Corporation Directors

By EDGAR SIMON

TORONTO, Dec. 17 —(CP)— A Progressive Conservative member of Parliament nearly wiped out a host of corporation directors last week. Only the timely intervention of a professor of English preserved their existence.

Donald Fleming, member for Toronto Eglinton, insisted in the Commons that the corporation directors were grammatical errors to be expunged. In effect, he demanded that they rewrite themselves into directors of corporations.

Specifically, Mr. Fleming was deploring the use of nouns as adjectives in such phrases as "corporation director," "taxation year," and "passenger and goods transport."

Known as a Parliamentary expert on grammar, he withered this usage during a blast at the government for what he considered faulty English in the phrasing of its legislation.

Raps Draftsmanship

Looking over a bill embodying Income-Tax changes, Mr. Fleming objected to its draftsmanship on discovering the presence of adjectival nouns "in violation of the rules of good English grammar."

Finance Minister Abbott, complaining mildly that Mr. Fleming should have spotted the alleged offences when the bill was first introduced last spring, promised to have them deleted.

Had the effects of Mr. Fleming's attack been confined to mere corporation directors and draftsmen of government bills, their doom might have been sealed. But his pronouncement was even more sweeping.

It would have meant that annihilation of all investment dealers, union organizers, party whips, hockey players, opposition leaders, radio executives — and newspaper men.

Fighting for his own survival, a Canadian Press reporter took his case to a higher court — the Department of English at the University of Toronto.

He first tried the faculty of University College, where Mr. Fleming, a lawyer, perfected his mastery of the English language 24 years ago. One of Mr. Fleming's former teachers, unwilling to tarnish the reputation of a prize pupil, declined to be quoted.

Ready To Talk

But Professor J. D. Robins of the English Department at Victoria College was less reticent. He declared that the use of the noun as an adjective is "thoroughly accepted."

Mr. Robins, whose "the incomplete anglers" has been ranked among Canada's 100 best literary works, dismissed Mr. Fleming's stand on the adjectival noun as "thoroughly pedantic."

"Mr. Fleming is observing faithfully the rules he learned in 5 and 6 of public school," he said.

Carried to extremes, the construction might be objectionable but in general, it was good English. Specifically, there was nothing wrong with taxation years, corporation directors or passenger and goods transport.

Mr. Robins added that the rule prohibiting adjectival nouns never did hold very well, and the language is full of them.

Fire Destroyed Log Home Of Aged Couple

MOUNT PLEASANT, Dec. 17—(ENS)—An aged couple, Mr. and Mrs. William Langton, were left homeless Thursday as fire razed their log home on the outskirts of the village. The little log house was one of the landmarks of Mount Pleasant being built nearly 100 years ago.

While cutting wood at 4 p.m. in the small shed near the house, Mr. Langton smelled smoke and opened the door leading into the kitchen. He was met by a wall of fire. Mrs. Langton was in the village at the time.

Seeing the smoke and flames a crowd of nearly 100 people tried to form a bucket brigade but by this time little could be done by the volunteers. The fire had a good start in the dry building and in an hour and a half nothing was left.

The origin of the fire is unknown but it is believed that the wood stove in the kitchen became over-heated.

With the house that had been their home for the past 27 years went all their belongings, clothes and furniture. Nothing was saved The house is covered by a small amount of insurance.

At present the couple are staying with neighbors until they decide what they are going to do. Upon this decision help, both financial and material, will be given by the people of the neighborhood.

Mr. Langton has been in ill-health for the last few years and has been doing odd jobs about the village. One of these is caretaker of the Emily Presbyterian cemetery.

Discuss Cheesemaking

NORWOOD, Dec. 17 (ENS). — Killarney Cheese Factory annual meeting was held on Monday at the home of Mrs. Joseph Metcalfe. There was a large attendance and it was unanimously decided to continue to operate the factory during the coming season. Officers appointed were: President, Frank Andrews; secretary, Dean MacNaughton; directors, Ross Legge, Percy Williams, Gordon Stewart, and Charles Fish; auditor, Art Andrews; patrons' secretary, Mrs. Wesley Chamberlain.

Canadians Gobbling Up Oysters From Maritimes

HALIFAX, Dec. 17 (CP)—Whether they fry 'em, bake 'em or slide 'em down whole, Canadians seem to be gobbling more oysters.

Maritime oyster fishermen, taking advantage of keen demand and scientific-breeding methods, are looking forward to a record season as they total up this year's yield.

Oysters, although a small money-earner when compared with such mass-market deep-sea varieties as cod, provide a ready source of income from the luxury markets.

In October, for instance, Nova Scotia oysters were worth $17,000 The catch of cod, most popular deep-sea fish, was valued at $344,000. But the margin of profit is small and the labor heavy in handling cod whereas the opposite is true for the oysterman.

New Brunswick is the biggest producer of the shellfish delicacy Last year's 7,108,700-pound catch exceeded the previous year's total by 2,161,000 pounds and brought close to $350,000.

Prince Edward Island, whose Malpeque oysters are synonomous with top quality, is second. This year island fishermen planned to ship nearly 10,000,000 high-grade oysters in barrels.

Price Varies

The price for a barrel varies with the quality. The fancy grade brings $20, choice $15, standard $11 and sub-standards $2.50.

Nova Scotia is the smallest producer. In 1946, the last year for which figures are available, oysters brought about $35,000 for fishermen in the province. This year the harvest is expected to be greater.

FRESH FROM THE SEA—A New Brunswick oysterman inspects crates of different grades of oysters, fresh from the Atlantic. The Maritimes oyster yield, although small compared to that of such mass-market products as cod, provides fishermen with a good income.

At Ellerhouse on the Prince Edward Island the fisheries research board maintains the only planned oyster-fishing area in Canada. The harvest this season from these beds was the result of five years' careful "farming." These beds produce a high-grade product from the natural beds.

The cultivated beds take oyster larvae and raise them to harvest size.

In New Brunswick oyster fishing is concentrated mainly along the north shore. Here, as in the other two provinces, fishermen use a 300-year-old Indian method of harvesting from the sea bottom.

A pair of tongs with 12-foot handles is used to scoop the oysters from the sea floor by fisherman operating from small dories.

Incidentally, it is a misconception that oysters are poisonous during May, June, July and August, the months without the "R" actually, they are lean and not tasty during this period when they are preparing to spawn or are spawning later they fatten and are at their best in October and November.

SYDNEY MAYOR HELD FOR MURDER

Phone Rate Boost Out Until March

Board Will Hear Application Then For Temporary Hike

OTTAWA, Dec. 19—(CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners ruled today that it will not consider an application for temporary increases in telephone rates in Ontario and Quebec before next March.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada had applied for a 10-per-cent temporary increase in some phone rates, pending hearings by the Board and its application for increases averaging up to 20 per cent for most types of service.

The application for a temporary boost was opposed by several municipalities.

After a brief recess, the Board ruled it would not hear the application at once. It indicated it will hear the main application next March and at that time will consider granting a temporary increase if it appears that hearings on the main application will be protracted.

Before the Board declined to hear the case at this time, Bell spokesmen had informed it the company would be willing to post a bond and guarantee refunds to subscribers for any increase that might be given now and, on fuller examination by the Commissioners, found to be too much.

The cities of Toronto, Montreal, St. Catharines, Quebec, Hamilton and London all protested today against the company being allowed to proceed with the temporary application now.

For Toronto, F. A. A. Campbell declared that city did not feel Bell was in such a weak position that it could not get money by other means than a rate increase.

The city of Toronto had been compelled to borrow money from the banks this year, and the phone company could do the same.

Also, Mr. Campbell said, the company should have come to the Board long before it did if it needed money. He felt the subscribers should not be put in the position of paying increased rates until the main case had been heard.

Claude Choquette, representing Montreal, declared it was "arbitrary and unjust" for Bell to ask subscribers for more money without submitting a complete case.

Airliner Makes Crash Landing

LONDON, Dec. 19—(AP)—A British airliner with 10 persons aboard made a safe crash landing today after its undercarriage jammed. None of those aboard was injured.

The twin-engined plane, a British European Airways Viking, took off from Northold Airport at 0:21 a.m. (4:21 a.m. EST) for Brussels with six passengers and a crew of four.

The pilot's message said one wheel of the undercarriage failed to retract.

The Airways ordered the plane to circle over a private airfield at nearby Weybridge, in Surrey, until its gas supply was nearly exhausted and then to try to crash land unless the jammed wheel had been shaken loose in the meantime.

A low gas supply would reduce the danger of explosion.

The fuel was expected to be used up about 1 p.m. (8 a.m. EST).

Police Hire Diver Find Murder Weapon

PORT COLBORNE, Dec. 19 — (CP). — Police today hired Diver Lambert Kelly to probe the depths of the old Canada Cement quarry in a search for the cement block allegedly used in the slaying of George Morrison, transient sailor, in a bush shack last Wednesday.

Charged with murder is 43-year-old Frank Mahagen who last Thursday reported to police he had slain Morrison during a drunken brawl. The two men shared the shack about one mile from the town.

A BRICK HOUSE ON THE MOVE, is something new on city streets. Purchased from Campbell's Dairy by Fred Robinson, the seven-room brick structure is still in the process of being moved from its original lot at 456 Sherbrooke St., across the Park-Reid St. intersection to a vacant lot on the Reid St. triangle. Contractor Dohan of Toronto has moved several brick houses in that city, but the Robinson house is his first in Peterborough. This engineering effort is causing much interest, and not a little speculation, among crowds of sidewalk superintendents.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

3-Storey House Waddles Along Busy Park St.

"For Sale—Seven Room Brick House with full basement and attic, excellent condition, central, residential location. Going for $300."

This advertisement did not actually run in the Examiner, but might well have. The only trouble with the house at that ridiculously low price was that the buyer had to take it with him.

It is the house which until Saturday afternoon stood at 456 Sherbrooke St., behind Campbell's Dairy. The Dairy owned the house, and had to remove it, to make way for extensions to the plant. Several would-be house-owners nibbled at the prospect, but who in Peterborough ever heard of moving a three-storey brick house, except brick by brick, or with dynamite? One man, Fred Robinson, a contractor, thought it could be done. He bought the house, worked at loosening the superstructure from the basement, put in underpinnings and sleepers, and then called on a Toronto house-moving firm to take over.

Tricky Job

The Toronto movers arrived Friday. By Saturday afternoon the house had been pulled into the middle of the Sherbrooke Street roadway. By five o'clock, when they knocked off work for Sunday, it had been turned from its north-south angle to a diagonal. The turning of the house was a particularly tricky job, but mover F. J. Dohan and J. D. McRae, in charge of the operation, took it far more calmly than the hundreds of spectators who expected the three-storey brick building to fall apart like a house of cards at any minute.

The house is resting on huge sleepers, which are sitting on several series of wooden rollers —

4 Armed Youths Hold Up Burford Bank—Get $1,000

BURFORD, Dec. 19—(CP)—Four armed youths held up the Bank of Toronto here today and escaped with about $1,000 in cash. Burford, a Brant County village of about 700 population, is 10 miles west of Brantford.

Police set up road blocks throughout the county in an attempt to cut off the gunmen's escape. Police said the men earlier had held up Balsdon's hardware store here after travelling from Brantford in a stolen taxi.

The thugs hired the cab in Brantford, and forced its driver, Johnnie Gardiner, 30, to drive them toward Burford.

On the outskirts of the village, the bandits robbed Gardiner of $20, tied hi mto a tree and fled in his cab.

Gardiner subsequently wriggled free of his bonds and notified his employers.

Steal Firearms

Police said the thugs helped themselves to firearms in hardware store, and forced Fred Balsdon, Jr., to load the guns. They also took his watch.

The four men were said to have planned the robbery in a washroom of the Lake Erie and Northern Railway station at Brantford early today.

Robert J. Macaulay, ticket clerk, said he had seen four men drinking in the washroom, and had heard one of them say as they left: "Well, let's get our taxi."

Syrian Army Officers Imprison Commander

DAMASCUS, Syria, Dec. 19—(AP)—A group of Syrian army officers today imprisoned their commander-in-chief, Gen. Sami Hennawi, who led last August's military coup and executed President Husni Zayim.

An army communique charged Hennawi had conspired against the present government of Premier Hasem Bey Attasi with unidentified foreign powers. A military spokesman said the action against Hennawi was not a new coup—in this Arab country of stormy army politics—but a "purely disciplinary measure within the army."

(In Cairo well-informed Arab sources reported, without confirmation, that supporters of the late Field Marshal Zim had launched a new coup aimed at the civilian government which Hennawi installed immediately after Zaiyim's overthrow.

Trains Collide 1 Dies, 5 Hurt

DAUPHIN, Man., Dec. 19.—(CP).—One man was killed and five others injured Sunday in a head-on collision between two Canadian National Railways freight trains at Dutton Siding, 24 miles west of here.

Dead is Douglas Lytle, 24, of Highfield, Man., a brakeman who died when pinned under the wheels of a derailed box car. He had leaped from one of the freights just prior to the crack-up.

Injured and taken to hospital are Roy Wells, W. B. Ballantyne, Peter Crowder, R. D. Ross and H. E. Lavalee, all of Dauphin.

The mishap occurred when an eastbound freight, heading from Hamsack, Sask., to Dauphin, with about 35 box cars and an extra engine, rammed head-on into a westbound engine and caboose.

The collision, which occurred on a siding, threw seven box cars and two engines on the eastbound freight off the track. Several box cars overturned across the adjoining main line between Kamsack and Dauphin.

Wells said from his hospital bedside that the eastbound freight, of which he was engineer, was coming downgrade as it approached Dutton Siding. When the train was a few hundred yards from the switch, he said he noticed the swatch was against him. He shouted a warning to the other crew members, then jumped just before the trains collided.

Spot Plane Belonging To Mining Prospectors

FLIN FLON, Man., Dec. 19 (CP) —A plane belonging to two mining promoters missing since last Thursday was sighted Sunday by a search plane flying over Pelican Narrows, 55 miles northeast of here.

George and Hawly Thompson, brothers, had not been heard from since they took off to look at mining claims in the Lac La Ronge area, 160 miles northwest of here.

There was no sign of the men, but the engine cover was on the plane and apparently there was no damage.

Eskimos Help 4 Soldiers Celebrate Christmas Day

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP) — Ogoto the Eskimo didn't understand why the four white men offered him a pack of cigarettes and asm uch tea as he could drink for bringing them a green spruce tree.

But he went for it, carefully stripping off all the bark and branches before delivering it. He didn't understand, either, when they laughed and told him to get another one, and not to strip it.

Ogoto will find out what it's all about in another six days when he sees the tree, sparkling and decorated, and is a guest for Christmas dinner at the lonely Canadian army signals station at Ennadai Lake, 275 miles northwest of Churchill, Man.

Letters received at army headquarters indicate Christmas at other stations of the army's communications network in the Northwest Territories probably won't be as lonely. Ennadai Lake is the newest of the chain—and the most isolated. It was built last summer after equipment and material was freighted in by tractor-train during the winter from Churchill.

At Mayo, Yukon Territory, for example, residents of the tiny community will help the signalmen celebrate. Mayo is 200 miles north of Whitehorse and the Alaska Highway.

But Ennadai Lake probably will be the most unusual Christmas of them all.

Ogoto and about nine other Eskimos in the district will celebrate with the corporal and the three other signalmen at the station—Charles Townely of London, England, Jim Pitre of Bathurst, N. B., and Bob Cotton of Nipawin, Sask.

N.S. Registrar Injured, Left To Die

Police Report Signs Of Bloody Scuffle In Mayor's Automobile

SYDNEY, N.S., Dec. 19 (CP)— A charge of murder was laid today against Mayor Dan Jack MacLean, following the death Sunday night of Joseph MacKinnon, city registrar of voters.

Magistrate Vernon Read heard the charge read by Police Chief R. J. MacDonald. MacLean, taken to hospital Sunday night, did not appear in court but it was considered likely he would hear the charge formally later today and then be remanded.

Sydney, a steel-manufacturing city, has a population of about 30,000.

Mr. MacKinnon, a 63-year-old semi-cripple who walked with a crutch, died in hospital after police found him lying severely injured in an alley in Sydney's south-end.

At that time police said he had been injured in an undetermined mishap involving a car which did not remain at the scene.

Later, police seized a car which they identified as that of MacLean. They said there were signs of a scuffle inside the car and bloodstains on the front seat.

Taken To Hospital

MacLean was taken to hospital for treatment of a gash on his left hand and a police guard was posted at his bedside.

The charge was laid after Crown Prosecutor Donald Finlayson consulted with the attorney general's department at Halifax by telephone.

Two youngsters, who were near the scene Sunday night, told police today of hearing screams and seeing a car driving over the body of a man.

Jackie MacEachern, 14, babysitting near the scene, told police he saw a car "go back and go ahead over a body" in the alley. "I heard screams and at first I thought it was a cat," he said.

Twelve - year - old Margaret MacAskill told police a similar story.

She said she saw the car "going at the body a second time."

Police quoted her as saying: "I heard screams 'Stop Jack, stock Jack.'"

Car Hits Pole

Then she said the car smashed through a fence and struck a telephone pole as it drove away.

Bits of MacKinnon's clothing and a blood-spattered hat and crutch were found in the alley. MacKinnon's head had a severe cut and his chest was crushed.

MacKinnon's last big job was the Dec. 6 civic election when MacLean was re-elected Mayor for his fifth two-year term.

Chinese Clamor To Get Visas

TAIPEN, Formosa, Dec. 19 — (AP)—Official circles buzzed today with a report the Nationalists will counter expected British recognition of Red China by severing relations swiftly with Britain.

As the report was circulated police strove to keep order before the British consulate. Chinese by the hundreds clamored for visas to enter British Hong Kong and a haven from what many consider an impeding Communist attack on this island.

Britain has not yet said officially Red China will be recognised but indications are such a step soon will be forthcoming.

Streams of Chinese poured into Formosa from Hong Kong, too. Many of the influential arrivals hold passport for entry into the United States eventually.

Crew members of the motor junk Tai Min arrived in Hong Kong with the story that Kwangchowan, port opposite Hainan Island in South China, had been captured by the Communists.

The port was the largest on Liuchow Peninsula and is a Springboard to Hainan, Nationalist retreat

SOS From Fishermen

SHELBOURNE, N.S., Dec. 19—(CP)—The fishing vessel J. B. Junior, with possibly 14 men aboard, was reported disabled off this south shore port today and the United States Coast Guard cutter Matagora, which happened to be in the area, has gone to her assistance. No further details were reported to the RCAF search and rescue unit at Halifax. Weather reports for the area said earlier there were 15-mile winds and poor visibility.

Von Manstein Found Guilty, Jailed 18 Years

HAMBURG, Germany, Dec. 19 (AP)—A British military court today sentenced former Field Marshal Erich Von Manstein to 18 years imprisonment for atrocities against Poles and Russians committed by German troops during the war.

Manstein, last of Hitler's generals to be tried by the victorious allies, declined to plead for mercy.

He was found guilty on nine specific charges and was acquitted on eight other counts. All grew out of alleged atrocities by German troops under his command during the Nazi invasion of Poland and Russia.

The president of the court said the sentence would date from today. He was in prison four years waiting his trial. The sentence is subject to confirmation by higher authority.

The decision to try the German Field Marshal after such a lengthy imprisonment had aroused much controversy in Britain.

Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime Prime Minister, was among the prominent people who subscribed to a fund to provide British counsel to defend him.

Tomorrow Manstein will be taken to the prison at Werl, near Hamm, where he will join the two other former German commanders-in-chief, Field Marshals Albert Kesselring and Nikolaus Von Falkenhorst, who are serving war crimes sentences there.

Manstein's face had remained impassive while the sentence was pronounced. His composure had been shaken only once earlier, when the court announced the charges of which he had been convicted.

Then his face blanched and he looked quickly up to the public gallery where his wife was sitting. He regained his poise, however, and quicky assumed a poker face.

Among the charges Manstein was found guilty of was that of "disregarding his duty" to secure public order and to respect family honor, in consequence of which large numbers of Jews and other Soviet citizens were shot, hanged, gassed and drowned by special SS troops in the area of his command.

Rescue Lighthouse Keepers Marooned Six Days 4 In Open, Zero Weather

Boat Strikes Submerged Rock on Trip Pair Tossed Into Icy Water, Separated In Upset, Fight Way To Shore

MANITOWANING, Ont., Dec. 19—(CP)—Marooned for six days—four of them spent in the open in zero weather—a lighthouse keeper and his assistant were rescued Saturday from lonely Great Duck Island, 12 miles from Manitoulin Island in Lake Huron. The men, Bob Leeson, 27, and Ray Hughson, 31, were picked up by a Seabee aircraft chartered by the Department of Transport. Leeson and Hughson were tossed into the lake's icy waters near their lighthouse last Monday when their boat struck a submerged rock as they headed for the mainland after locking up the lighthouse.

"We thought we were done for sure," said Hughson.

"My mackinaw coat must have weighed 45 pounds, and when I got to shore I had to take it off before I could get up." He said they became separated in the water, and when he looked for Leeson he was 30 yards down the beach at the water's edge.

"Bob was kind of delirious I guess," Hughson recalled. "It was pretty close for both of us."

Find Matches

They had trouble finding a dry match in their wet clothes to start a driftwood fire, but finally got one going to dry their clothes.

From the boat which later later drifted ashore, they retrieved clothing and blankets, and bedded down in them for the night. It was Thursday before the water calmed enough for them to put out in their boat and row a half mile to the northerly tip of Great Duck Island.

There the boat was beached and the two hiked four miles through the bush to the lighthouse.

"First thing we did when we got there was hit for the larder," Hughson said. At dusk they relighted the great lighthouse beacon, hoping someone ashore would notice it was lit again and come for them.

Meanwhile, they had been reported missing by John Grant of Silverwater, former lighthouse-keeper, who telephoned the Transport Department office at Parry Sound. The government rescue plane arrived Saturday.

Five Children Die

EMMETT, Mich., Dec. 19 (AP) —Five children in the same family, trapped in their upstairs bedroom, burned to death today when a flash roared through a two-storey fram farmhouse near Emmett.

The parents, Clarence Bethway and his wife, Irene, about 40, escaped with five of their 11 children and Mr. Bethway's 80-year-old mother, through downstairs windows.

Their 11th child, Della, 12, escaped through spending the night with her maternal grandparents.

Three brothers and two sisters lost their lives.

Dead are Freddie Bethway, 3; Beverly Ann, 4; David, 5; Billy, 7; and Thomas, 11.

Two other children, Joe, 8, and Mary Lou, 13, were taken to hospital with serious burns. The grandmother, Mrs. Louis Bethway, 80, and the mother also were treated for burns and shock.

Indian Population Climbs Reaches Total of 130,000

OTTAWA, Dec. 19.—(CP).—Despite the fact that many persons still feel the Indian population is dying out, it has been on the increase for some years, the Health Department reported today.

Present Indian population is estimated at about 130,000, including 8,000 Eskimos who consider themselves quite distinct but are legally grouped with the Indians.

This population now has a higher birth-rate and a higher death-rate than the rest of Canada, but the number of births is ahead of the number of deaths, it was shown in the Health Department's annual report for the year ended last March 31.

During that year, birth rates varied from 40 to 45 per 1,000 population, compared with about 25 in the whole population.

Death rate from usual causes averaged about 17 to 20 per 1,000, compared with about 9.5 among the white population.

Tuberculosis, still noted as a much greater killer in the native population than among whites, was rated as 30 times more deadly. However, this rate is falling "at least as rapidly as within the population at large."

It was estimated that the native population is gaining at about 1.5 persons per year, despite the fact that up to 400 annually are lost by absorption into the general population by enfranchisement alone.

There was a time, the report said, when native populations were on the decline and their future unpromising, but in the 1920's the trend changed.

Standardizing Arms Training 3 Nations Say

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 — (CP).— Canada, the United States, and Britain today formally made public one of their worst-kept military secrets—that they have been working together on standardization of arms and training since 1947.

Informed quarters here said the announcement indicates no new or immediate developments in the long, gradual process of standardization. Any statements about it in the past have related only to joint efforts by two countries—Canada and he US, Canada and the UK, and UK and US, but never to all three together.

The announcement confirmed that all three have been working together.

Announcement made simultaneously in Ottawa, London, and Washington, said their "arrangements will ensure that in time of necessity there will be no material or technical obstacles to full co-operation among the armed forces concerned and the greatest possible economy in the use of combined resources and effort."

The three countries had been exchanging observers "in connection with exercises and the development and testing of material of common interest" in studies which "aim at the gradual development of common designs and standards in arms, equipment and training methods."

Santa's Letters From All Lands

LONDON, Dec. 19 CP —Children today are posting letters to Santa Claus addressed to places as far apart as Iceland and Switzerland. They believe that Santa has a new jet-propelled sled, that allows him to visit workships all over the world.

"We receive about a dozen of these letters every day," said an official of the Christmas-sorting division of the general post office, to which all Santa Claus mail finds its way.

He read over some of the addresses—"Santa Claus, Esq., The Igloo, Lapland," "Father Christmas, Reindeer Park, Fairy Land," "Mr. Father Christmas, Dreamland, North Pole."

One budding young business man sent his letter to "Dear Santa Claus, head office, London, E.C. 3."

A little girl in East Ham asked Santa Claus to send her a greyhound "so I can enter him for some of the races."

Report Russia Building 1,000 Submarines, Rocket-Firing Battleships

Soviet Zone Shipyards Working 24 Hours On Smaller War Vessels; British Experts Say USSR Lacks Equipment

LONDON, Dec. 19—(AP)—While Britain and the United States are scrapping or mothballing many of their warships, Russia is reported to be building up her naval strength with rocket-firing battleshipst and long-range submarines. Jane's Fighting Ships, the authoritative naval publication, said the Russians are believed building three ultra-modern, 35,000-ton battleships, equipped with radio-controlled aerial torpedoes and rockets. Two others are said to be in the blueprint stage, and possibly in the shipyard stocks. Russia already is known to possess two battleships.

The Soviet Union also envisages as part of its five-year naval building program, a fleet of from 750 to 1,000 long-range submarines by 1951, Jane's said.

Shipyards throughout the USSR and in the Soviet zone of Germany were reported working day and night in three shifts turning out smaller war vessels such as motor-torpedo boats and mine sweepers. Jane's, regarded as the last word on the world's navies, emphasized that its information on Russia was presented "with all due reserve." Moscow does not publish details of its defence program.

The new figures were included in Jane's 1949-50 edition which appeared today.

Short On Shipyards

Jane's said it did not believe the Reds had either the shipyards or the technicians to achieve their goal of 1,000 subs by the end of 1951.

Submarine construction, it said, had been given special priority. A large number of new submarines of the German type—with high submerged speeds and long ranges—were scheduled for delivery during 1948-49.

Jane's estimated that Russia now has some 350 submarines of various types, including former German ones.

The three new battleships were said to be the Sovietski Soyuz, the Sovietskaia Belorussia and the Strana Sovietov.

Jane's said there were varying reports of the Sovietski Soyuz. One said that the ship, whose hull was laid down in 1939 at Leningrad, was so badly damaged during the war that construction had to be held up and it still was on the stocks. A shortage of material in Russia was said to preclude its early completion.

Other Reports

Another Jane's report from Sweden said that the Sovietski Soyuz is ready to be finished at Leningrad "and one, possibly two of these powerful ships is now almost ready for service."

Jane's said "there are signs that new fleets are in the making." "In the next few years we are likely to see several categories of warships of revolutionary type, among them the atomic bomber carrier, the guided-missile control vessel, the task-force command ship, the anti-submarine cruiser, rocket destroyers, fast low-lying frigates, and gas-turbine ships."

The British Navy, it said, now has five battleships, compared with its pre-war 15 battleships and battlecruisers, none of these is in active commission.

Jane's observed that though the U.S. Navy has suffered further reductions, "it still is a colossal fleet of 2,600 warships." These included 15 battleships, 103 aircraft carriers and 169 submarines.

Warm Welcome Given Wards At Yokohama

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 19—(AP)—Consul-General and Mrs. Angus Ward came back to fellow Americans today from a year's virtual imprisonment by the Chinese Reds and got a rousing welcome for their 30th wedding anniversary.

The Wards and members of the United States consulate staff at Mukden, Manchuria, arrived here aboard the Lakeland Victory to complete the first leg of their journey back to the U.S.

The Ontario-born consul-general, who was kicked out by the Chinese Communists, said he was overwhelmed by the greetings of some 200 Americans waiting at the pier when the ship docked.

Behind him—but fresh in memory—was what Ward called the "hellish" treatment at the hands of the Reds in Mukden, months of bickering to try to leave the country, and finally his arrest and a month in jail before a "Peoples Court" ordered him expelled. The Communists accused him of beating two Chinese employees in a wage dispute. The U.S. state department said the charge was "trumped up."

Ward walked down the gangplank of the Lakeland Victory to the strains of an enthusiastic U.S. Army band.

Puffing a stubby pipe, Ward was obviously touched by the reception.

Few—if any—of the official greeters and throngs of well wishers on the dock knew their welcome was marking the Wards' 30th wedding anniversary. But crew members of the Lakeland Victory and correspondents aboard the ship had marked the occasion in advance with a party for them Sunday night.

The Wards are scheduled to leave Japan for the U.S. Thursday on the liner President Wilson.

Three Different Views On Sunday Sports

TORONTO, Dec. 19—(CP)—Three different views of the Sunday sport question were taken by three clergymen who used Toronto's coming plebiscite as a subject for sermons Sunday. At the civic elections Jan. 2, citizens will vote on whether legislation should be sought to permit amateur and professional sport and other entertainment on Sundays.

Rev. J. E. Bell, of the Danforth United Church, said there is strong opposition to commercialized Sunday sport. Rev. Northcote Burke of the Anglican Christ Church, Deer Park, called for moderate views on the question. W. H. Grother, minister of the First Seventh - Day Adventist Church, said nowhere in the Bible is Sunday set aside and there is no reason why any more prohibitions should apply to Sunday than any other day.

Steel Demand Steady

CLEVELAND, Dec. 19 (CP)—Industry-wide increases in steel prices are not expected to have any immediate effect on demands for the product, the magazine Steel said Sunday. Other producers are expected by Steel to follow the lead of U.S. Steel which last week raised prices charged by its subsidiaries about $4 a ton.

Western Oil Stocks Hold Against Drop

TORONTO, Dec. 19—(CP)—Western Oil stocks held against a slight downward trend that appeared as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Activity was moderately active with most changes held to small amounts.

Volume for the first three hours was 565,000 shares.

Pacific Petroleum led the upward trend in Western Oils, gaining 10 cents at a new top at $4.30. Calgary and Edmonton was forced down 10 cents by profit-taking.

Industrials were under pressure following Saturday's strong advances. Winnipeg Electric was an outstanding feature, gaining a full point at 37 in brisk dealings. Steel of Canada backed down slightly and liquors and refining oils were lower.

Golds opened higher but also gave way as Senior Producers dipped fractions. Chemical research continued in strong demand and Giant Yellowknife firmed in Juniors.

Labrador added 30 cents at $4.85 while Sherritt Gordon dipped 12 cents at $2.21 in brisk base metal dealings.

OIL CENTRE GROWS

Edmonton has been chosen for the site of the new oil refinery with a capacity of 2,000,000 barrels per year.

UK Haggles About Food In All World Markets

By ALLAN HARVEY

LONDON, Dec. 19—(CP)—Britain's Food Ministry, the biggest super-market of them all, is in trading difficulties with clients spread across the world. The huge state trading organization, which has 37,000 employees and a turnover of more than £1,500,000,000 a year, is engaged in delicate negotiations with Canada, Australia, the British West Indies and Uruguay. There are also frequent reports of haggling over Argentine meat, but a ministry spokesman said Saturday that supplies are arriving as anticipated.

The Food Ministry is probably the world's greatest grocer. Its estimates for purchases, freight and storage during 1949-50 totalled £1,521,000,000, compared to estimated receipts of £1,132,000,000.

Current Headaches

The ministry's current headaches include:

1. Canada: Negotiations of Anglo-Canadian food contracts for 1950. In recent transatlantic exchanges, Agriculture Minister James Gardiner of Canada has said Britain is pushing Canadian food products off British markets as part of a deliberate official policy. Spokesmen here retort that it is purely a dollar problem.

2. Australia: Anglo-Australian wheat talks. Australia is understood to be resisting Britain's request for wheat at a price considerably less than maximum levels fixed under the international wheat agreement. A ministry informant said that negotiations on this "tricky and complicated" subject are still going on.

3. Indies: Commonwealth sugar talks. The West Indies are reported seeking a 10-year agreement on tonnage and prices. Britain, which re-exports part of these purchases to Canada, wants to buy less sugar and to sign up for only eight years. The Commonwealth talks were broken off two weeks ago. No date was fixed for resumption.

The Food Ministry is also having trouble with Uruguay, which last year supplied 34,000 tons of meat. Britain is also reported to have dropped food negotiations with Mexico.

Powerful Arguments

Some British newspapers seized on the ministry's difficulties as a powerful argument against state trading, saying Britain does nothing but "wrangle" with other countries.

All indications here are that any wrangling is strictly on the surface. Recently, when statements by Labor's left wing tended to create an impression of British hostility toward Canada, the Canadian Press Bureau in London tried to learn what the government thought about it.

The influential official took the case to Prime Minister Attlee. The result was a statement by Sir Stafford Cripps on Nov. 25 in which the chancellor of the exchequer said he "utterly repudiates" those who try to create bad blood between Britain and Canada.

It is understood the statement still stands.

Truman Faces Problem Of Dealing With Lewis

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 19—(AP)—President Truman and Congress may have to face a problem next month—how to get John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers back on a five-day week.

Pressure is increasing for the president to invoke the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

Industry leaders say Lewis has created a national emergency through the four full-scale walkouts he's called this year and the three-day week which he has ordered definitely for his 480,000 United Mine Workers.

There's enough coal on hand for about three months unless unusually-cold weather prevails. But retailers and steel companies are watching their dwindling stockpiles and are worried.

30 Fatalities Mar 46th Year Of Flying

By The Canadian Press

Scattered plane crashes throughout the world took 30 lives during a weekend which marked the 46th anniversary of the pioneer flight of the Wright brothers.

Seventeen bodies were discovered Saturday in the wreckage of a Mexican plane which had crashed a day earlier into a mountain peak in that country's third major air disaster in a year and a half. In Paris, a Belgian transport plane crashed Sunday on takeoff, killing all eight persons aboard. Three United States Air Force men were killed in a twin-engined bomber which crashed in California during the weekend. And two college students returning home for the Christmas holidays died when their light plane crashed, also in California.

In addition, 26 persons escaped injury when a Trans-World airliner ran through a boundary fence at Chicago municipal airport and was badly damaged. The pilot said his brakes failed.

Newspaperman Dies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 (CP)—James Sullivan Collins, veteran newspaperman and government information official, died Saturday in hospital. He was 56. Until this fall, Collins was deputy administrator of the War Assets Administration in charge of information and advertising.

Cabbie Slaying At Welland Puzzles Police

WELLAND, Dec. 19—(CP)—Seven acquaintances of cab driver Sam Delibasich, 47, were questioned during the weekend but police said none gave any information that would help law officers solve the mystery surrounding the cabbie's bludgeon-slaying.

Dr. Lorne Whitaker of St. Catharines, provincial pathologist, said an autopsy showed that Delibasich, formerly of Timmins, died from a compound fracture of the skull. Cuts and contusions on the victim's right hand suggested that Delibasich put up a struggle before blows about the head laid him low.

While not entirely dismissing a theory that a vendetta carried to Canada from the man's native Yugoslavia was linked with the killing, police said they looked upon the idea as "far-fetched."

Friends of the slain man recalled that Delibasich's brother was beaten to death by a gang in Yugoslavia in 1945 and expressed the view that "bad men who have come to Canada from Yugoslavia since the end of the Second World War" might have been responsible. These friends also claimed that some district residents of Yugoslavian origin have been beaten by newly-arrived immigrants but police in the district said they had no reports of such incidents.

Another theory in that Delibasich, whose battered and frozen body was found in a field near here Saturday by rabbit hunters, was slain by persons bent on robbing him, possibly passengers in his cab. He was said to have been in the habit of carrying $200 or $300 in a roll of banknotes.

Missing 8 Days

Delibasich had been missing from his roominghouse here since Dec. 9. The single taxi-cab he had operated since coming here from Timmins eight years ago was found abandoned on a Toronto street late Saturday.

Delibassich's disappearance was reported to city police Tuesday by George Arthur, a shoemaker whose shop is close to the slain man's taxi stand. Since Delibasich was known to be in the habit of making visits to Timmins lasting several days, little concern was felt over his absence.

Investigation into the taxi operator's private life produced a description of a man with no intimate friends but with a reputation for generosity, who habitually carried $250-$300 in banknotes but never "flashed" his wealth.

The shoemaker said of Delibasich, who was unmarried and apparently had no relatives in Canada:

"I think he was pretty well fixed. He used to sit in his cab and spend a whole morning clipping coupons off Victory Bonds."

stout round logs. Mr. Dohan, for whom house-moving, even of brick houses, is an every-day job, hoped to be able to pull the unwieldly burden by tractor. This was found impossible because of the varying levels of the road surface, and so it is being winched foot by foot by a power winch mounted in the back of a tractor-truck. This truck is held down by another truck ahead of it, attached by cable. The anchor-truck is weighted with stones.

"She's heavy, she is—heavy," said mover Dohan. He guesses the house weighs 80 tons.

Across Intersection

Work started again today, and by this afternoon the house was rolling into Park and Reid Streets and being tractor-hauled. The moving job should be finished by Tuesday, and the house set up on its new site, the vacant lot behind the corner barber shop on the Park-Reid V. It is being pulled into Reid St. and then backed on to its new site.

The movers will merely set it on top of the ground. Thereafter Mr. Robinson will have the fun of putting foundations under it. Even suspended as it is the brick work looks sound. Mr. Dohan says "Oh, there will be a few bricks to re-set, perhaps, and some cracks in the plastering will have to be plugged up. But she's still sound." No windows have broken. The front porch is still hanging firmly.

When the move is completed, 456 Sherbrooke Street will become a 200-something Park or Reid Street, depending on which street the owner decides his house is facing.

And the complete cost of this big operation? That is anybody's guest. The cost of moving alone is in four figures.

Body Under Bridge

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 19 (CP)—The body of Gerald Milne, 47, missing since last Wednesday, was found Saturday under the Moira River bridge of the Canadian National Railways. Police believe the man slipped while crossing the bridge and fell 20 feet to the stone abutment below. An inquest opened here Saturday and was adjourned to Dec. 28.

Following the election the Sydney Post-Record reported that MacKinnon had received scores of protests from groups of citizens claiming they had been disfranchised and that possibly one group would ask that the election be declared invalid.

There has been no further action in this regard. But unconfirmed reports said the election would be contested in court this week.

Deputy Mayor Tony Gallagher called an emergency meeting of city council to discuss the matter but no statement was available immediately.

A police detail remained outside Mayor MacLean's hospital room as Sydney's Crown prosecutor checked with the Attorney-General's Department at Halifax for advice on the case.

(In Halifax, Attorney-General Malcolm Patterson said he would withhold comment at this time because the investigation was continuing.)

City police said today that a partly-filled bottle of brandy was found in the glove compartment of Mr. MacLean's car.

A native of Big Pond, about 40 miles from here, Mr. MacKinnon was one of the first telephone operators in Sydney. He later worked as a bookkeeper, a magistrate, and then entered the tax collector's office at City Hall.

A daughter, Mary, is instructress of nurses at Owen Sound.

Mr. McLean, a native of nearby Gabarus, was an alderman for eight years before being elected mayor. He is about 65.

He once operated a livery stable here and for several years was employed by the federal government as inspector of coal bonuses. He lived in Toronto for a time.

Will Take Years

Standardization still is seen in Ottawa as a process that will take years. But there has been progress.

Battle procedures and communications, for instance, have been standardized to the point where the forces of all three countries can work together at once and with little trouble. Canada's tri-service wireless network, the latest thing in communications, is in instantaneous contact with both London and Washington.

There has been "considerable progress," too, in selecting those items the forces would accept jointly if they take on new equipment. The trouble there is that all three have large stocks of existing equipment—such as rifles—and they are unwilling to jettison them because of the cost.

Canada has announced, for example, that she would like to adopt the .300-calibre rifle instead of the .303, but it will take years to make the transition — unless war hurries it.

Father And Son Out Of Work; Boy Steals Coal

COBOURG, Dec. 19 (ENS). — Minor Levitt, 21, of Cobourg, was remanded until next Friday when he appeared in Police Court Friday on a charge of theft of coal. The coal was stolen in the CNR yards from a railway car which was consigned for Quebec.

Chief Constable W. J. Carey told the court that the youth stole two bags of coal. He lives near the tracks.

Levitt, in pleading guilty, said that his father had not been working for three months, and that he had been laid off for two weeks. They had been burning railway ties but had no coal in the cellar.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman pointed out that the value of the coal was not very much, and said it was a season of the year when such thefts occurred.

George Puffer, of Colborne, charged with theft of grain, was remanded for another week when his lawyer was not present in court.

S. T. Seeney of Havelock pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving and one of not having an operator's licence. He was fined $20, and costs, on the first charge, and $10, and costs, on the second.

Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine testified that on December 16, on the outskirts of Cobourg he noticed a car being driven in an erratic manner on the highway. The driver, S. T. Seeney, smelled of alcohol, the officer said.

Seeney paid $30 of his fine and was allowed time to send the balance as he wanted to get home for Christmas.

A SECOND MILITARY CHRISTMAS PARTY for children was held at the Armouries in the Officers' Mess on Saturday, with distribution of gifts as the highlight of the successful affair. Master of ceremonies, Capt. Howard Hammell, surrounded by ten anxious children, has his hands full passing out presents.

Mystery Man Foments Revolts In Hanoi

By MILTON MARMOR.

HANOI, Indo-China, Dec. 19—(AP)—The best-known name in Indo-China belongs to an ailing man whose whereabouts are so cloaked with mystery that even the highest French authorities admit they have no tangible evidence he is alive.

The man is Ho Chi Minh, goateed consumptive, professional revolutionary, father of the anti-French republic of Viet Nam And, from all available evidence, leader of the Communist-dominated Viet Minh armies that control most of the physical territory of this unhappy, warring land.

Moscoe-trained Ho, reported ailing for years, was last seen just before the bloody Dec. 19 attack on this Tonkinese city in 1946. That was the dark night when Ho's soldiers suddenly attacked the French garrison and massacred hundreds of French civilians. Before retreating into the country Ho's forces took 600 white hostages. Their fate still is unknown.

That Dec. 19, a day the French of Hanoi recall with bitterness, marked the end of discussion aimed at agreement between the French and Ho Chi Minh's Viet Nam Government. There has been civil war in Indo-China since that date. The French now support a new Viet Nam government headed by Bao Dai, former Emperor of Annam (one of three provinces making up Viet Nam) and one-time political advisor to Ho.

Voice Heard

During the three years that have passed Ho's voice has been reported heard on the Viet Minh radio—pinpointed by the French military at various spots in Tonkin and sometimes not too far from Hanoi itself.

Newspaper correspondents who forwarded questions to Ho by radio or by courier from Viet Minh headquarters in Bangkok have been answered by radio. But no one has interviewed Ho personally in that time. In fact, French officials say they have no evidence from any reliable source that Ho has been seen alive for many months. Ho regularly is rumored dead or dying — or even living in Bangkok or China.

The general view is that Ho, supposed to be well along in his 60s, is somewhere in the malarial, guerrilla-infested mountain-area of Tonkin—still the spiritual if not the actual leader of Viet Minh's anti-French armies.

Expect Utilities To Bear Brunt Of Hydro Boost

COBOURG, Dec. 19—(ENS)—The recent increase in the cost of electric power will probably be absorbed by the local utilities instead of being passed on to the consumer. No definite decision will be made until after the audit early in the new year, but absorption by the utilities is expected.

Any change in the rate has to that the local utilities woul have The new rate will apply to the November bill which has not been received yet, but on the basis of the October account, which will be lower than either November or December. Sewage Plant Boosts Rates

COBOURG, Dec. 19 (ENS) — Collection of a special surcharge on the water rate to pay for the new sewage disposal plant, will be handled by the Public Utilities Commission, it was decided at a joint meeting of the Commission and the town council.

For some weeks the Commission has been at loggerheads with the Town Council over the question of how the surcharge would be handled.

Two months ago the Town Council gave the readings to a by-law which stipulated that the cost of the sewage disposal plant would be handled by a surcharge on the water rate, as being the most equitable manner of spreading the cost.

The Utilities Commission turned it down on grounds that it would be too hard on industry and might result in the factories economizing on water. However the Commission has finally agreed to the surcharge being on the water rate. The increase will be 50 per cent on household consumers and a smaller percentage on factories.

Expel 12 Missionaries

"Hiding the Christmas Presents" was presented by Karl Dunford, Elizabeth Sheppard, Don Sargent, Jim Seymour, Margaret Sheppard and Claudette Chretien. Ronald and Melville Stevens played the cornet.

Songs and carols were sung by senior and junior pupils. The piano and violin were played by Doreen and Betty Stevens and there was a Christmas wreath drill.

Santa Claus was assisted in the distribution of gifts from the Christmas tree by Harley Cathcart, Clarence Johnston Carl Preston, Lois Paddock and Hazel McIntosh.

Mrs. Elwood Johnston and Mrs. Bert Visee gave bags of candy to the children on behalf of the Sunday School.

That Montreal Air Run

What interest have we in this part of Ontario in the dispute about the Montreal-New York air line, since people from this part travelling to New York by air use another route? The reason we should be interested is that one American company, the Colonial Airlines is attempting to block a Canadian-American agreement, and thereby to continue the monopoly of passenger air transport it has had for twenty years between Montreal and Toronto. We are not only growing impatient with the American company's questionable tactics, but with the seeming inability of the U.S. as a negotiator of agreements which will carry weight with its own American commercial companies.

* * *

Last June a civil aviation agreement was concluded between the two countries whereby Canada granted to three U.S. lines traffic rights to Gander, Newfoundland, which would otherwise have lapsed as a result of the Newfoundland's union with Canada. It also granted two other American lines rights at Edmonton, for trans-border traffic and as a stop-over on the way to the Far East. In exchange for these concessions the United States was to allow a traffic stop at Hawaii for the Canadian Pacific Airlines on its route from Vancouver to Australia. This license has not yet been issued. Canada was also granted a traffic stop at Tampa, Florida, on the way from Canada to the British West Indies. The third, and most important grant secured under the June Agreement was a licence for Trans-Canada Airlines to operate on the Montreal-New York run. That is the background of the present dispute.

* * *

As a result of the agreement the twenty-year monopoly which Colonial Airlines has had on the Montreal-New York run would be broken. The Company hoped to compensate for this by getting a licence from the Civil Aeronautics Board at Washington to extend its New York end of the run to Washington. It has been unsuccessful in this, so far. The Company at the same time appealed to the C.A.B. at Washington to refuse to grant T.C.A. the rights already agreed to. The C.A.B. refused.

* * *

Thereupon the American Company appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States and obtained an injunction restraining the C.A.B. from licensing T.C.A. on the Montreal route until the Supreme Court has given its decision. This may take months.

* * *

Thus Canadians are treated again to the spectacle of the American Government making an agreement which it has been unable to carry out, because of the pressure of a private concern, which is overriding the Government's decision. Unless Colonial Air Lines changes its tactics—and stops casting aspersions on Canada and Canadian airlines — the Canadian Air Transport Board is likely to look pretty coldly on the Company and to cancel its privilege of flying planes into Montreal. The Company could appeal from this to the Minister of Transport and to the Canadian Parlialiament. It is not likely to get much sympathy in those quarters.

* * *

It should be remarked that the Canadian people and Government are not the only ones losing patience with Colonial Airlines. The American Secretary of State Mr. Dean Acheson has chidden the Company for its attitude. The whole affair is not helping to cement good relations between the two peoples.

What Does "America" Mean?

A number of our contemporaries have engaged in a dispute recently as to whether or not it is permissible to refer to the United States as "America." There are some who insist that Canada is part of America and that we are as much Americans as our neighbours below the border: others say that it is a convenient term, and that very few people are likely to be confused or offended by it.

We agree with the second group. There is no convenient and easily understood way of referring to a citizen of the U.S.A. except as an American, and we do not think that many Canadians call themselves by that name without a certain aggressiveness or self-consciousness. It is an easy step from that to calling the country from which Americans come "America", and we do not think that this term is very widely misinterpreted, either. Canadians will not get very far by insisting upon a more completely accurate usage.

Of recent years it has become necessary, upon many occasions, to speak of Britain and of British institutions, when we mean those things which pertain to the United Kingdom. Touchy Scots and turbulent Ulstermen cannot bear to hear anything in which they share spoken of as "English". This is a pity, in a way. The world is attempting to move toward a greater internationalism of feeling, and yet the ferocity of small nations in demanding their rights is greater than ever. There are very few people among the British who can truly say that they belong to one racial strain only, but there are millions who insist upon being called Scots, or Irish, or Welsh, when their claim to those names is chiefly a matter of romantic choice.

It becomes Canadians not to be too pernickety about such a word as "American". If we can add sufficient glory to the name which is indisputably ours, we need not worry about the name which we share.

Disappointing Issue Of Stamps

Why are Canadian stamps so dull, so lacking in style and artistic worth? Consider the new issue: the one-cent stamp bears a commonplace and needlessly unflattering portrait of King George, in which he has been given a snub nose; the two-cent stamp is a full-face portrait, not much better; the three-cent stamp might pass as a picture of George Drew, but hardly of George Windsor, for the King has been given a quantity of grey hair which does not appear in his photographs. In all three pictures the King wears informal dress, which is, in our opinion, a mistake. The King can look like any other man, of course; but the remarkable thing about him is that upon great occasions he is called upon to look extraordinary and to wear uncommon adornments which symbolize his uncommon heritage and the great things which he symbolizes for us. It would have been far more suitable to portray him wearing a crown, rather than a garb which might serve for any president of any South American republic. Since we have a King, why not show him on our stamps as a King?

Very often, when there is criticism of the design of Canadian stamps, a reply is made from Ottawa that our stamps are admired by philatelists for their beauty. We should like to know who these philatelists are, for the philatelists we meet rarely take that view. In matters of design and colour our Canadian stamps are markedly inferior to those of the U.S.A. and of the United Kingdom, and as Canadian stamps travel everywhere it is unfortunate that this should be so.

Seals to Aid

A humanitarian project, fully in keeping with the benevolent Christmas season, is the raising of money to aid sufferers from tuberculosis by selling T.B. Christmas Seals. The sale of these familiar double-cross red seals in Peterborough is under the direction of the County Tuberculosis Association. Thus far $5,000 has been raised. This is $2,000 less than was realized last Christmas season.

No welfare project should commend itself more to the hearts of city and county people at this time; it is to be hoped that they will not delay in sending in their money for seals already distributed to them through the mails, or, if they have not yet had the seals, will secure them from the Association. The splendid preventative and curative work which the T.B. Association supports warrants that last year's total be not only met but surpassed. Bankers for the Association are the Bank of Commerce, where donations and payment for seals may be made.

New Swiss President

The Helvetian Confederacy, otherwise known as Switzerland, does not indulge in the histrionics which other small European countries use to perturb the world. It gets about its business quietly, takes note of good causes and bad wars; contributes a measure of relief to both, and sits with its mountains, herds, and tourists with an aplomb which the rest of the world envies. Thursday last the National Council and the Council of States, meeting in Berne, elected a new President. The announcement was not blasted pompously around the world; it was given out discreetly, like a marriage or birth notice. "Max Petitpierre of Fribourg was elected president of the Swiss Confederation". We congratulate M. Max Petitpierre on his elevation to the Presidency, and Switzerland on its new President, who is aged fifty, has been head of its foreign affairs department, and is the leading personality of the French-speaking community of Switzerland.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

CHRISTMAS is with us once again, and all over the Christian world men will be singing carols in many different languages. There are indeed carols for all seasons, Easter carols, May carols, even Lenten carols, but it is the Christmas carol above all others that has captured and held the affections of mankind, and it is of them in particular that I would like to speak today. The world owes a great debt of thankfulness to St. Francis of Assisi, lover of simple things, for it is he who is responsible for the Christmas carol. Taking the artless songs of the Italian peasants he introduced them into the devotions of the crib which he had started as a means to make the story of Christmas more real to children and unlettered peasants. In spite of indifference in high ecclesiastical circles the movement was an instant success, and carol-singing spread from Italy to other countries, reaching England in the fifteenth century. The feast of Christmas was suppressed by the Puritans, but carol-singing somehow or other managed to survive by word of mouth and crude broadsheets mainly amongst the country folk. The XVIIIth century seems to have produced no new carols, and Christmas was obscured by triumphant Whiggery. The XIXth century saw a change. The works of Charles Dickens and Washington Irving, coupled with the renewed interest shown in the Middle Ages stimulated a new interest in these half-forgotten ditties. The words were often obscure, containing garbled references to old legends, and frequently the joyous note had been overlaid by a patina of austere Puritanism. Many of the words had ceased to be sung and existed in broadsheets with the words only. Many tunes known to be carols had lost their words. Some of these have been reunited owing to the patience of scholars, but most of these had to have brand-new words or tunes fitted to them. Entirely new carols were written, and many of these were carols only in name. The essence of the carol is that it should be simple, joyous and informal. Unfortunately the Victorians confused the carol with the hymn, and we are still suffering from the effects of this misconception.

✧ ✧ ✧

"WHILE shepherds watched" is a fine hymn, but the formal phraseology of Nahum Tate and the frigid grandeur of Wiuchester Old are poles apart from the spirit of the carol. No carol could ever contain such lines as this:

"Thus spake the Seraph; and forthwith
Appeared a shining throng
Of angels praising God, who thus Addressed their joyful song."

The carol is warmer, more human. Here is what a carol has to say about the same thing:

"Then presently after the shepherds did spy
A number of angels that stood in the sky.
They joyfully talked, and sweetly did sing,
To God be all glory, our heavenly King."

Sometimes there is an appeal for charity:

We have got a little purse
Of stretching leather skin;
We want a little of your money
To line it well within."

Who could resist such an appeal? Notice the "stretching".

Good cheer is also featured:

"The boar's head in hand bring I Bedecked with bay and rosemary".

But the gastronomical side of Christmas was not so stressed as in the writings of Dickens.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE melodies are simple, tripping, dance-like, marking them off sharply from the main stream of the hymn tradition. It is true that the Bible records that David danced "with all his might" before the Ark, and there are references to dancing in the Psalms which lead one to believe that they were often accompanied with dancing in the Temple of Jerusalem, but in spite of this the Christian church has tended to look askance at dancing, and her tradition of hymnary is for the main part grave and stately, avoiding strong rhythms. It was through the genius of St. Francis who linked the secular with the sacred (in much the same way as Dante linked the medieval conception of chivalrous love with the mystic love of God) that carols came to be accepted by the church.

✧ ✧ ✧

MODERN research has unearthed many beautiful old carols that were in danger of being forgotten, and has continued the work of the Victorians, though with greater discrimination and scholarship. Several French, German, Italian and other carols have been provided with English words. The Rev. G. R. Woodward and his colleagues produced the Cowley Carol Book, which contains a good selection of these. A certain number of new carols have been written in the past 40 years, but nothing to touch the best of the much-criticized Victorians—unless we count certain efforts by Holst, Warlock etc., which are too elaborate to become really popular and in any case are settings of old words. The XXth century needs poets who can interpret the spirit of the carol in terms of modern life in terse and simple modern English, without sham medievalism. Perhaps this age is too care-worn to "hear the angels sing" and write down what it hears. Before we condemn the Victorian it behooves us to produce something as good and as popular as "See amid the winter's snow" or "We three kings".

Bagpipes Have Rhythm

Bagpipes make different impressions on different people. Scotsmen are delighted with them. The other day a man who never had heard bagpipes paid a visit to the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry in the armouries at Hamilton and then decided, after the unit's pipe band had performed for him, that a few pipers can make a "devil of a lot of noise."

And that is about all Alfred C. Duarte, a Cuban visiting Canada, had to say after listening to the music that has stirred thousands of Scots and Scotch-Canadians to deeds of valour in war.—Niagara Falls Review.

PLAYING WITH FIRE

The Tsar's Caprice

(By C. M. WOODHOUSE)

IN this week falls the centenary of what was probably the most heartless practical joke in history. On December 22, 1849, in the depth of a severe winter, twenty-one men were led out of the Semenov Square in Petersburg, to be lined up three at a time in front of a firing squad of sixteen soldiers. The interest of the occasion a century later lies in the fact that one of the twenty-one was called Fyodor Mihallovitch Dostoievsky.

A military court had found them guilty of political conspiracy, with a cruel ineptitude of which only a military court trying a political offence could be capable. As Dostoievsky wrote twenty years later, "There was discovered in Petersburg a vast, unnatural and illegal conspiracy of thirty people which almost shook society to its foundations: it was said that they were positively on the point of translating Fourier."

It was lucky that their devotion to Fourier had gone no further than the celebration of his birthday with a banquet. If they had actually succeeded in translating the works of this mad French Socialist, then indeed there might have been red ruin and the breaking up of laws. For Fourier maintained, on logically unassailable (indeed, unintelligible) premisses, that society ought to be reorganized in "phalanxes" of exactly 1,600 members each, living together in communities called "Phalansteries" — a rearrangement which in his judgement would so revolutionize nature that the ocean would acquire the taste of sweet lemonade and the ocean monsters would learn to help ships with their navigation.

It is true that Dostoievsky's revolutionary imagination went further than the project of translating Fourier. He went so far as to read aloud in the presence of his comrades (and also, unfortunately, of a police spy) a famous letter written in 1847 by the critic Byelinsky to the novelist Gogol, berating him for having been converted to religious and political orthodoxy. One of the conspirators was seen to nod his head in approval; this was the chief evidence on which he was condemned to death.

The Tsar's police were taking no chances: 1848 had been the year of Europe's revolutions; in 1849 law and order struck back. On the night of April 22/23, thirty-four supposed conspirators were arrested; but Dostoievsky's own figure of thirty is nearer the mark, for several of the wrong people were arrested by mistake. It took seven months to sort out the right ones for condemnation, and an eighth to bring them to the Semenov Square for execution. None of them yet knew that their sentences had all been commuted already several days before.

The condemned men were dressed for the occasion in hooded white cloaks. The first three were tied to the stakes that had been prepared. A priest went among them, holding up an ice-cold cross of silver to be kissed, and promising them forgiveness in the next world. The General in charge of the execution offered them more practical consolation in this world: "Vous serez gracies tous!" he whispered to them, covering his breach of discipline by speaking, as one educated man to another, in a language likely to be unintelligible to the executioners.

But the condemned men did not believe him, especially when the firing squad were ordered to load for the first round. Then the Tsar's proclamation of sentence was read out, beginning with his titles in full and ending several minutes later with the commutation of the sentences of death. By that time one of the victims was already incurably insane.

IT is not unjust to the Tsar Nicholas I to blame him personally for this hideous performance. He knew of the sentences; he had altered them in his own handwriting; the sequel could not have escaped him. Occasions of this sadistic quality were not among the details of administrative routine too trivial for the Tsar's personal attention. Patriarchal justice had its little ways.

The joke over, Dostoievsky was packed off to Siberia for nine years, four as a convict and five as a conscript soldier. His description of life in penal servitude, written without a spark of moral or emotional criticism, was so moving that parts of it reminded Maurice Baring of Eton. In his later life Dostoievsky looked back on it with complete detachment, being stirred to strong expression only by his petulant insistence that at any rate it was preferable to life at a German watering-place.

Anyway, he had the last laugh on the Tsar Nicholas I, whom he outlived by a quarter of a century; and in his last twelve years he produced at least three of the greatest novels in European literature. Whatever else may be said of the Tsar's joke, it was certainly a practical one: for it helped to turn a minor peddler of derivative drivel into a genius of the first order.

Wasting Their Talents

Dr. Lester Warren Sontag, director of the Samuel Fels Research Institute, finds that the present crop of American mothers is by no means up to the standard to which their predecessors were expected to conform. Most of them, it is said, are suffering from acute vocational maladjustment. American women, or at any rate the younger ones, feel that their talents are being wasted in the tiresome business of child rearing. Consequently they suffer from the pandemic nervous disorder of our time which is called "frustration".

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man. (Luke 2: 52.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And great multitudes were gathered together unto him, so that he went into a ship, and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore....And the disciples came, and said unto him, Why speakest thou unto them in parables?

He answered and said unto them, Because it is given unto you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given....Therefore speak I to them in parables: because they seeing see not; and hearing they hear not, neither do they understand....Another parable spake he unto them; The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened. (Matt. 13: 2, 10, 11, 13, 33.)

Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father....And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you....

These things have I spoken unto you, being yet present with you. But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you. (John 14: 12, 16, 17, 25, 26.)

3,000 Children CGE Employees Receive Gifts

Santa Claus visited more than 3,000 children of CGE employees on Saturday when he came riding from the far north on his sleigh into the auditorium of the Collegiate. And to the delight of the happy youngsters his sleigh was drawn by no ordinary reindeer, but by Rudolph, the red nosed reindeer.

Coming to Peterborough early in the morning, Santa packed the foot of the stage with toys—dolls, sewing sets, leather pencil cases, purses, jig saw puzzles, telephones hockey sticks, candies, fruit, nuts, and a great variety of gifts in readiness for the children who flocked to the Collegiate throughout the day.

They started arriving at 9:30 in the morning and it was not until 5:30 in the evening that the last one left. Santa was kept busy and he was helped to distribute his gifts by a group of 40 CGE men, who industriously handed out many thousands of toys.

The children attended the party in five groups, arriving at one and a half hourly intervals. With Ben Smith as master of ceremonies, they sang Christmas songs and tuned into the radio to hear Santa Claus tell them he was on his way. He told them about Rudolph, the red nosed reindeer and then, while he completed the journey to the Collegiate, the youngsters saw a movie cartoon.

Ian McRae, works manager, was on the platform to welcome the children and the most prominent man contributing to the youngsters' happiness was Stanley Shields. W. Collison was chairman of the entertainment committee.

CHILDREN'S MOVIES PLAYED A PART in each of the six major Christmas parties held in the city on Saturday. Trouble Seen In World Oil Markets In Canada

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada is so busy discovering her oil resources and looking forward to the day when she can supply her own needs, that she hasn't much time to consider the oil troubles which seem to be brewing elsewhere.

We became so accustomed through the war years to thinking of oil as a scarce commodity, that it is difficult to think that in a temporary way, at least, it is becoming plentiful.

This, of course, realized by the companies putting money into Canadian oil, and time and time again they emphasize that they are in a highly competitive business. That is the reason for the pipeline being built across the prairies, so that oil may reach Eastern Canada at costs which will make it competitive with world prices. It is one reason why production from Alberta wells is being kept down until wider markets can be opened through cheaper transportation.

For the small American companies it is argued that the margin between high crude oil prices and those for some refined products is so narrow that small refineries cannot operate without loss.

Fears Effects

Howard A. Cowden, president of the Consumers Co-Operative Association in Kansas City, comments:

"Unless this is halted, and soon, only the integrated giants of the industry will remain. Either the price of crude must come down or the price of products rise, or independent refineries will die off."

Factors making for increased oil supplies include:

Announcement by the Arabian American Oil Company that it has pushed its big trans-Arabian crude oil pipeline a third of the way from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean. When this pipeline is completed it will cut tanker time greatly between the Near East oil fields and the European markets.

Mexico is reported seeking a loan of $100,000,000 from the United States for use on its oil distribution system.

The big United States companies have put a lot of money into Near East oil and apparently intend to increase their imports or use it to supply their foreign markets.

But Sam Dawson, of the Associated Press, comments:

"They may be reckoning without the British. Britain has announced an all-out drive to sell oil from its foreign holdings in the dollar market, and a sharp battle for the world's oil trade may develop."

Warns Government Will Crack Down

NELSON, B.C., Dec. 19 (CP)—A warning that "the government is not going to play with the Doukhobor situation any longer," was laid Sunday before 150 Sons of Freedom in Krestova, 18 miles northwest of Nelson.

Commissioner John Shirras, of the British Columbia Provincial Police, said in his blunt address: "If you keep working against the government there is going to be one recommendation from me: that a certain section be isoloted from society."

Sons of Freedom from all over the West Kootenay and the boundary area attended the meeting, called to discuss a pledge to police there last week by the Sons of Freedom that the sect would cease its lengthy practice of protest violence.

LITTLE ROCK Ark., Dec. 19 (AP)—C. K. Call, Arkansas labor commissioner, failed Sunday to reopen negotiations between the Arkansas Gazette and striking news and photographic staff employees. The strike began Saturday when negotiations for a working contract broke down.

Apsley Pupils Present Concert

APSLEY, Dec. 19 — (ENS).—Pupils of Apsley Public School, under the direction of their teacher, Miss A. Chase, presented a Christmas concert Thursday in St. George's Parish Hall. The hall was decorated and there was a well-laden Christmas tree with gifts for teacher and pupils.

Mr. Joseph Tucker, chairman of the Area School Board, was chairman, and the program included dialogues, recitations, drills, solos, duets and choruses by senior and junior pupils.

Jeanne McCauley, aged 4, was the youngest to perform, giving a recitation. One of the outstanding items was the soldiers' drill by boys and girls and the star drill by senior girls. Mrs. Herbert Tucker was pianist for the evening.

Miss Chase read some items from a paper edited by pupils of Apsley School in 1936.

At the conclusion Santa Claus distributed the gifts.

Legion Trounces Kingston To Lengthen Senior Lead

KINGSTON, Dec. 19. — Peterborough's Legionnaires, wearing uniforms similar in color design to those favored by the Boston Bruins, served notice here Saturday night, when they trounced the weakened Nylons by 10 to 5 that they are not leading the OHA Senior B group race by accident.

The visitors drew 12 of the 21 penalties inflicted by Referee Ken McNaught of Belleville, but were not even mildly retarded while outclassing the locals during the last six minutes of the middle period and throughout the concluding session.

Nylons were visibly handicapped by the absence of Ken Murphy and Walter Gerow and, with their defence shaky and their first string front line shattered, they were far below their usual strength. Glynn Udall, guarding the hemp, was subjected to a heavy and well-directed barrage of rubber with the shifty Legionnaires invariably playing combination or using the carom shot right on his doorstep.

A Power Play

The ganging system employed by the invaders was an eye-opener to the fans and a pain in the neck to Udall. No less than 12 of the 14 puck-carrying Legionnaires got into the scoring summary. Greenlaw, with three goals and an assist, and Parnell, with one goal and three assists, sharing the point-getting honors. D. Mortimer was a bangup challenger with three assists.

With Kenny Partis and Joey Catlin almost silenced, each held to an assist, the Joyce-Armstrong Aitken line carried the scoring burden for Nylons. Armstrong got two goals and as many assists; Joyce a goal and two assists, and Aitken two assists. Harrison and Ohlke, each with a goal made up the total.

The Legionnaires, stressing condition and letter-perfectcohesion, gave the prevailing impression they are the team to beat for group laurels They did not present a weak link in the chain and they packed the speed and resourcefulness that enabled them to race from behind a one-goal deficit in the second period and take full command of the situation the rest of the distance. Montgomery got the tying counter at 14:15 and Parnell and Chum Fryia added two more before the intermission.

Check Closely

Close checking featured the early stages of the game with the Legions making more dangerous assaults. Nylons also manufactured good scoring chances only to have Nicholls thwart them. Greenlaw, aided by D. Mortimer and Parnell, opened the tallying at 9:50 and less than two minutes later a Fryia to Burns to Hill attack made it 2 to 0. Seven penalties were inflicted in the session, Johnny Armstrong and Eddie Plumb of Nylons each serving two Harrison, in conjunction with Armstrong and Boy Joyce, racked up Nylons' first marker at 1:40 of the middle period, but at 3:55 a Vitarelli to Crowley to Rochetta gem got that one back. Nylons replied by playing their best sustained hockey of the night and appeared to be headed for a victorious conclusion when Joyce, Bud Ohlke and Armstrong tallied in succession. It was, however, another penalty-strewn period and, in the wild goings-on, Nylons faltered and the Legionnaires thundered ahead on goals by Montgomery, Parnell and Fryia, the last named hitting the twine at 19:58 after he had thrilled the fans by skating the length of the ice at breakneck speed.

Still Tight

One minute and 45 seconds after the third period opened Armstrong, aided by Joyce and Aitken, made it a 6-5 affair while the sparse crowd of 874 fans roared encouragement, but Nylons had shot their bolt and the Legions, with Cowley and F. Mortimer the marksmen, wrapped up the verdict when they assembled two goals in one minute and 45 seconds. In protecting their three-goal lead they became defensive conscious, but late in the session they altered their tactics and Greenlaw racked up the last two counters only 75 seconds apart

Legionnaires are now firmly entrenched on the top rung: Belleville Diesels hold a strong clutch on second place While the Peterborough Petes, next in line, are only one point ahead of Nylons and Gananoque. However, in the double schedule adopted all those teams will eventually participate in the playoffs, while Gananoque will revert to Intermediate A rating.

The teams:

Legionnaires — Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alternates, D. Mortimer, Hill, Montgomery, Parnell, Greenlaw, F. Mortimer, Fryia, Coombs, Heath.

Nylons — Goal, Udall; defence, Graves and Plumb; centre, Armstrong; wings, Aitken and Joyce; alternates, Patterson, Blake, Harrison, Partis, Hawkins, McKeown, Catlin, Ohlke

Referee — Ken McNaught, Belleville; linesman, Yip Radley, Kingston

The summary:

First Period

Legions—Greenlaw (D. Mortimer, Parnell) 9:50
Legions—Hill (Burns, Fryia) 11:40
Penalties — Greenlaw, Patterson (minor and misconduct), Crowley, Armstrong 2. Montgomery.

Second Period

Nylons—Harrison (Armstrong, Joyce) 1:40
Legions—Rochetta (Crowley, Vitarelli) 3:55
Nylons—Joyce (Armstrong) 5:15

Nylons—Armstrong (Aitken) 12:25
Legions—Montgomery 14:15
Legions—Parnell (F. Mortimer) 18:55
Legions—Fryia 19:58
Penalties—Patterson, Vitarelli, Godfrey, Hawkins D. Mortimer 2, Hill, F. Mortimer, Plumb (minor and major)

Bisons Triumph, Leading League

By The Canadian Press.

Buffalo Bisons find themselves alone in first place in the American Hockey League's eastern division today but a large share of the credit for the Bisons' current high standing should go to Springfield Indians.

The Indians knocked over Providence Reds twice during the week-end while the Bisons won their single encounter to move one point ahead of the slipping Reds. Springfield is also only a single point behind the Bisons while New Haven Ramblers are three points off the pace.

The Reds went down 4-2 at Springfield Saturday and dropped a 6-4 decision Sunday. Buffalo blanked the lowly Hershey Bears 4-0 Sunday while the Ramblers lost their only week-end game against St. Louis Flyers 5-2.

Meanwhile in the league's western section, little Gil Mayer had quite a week-end in the Pittsburgh nets as he chalked up two shutouts while the Hornets handed St. Louis a 5-0 drubbing on Saturday and then played to a scoreless tie with Cincinnati Mohawks Sunday.

Curling News

By Herb Martin

By the small margin of six shots the seven mixed rinks from Lindsay defeated local curlers in a 10-end game on Saturday evening. It was the first mixed rink inter-town game this season, and to say it was a big success is putting it rather mildly. The games were close, interesting and well played. At the conclusion supper was served in the club parlors by convener Mrs. M. McCartney and her Saturday night committee. Fred Stenson's friendly game committtee arranged the games. The speeches were short, witty and to the point. Adding it all up, it was a swell evening.

The committee can accept a few more entries for next Monday's men's bonspiel. Fee $6.00 per rink, and rinks to be schedule calibre.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Ernie Schaaf pounded out a 10-round decision over Max Baer in his first big fight in New York 19 years ago tonight. Three years later Schaaf was pounded unmercifully by giant Primo Carnera and was carried to his corner while 20,000 fans yelled "fake." He died in hospital four days later.

Has Lucky Day

WINNIPEG, Dec. 19 (CP) — J. J. (Jack) Thornton, Canadian National Railways public relations representative, must have a big supply of rabbit's feet. Thornton won a case of jam in a draw at the annual Christmas stag of the Sales and Ad Club. Back home he learned he had won an automobile in the suburban St. James Legion raffle.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

This is it, you hockey fans. Tonight at 8.30 in Civic Arena the Petes tangle with the Legionnaires. The local OHA senior "B" teams are playing a group fixture, so it's for keeps this time. Led by speedy Murray Fife, team captain—and with Honey Tompkins back in the lineup—the Petes are out to pin back the ears of Legionnaires. They tied 'em last time they met in a loop tilt, and promise to beat them this scrap. The senior "B" champs are atop the heap at the moment and claim they can take the Petes any time. That will be settled tonight, and it is a sure-fire puck battle all the way, one the fans shouldn't skip. A puck "natural", as they say.

* * * * * *

Ontario Minor Hockey Association closes entries off on Dec. 21, and we trust the PMHA has taken care of this matter. The OMHA is off to a record season, having more than 165 entries to date for a new high. Only about 112 in at this time last year. Entries should be filed right smartly with the secretary, J. L. Christie, 688 Coxwell Ave., Toronto 6, so the draws for playdowns may be made. Fees are five bucks for juves or midgets, and three dollars for bantams. Al Watkins' Marines made a fine showing in going to the bantam finals last year ere losing out. It is dandy training for the future puck stars.

Nuts To Iron Curtain

We note where Prexy Campbell of the NHL would like to see hockey break down the Iron Curtain—that is, have hockey played in Russia as it is elsewhere. He figures it would do much to cement international relations. That, of course, is the bunk, where the Soviet Union is concerned. In the Soviet, they calmly go ahead with their own version of ice hockey, playing it much along the lines of field hockey. Other countries may follow the Canadian pattern—indeed the States and all Europe do — but Russia feels it is right. They're all out of step but Stalin. Like many other wild claims, Tass probably has said that hockey had its origin in Russia and that Soviet hockeyists are the world's best.

* * * * * *

No, let's not worry about getting the USSR interested in hockey—nuts to them! Let Stalin's robots do what they're told in sports, too. We in Canada don't care, just so long as they don't bother the free peoples. And their ridiculous claims to athletic supremacy only cause grins outside of the so-called Curtain. But it wouldn't hurt the CAHA to smarten up and send only good Canadian hockey teams abroad for international puck competition in future. If sports are being used as a political weapon in certain parts of Europe, for goodness' sake let's send our best over there and show that hockey is still Canada's big sport. We can do it, and it's just common sense.

Legionnaires Do Okay

Now the Kingston fans know why Legionnaires are atop their senior "B" heap—and how come they won a title last year. They trimmed the Nylons 10-5 right in Kingston on Saturday and looked most impressive, though Nylons were minus Murphy and Gerow. Legion pulled their old trick of coming from behind in the third period to roll through and decisively defeat the homesters, even though drawing more penalties. Their power play was clicking good this time, and the whole team worked well together from the goalie out. Toodie Greenlaw got his target eye working, he and Bob Parnell leading the scoring, with Doug Mortimer again coming up with an okay effort to have three assists. Yes, 12 players were in on the scoring for the Ellis outfit. A nice one to get and it puts Legion well in front so far.

* * * * * *

A quick glance at the OHA setup concerning this borough during Christmas week. All three local clubs see action tonight, the senior "B" chaps going here and the junior "B" Triple Links playing on Belleville ice. Oshawa meets the IOOF-ers here on Wednesday—and we believe that's the business until next week. Sports tapers off the last half of the week on account of Christmas. Neither Saturday's Belleville or Kingston papers have arrived yet — the mails being slow these days — so we haven't the account of the Belleville-Gans' game. The Petes, minus Fife, trimmed Bowmanville intermediates 10-1 the other eve in an exhibition before a hefty crowd in Bowman Villa.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Sammy Snead, the sweet-swinger from White Sulphur Springs, W. a., Saturday at Chicago officially was crowned golf's top money-winner and captor of the coveted Vardon Trophy in 1949.

The Professional Golfers' Association, which recently proclaimed Snead "golfer of the year," calculated that Sammy amassed $31,593 as he won six major meets and finished second or third in seven others.

The Vardon Trophy went to Snead for his snappy average of 69.37 strokes for 73 18-hole rounds.

The double grab of money-winning and Vardon laurels was a repeat of Snead's performance in 1938 when he collected $19,534 (quite a tidy sum in those pre-inflation days) and won Vardon honors by a substantial margin.

Snead is the second golfer to win the Vardon Trophy twice or more. Ben Hogan, sidelined this year because of injury, won it three times, in 1940-41-48.

Four Canadian swimming records were set Saturday night at Vancouver in a meet entered by members of the British Empire swimming team. Leo Portelance of Ocean Falls, B. C., swam the men's half mile freestyle in 10:43.3 to edge the old mark of 10:53.4, made in 1934 by Frank Turner of Vancouver.

Key McNamee of Vancouver, won the 200-yard senior women's freestyle in 2:19.6 to bat a 1937 mark of 2:20.8 made by Mary Baggaley of Vancouver. Miss McNamee also went the 220-yard freestyle distance in 2:35.1, surpassing the mark of 2:38.4 hung up in 1935 by Toronto's Irene Pirie.

Dorothy Cook, not a B. E. team member, established a new time of 5:37.9 for the junior 400 yard freestyle. The old mark was 5:38.6.

New York Yankees Saturday traded first baseman Dick Kryhoski to Detroit Tigers for outfielder Dick Wakefield. It was a straight player transaction with no cash involved, said Red Patterson, Yankee public relations director.

At Agua Caliente, Mex., North America's ace jockey, Johnny Longden, Sunday lost a horse race here to a woman rider, Mrs. Wantha Davis. The 32-year-old horsewoman, a veteran of western county fair riding, brought her mount home a length and three quarters ahead of Longden's in the six-furlong match race.

She was up on three-year-old Northeast, carrying apprentice handicap weight of 118 pounds Longden rode Grey Spook, another three-year-old, toting 123 pounds.

The University of Rochester opened their home basketball season Saturday night with a 51-42 victory over the University of Toronto before a crowd of 2,000. Winless Toronto, with a record of seven straight defeats, made a game of it during the first half, which ended with Rochester leading 29-25.

Dorothy Strabac is awaiting official recognition from the Canadian Bowling Association for a perfect game—450—rolled at Hamilton Thursday in a ladies' five-pin league game. The game was rolled under CBA rules with a judge watching the foul line.

A CBA official said if the game is officially recognized it will go into the records as the second perfect game bowled by a woman in Ontario.

ONE OF BEST — Toodie Greenlaw proved one of the best for Legion in Kingston on Saturday, when he scored thrice and helped on another as the locals took a tighter grip on top spot in their senior "B" puck group with a 10-5 victory over the Nylons.

A. Brooks Rolls 350 In Millbrook Loop

MILLBROOK, Dec. 19 (ENS)— Alf Brooks had high single of 330 in the bowling league here last week to lead men while Mrs. D. Sheppard topped the women with 245. Brooks' count was the best fo far, as Mrs. Vanderburgh's 300 is tops for women. Mrs. Ted McDowell showed the way in triples with 651. D. Brooks — not A. Brooks—hitting a 794 high cross

Merchants are out in front now with 37 points, the others having: Lancashires 33, Rinky-Dinks 30, Dingalings28 Aberdeens 28, Chekr-chix 27, Bankers 26, Vegetarians 26, Hanks 25, Broadway Blues 19, Sawbones 17, Pipe Twisters 16, HBC's 15, and V-eights 9.

Action Against Stores

VANCOUVER, Dec. 19 (CP) — Police plan action against retail stores here that remain open next Wednesday. All but four of the larger stores have announced they will open Wednesday in defiance of civic laws calling for closing each Wednesday. Following a lead taken by the Hudson's Bay Company, which announced its store would be open for Christmas shoppers, the Retail Merchants' Association supported the move.

Turn Psychologist Loose On Browns

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 19 (AP) — The owners of St. Louis Browns, willing to try anything to improve the club's position, have come up with a psychologist.

He is Dr. David F. Tracy of New York, author, lecturer and specialist in metaphysics.

Dr. Tracy, a former athlete himself, convinced president Bill Dewitt that he can do things toward building the players' confidence and boosting their morale. He has been hired for four weeks of the 1950 spring baseball training season.

The psychologist will have a free hand at the Burbank, Calif., training base in his efforts to instill confidence in the players. He also will concentrate on teaching them how to relax and overcome tension.

"After I teach the players emotional stability," Dr. Tracy told Dewitt, "they will automatically climb higher in the league race. With my treatments, the club should finish fifth and may even climb to fourth.

Most Co-Operative

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19 (AP)— June Haver and Kirk Douglas Sunday were named by the Hollywood Women's Press Club as filmdom's most co-operative actress and actor of the year. The 125 women writers, on the other hand, cited Hedy Lamarr and Humphrey Bogart as the most un-co-operative.

Hawks Wallop Leafs 7-1 Canadiens, Rangers Win

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Every team in the National Hockey League won one and lost one during the week-end, and the big Christmas jamboree resumes Wednesday with standings unchanged.

Noteworthy in the six games was the narrow victory by Montreal Canadiens over the leading Detroit Red Wings, and the walloping that Chicago Black Hawks handed Toronto Maple Leafs on Saturday night.

The Hawks beat Toronto 7-1 on Saturday, making the Stanley Cup champions look like second-raters. Canadiens edged the Wings 4-3 and New York Rangers beat Boston Bruins 3-1 on brilliant goaltending by Chuck Rayner.

On Sunday the Leafs looked more like their old selves, with burly Turk Broda recording his fifth shut-out of the season as Leafs defeated Rangers at New York 2-0. The Bruins beat Canadiens 3-1 and Detroit recovered their stride to defeat the Hawks 5-3 at Chicago.

Only Second Loss

The loss at Montreal Saturday night was only the second that the Wings have suffered outside Detroit this season. Howie Riopelle's goal midway through the final period was the winner. Other Canadien goal-scorers were Leo Gravelle, Billy Reay and Ken Mosdell, while Ted Lindsay, Lee Fogolin and Jerry Couture scored for Wings. Maurice Richard, leading goal-getter, missed his injured centreman Elmer Lach but contributed two assists.

At Boston Saturday the Bruins had 25 shots on goal compared to the Rangers' 11, but only rookie Phil Maloney could beat goalie Rayner, firing a rebound from veteran Woody Dumart. Meantime Rangers piled up three goals by Tony Leswick, Nick Mickoski and Edbar Laprade.

Bep Guidolin scored two of the Chicago goals at Toronto Saturday, the others being divided between Jim Conacher, Red Hamill, Gus Bodnar, Metro Prystai and Bert Olmstead. Harry Watson was the lone Toronto scorer.

A Different Team

After that dismal showing the Leafs were a different team against the Rangers last night Broda had 31 saves, 17 of them in the last period, for his shut-out. Ray Timgren, his injured hand in a cast, scored the first goal on a picture play after getting the puck inside the blue line and Joe Klukay got the other in the last minute of play when Rangers had yanked Rayner and sent six men up in a blistering attack on Broda.

Canadiens' only goal was the first one of the game at Boston, by Kenny Mosdell in the first period. Woody Dumart tied it up, and Sam Bettio's first major league goal was the winner, with captain Milt Schmidt adding another for good measure.

At Chicago the Wings appeared to have come out of their mild slump, having dropped four out of six starts before they edged the Hawks last night. Jimmy Peters, Jim McFadden, Red Kelly Leo Reise and Couture all scored for Detroit while Jim Conacher, Bill Mosienko and Bill Gadsby did the honors for Chicago.

OHA Has Ruled "No Contest" In Nine Tilts

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association Saturday ruled as "no contest" nine games won by the second-place Windsor Spitfires of the OHA Junior A League while using more than two imports.

The 18 points Spitfires gained in the games will be decided in eight multi-point scheduled games with the teams they defeated. Seven of these will be four-point games, and the eighth will be a six-point game. Normally, two points are awarded for a win.

The decision was reached at an emergency meeting of the OHA executive at which the Windsor club was asked to show cause why it should not be penalized for using two illegal imports.

Spitfires were accused of using four branch-to-branch imports—players coming from a league outside the OHA—in 10 games, of which they won nine. Regulations permit only two such imports.

Players involved are Glen Hall, Erwin Grosse, Eddie Joss and Bob Turner. The OHA said Hall and Gross had signed junior A contracts, Joss and Turner junior B forms.

Later, however, Spitfires, operators of both teams, moved the two junior players up to the junior A club and used them in the 10 games.

Had No Protest

No team protested the action but OHA president J. J. (Tiny) McFayden investigated thme case as soon as he learned of it, he said.

In the event of a tie at the end of the season, goals scored in the "no contest" games will be used to determine standing, the association decided. Ties are settled by adding the total goals scored for and against a team together, and dividing goals scored for into the total.

Lloyd Pollock, Spitfires' manager, told the executive he "acted in good faith using the players." He said he interpreted the rules to mean he could use only two imports from another league, but that he could use as many players belonging to his own organization as he wished.

Spitfires will play a six-point game with Galt Jan. 21, and four-point games with Galt Jan. 11, Barrie Feb. 15, Stratford Jan. 25, Marlboros Jan. 4, Guelph Jan. 20 and Feb. 1, and Toronto St. Michaels Feb. 20.

St. Paul Continues Slide Down Hill

By The Associated Press.

St. Paul Saints still are sliding downhill in the United States Hockey League standing.

Four weeks ago they were top hands in the loop. Today they are next to the bottom.

Louisville's 4-2 victory Sunday night was the fourth straight loss for St. Paul. Bob Thorpe scored two of Louisville's goals and Ian Mackintosh both of the Saints' goals.

Omaha tied Kansas City 5-5 and climbed into a tie with the Mohawks for third place.

New Blood Pays As Generals Whip Barrie 5-2

By The Canadian Press

It may take time to prove who got the best of that king-size player swap between Oshawa Generals and Barrie Flyers—but right now the Generals like the taste of the first test.

They put sweaters on five former Barrie players Saturday and then defeated the Flyers 5-2 in an Ontario Hockey Association junior A game at Oshawa. The victory ended a monotonous Oshawa losing streak.

In three other junior A games during the weekend, both Toronto St. Michael's Majors and the high-flying Toronto Marlboros were held to ties. Stratford Kroehlers held the Majors 2-2, while Windsor Spitfires deadlocked the Marlies 4-4. In the other game, Guelph Biltmores downed Galt Black Hawks 6-3.

Windsor need every point they can get now.

An emergency meeting of the OHA executive Saturday ruled that nine games won by Windsor while using ineligible players were "no contest." The 18 points will be decided by extra-point games between Windsor and the losing clubs. The players in question are Glen Hall, Erwin Grosse, Eddie Joss and Bob Turner.

New Team

At Oshawa, five players from Barrie made an appearance for the Generals. Eddie Crouch was in goal and Enso Zannatta, Rio Cacon, Dario Nicoli and Bob Holden were the attackers. Doug Towers, Gord Warner and Reg Campbell were in the Barrie lineup.

It was the first meeting of the two clubs since the wholesale trade last week—one day before the Dec. 15 deadline.

The Generals clicked for the only score of the opening frame, Bill Berwick potting the goal. Lionel Barber's Barrie tally tied it in the second.

Oshawa had their big guns booming in the last stanza, counting four times while holding the visitors to a single. Sonny Hooper, Ben Chapman, Enso Zanatta and Moe Galand were the General marksmen while Doug Towers potted one for Barrie.

Stratford carried most of the play against St. Michael's but couldn't get the pay-off tally past Lorne Howes in the Collegians' goal. Dinny Flanagan gave the Kroehlers a 1-0 first-period lead but Red Ingoldsby evened it up in the middle frame.

Can't Break Deadlock

Classy Irish centre star William Marshall, shot St. Michael's into the lead in the final frame. Pinky Lewis's charges came flying right back and two minutes later Roy Leckie had rapped in the deadlocking marker.

Windsor and Marlboros split tallies in the first period of their game, George Armstrong doing the honors for the league leaders and Glen Skov tying it for Windsor.

Eddie Stankiewicz accounted for only score of the second period, giving Windsor a 2-1 lead and Skov opened the third frame with his second goal to put the Spitfires one up.

The Toronto crew capped in three in a row to take the lead, George Armstrong, Danny Lewicki and Jack McKenzie pulling the trigger. Armstrong's goal was his second. Windsor fought like tigers and a little more than a minute later, Earl Reibel deadlocked the contest with the game's final counter.

Defeat Galt

Guelph went all alone into fourth-place with their win over Galt. The clubs split scores in the opening stanza, Ken Green popping in a single for Galt and Frank Bathgate doing the same for Guelph.

And Bathgate pumped in brother Andy's pass to open festivities in the middle session. Galt came flying back with a pair to go ahead, Bronco Horvath supplying the marksmanship both times. Don Oberholtzer pushed Guelph back up the ladder with the second period's final counter.

The Biltmores blew the lid off in the final, counting a trio while good defensive work held the Black Hawks to a goose egg. Don Bellringer and the Bathgate brothers were the scorers.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Ted Lindsay, scoring ace of Detroit Red Wings, holds top spot among National Hockey League scorers for the fifth straight week—but other NHL sharp-shooters are hot on his trail.

The Detroit leftwinger tallied one goal in two week-end games to stay on top with a 33 point total but Chicago's Doug Bentley pushed ahead to within two points of the leadership.

Crowding both Lindsay and Bentley is Maurice (the Rocket) Richard, the league's top goal-getter, who scored two assists during the week-end to hold down third place with 30 points. Sid Abel of Detroit slid from a second place tie last week down to fourth place, two points behind Richard.

Deadlocked another step down, each with 26 points, are John Peirson, Boston; Roy Conacher of Chicago, and Bill Mosienko, Chicago.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts
Lindsay, Detroit	15	18	33
D. Bentley, Chicago	7	24	31
Richard, Montreal ..	22	8	30
Abel, Detroit	12	16	28

Girl Refuses Pledge Love, Man Shoots Her

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP)—At midnight Friday, a bullet struck down 26-year-old Carmen Seda, because she refused to pledge her love to the man who police say killed her.

The man, 21 year old Israel Justiniano, was quoted by detectives Friday night as saying he had given the pretty Carmen 20 minutes to make up her mind, while he sat beside her with a gun in his hand.

It was either promise herself to him, or die, according to police. They said Justiniano gave this account:

As the minutes ticked by, Carmen knelt before him in his furnished room Monday night in the Bronx, and begged:

"Please let me go."

The clock said 20 minutes until 12.

"You have until midnight to come to a decision as to whether you're going to stay with me or not," Justiniano told her. "If not, I'm going to kill you."

Carmen shook her head. She kissed his sleeve, and began to cry. Then she prayed. At midnight, he shot her through the head.

When police arrested Justiniano after seeking him since Tuesday they asked him about a lipstick smear on his shirt sleeve.

"That?" he said. "That was Carmen's kiss."

Norwood To Have Public Utilities

NORWOOD, Dec. 19— (ENS)—A bylaw to establish a Utilities Commission has been passed by the village Council.

At the December meeting the Rev. E. E. Pugley asked for assistance in repairing the United Church sheds. It was moved by Coun. Atkins and seconded by Coun. Garden that a grant of $200 be recommended for 1950, as the sheds were deemed to be a municipal convenience.

Tuesday December 27 was to be declared a civic holiday.

Correspondence was received from Standard Steel Company suggesting that painting of the outside of the water tank be left until the spring and offering to make an allowance off the contract price, if the Council would have the work done by local painters.

Because of the nature of the work and the fact that no one in the locality is known to have the proper equipment, it was moved by Coun. Nixon seconded by Coun. Webb that the Clerk advise the Company that it would be expected to complete the contract during the spring or early summer of 1950.

Bert McNeely asked for an increase in hourly rate of pay for operating the snow plow. Moved by Coun. Garden seconded by Coun. Atkinson that the rate for this work be increased to $1.25 per hour.

Election Jan. 2

At the final statutory meeting of the council a by-law to provide for nomination and election of a reeve, four councillors, three school trustee's and three members of the Public Utilities Commission, was given first and second readings.

The hours of polling will be between 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. Jan. 2.

Election officers re-appointed are: Poll No. 1 W. J. Stares D. R. O., with J. C. Riseborough as poll clerk. Poll No. 2, Harry Morgan, D.R.D., Wm. A. Garden, poll clerk.

Producers Offered 25 Cents As Egg Market Hits New Low

The Canadian egg market today lacked solid bottom anywhere, according to reports linked with the news that the top price to producers had slumped to 25 cents. It was said that there had been no definite buying on the Montreal market since Thursday night when this country learned that Britain could no longer buy eggs from us.

The domestic egg business was in confusion, it was learned from several sources, and friends of producers were apprehensive that they might begin to jettison flocks at the worst time of the whole year, the Christmas season loaded with holiday fowl.

Want No Unloading

"If our producers will hold their heads and not get panicky," said R. M. Peirson, "particularly until after the Christmas season, we might get down to something level by then, and we could all know where we're at. If everybody gets rattled by the present disturbance in the market, and begins unloading in quantities, there is no telling how serious might be the results. Eggs could go to ten cents, at least conceivably, if the market was to be flooded with eggs. This is a time for firmness and good judgment.

"We all know that Canada has been producing more eggs than the domestic market could consume. One of the things which should tend to check the decline will be the consumer purchases at the present price level. It is the cheapest food on the market today, and also the cheapest meat, that is what it is. The public knows that, and there is bound to be a big increase in home egg consumption."

22-Cent Drop In Week

It is understood that the trade generally did not know where the price was, here and elsewhere, but the morning quotation for the top grade "A-large" announced at 25 cents, as compared with 47 cents a week ago, provided a basis for business. The poultry business was bound to be shaken severely in its every branch from chicks and eggs to poultry by the loss of the British demand.

The industry this morning was feverishly enquiring about its actual condition. Trade telephones were constantly ringing, but not more so than the long distance calls to the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. The state of affairs was said to warrant the expression—a business debacle, which might, however, regain steadiness at a considerable recession from recent price levels if expected helpful factors develop for the support of the home market

TORONTO, Dec. 19 — (CP).—Although dealers here predict the loss of the British contract for eggs may drive retail prices to 40 cents a dozen next week, a ray of hope has emerged with the opening of another market.

Kingsley Brown, editor of the Rural Co-operator, said today that 60,000 dozen Grade-A large eggs were shipped during the week-end to New York where they will be sent on refrigerator ships to Central Europe.

Mr. Brown said: "We hope this is the first of many similar shipments."

Meanwhile, eggs sold at 47 cents a dozen for Grade-A large on Saturday, 45 cents for mediums, compared with 51 and 49 cents respectively a week ago.

Children Fill School Hall All Saturday For Parties

Queen Mary School Auditorium buzzed with youngsters and Santa Clauses on Saturday. Two firms held their annual Christmas parties there; Quaker Oats Company in the afternoon, Dominion Woollens and Worsted in the evening. School a staid place! Not on Saturday, to be sure.

Some 500 children of employees of the Quaker Oats Co. had their fling first. Santa Claus was the main attraction, together with the gifts he handed out to every child. But films were also shown to youngsters for some two hours. Officials said it was probably the most successful Christmas party they had held.

Dominion Woollen

The Christmas party for about 350 children of employees of the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Ltd., held in the evening, was under the auspices of the employees' Social and Athletic Club.

Another 22 children from St. Vincent's Orphanage and the Children's Aid Shelter were the guests. All the children received a gift from Santa Claus as a foretaste of Christmas. For he parents who came along there were several door prizes given away.

The program for the youngsters included two films and a sing-song led by Thomas Williams, with Mrs. Williams at the piano.

Two Cars Collide

When Clayton Stephens of RR 5, Campbellford, applied his brakes suddenly Saturday afternoon while going north on Concession 4, Seymour Twp., the car behind ran into him. The other vehicle was driven by John B. Ingram of RR 4 Warkworth and it sustained $150 damage. Stephen's car received only $3 damage. The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable Arthur Kellogg of Hastings.

Children From Shelter, Orphanage At Party

Youngsters from the Children's Shelter and from the Orphanage joined the Saturday morning children's audience at the Odeon Theatre as a Christmas treat. They were taken to the theatre by the Travellers' Association and after performance went for a ride to Bewdley, where they had had lunch before returning to Peterborough.

The Travellers' Association distributed gifts among the youngsters and during the film show they received gifts from Santa Claus, made possible by the generosity of city merchants. Ald. Harold Dodds played a prominent part in the theatre's Christmas program.

Car Somersaults Two Youths Hurt

Two Peterborough youths were injured Saturday afternoon in a freak car accident on Highway 7, a mile and a half east of Fowler's Corners.

Wayne Russell Kellett, 21, of 728 Stormont St. is in St. Joseph's Hospital with a broken right thigh and a cut chin. He is being treated by Dr. Donald Whyte and his condition today is described by hospital authorities as "good."

Leslie Dewar, 23, of 821 Water St., escaped with a severe shaking up and a possible broken nose.

The car was coming towards Peterborough from Lindsay when it went out of control. It swung from side to side and eventually ran into the right-hand ditch, where it did a complete somersault. It bounced once off the roof and hood and came to rest on its four wheels right side up.

The car is a total wreck and loss is expected to amount to $1,200

Kellett was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in the Nisbett ambulance.

Provincial Constables R. Pope and Roy Feeley investigated.

The magnificent interior of the church provided an ideal setting, the characters were attired in colorful costume and the entire production was an unusual and moving experience.

Choked Fire Belches Smoke $1,000 Damage To Home

A fire that belched volumes of heavy black smoke Sunday afternoon is believed to have caused about $1,000 damage at the home of Ralph M. Weeks, 557 Aylmer St. The bulk of the loss was due to smoke damage.

The Weeks have a fireplace in the living room with the cleanout section in the basement of the house. It is believed the stopper of the cleanout was loose and some red hot sparks or ashes blew out, igniting nearby paper.

First indication the family had that anything was the matter was when smoke began to filter through the boards of the hardwood flooring and curl out from the base of the fireplace.

"It could only have been a couple of minutes from the time the children, who were playing in the room and saw the first signs of smoke, that the whole house was full of it," Mr. Weeks told the Examiner today.

Driven From House

Papers, cardboard, some old rubbers and goloshes as well as other contents of the basement were charred by the fire and the acrid smoke drove all the occupants from the house. When firemen arived they were forced to put on gas masks before they could find their way to the source of the blaze.

Although they destroyed some contents of the basement, the flames did not advance far They ate into the flooring of the first floor and damaged some of the joists. In a couple of places the fire got up inside the baseboards of the first floor but at no point did it break through.

The seven-room semi-detached house was filled with smoke. It was heavy even in the attic.

All the furniture is covered with a fine layer of black film and the house will have to be completely redecorated. Drapes, chesterfield, bedding and other furnishings are included in the loss.

Firemen used a booster line to extinguish the blaze.

Some smoke also got into the basement of a neighbor, William Osborne, but there was little damage.

Looking Ahead In Ottawa

Canada Ponders Problem Of Getting Loan Repayment

OTTAWA, Dec. 19—(CP)—With the United Kingdom still in the midst of economic crisis, there is thought in the minds of Canada's economic policy-makers over the status of the huge Anglo-Canadian loan which is due for repayment in 1952.

The loan, a whopping $1,250,000,000 calls for payment of $40,000,000 each year over a period of 30 years. And there is some official doubt that Britain will be able to meet the repayment when it comes due.

One possibility appears that Canada will allow the United Kingdom to postpone payments to a later date, possibly three or four years. There is also the suggestion in some quarters that Canada may make a further loan available.

However, while the question of lending dollars appears to be one which may be considered, there is strong opposition against acceptance of sterling as payment for either the loan or Canadian exports.

Sterling Ruled Out

Agreement to take sterling is ruled out because this country probably would not be able to convert such holdings for many, many years. In other words, the date Canada would get back dollars for sterling would be most indefinite.

A loan, on the other hand, bears a definite date of termination and repayment. It nears definite terms under which the loan is made and the form repayment is to take place. It places a heavy onus on the borrower to provide through savings and other means dollars to make repayment.

Arms

About $1,000,000,000 worth of arms is going to start flooding into western Europe shortly to help build North Atlantic Pact country defences, but there is no indication from official sources in Ottawa yet that Canada will share in the flood.

The arms will come from the United States under the military aid program passed some time ago by Congress. The legislation, like the European Recovery Program, contained a clause which would allow "off-shore" purchases.

Canada has obtained millions of dollars worth of trade in many types of goods under that clause of E.R.P. aid it allowed European countries to buy in Canada with funds provided by the U. S.

There is the same sort of provision in the M.A.P. but informed quarters say that if there are purchases in Canada at all, it appears they will be light.

There is a chance this situation may change over the months but nobody appears to be counting too much on it.

Arrangements for shipment and division of the arms were under discussion in Paris recently at meetings of the Atlantic Pact powers.

STURGEON BAY, Wis., Dec. 19 (AP)—The barge Resolute, largest on the Great Lakes, sank in 23 feet of water Friday night after striking the north wall of the ship canal here. Her crew of 11 was taken off without difficulty by the United States coast guard since the deck stayed above water. Charged With Rape

WINDSOR, Dec. 19 (CP) — A 22-year-old Windsor youth was charged during the week-end with rape after police said neighbors reported an alleged assault on the playing grounds of a collegiate. Following the alleged assault, the girl was taken to hospital where her conditions is reported good.

Nine Fatalities In Ontario Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press.

Highway and street mishaps accounted for seven of the 11 accidental deaths recorded by The Canadian Press in eastern Canada during the week-end. The heaviest toll was in Ontario, with nine fatal accidents. There was one in Nova Scotia and another in Quebec.

The last week-end before the heavy Christmas holiday movement was favored with generally good weather and fair driving conditions cutting down the usual accident toll on highways.

Only one accident resulted in more than a single death, and that was when Mrs. Beryl Reilly, 26, and her three-year-old son John were fatally injured by a motorcar while walking along the street in Long Branch, five miles west of Toronto. The English war bride, separated from her husband, leaves a one-year-old daughter.

Traffic Deaths

Other Ontario traffic deaths were those of Kenneth Smith, 26, whose taxicab overturned at Belleville; Murray Fisher, 19, killed in a car collision at Toronto; Harvey Gratton, killed when his truck went out of control near Sudbury; and Mrs. Mary Ewing, 57, killed in a collision during fog at Brampton.

Police are probing the death of Sam Delibasich, 47-year-old taxidriver, whose beaten body was found Saturday near Welland. The man had been missing for a week.

At Toronto, Michael Troy, 76, fell to his death from a fourth-floor window of the Sunnybrook Hospital.

At Delhi, Ont., Mrs. Tina Belonghe, 59, died Saturday from asphyxiation by fumes of a gas heater in her apartment. Police found the heater did not have any outlet pipe.

The fire victim was William Chipman, 21, who died in hospital Saturday at Sydney, N. S., from burns received in a warehouse fire the day before.

Roland Pariseau, 17, of Lennoxville, was fatally injured when a car overturned near Sherbrooke, Que.

68 Years With Army Maj.-Gen. Rennie Dies

TORONTO, Dec. 19—(CP) — Veteran of 68 years' service in the Canadian Militia, Maj.-Gen. Robert Rennie, 87, died Saturday in Sunnybrook Military Hospital. He had suffered a fractured hip in a fall three weeks ago.

For many years he was president of the William Rennie Company, seed merchants. He enlisted as a rifleman with the Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto in 1881 and held the rank of honorary coloned of the regiment.

Gen. Rennie also was a past president of the Ontario Curling Association and in earlier years was a competitor at the Bisley rifle ranges in England.

Enthrone Archbishop

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP) — Archbishop Michael, newly-elected head of the Greek Orthodox Church in North and South America, was enthroned Sunday as spiritual leader of 1,000,000 members of his church. The colorful service was attended by 3,000 persons.

Girl 4 Fire Victim

VANCOUVER, Dec. 19 (CP) — Annette Rigby, 4, was fatally burned Saturday night when fire, believed caused by an over-heated kitchen stove, gutted her two-storey home.

FIREMEN BATTLED an early morning two-alarm blaze in a four-storey factory in Montreal last week when damage was estimated at $100,000. At the height of the fire 24 streams of water were poured on to the building. No one was injured.

Spike Jones' Cowbells, Gongs Pay Off In Million Dollars

By HOWARD C. HEYN

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19 (AP)—The cash register's steady, strident jingle is drowning out the cowbells, doorbells, trolley gongs, ringing anvils, bicycle pumps and tuned flitguns of the world's noisiest orchestra.

Spike Jones, the comic band-leader with the concave face, has made music depreciation an art admired even by longhaired musicians. How this clanging, banging and squealing pays off is wonder to behold:

On tour this year, Jones' outfit commanded $120,000 for 16 days at the Texas State Fair.

They got $12,500 a week in each of two big hotels.

The smallest stops among a hundred cities guaranteed $3,500 a night, or 60 per cent of the gross.

Spike's recording of a single number ("Two Front Teeth") sold 1,100,000 copies in six weeks.

Last years' tour, 125 one-night stands, grossed more than $1,000,000.

Take It Easy

Spike's junket this year, just ended, nearly reached that figure although the band "took it easy" by staying longer in some cities.

This is big business for a guy who started with a washboard and a $10 set of cowbells. The revenue isn't all gravy, however. Spike carries about 40 people on tour, augmenting the band with singers, acrobats and comedy acts. They travel in a chartered train of two pullmans and a baggage car. He estimates travelling expenses alone at $700 a day. Salaries come out of the gross, too.

Spike's style is corn, but it's harp corn. His most steadfast admirers, surprisingly, are sophisticates—not hillbillies. He numbers among his fans conductors Arthur Fiedler and LeLopold Stokowski.

Spike likes to take a classic, play it straight for a few measures, then scramble the whole thing with blasts from auto horns, pistol shots, burps, hiccups and sirens.

For some reason, "Dance of the Hours" made him think of an auto race. So he incorporated one, with a narrator. Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite" became the "Safecracker Suite" in the Jones version. "Morpheus," not yet released, is based on "Orpheus."

Jones is forever adding weird props to his band. One of his newest is a mechnical miracle: six fake frogs pop up from the bass saxophone. He also has a tuba from which white doves flutter upward on cue.

Bank President Dies

TORONTO, Dec. 19—(CP) — Clarence A. Bogert, 85, chairman of the Board of the Dominion Bank and former president, died at his home here Saturday after a lengthy illness. Born at Napanee, he entered the bank's service at Toronto in 1887. He was appointed general manager in 1906 and in 1925 became vice-president and general manager. He was president of the bank in 1933 and retired a year later.

2,000 Scientists Give Up Christmas Holiday For Duty

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Dec. 19—(AP)—A thousand scientists are going to give up Christmas at home this year just because of duty to pure science. A thousand or more other scientists will leave home before Christmas night for the same reason. All are coming to New York for the year's greatest science meeting, the American Association For the Advancement of Science. The first 1,000 are officers of 73 different science societies which will participate, or scientists who will put on a rare show—nearly 100 scientific exhibits—and some from distances too far to allow them Christmas day at home.

This midwinter meeting for more than a century has been the greatest annual pure science meeting in the United States. About 10,000 scientists are expected.

These workers don't give up Christmas because they like to.

Only Time Can Meet

They gave up their holidays because this Christmas season is the only one when they can meet successfully. These pure scientists are the men and women whose principal investigations are to hunt for new knowledge about the physical world and about human actions and problems. From such pure science knowledge came atomic energy, penicillin and many of the spectacular modern discoveries.

But when these discoveries are made, they seldom at first appear important. Most of the pure science discoveries never became famous. They are just individual bricks that will fit some useful structure, later on, in medicine or in industry.

Mainly the scientists come to see their friends, to talk over problems in science, and to meet certain scientits in their own fields. From such contacts, scientists achieve some of their best discoveries. They come stumped by research problems. They talk things over and go back home with new ideas about how to solve the riddles.

Most of the pure science in the United States is still done in colleges and univecsities, and a lot also in secondary schools. These people almost without exception are teachers. They cannot take time off during the school periods. No vacation period except the mid-winter holidays allows time enough to do the travelling and hold the meeting. Summer vacation doesn't work because the pure scientists are too widely scattered by their vacation operations.

Big Turnover For Marriages In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19 (AP)—This was Hollywood's marryingest year. Also the divorcingest.

Never has there been such a terrific turnover in filmdom matrimony as in 1949.

Most sensational of the marriages came May 27 when Rita Hayworth and Aly Khan exchanged gold rings in the town hall of Vallauris, France. This merger of Hollywood glamor and the riches of the orient captured the world's interest.

Another European wedding ranked with that one for excitement. While Italian mobs screamed "Ty Ty Ty," erstwhile actress Linda Christian became the bride of Tyrone Power in Rome. The ceremony took place Jan. 27, just eight hours before Annabella's divorce from Power became legal.

Top Bachelor Topples

Bachelorhood lost its longtime expondent when Jimmy Stewart married socially-prominent Gloria Patrick McLean Aug. 9.

Jennifer Jones married her boss, David O. Selznick, at Genoa, Italy, July 13. Greer Garson took another fling at married life with Texan Buddy Fogelson, Rudy Vallee, 48, wed Eleanor Kathleen Norris, 21, a psychology graduate.

Mickey Rooney began his third marriage with Martha Vickers. Angela Lansbury and Peter Shaw found another parson after the vicar of her family church in London refused to perform the ceremony, she being a divorcee.

Marital Splits

But the marital splits were just as loud and numerous. Biggest bombshell was the break between Ingrid Bergman and Dr. Peter Lindstrom following her Stromboli idyll with director Roberto Rossellini.

Almost as thundering was the split of Shirley Temple and John Agar. The fable of their storybook marriage was shattered when she aired her troubles in a divorce court.

Ginger Rogers and Jack Briggs called it a day, and Joan Fontaine and William Dozier ended their marriage. Other actresses who shed their mates included Ann Sothern, Ellen Drew, Judy Canova and Gloria DeHaven.

Instructions for children in group of children wishing to enter the Presbyterial poster contest were given.

The Christmas story from the "Flying Umbrella" was told by Mrs. Ingham.

The Scripture reading was the Christmas lesson repeated in unison to the children.

They also said the dedication verse for the offering and the benediction together.

At the close of the meeting a treat of candy sticks was passed by the hostesses, Judy and Patsy Hobbs.

Purse Strings Freed For Married Women

LONDON, Dec. 19—(CP)—Married women in Britain now may deal as they please with any inheritances they receive, provided there are no special trust provisions.

A Bill eliminating a mediaeval restriction on the freedom of married women to manage their own affairs was given Royal Assent at the final session of Parliament Friday.

The Heiress Bill does away with restraint upon anticipation"—an ancient legal practice designed originally to prevent a wife's money from being appropriated and misused by an unscrupulous husband. Under this arrangement, a woman was prevented, if she married, and as long as she remained married, from disposing of the capital of her property, or from charging the income in any way before it was received.

Afterward, the Married Couples Club served cake and ice cream to everyone.

Mrs. E. McNabb assisted with presentation of the plays. Mr. Mel Curtis operated the film projector.

WELCOME—Donald Gordon, chairman and president-designate of Canadian National Railways, arrived in Montreal on the Continental Limited over the week-end to attend his first meeting of the CNR board of directors. Greeting him was a familiar character — Santa Claus—who was on hand to welcome all passengers coming into Montreal at Central Station.

Stuff Christmas Turkey Two Days Before Roasting

By Mary Moore

So that Christmas can be merry for the cook, that bird should be trussed and stuffed on the 23rd or 24th, and kept cold and well wrapped. I put ours in the covered roaster in which it is to be roasted, wrapped in waxed paper. We have no covered back porch so we carry it over to our neighbour's.

Have the bird drawn and clean when delivered. This saves so much wear and tear on your esthetic spirit—and besides it tastes better to you, if you have not gone through that particular kind of agony.

Preliminaries to Roasting

Wash the giblets and cook until tender in 3 cups water, covered. Singe the hairs off the turkey. Remove pin feathers. Wash the turkey inside with running water, and rub it outside with baking soda, then wash this off with running water and dry it. Do not forget to cut out the oil sac which is just back of the tail.

Dry the inside of the turkey as well as you can, sprinkle inside with a little salt, put in stuffing (see last week's page also see below), and sew up the slits in neck and body, using strong white string and darning needle. Draw the thighs close to the body and secure with long skewer and tie. Insert a skewer through the wings and body to held the wings in place. Remove the neck at the base and skewer the skin into position in the back. Cross the drumsticks and tie them down to the tail. Secure the ends of the strings through the skewers which secure the wings and thighs.

When ready to roast spread the skin of the turkey thinly with butter, sprinkle with salt, place in roasting pan and roast at between 325 and 350 deg. Fahr. for entire time—calculating time at 20 minutes to each pound of stuffed turkey. Baste every 20 minutes, starting with 2/3 cup boiling water, and continuing with pan liquid.

Chestnut Stuffing

(I gave you Celery stuffing last week, but I have been asked for a chestnut stuffing. The French chestnuts must be shelled, cooked in boiling salted water to cover until soft, then drained and forced through potato ricer.)

Chop very fine 1 cup celery stalks and leaves, 1 large peeled onion, and ¼ cup parsley. Add ½ cup melted fat—preferably chicken fat or margarine or butter. Cook over very low heat 10 minutes. Add 1 tablespoon poultry seasoning or poultry seasoning and sage, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper. Pour this over 8 cups soft breadcrumbs. Add 3 cups cooked, drained, riced French chestnuts (see above); add enough boiling water to make the dressing a little moist but not soggy. Stuff into the turkey until the body is plump looking and proceed to truss as directed above. This is a delicious stuffing and a general favourite.

Giblet Gravy

Remove the turkey from the roasting pan, leaving about ½ cup fat in pan. Add ½ cup flour and 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley. Stir until a rich brown. When smooth add gradually 4 cups boiling liquid (this will include the liquid from the giblets, potato water if you have any and boiling water). Stir until thick. Add giblets and taste for salt and pepper.

One of Marianne's girl friends was playing me with questions about the cookery column and said "Put in the way to mash potatoes and I'll surprise Mum by doing it for her on Christmas. This recipe is for Marianne's friend "Eleanor".

Mashed Potatoes (Fluffy)

Peel and halve potatoes and soak in cold water for 1 hour. Drain, cover with boiling water, add 1 teaspoon salt and boil covered until tender. Drain off the liquid, saving it for the giblet gravy, and shake the drained potatoes, over low heat to make them mealy. Add 2 tablespoons boiling hot milk for each potato and as much as 1 tablespoon butter each. Beat and mash until your arm aches, keeping them very hot meanwhile. Add salt to taste. Merry Christmas!

Grace Edwards Is Bride Of Alfred Davis

The Pentecostal Church, Water St., was decorated with chrysanthemums and fern Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Grace Lorraine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Edwards, 457 Parnell St., to Alfred Wellington Davis of Young's Point, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. John Davis.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. B. Greenwood and Mrs. Greenwood played the wedding music. The soloist was Mrs. Doris Kennedy who sang the Lord's Prayer and "Because" at the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a gown of white brocaded satin, made on princess lines with a sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip veil of white net was caught to a heart-shaped halo and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations. Her only attendant was her sister Mrs. Gwyneth Boucher, wearing a gown of pale blue taffeta, also made on princess lines. She wore a feathered headdress with shoulder veil and matching elbow length gloves, and carried pink roses and white carnations.

Mr. Edgar Boucher was the groomsman and ushers were Percy Zinston and Gus MacDonald.

The reception of about 40 guests took place in the YWCA Green Room. The bride's mother was receiving, wearing a black crepe dress with black felt hat and corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the groom's sister Mrs. G. MacDonald who was in a powder blue crepe dress with contrasting hat, and also wore pink roses.

The bridal couple left later for Toronto, Mrs. Davis wearing a wine suit with matching hat and a muskrat coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis will live at 102 Ware St.

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

The biggest prize offered in the game of Canasta is the canasta bonus.

Do not play for natural canastas. If you can get a natural canasta that does not cost you anything, all right; but it is a mistake to risk 300 points in an attempt to get 200 points more. Your opponents may go down, and you will have lost 300-points canasta. Form as many canastas as you can — mixed or natural—and form them as quickly as possible.

If you see you have your opponents locked so that they cannot go out, and you have plenty of plays on the board, you can try for a natural canasta if you want to, provided you have melded at least one canasta already. But even then, if you get caught with a wild card in your hand with which you could have made a completed canasta, your partner is justified in criticizing you severely for not completing a canasta with it.

Question: Can two canastas of the same rank be formed by a partnership? Suppose that we put down four eight-spots and then add three wild cards to it, forming a mixed canasta. Could we later put down four more eight-spots and add three wild cards, forming another- eight-spot canasta?

Answer: Yes, you can have two canastas of the same rank. However, if you meld a mixed canasta as described above, then gradually add four more eights to it, you cannot add three more wild cards and make a second canasta out of the second group of four eights. Having placed a card with a meld, you can never separate it from that meld.

You may add the four eights and the three wild cards if you want to, but you will get the bonus for only one canasta. The added cards will be scored at their point value only. In order to score two canasta bonuses for cards of the same rank, you must meld them in two separate and distinct canastas.

Question: Someone told me that after completing a canasta, it is not wise to add cards to it. Is that true?

Answer: Yes, that is true. Especially if you meld a natural canasta, and then draw the eighth natural card, you certainly should not play it on the canasta. The eighth card is as good as a black three for the purpose of stopping your left-hand opponent from picking up the pack.

If you have canasta consisting of five natural cards and two wild cards, and then you begin to draw the other natural cards of that rank, do not meld them unless you are going out. Use them to stop the opponent from taking the pack.

Many players hate to discard an ace, especially if they have a canasta of aces; but the ace may keep the opponent from taking the pack. Remember that you may get the pack at your next turn and you will get the ace back.

Question: Does a partnership have to have a completed canasta before they go out?

Answer: A completed canasta is required to go out, but you can form the canasta and go out at the same time.

Mr. McKenney is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions on Canasta in his column.

Canadian Ballet Well Received

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 —(CP)— Two Canadian ballet companies made their first appearances in the United States before a large and appreciative audience Saturday night.

The Volkoff Canadian Ballet of Toronto and the Ruth Sorel Montreal Ballet were the visiting groups. The program included one distinctive Canadian ballet by each company.

The principal work danced by the Toronto trouple was "Red Ear of Corn," based on an Iroquois Indian legend and ending with a lively barn-dance scene. The music is by John Weinzweig of Toronto, the choreography by Boris Volkoff, Russian-born dance producer who formed the Volkoff Canadian ballet in 1938.

The Montreal company turned to French-Canadian folk lore for "La Gaspesienne," with its setting a Gaspe fishing village and with music by Pierre Brabant.

SHARE YOUR JOY THIS CHRISTMAS

Christmas is a festive, friendly season. Beneath all its gaiety and warmth, its greetings and sparkling decorations, Christmas means the joy of sharing. To most of us it is a wonderful season, but for those who are less fortunate Christmas can be a real heartache. An invitation to dinner to someone who is lonesome, a toy for some needy youngster, food and clothing for a family that has met misfortune—such little things as these give life to the Christmas spirit . . . and to the spirit of "Good Citizenship".

DOROTHY DIX

Self Reform Only Way For Shrew to Be Lovable

DEAR MISS DIX: I am an average woman who against considerable odds has kept her mental balance. After years of effort I have now achieved some progress against being a snob, unloving and unbelievably tactless. My reason tell me I am wrong when I nag. I have tried any amount of reasoning to overcome it, but under the stress of a strong disappointment I lose to an emotional orgy of selfpity, which breaks down all reserve. I only abuse those I dearly love, where my heart is concerned. I can reason it out this far, that it is a result of a feeling I have labored long to gain. Is there any cure for shrewishness?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I do not think any people are more to be pited than those who have the vision to see the wise and right thing to do, yet lack the strength to do it. For they are not only at odds with all about them, they are perpetually at war with themselves.

Dullards sin without remorse They pass the buck and blame everyone else but themselves for their wrong doings and their failures. But the intelligent have no such scapegoats. They stand convicted at the bar of their own consciences and know that they have brought their misfortunes on their own heads.

Wants to be Loved

You would like to be popular, to know htat you always carried your welcome with you, yet your tactlessness alienates people instead of drawing them to you. You long passionately to be loved, yet make of your tongue a two-edged sword with which you slay even those near and dear to you to the heart. You nag, even though you know that it will drive away from you those whom you would bind to you with hoops of steel.

These are common feminine faults. They are at the bottom of most of the tragedies of women's lives. A woman knows that she drives her husband and children away from her by her nagging She knows that she makes her home a hell on earth by her temper. She knows that she has no friends, yet she goes on doing the things that are her own undoing.

The only way to reform is simply to reform. Quit sinning. Quit doing the thing that hurts you and brings suffering on others. There is not one of us who cannot conquer our faults if we really desire to do so. It is because we want to enjoy our weaknesses and not have topay for them that makes us coddle our faults without trying to get rid of them.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a man of 35, with steady habits, and the vice president of a small but money-making concern. I am in love with a beautiful woman of 30, who is gay, sympathetic, intelligent and companionable, and who says she cares for me. She refuses to marry me, however, on the grounds that life is so tragic that she would never bring a child into the world to face it. How can I cope with such pessimism?

GEORGE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your best weapon will be a good liver pill. A wit once said that whether life was worth living or not depended upon the state of the liver, and nothing but a case of extreme biliousness can include such a jaundiced view of the world as your ladylove takes.

Of course, there is rain, but there is also sunshine. There are sickness and suffering, but there are likewise strength and health, and there are more people running and leaping about than there are on crutches. There are tears, but they endure but for the night and laughter comes with the morning. Even our hardships bring us pleasure because there is a sacred joy in working and struggling.

Now and then, perhaps, but very rarely, you can find a man or a woman who regrets ever having been born. Occasionally there is one who finds life intolerable and commits suicide, but that most people find life not only bearable but enjoyable is sufficiently proved by the fact that few people are willing to die.

So I think that your sweetheart is undully morbid, and that she might wel feel that if she passed on the torch of life she would confer a blessing instead of bringing down a curse upon the little hands that received it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a boy of 16 and not bad looking, but for some reason I do not make a hit with the girls. There are other boys who are not as handsome as I am, but the girls run after them.

JOHN

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A boy's looks, provided he is clean and well pressed, have nothing to do with his popularity with girls. It is only on the screen or on the stage that the he-beauties make a hit with women. In real life they prefer men who are just manly looking and who do not poach on their preserves of beauty.

So, Son, don't depend on your looks to get you anywhere with girls. Cultivate an agreeable personality. Read and study, so that you will have something interesting to talk to them about. Learn how to dance well. Be good-natured and reasonable and don't try to high-hat girls and look as if you were paying one a great honor when you took her out.

QUESTION: Please send me a recipe for split pea soup.

Mrs. A. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since my recipe for split pea soup was one of the first I did research on commercially I have great pleasure in giving you this.

Emem's Split Pea Soup

Wash and pick over 1 lb. split peas and soak overnight in 1 quart water. (In summer this will sour if not stored in refrigerator.) Do not drain. Add a smoked ham bone OR 1 cup ground smoked ham and fat or smoked bacon and fat, about 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 onion chopped, 2 celery stalks finely chopped (OR 1 teaspoon celery seeds), ½ bay leaf, ⅛ teaspoon white pepper. Simmer over low heat or in deep well cooker for about 3 hours, covered, stirring frequently, especially if you cannot turn heat very low. Just before serving add 1 teaspoon sugar and remove bay leaf. Other ingredients like onions and celery are so tender they are indistinguishable from the peas. Do not strain this,—it is much more interesting as it is.

If desired milk or cream and a little butter may be added but are not needed for flavour.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I enjoy your column very much and watch for it. I've been watching for a dark cake recipe and I tried "Emem's medium dark cake". When I decorated the top it sunk into the batter and I noticed that when the cake had cooked for awhile the top seemed puffed up. Did yours go like that? Should I add more flour? I noticed the batter was softer than that for my other Christmas cakes.

Last year I made "Medium Rich Cake" and we liked it very much. I am making a file (finally), for all of my recipes and I was copying this when I noticed the 2 teaspoons baking powder and salt. Did you add that after or was it supposed to be there? Hoping you can straighten me out on the dark cake and thanking you, L. P.

P. S. The cake tasted good and cut nicely. I noticed that on most of your recipes you do not mix any of the flour with the fruit. Is it better not to? L. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I will refer to this year's medium dark cake first.

The flour may have been sifted or may have been more lightly pack in your flour bin or bag. Try doing these 2 things if and when you make it again. (1) Flour the fruit with some of the flour called for in the recipe (2) do not sift the flour before measuring. The batter should be stiff. Could any of your wet ingredients have been wetter or softer than might be normally expected?

Now for last year's "medium rich cake". If baking powder and salt are not called for in the first part of the recipe where I always list ingredients they definitely should be there. Any fruit cake needs salt and a little baking powder.

Flour should be mixed with the fruit going into a fruit cake unless you are definitely directed not to sift it over it.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Dear Mary: May I call you that, as I feel that we are friends.

Thank you for your nice letter. I tried out your suggestions, but do not think I am any the wiser. You see, my friend was a little too generous and took over the mixing of the cake.....The cake turned out grand, she has a wonderful oven.....I held my breath when she hit the spoon on the side of the tin after the mixture was in them.....We both had an enjoyable afternoon and I think it would be a good idea if people would do more of this sort of thing.

I must thank you for your help and will let you know when I make the white fruit cake with this new method. E. R.

P. S. I have a little plant that grows like a tree. Would you like me to send you a piece of it. Is almond paste expensive to make. E. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since I have not revealed your identity I hope you will forgive me for printing your letter in part. It gave me a great lift.

You doubtless saw recipe for Almond paste last week. I have written to you privately.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: While on our holidays this Fall I ordered Sweet and Sour in a restaurant, not knowing what it was. It was pork spare ribs with a delicious sauce, and I have not been able to find out how it is made. Could you please publish the recipe in your column as I would like to make it at home. We have been subscribers to your paper for 15 years and think it is a wonderful paper.

M. E. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your letter was given to me to answer. Pardon me if I say I think it is a wonderful paper too. Thanks for the pleasant letter.

Spareribs With Sweet-Sour Sauce

(This recipe was given to me by the Chinese houseboy (aged 52 years:) of a friend of mine It is not exactly as it is made in Chinese restaurants — but better I think.)

One-half cup vinegar, ½ cup water, 1 cup pineapple juice, 1 cup brown sugar, tightly packed, 2 tablespoons each cornstarch and cold water, 2 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon sodium glutamate (MSG).

Combine all ingredients, starting with mixture of the dry things first, then stirring in the liquids then stir over heat until thick, and stir for 5 minutes over low heat. This maye be made in advance and keeps well. If too thick thin with a little pineapple juice.

Frankie Yungs dips pieces of pork spareribs which have been cut into 2½-inch squares into a batter. He frys these in deep fat until golden, then places them on baking dishes and pours sauce over, covers tightly and bake 1 hour at 325 deg. Fahr., which is a very slow oven.

The spareribs are cut so that meat is left on both sides of one rib and every other rib is trimmed clean and discarded. I find each rib with meat left on both sides is best if chopped into only 2 pieces.

Fritter Batter: One-half cup milk or water, 2 beaten eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder. Sift dry ingredients; beat eggs, add milk; stir milk and egg mix into dry mix until smooth. Dip raw pieces of spare ribs in this and dry in deep fat until golden. This fritter batter is also good for clams and oysters.

Key Post in Law Surveys Held by Canadian Woman

By FRED KERNER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BOSTON, Dec. 19—(CP)—A Canadian-born woman, who left her Prince Edward Island home when she was 18 to live with an aunt in Boston, has become a key figure in the American Bar Association's current "Survey of the Legal Profession."

Pert, hazel-eyed Helen Macmillan, born and educated in Charlottetown, never had any ambition to become a lawyer. But when she took a secretarial job with a well-known legal firm in this city she found herself involved in several of the greatest legal undertakiugs ever done in the world.

Personal secretary to Reginald Heber Smith, director of the ABA's survey, Miss Macmillan is a key figure in the plan to educate people to use legal courses open to them. She has been working on the survey since it was begun a few years ago and is "a vital cog" in the survey's workings, says her boss.

"She is a woman with a real sense of public duty," Smith commented. And he heaped praise on his secretary for the work she has acomplished in the survey and in the ABA's "Project on International Law," a preliminary to the creation of the United Nations and a basis of the UN's "Declaration of Human Rights."

A tiny woman with greying hair a wide smile and low-pitched voice, she says she often has been tempted to undertake formal law studies. But the quantity of work she has been doing, as well as her hobbies, keep her too busy.

Green-Thumb Gardener

Owner of a cottage set on an acre of land at nearby Plymouth, Miss Macmillan spends weekends gardening and has one of the most beautiful flower gardens in the area. She also raises vegetables which she cans in her spare time.

Her evenings are spent in studying ballet—not with any hope of becoming a professional dancer, but because she loves the art. She has been taking adult ballet classes for the last seven years and recently had added classes in modern dancing.

She claims the "public spirit" attributed to her by her boss probably is inherited. Her father, L. B. Macmillan, spent more than 50 years in public service in PEI, and served as deputy minister of public works until recently.

Miss Macmillan has thrown herself wholeheartedly into the work of the ABA's survey, which she believes will eventually teach people how to use law "as a preventive medicine."

The survey is setting up legal aid offices for persons of moderate means to direct these people to lawyers specializing in particular problems and will keep costs to a minimum. Similar projects are under way in Canada.

BAR ASSOCIATION AIDE—Canadian-born Helen MacMillan is personal secretary to Reginald Heber Smith, of Boston, director of the American Bar Association's current "Survey of the Legal Profession."

WILLIAM LYON MACKENZIE KING, former Canadian prime minister, celebrated his 75th birthday Saturday. He spent the day quietly at his Ottawa residence, Laurier House. For days messages of greeting and good wishes have been coming to the old stone home from various parts of the world. It has taken much of his time answering them. Mr. King feels stronger now than at the time of his retirement a little more than a year ago.

Decide Canada Still The Best

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(CP).—Two Winnipeg girls, passing through here Sunday on the last leg of their 2½-year look at the world, have decided "Canada is still best."

Violet K. Houck, 27, and Essie E. Pattison, 28, started out from their home town May 1, 1947, with $300 each. They travelled in 11 countries, taking jobs along the way.

The two girls met while serving in the RCAF and found they both wanted to see the world.

The left Winnipeg for San Francisco where they boarded a ship for Australia. After working seven months as clerks and waitresses they proceeded to South Africa where again they obtained employment for a year as clerks in Johannesburg. Their tour included visits to New Zealand, Egypt, Italy, France, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Belgium and England.

Both girls joined in the remark: "Never again," when a reporter asked if they had any intentions of making another such trip.

Seize Seven Cars In Lieu Of Back Taxes

NIAGARA FALLS, Otn., Dec. 19 — (CP). — Sheriff V. L. Davidson of Welland County said today he has concluded a county wide drive started a week ago against income tax delinquents who work in the United States.

The Sheriff's Office seized seven automobiles and personal property, the value of which was not disclosed, in lieu of taxes said owing the Canadian Government. Sheriff Davidson said about $300,000 is owing in the county on income taxes dating back to 1941.

Port Colborne and Welland are among other municipalities affected.

The Sheriff said today many of the delinquents, whose average debt to the govrnmnt runs from $500 to $3,500, are making arrangements to pay up. Others whose chattels have been seized must pay their back taxes within eight days or their property may be sold, he said.

Car Takes To Ditch As Other Overtakes

Some $300 in damage was caused to the car of D. V. Crawford, of Belleville, Saturday night, when it ran into the ditch, about four miles east of Peterborough on Highway 7.

The accident occurred about 9.20 p.m. Saturday night when another car, also going in an easterly direction, driven by Arthur Steed, of R.R. 1, Keene, overtook the Crawford vehicle.

Steed's car attempted to pass the Belleville car but crowded it off into the ditch.

Provincial Constable Archie Grayling investigated.

To Conduct Service

PARIS, Dec. 19—(Reuters) — Monseigneur De Provencheces, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Aixenprovence, Southern France, left here by air Sunday night for Palestine on his way to Bethlehem, where he will celebrate midnight mass Christmas Eve in the Basilica of the Nativity. Since 1939 the service has been conducted yearly by the Latin Patriarch of Jerusalem.

Acquitted As Vagrant

George Whitehead, 26, 136 London St., was found not guilty on a charge of vagrancy by Magistrat W. R. Philp, KC, in police court today. Evidence showed Whitehead had refused to move when Constable Douglas Stark, atempting to disperse a crowd which had gathered to watch a fight on Charlotte St. Friday night, asked him about three times to move along.

Whitehead said he was only standing in a doorway.

Magistrate Philp said he would give him the benefit of the doubt.

Allen Appointed Magazine Editor

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP)—Appointment of Ralph Allen, nationally-known newspaper man, as editor of Maclean's magazine and of John P. Clare, associate editor, as managing editor was announced Sunday night.

Mr. Allen succeeds W. Arthur Irwin, who resigned last week to become commissioner of the National Film Board. He was the magazine's managing editor until 11 months ago when he left to write a daily sports column for the Toronto Telegram.

The 36-year-old Allen has spent nearly 20 years in newspaper work. Native of Winnipeg, he left that city after eight years on the Winnipeg Tribune as sports and feature writer to come to the Toronto Globe and Mail as sports columnist. He enlisted in the army in 1941, going overseas as sergeant of a Bofors gun crew in 1942, but in 1943 was discharged to become the Globe and Mail's senior war correspondent. In June, 1946, he went to Maclean's.

Mr. Clare, 39, born in Campbellton, N.B., got his start in newspaper work in Prince Albert, Sask., where his family moved when he was a child. His journalistic work was with the Sheaf, the weekly of the University of Saskatchewan which he attended. Later he worked as a correspondent for the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix, coming to Toronto in 1934 as a reporter for the Globe and Mail.

After service as press relations officer for the RCAF from 1941 to 1944, he served as war correspondent for the Toronto Daily Star. He went to Maclean's in 1946.

CCF Association Entertains Children

With an attendance of more than 100, the Christmas party of the CCF Association at the weekend was one of the happy events of the season. Choral singing and movies, including the Pup's Christmas, were followed by the arrival of Santa Claus, who was generous with his gifts. The presents for those who were unable to attend will be delivered to them later.

The entertainment was directed by J. Hudson and Scott Wildman. They took turns at the piano, and with Mr. Hudson also playing his accordion, the singing was enjoyed by everybody.

Mrs. J. H. Miles, Mrs. J. Morton and Mrs Wm. Whibbs were Santa's helpers. They did the chore of getting all the gifts ready. Mr. J. H. Miles was in charge of the draw for turkeys and geese. The winners are announced elsewhere.

Vagrants Ask To Spend New Year's On Hill

Two men asked for and got jail terms when appearing in police court today on charges of vagrancy.

James Heffernan, no fixed address, was given one month. Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw told the court Heffernan had no home and wanted "to go up on the hill."

"How long? A week?" Magistrate Philp asked.

"A month if it could be arranged," Heffernan said.

The Crown Attorney said John Junkin, no fixed address, wanted a jail term to carry into the new year.

"Till Jan. 3 or 4?" the magistrate asked.

"If it could be worked out," Junkin said.

"All right, 15 days," the magistrate decided.

Carnival Agent Admits Theft Of $57 Cheque

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw intimated that at least one more charge would be laid against Williams. He describes himself as a carnival agent.

Kingston township will in turn have to make application to Kingston city council for permission to connect with city services or else build a new sewer of its own for the 46-acre plots.

Opera Singer Dies

LONDON, Dec. 19 — (AP) — Madame Zelie De Lussan, 86, American-born opera singer who was a favorite of Queen Victoria, died Sunday at her home in London. She appeared in operas at Covent Garden from 1890 to 1910.

Otonabee Memorial Arena One of Best In Province

For the formal opening of the Otonabee Memorial Arena, Keene, Friday night, Dec. 30, its committee in charge has prepared a program which is expected to attract a capacity crowd from the township, the district and the city of Peterborough.

It begins at 7 p.m. with a hockey game between Hastings and Keene teams, followed by skating, public addresses and finally a moccasin dance. Reeve Harry Reid will be master of ceremonies and the speakers will include Hon. H. R. Scott, G. K. Fraser, M.P., and Mayor Max Swanston.

The Otonabee Memorial Arena is described as one of the best of its type in Eastern Ontario. Its main ice for skating and hockey is 170 feet by 70 ft., with two additional strips for curling.

There are four lobbies for the accommodation of skaters, curlers and hockey teams; a refreshment booth equipped with electric hot plates and coffee urns, and a lighting system of many candle power.

The finishing touch to the rink was the recent completion of its water system. That supply was reached in new well at 75 feet. An electric pump was installed with a capacity of 450 gallons an hour. That is an outline of the accommodation the people of Otonabee have provided for themselves and especially their youth.

Mr. Arnold Nelson has been appointed caretaker, and Mrs. Nelson is in charge of the refreshment booth.

The members of the committee in charge of building the rink were: Mervin P. Mather, Charles Nelson, David McNevin, Robert Keitel and James McCarthy.

It is understood that there are five hockey teams taking shape already, from midgets up, and the Arena is expected to restore the winter game to the neighborhood of the Indian River after a lapse of probably a generation.

Revive Curling

Another interesting development is the revival of the Keene Curling Club, one of the oldest in Ontario. Scottish pioneer settlers in Otonabee brought the game with them from their native land, and it is related that in the early days of the township curling used to be played on the Indian river, hard by the village, and its scenic asset.

Otonabee had an agricultural society for years, and on the fair grounds overlooking the river the exhibits building was made use of during the winters for skating, hockey and curling. The building was originally erected as a drill hall. Occasionally Keene rinks won the district curling series, and travelled elsewhere for the finals. However, the rink gradually fell into disrepair. Farmers evidently lost interest in the agricultural society, particularly as a practical asset to their industry, and the fair building was neglected.

In recent years the combination of good roads, sturdy snow plows and the automobile have created conditions of winter mobility in rural communities. Otonabee township has its own system of keeping the secondary roads open, and the county and province look after the main roads. Access is maintained throughout the winter between all sections of the municipality.

Live Community Spirit

The facility of motor travel was a prime factor in recommending the Otonabee Memorial Arena, and associated with it was the lively community spirit in the township suggesting the purpose of Memorial linked with the provision of a centre for the activities that are being promoted broadly throughout the province.

Members of the committee say that there are between 100 and 150 children in Keene, many of them of families whose heads are employed in Peterborough. And that is only one part of the township.

The curling club should get under way with 60 or more men, and some 40 women who are interested in taking up the game.

Such is the immediate promising outlook for the investment of the Otonabee people in their Memorial Arena. It is a supervised centre of recreation, and that is the way it is going to be operated. And, the folks who have built it are hoping to see all their friends from the city and district on the night of the official opening, Friday, Dec. 30, to help make it a memorial event in the history of the township.

Havelock Driver Skids On Bridge

HEALEY FALLS, Dec. 19. — (ENS).—Walter McGowan of RR 2, Havelock, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury Sunday afternoon when his car broke through the guard rail of the bridge spanning the Trent River.

The car remained balanced on the bridge, but one wheel was hanging over the water.

McGowan told Provincial Police he was driving at a very slow speed when he came to the south approach of the bridge. The car skidded on some ice and crashed into the guard railing. Had he been travelling at a greater speed it is believed he would have plunged into the river.

There was no sand at the spot, and Provincial Constable Arthur Kellogg who investigated, said it was a bad place for accidents.

Several accidents occurred there last year and three years ago one person was drowned when a motor vehicle broke through the relatively weak guard rail.

Dead are Mrs. Mary Gamble Brewer, 22, and William Thomas Ricketts, 25.

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (CP)—A leader in YMCA work in West China for many years, Rev. Dr. Albert James Brace, 72, died suddenly Friday night at Preston, Ont. He lived in Toronto since his retirement two years ago.

Native of England, he came to Toronto as a child and on graduation from Victoria College he was ordained minister in the Methodist church and held postorates in British Columbia. In Victoria he entered YMCA work and went to China in 1912 as secretary for West China.

Dr. Brace has been guest speaker in Peterborough on several occasions.

Prominent in the Masonic Order, he organized the first Masonic Lodge in West China. The University of British Columbia conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of divinity. He was a member of Eglinton United Church.

He was the son of the late Rev. Adam H. Brace, Baptist minister, and a brother of the late Rev. A. P. Brace, United Church minister, who was for many years prominent in temperance work in Ontario.

He leaves his wife, Blanche O'Brien Brace; four sons, Carman, Wilford, Brockman and Julian; three brothers, Dr. Will Brace of Seattle and H. Lincoln Brace of Hamilton, and one sister, Mrs. Arthur Black of Chatham.

Britain To Play Important Role In West Defence

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, Dec. 19—(CP)—Britain in 1949 merged her military forces into Europe's greatest-ever peacetime defensive alliance and looked to 1950 for enlargement from the East.

Western Union became a military reality in 1949 and Britain's sea, land and air arms exercised with those of her Brussels Treaty partners—Belgium, the Netherlands, France and Luxembourg.

Soon these combined forces will integrate into the defence system of the North Atlantic Pact. On the equipment of the 12-country force the United States stands ready to spend $1,000,000,000.

By the end of 1950 Britain will have standardized sea, land and air forces using similar weapons, ammunition, signals and techniques, which will make interchange possible with her allies.

Also in 1950 she may:

1. Share with Canada in all the United States' secrets of atomic bomb production.
2. Resolve differences in land tactics between the War Office and Western Union chiefs.
3. Concentrate on counter-offensive weapons for air warfare.
4. Develop a master plan coordinating war research with industrial plant.
4. Make far-reaching decisions on services manpower for her global commitments.
6. Attempt to organize civilian defence with emphasis on the atomic phase.

Huge Expenditure

Aware that in the atomic age she is no longer an island, Britain spent more on defence and had more men in uniform—if not under arms—this year than ever before in peacetime.

She spent £750,000,000 ($2,325,000,000) to keep 770,000 men in her three services. She has an 18-month compulsory conscription system in operation which has drawn 222,000 conscripts into the army but there is a difference of opinion about its efficiency. The government thinks it sufficient and in recent stringent economies left it intact.

Britain's commitments have been world-wide. Germany alone soaks up two divisions. These run a "school" for conscripts, occupy part of the country and are her present contribution to Western Union's Continental force.

She has 25,000 men in Hong Kong, two brigades in Malaya; she is developing a great military base at Mackinnon Crossroads in Kenya replacing lost Egyptian and Palestine bastions. She is building a naval base in the East Indies and is negotiating with South Africa for another. She uses New Zealand as a submarine base, while Australia, using British submarines, amounts to another.

No Communist siege of Hong Kong is expected but it is to be "protected" in any case. Defence Minister Alexander did not use the word "defended."

Britain's Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, as chairman of Western Union's commanders-in-chief committee, has been Britain's most spectacular contribution to the West's defence.

Western Union's accomplishments are to be nucleus and pattern for the greater North Atlantic picture. Of five regional committees in the North Atlantic Pact grouping, Britain figures in four — the North Atlantic (with Canada, the United States, Denmark, Iceland and France), the Northern European (with Norway and Denmark), the West European (Western Union), the Southern European (with France, Italy and Portugal).

Criticize Methods

With Montgomery remaining head of the Brussels Powers' set-up, a United States commander is expected to become overall chief.

Britain's commitment to the standing force of 23 divisions is six. Actually only 10 divisions will be under arms most times, of which two or three will be British.

Opinion has differed between the War Office and Western Union High Command on whether British training methods are suited for any future war.

While Britai drills her men in the last war's solid phalanxes under air umbrellas, he Continental allies train "more realistically,' in sweeping battles along broad fronts.

Those differences remain to be resolved and only 1950's manoeuvers will reveal whether they have been.

Britain has most closely integrated her air forces with her allies' and her jets have been adopted as the fighters of Western Union.

These jets no ware being built by Western Union members and manufactured in Italy and Sweden as well.

Naval standardization has been accomplished to a degree by lending British ships and both Netherlands and French navies use them. Russia is powerful in submarines and this year Western Union's navies practised intensively new methods of anti-submarine warfare.

ROUGH COUNTRY

Nearly 70 per cent of Norway is uninhabitable and covered by mountains, glaciers, moors and rivers.

HERE A YOUNG LAD is receiving a thorough examination from one of the many kind-hearted, sympathetic doctors at The Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto. More than one hundred specialists freely give over 50,000 hours of their time, yearly, to the hospital. In the current campaign the hospital is seeking to raise $4,000,000 for the erection of the new building.

Canada Forward As World Power In UN Debates

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Dec. 19—(CP) The emphasis in Canada's year-round participation in the United Nations shifts with the New Year from political to economic and social questions.

The Dominion ends a two-year term on the 11-member Security Council Dec. 31 and, at the same time, becomes a member of the Economic and Social Council.

Canada thus will swing from the direct application of the U.N machinery for keeping the peace to tackle the job of wiping out the conditions that breed war.

Nevertheless the Dominion will continue to participate in solution of the political problems before the U. N. through her membership in the 59-member General Assembly which meets every fall and sometimes at special spring sessions.

Canada's role as a major western-power spokesman was pointed up at the latest assembly session by the unusually forthright addresses on top East-West problems by Canada's delegates.

L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister, and Health Minister Paul Martin were in the forefront of the debates on fundamental issues. For the first time in U.N. history they were singled out for personal attacks by Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Russia's foreign minister.

Leads Atomic Debates

In the deadlocked question of atomic controls, Canada took an even more important part, joining with France to present a resolution accepted overwhelmingly by the assembly over Soviet objections.

Throughout the year, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada was a leading figure in the atomic debates in the 11-member Atomic Energy Commission and in secret talks among the Big Five powers and Canada.

Gen. McNaughton was head of Canada's permanent delegation to the U. N. This delegation was reinforced during assembly sessions. McNaughton is slated to return to Ottawa yearly in the New Year with necessity for a permanent top-ranking delegate here receding as Canada leaves the Security Council.

But Canada will continue to be a member of the Atomic Energy Commission by virtue of the Dominion's contribution to atomic developments. Similarly the Dominion will take part in the six-power talks seeking to find a basic of agreement on international atomic controls and prohibitations of atomic weapons.

Gen. McNaughton made a heavy contribution to framing the control plan approved by 46 members of the U. N. and he was given the role of a top critic of the Russian proposals which the Assembly rejected as not sufficient to prevent secret manufacture of atomic weapons.

Canada's permanent delegate also was regarded as a kingpin in the settlement between The Netherlands and the Indonesian Republic, which U. N. officials claimed as a major achievement of the world organization.

Advocated Peace Talks

It was Gen. McNaughton who stepped in strongly last May with the suggestion approved by the Security Council that the two parties to the conflict be brought together in peace talks.

Canada also helped alleviate the dispute between two Commonwealth countries—India and Pakistan — whose conflict over Kashmir threatened to spill over into a war involving millions of people. Canada also sent several reserve army officers to Kashmir to help the United Nations in observation of the truce between India and Pakistan.

Other Security-Council questions on which Canada took a responsible stand included Palestine, arms reduction and Trieste.

Canada's policy on the United Nations is based on three principles, outlined recently by Mr Martin:

1. To support all practicable efforts to conciliate disputes.
2. To decline support of extreme proposals designed to place a burden on the U. N. which it cannot bear at its present stage of development.
3. To enter arrangements within the U. N. framework considered essential for national security

No. 2 Man On Film Board Resigns His Post After McLean Criticized

Asks All Officers To Remain On Job To Help New Commissioner; Feels He Should Share Fate of Boss

OTTAWA, Dec. 20—(CP)—Ralph Foster, No. 2 man in the government-owned National Film Board, was asked to be relieved of his duties Jan. 1 because of recent newspaper criticism of retiring Commissioner Ross McLean. The 38-year-old former Toronto newspaper man in a letter of resignation to Mr. McLean made public today said it was "hard to leave the Film Board" but "I could not remain after the statements that have appeared in the newspapers about you and your work." "If you have been in error, which I refuse to believe, then I must share the consequences."

Mr. McLean said he had no comment to make on Mr. Foster's resignation.

The resignation came five days after the government announced that it did not plan to re-appoint Mr. McLean, whose three-year term as Commissioner expires Jan. 9. Mr. McLean had advised the government he would not be able to accept re-appointment "at the present salary." His salary was $8,000 a year.

W. Arthur Irwin, of Maclean's Magazine, has been appointed to succeed Mr. McLean for a two-year term at a salary of $15,000 a year.

Administration of the Film Board was criticized in the Commons during the recess session after Defence Minister Claxton disclosed that his department is using private film companies to shoot films on "classified" subjects, pending a loyalty screening of the Film Board staff.

Separate Matter

Reconstruction Minister Winters, who has jurisdiction over the Film Board, said that the decision not to re-appoint Mr. McLean had nothing to do with the screening of NFB employees.

In a memorandum to Mr. Winters, Mr. McLean stated that he could not accept re-appointment at the present salary.

"Perhaps I should say that this note has nothing whatever to do with our recent discussion or with recent discussions in the press or parliament," said Mr. McLean. "I indicated to members of the government my objection to the reduction of the salary of the

Sydney Mayor To Appear For Arraignment

SYDNEY, N. S., Dec. 20 (CP)—Mayor Dan Jack MacLean will appear for arraignment in court later today on a charge of murder in connection with the Sunday night death of 63-year-old Joseph MacKinnon, city registrar of voters.

Meanwhile RCMP took over investigation of the case and posted a guard around Mayor MacLean's hospital room and his summer cottage eight miles from here.

A post-mortem also was scheduled for later today on the body of the aged semi-cripple whose last big job was in the Dec. 6 civic election which saw Mr. MacLean re-elected for the fifth consecutive two-year term.

Mr. MacKinnon died shortly after being found in a darkened south-end alley, his head badly cut and his chest crushed.

Police said Mr. MacLean and Mr. MacKinnon had been to Mr. MacLean's summer cabin Sunday before returning to Sydney.

The murder charge was laid on Monday after Crown Prosecutor Donald Finlayson had talked with the Attorney-General's department at Halifax by telephone.

Actor Tied Up As Apt. Robbed

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP) — Robert Wilcox, motion picture actor, was found bound and gagged today in the apartment of actress Diana Barrymore. Police said he was tied up by two men who ransacked the apartment.

Police said Wilcox told them he was alone in the apartment when two men appeared at the door at 9:30 a.m. and said they wanted to leave flowers for Miss Barrymore, confined to hospital from the effects of a fall.

Taken from the apartment, the police said, were a mink coat, a silver fox scarf, a suitcase and about $50 in silver.

Wilcox, whose name has been linked with the young actress, said he had been occupying the apartment in her absence.

Miss Barrymore previously was married to John Howard and Bramwell Fletcher. Last year she said she intended to make Wilcox her third husband.

Southeast Asia Plans Conference In March

MANILA, Dec. 20 (AP)—Plans for a conference of southeast Asian countries in March are almost complete, informed sources said today. But it probably won't end up as the anti-Communist front it started out to be.

Sources close to President Elpidio Quirino said his original idea of a strong union to oppose the spread of Communism in Asia has been watered down considerably.

For this cite two reasons: the Red military sweep in China and the probable recognition of the Chinese Communist regime by British Commonwealth countries.

The United States never warmed up to Quirino's suggestion that it be the keystone of a Pacific counterpart to the North Atlantic Alliance.

Love Deadly Disease

PARIS, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—Love is 17 times more deadly than alcohol as a motive for suicide, according to statistics published Monday by the municipal bulletin of greater Paris. A survey of 51 suicides in the area in July the bulletin said, showed 17 took their lives because of "love worries," while only one was deemed due to drunkenness. The second major cause—16 of the 51—was incurable illness.

Britain May Sign Salmon, Lumber Contract

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 — (CP) — Canada is seeking to defer some of the big wheat shipments to the United Kingdom to open markets in that country for cheese, bacon, salmon and lumber.

It was learned Monday that the United Kingdom is being sounded out on the possibility of taking less wheat in the 1949-50 crop year and using the dollars thus saved to buy other Canadian products.

The U.K. has already announced that she is setting aside some $25,000,000 for cheese purchases in North America in 1950. If the two countries can reach agreement on price, most of this sum is expected to be spent in Canada.

In addition, the U.K. is understood to be agreeable to a plan whereby she would defer 10,000,000 bushels of wheat already contracted for and use the dollars to buy about $18,000,000 worth of Canadian bacon.

Now it is understood that up to 15,000,000 bushels of wheat may be deferred, allowing the U.K. to also purchase about $5,000,000 worth of Canadian salmon and the same amount of lumber. Salmon and lumber contracts thus obtained probably would both go to the Pacific Coast.

Have Other Buyers

The wheat shipments to the UK in the current crop year would be cut from 140,000,000 to 125,000,000, but the government expects to have little trouble selling the 15,000,000 bushels elsewhere in 1950.

A snag to completion of cheese and bacon contracts is reported to be a request from cheese and bacon producers for floor prices on 1950 production if contracts are completed at lower than current prices.

If the government agrees to this price-support action, it would leave the Cabinet wide open for price-support requests from other produce like potatoes.

Pact Difficulties

Canada sold the UK bacon for $36 a hundredweight in 1949 and Britain now is asking 1950 prices at $30 a hundredweight. The cheese contract this year was for 30 cents a pound, next year Britain offers 25 cents a pound.

The Geneva Trade Pact, which prevents signatory nations from "dumping" products on other member nations, also is a stumbling block. It specifies that a country cannot subsidize its exports if the subsidy works against "fair" competition, unless the product is subsidized to the same extent on the domestic market.

Child 10 Saves 8 From Death

WHITBY, Dec. 20 (CP)—Joyce Zabudsky, 10, saved her parents and six brothers and sisters from gas poisoning today when she woke her mother and complained of being ill.

The mother, Mrs. John Zabudsky, did not realize the house was filled with coal gas fumes until she almost fainted in the kitchen. Her husband led the children out of the house and called police who opened doors and windows and cleared the fumes from the building.

Expect Million Presents For Stalin's 70th Birthday

LONDON, Dec. 20 — (AP). — The greatest giveaway jackpot program in history is on today, with Russia's Joseph Stalin on the receiving end.

Stalin, overlord of world Communism, hits the jackpot tomorrow when he reaches the age of 70. How much the take in birthday presents is worth is anybody's guess. Tons and tons of gifts—so many that not in centuries could one man use them up—have descended on Moscow from the Communist world.

Reports reaching London through the Soviet monitor and other channels indicate that there will be more than 1,000,000 parcels bearing the tag: "Happy birthday, dear comrade."

Besides, there will 2be a veritable flood of big crates containing the more unwildy gifts—all the way from motorcycles to airplanes.

Take an average figure of $5 a gift—that would be cheap for a birthday gift for Stalin—and the jackpot is worth more than $5,000,000.

Shoes, neckties, socks, choice foods, wines, spirits, toys, dolls, books, automobiles, horses, motorcycles, airplanes, locomotives, and even whole factories are among the many carloads of presents converging upon the Kremlin from the satellite areas and far territories of the USSR.

Long freight trains hauled gifts into Moscow. There were 70 cars—one for each birthday—from Communist East Germany. A freight train of 11 cars left Warsaw with presents from Poland.

Numerous cities in the Soviet orbit have held public displays of the presents. In impoverished Warsaw, six halls were needed to hold all the gifts.

Kingston Police Nab Fleeing Trio In Dead-End Street

KINGSTON, Dec. 20 (CP) — Two convicts from Kingston Penitentiary, under escort for X-ray examination at the Kingston General Hospital, shot their way to a half-hour of freedom today. Police said the two men were aided in their attempted escape by a former convict Harry Wilcox, 21, of Toronto, who held up two keepers from the penitentiary and took the two convicts away from them.

The convicts are: Marvin Breaton, Toronto, serving a sentence of seven years and two months for wilful damage and prison break, theft of auto, carrying offensive weapon and manslaughter, and Joseph Parks, Toronto, serving two years for theft and auto theft.

Police captured the trio in an empty garage 30 minutes after the first alarm was given.

The convicts were still wearing the handcuffs which had been placed on them before they were taken from the penitentiary earlier in the morning.

Break Away

Prison Messenger Victor Ranous said the men were being brought out of the hospital through the ambulance entrance when Hancox walked up and ordered the guards, Angus McLeod and Joseph Northmore, to hand over the prisoners. The three men raced for the street where they saw Mrs. Erma Martin of the hospital staff getting out of her car. She was just reporting for duty at the hospital.

The two shackled convicts followed Hancox who grabbed Mrs. Martin and pulled her out of her car, ordering her back onto the sidewalk. The two convicts piled into the back seat and Hancox took over the wheel and started the car.

Fire Chief Victory Brightman, leaving the hospital at that moment, shouted "hold up" and raised the first alarm.

Fires At Car

As the men sped from the driveway of the ambulance entrance, Hancox leaned from the car and fired a shot at the prison car in which Messenger Ranous was sitting. The car roared from the lane and the driver fired a second shot. Both shots went wild.

Detectives Vincent McQuaide and Glen Brennan captured the three men after a chase by cruiser and on foot. The three men drove Mrs. Martin's car to the end of Colborne Street where they found themselves cornered in the blind end there. They abandoned the stolen car and started running north on Chatham Street, then west on Elm Street and north again on Alfred.

At one time in the chase four city police cruiser cars, two Provincial Police cruisers, three motorcycles, the cars of Chief of Police J. T. Truaisch and Inspector Andrew Ready were closing in on the men.

Hancox was released from Kingston Penitentiary Dec. 5. He had been serving two years for car theft.

27 Nazi Criminals Freed For Being Good

LANDSBERG, Germany, Dec. 20 (AP)—Twenty-seven smiling German war criminals were freed today from the United States Army's Landsberg prison for good behaviour during confinement.

They had served the greater part of three and five-year sentences given them by U.S. military courts for war crimes. All their sentences would have expired before next June 30.

None was a big-name Nazi criminal. These were the men who commanded Nazi concentration camps, who served as camp guards or mistreated captured American airmen.

The oldest was Friedrich Katz, 60, a former Weisbaden policeman, convicted of taking part in the murder of American fliers.

Linda, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Hunter, 272 Marks St., was as thrilled with the discovery of the hamper full of masks as she was with the gifts she received at the party from Santa.

Two Witnesses Driven Out By Angry Mob

MONTREAL, Dec. 20 (CP)—Two women members of the Jehovah Witnesses sect were in Montreal today after being threatened with bodily harm by an angry mob of 500 persons Monday night in the tiny industrial city of Joliette some 40 miles north of here.

The pair—Winifred Parsons, 26, of Sarnia and Olive Lundell, 31, of Maidstone, Sask.—last week told police they were forcibly taken from Joliette to Montreal by a group of men who warned them not to return to the Laurentian town.

The two women were carrying out their "Bible education work" at the time of the alleged seizure. They returned to Joliette last Thursday after telling police here they "were willing to accept the risks" entailed in their work.

The situation remained quiet until Monday night when a demonstration was held outside the girls' residence following a stormy town council meeting at which it was reported a formal resolution was passed asking that the women be expelled from the town.

Cries of "get out now" were heard frequently and Joliette police were forced to take the pair into protective custody when matters threatened to get out of control.

Three policemen escorted the women to the town limits and they returned to Montreal accompanied by two newspapermen—a reporter and photographer from the Toronto Daily Star — who were also told "to stay out of Joliette" by the crowd.

Police Chief Lapierre said today the girls came out of the house at 10.15 p.m. after a taxi, called by demonstrators, arrived. He said the women asked police to escort them to the taxi.

Constables made a guard about the girls and asked the crowd to clear a passage to the taxi.

Chief Lapierre said the pair was not touched. The taxi was paid in advance with money collected from bystanders, the chief said.

No Major Argument In Air Pact Talks

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP) — A high Canadian source said Monday there is "no major item of disagreement" between Canadian and American officials who have been discussing Friday difficulties that have arisen over an air agreement the two countries signed more than six months ago.

Consideration was given during the day to issuing an interim statement to make that point clear he said, but the talks adjourned late in the afternoon without either conclusion or statement. They will resume today.

Man Trusted With Jail Keys Turns Out Bank Robber

MARION, Ind., Dec. 20—(AP)—The sheriff said today the man he trusted with the keys to the jail turned out to be an Ohio bank robber. Nearly four months ago Sheriff Vaughn Treber hired a new turnkey.

The man called himself Jimmy Burke. But Jimmy was not his real name. Monday, through an F.B.I. photograph, he was disclosed as James H. (Bugs) Perry, 56, of Rittman, O., Treber said.

The F.B.I. has been hunting Perry for the $3,134 robbery of a bank in North Fairfield, O., last June 13. Perry admitted he was their man straight off, Treber said, regretting only the embarrassment the incident might cause the sheriff.

This is the way they caught Perry, according to Treber:

He was picked up Aug. 9 on a vagrancy charge and served an 11-day jail term. Treber took a liking to him and hired him as turnkey. He did a good job too.

But Detective Capt. Hobart Whitton happened to be thumbing through FBI circulars of wanted men. One photo looked a great deal like Jimmy Burke.

Whitton and the sheriff showed the picture of Jimmy Burke. Jimmy—or Perry—agreed it looked like him.

"That's it," said Perry. "I'm the guy."

Perry was working around the clock shift at the jail, seven days a week, and had access not only to cell keys but to gun racks and the jail's mail. He ate there and was being paid $100 a month.

He said he had planned to go straight and liked the job.

Perry will be returned to Ohio to face charges. He has a record of having served 32 years in prison for larceny, burglary and possessing narcotics.

TAKING IN REFUGEES

GENEVA, Dec. 20 (AP)—Australia now ranks third, behind the United States and Israel, among the countries accepting the largest number of refugees, the International Refugee Organization announced today.

Hydro Refuses To Use Reserves

TORONTO, Dec. 20 — (CP) — Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, said today the commission's $20,778,760 reserve fund will not be used to offset the increase in Hydro rates announced recently.

"This money is paid into the Ontario system to meet a specific objective—that of stabilizing rates during depression periods when basic costs continue and power consumption falls off—and must be reserved for that purpose," he said.

The commission would "not complain too much" if some municipalities with similar reserves of their own sought to apply them against the rate increase.

Any increase in rates charged by the municipalities to consumers must be approved by the commission. Mr. Saunders said today that no applications for increases have been received yet but he expected them to start coming in early in the new year. The commission's financial advisers are studying the new rates as they affect each community.

Ban Discrimination

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 20—(AP)—The Harvard University student council voted 7 to 6 Monday night to ban discrimination for "color, race or nationality" in the membership of all college organizations. Proponents of the anti-discrimination measure said adoption would make it possible to put it into the charters of the student organizations.

Britain's Daily Export Rate Breaks Record In November

LONDON, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—Britain's daily export rate for November was the highest on record, the Board of Trade announced today.

The daily figure was not disclosed, but it was said to be three per cent higher than in October.

Exports for November totalled £160,400,000 ($497,240,000), an increase of £4,300,000 over October, £19,300,000 above the average for the third quarter of 1949, and £7,100,000 above the first quarter rate.

Imports were £201,000,000, compared with £198,900,000 in October and £187,200,000 for the third quarter. The increase in sterling value of imports did not reflect any increase in volume.

The adverse balance for the month—excess of imports over exports—fell from £37,600,000 for October to £34,700,000. This compared with an average of £42,200,000 in the third quarter and £21,000,000 in the first quarter.

Provisional figures for exports to the United States showed a rise to £7,300,000 compared with £5,600,000 for October. There was also a substantial increase in the value of exports to Canada—about £7,500,000 compared with £6,400,000 for the previous month.

On the basis of 1938 values, it was provisionally estimated that the volume of exports in November was 162 per cent of the 1938 average. It was 14 per cent more than the average for the third quarter of 1949 and four per cent above the level achieved in the first quarter of the year.

Romulo Asks Stop-Gap Atomic Plan

McNaughton Urges Russians Lay Cards On U.N. Table

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Dec 20 (CP)—Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines today urged the big five powers and Canada to concentrate on framing a stop-gap plan for international atomic controls to halt an atomic arms race.

"Every day brings further evidence that the race for atomic armaments is accelerating at a frightening rate," Romulo, president of the recent United Nations assembly session, said in a letter to Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada.

The letter was released immediately after the opening day of a six-power talk seeking a basis of agreement on atomic controls. McNaughton is chairman of the closed meeting under a system of rotation.

Romulo suggested the six powers drop for "a few months" the efforts to reach agreement on a permanent control plan and give priority instead of possibility of reaching some agreement on "interim prohibition or control."

Time Running Out

The reason for priority on a stop-gap plan, Romulo indicated, is that improvements in atomic weapons and stock-piling of atomic bombs may soon build up to the point where control may be practically impossible even if east-west agreement is reached.

"It should, of course, remain a cardinal principle that the efforts toward permanent solution should never be given up, Romulo added.

McNaughton was to ask the Russians a series of questions to discover just where they stand on the atomic question.

13th In Series

The six-power meeting is the 13th in a series started last July when the 11-member U.N. Atomic Energy Commission decided it could get no further. The U.N. Assembly which ended Dec. 10 directed the six powers to continue the closed talks and to explore "all possible avenues" of agreement.

The assembly could not break the deadlock but smaller powers pressed harder than ever for some guarantees against atomic warfare after President Truman announced evidence of an atomic explosion in Russia.

Young Marshal Said Executed

HONG KONG, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—An unconfirmed Chinese report today stated that Chang Hsueh Lian, the "young marshal" famous for his part in kidnapping Chiang Kai-shek in 1936, has been executed in Formosa.

Chang has been under "house arrest" for the last 13 years.

The report, which could not be confirmed from any other source said the execution was ordered by Chiang immediately after his arrival in Taipeh, capital of Formosa, from Chengtu, last Nationalist capital in China.

Unborn Quadruplets Save Woman Prison

LONDON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Unborn quadruplets today saved a 38-year-old London barmaid from a prison term.

Accused of stealing from taverns at which she was employed, she was sentenced Nov. 23 to a year's imprisonment.

Appearing for Diane Fletcher before the appeals committee, her counsel, J. F. Eastwood, said that physicians first reported that she would give birth to twins in a matter of weeks. After a second examination they said it looked like triplets, and today they increased their prediction to quadruplets.

A. W. Cockburn, presiding official, quashed the prison sentence and ordered that the prospective mother be placed on probation for two years.

Ontario Waiting Answer From Ottawa On Floor For Egg Prices

Says Food For Poultry Supported By Gov't Only Fair Poultrymen Assured of Some Assistance With Eggs

TORONTO, Dec. 20—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Kennedy said Monday night the Ontario government last week asked the Federal government to establish a floor of egg prices but has received no reply. He was commenting on a report from Victoria that Premier Johnson of British Columbia had urged Ottawa authorities to establish the price. The loss of the British market has caused a considerable drop in egg prices. Grade A large eggs—which sold as high as 78 cents a dozen two months ago in Toronto, were retailing at 47 cents a dozen during the week-end. There were indications the prices would go even lower.

Mr. Kennedy said the poultry man has to pay $2 a bushel for western wheat to feed his flocks and this price is supported by the Dominion Government.

"It is only fair that in view of the federal floor on wheat, the same assistance should be given to the poultry man," he declared.

Weed Out Flocks

He estimated that annual egg production in Canada was about 33,000,000 dozen or 10 per cent in excess of domestic consumption. This, he figured, would be corrected by the farmers weeding out their flocks.

In the meantime, there was a certain amount of panic trading which had left the wholesale market jittery.

"I believe the present situation is only temporary and it will be straightened out as soon as the new prices for cheese and bacon for export are announced at the beginning of the year," Mr. Kennedy remarked. "However, in justice to the farmer, the government at Ottawa should put a floor under egg prices."

Prices Drop Steadily On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP). — Prices declined steadily for the second successive session on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Western oils joined the downtrend after holding firm in Monday's session.

Volume for the first three hours was 469,000 shares.

Industrials led the big board lower as activity slowed to a crawl. Declines were generally held to fractions and scattered over a wide list. Papers, utilities, steels, agricultures and foods were all down. Atlas Steel dropped a fraction to a new low following news that directors had again passed the dividend. Burns A was against the trend for a new high in foods following news of increased dividends.

Bell Telephone continued active and lower on news that the company's request for an interim rate increase would not be heard until March.

Profit-taking pressure on recent gains pushed leading Western oils into lower ground. Losses ranged up to 20 cents. Deadlines tripled advances in base metals. Golds firm compared with the remainder of the market. Junior producers a little support following yesterday's sharp decline.

Two Trucks Collide On Rutted Icy Road

When they were unable to swerve out of each other's way due to icy ruts two trucks had a minor collision Monday on the Oak Lake Rd., seven and a half miles north of Havelock. Damage amounted to about $85.

One of the vehicles was a half-ton pickup truck driven by John Wood of Havelock and the other was a dump truck driven by Frank Wheeler, Cordova Mines. Damage to the two vehicles was $65 and $20, respectively.

The drivers told Provincial Constable D. W. Coffey they met on a bend in the road, tried to swerve to avoid a collision, but failed to do so because of the deep ruts.

Neither man was injured.

Trying To Miss Train Car Strikes Garage

Trying to avoid a possible collision with a train, Attilio Cichetti, 561 Chamberlan St., ran into a large garage door of Dawson's Service Station at Reid and McDonnel St. Sunday afternoon.

Cichetti told Traffic Officer Harold Mesley he had been driving south on Reid St. After he crossed McDonnell St. the wigwag signal began to ring on the CNR tracks crossing Reid St.

Cichetti stepped on the brakes and swung his car to the left. The result was a broken bumper and a damaged service station door.

Another Cabbie Missing, Call In Police

NORTH BAY, Dec. 20 (CP)—Ontario and Quebec police were on the look-out today for Archie Larochelle, North Bay taxi driver who has been missing since last Wednesday.

Larochelle left North Bay on Wednesday night with three passengers who said they wanted to go to Montreal. The men were dressed in bush clothes and were reported to be carrying a large amount of money. The men paid Larochelle the $75 fare in advance.

Larochelle's wife reported his disappearance to city police Sunday, and they in turn contacted Provincial Police who radioed details of the incident and Larochelle's appearance to provincial detachments throughout Ontario and part of Quebec.

Larochelle, father of six children, told his wife he would be back from the trip Thursday.

His employer, I. Benard, said today he had no reason to believe that Larochelle was deliberately remaining away. He quoted Larochelle as saying that the three men, "look all right, and they have lots of money."

Benard would not suggest an explanation of the incident but he said he did not think the car reached Montreal.

Whisky-Drinking Bandits Rob Burford Store, Bank

BURFORD, Dec. 20—(CP)—The Western Ontario countryside today was stirred by a curious contrast between the old wild west, and modern crime—the search by radio-equipped Provincial Police cruisers for whisky-drinking bandits who escaped with $2,050 from the Bank of Toronto branch here. Fired by liquor which they drank out of an olive-colored bottle, four youthful gunmen stole weapons and ammunition from a hardware store here minutes before they held up the bank.

Johnny Gardiner, 32-year-old cab-driver, was hired to pick up four men at the railway station at Brantford. Out on the Burford Road they jammed two pistols at him, lashed him to a tree after robbing him of $20 and sped away with the cab.

At this hamlet 10 miles west of Brantford the four stopped at the hardware store operated by Fred Baldsdon. Donald Potts, whose butcher store is at the rear, tried to delay the men but they pulled out guns. They selected a sporting rifle and a shotgun from the store supplies and forced the proprietor to load both of them.

One man remained on guard at the hardware store while the other three entered the bank. Manager R. J. Sim had been told by telephone of the hardware store robbery so he had hidden some of the bank's funds. But one of the gunmen obtained available cash from the teller, Lyall Shields, and the trio departed. An elderly bank customer, Mrs. Lily Smith, attempted to follow them outside.

Pushed Her Back

One of the men ran back and pushed her against the wall. "I won't hurt you, lady," he said.

In the railway washroom at Brantford police found the empty pickle bottle which smelled of liquor. The cab-driver said the men had been drinking from it before they started their raid.

Provincial police said that dozens of police cruiser cars in the area had been alerted immediately the alarm sounded, and city police from a half-dozen municipalities in the area were also on the watch.

Early reports were that a man had been detained at a farmhouse near Burford and that he had furnished police with the names of three suspects. But provincial police at Brantford said last night that no one had been detained and they had issued no list of suspects.

The stolen taxi used by the four gunmen was found at 11.30 a.m. today in Welland.

There still is no trace of the gunmen, provincial police said there.

Police believe that the bandits hid the taxi in a swamp area or in abandoned farm buildings during the search Monday by nearly 100 officers in radio-controlled cruiser cars.

Council Snorts Tut-Tut Illegal 5-Day Week

The Saturday morning holiday in the city hall offices was restricted in the council's approval to the end of September. Since then, however, it appears, the five day week has continued in effect without sanction of bylaw.

Three months have gone by since the end of the general holiday period. Reference to the extension of the five-day week was mentioned in the Board of Works report Monday night, read by Ald. H. Dodds: "That the city clerk arrange a meeting with the heads of departments to discuss fully arrangements for reverting to the former 5½-day week, and to present some suggested solution to the council early in the coming year."

Ald. Grant Miller said he had suggested that there should be some one in charge of the offices Saturday mornings, probably a skeleton staff. The bylaw had expired but the holiday practice had continued. Whatever was done should be done promptly, Ald. Miller said.

Ald. Doug Miller expressed the opinion that the city offices should be open Saturday mornings. He said that perhaps the department heads could work out some satisfactory arrangement.

To Stand Trial On Copper Theft Charge

Francis McGrath, 34, of 252 Charlotte St., was today committed for trial by a higher court on a charge of receiving almost two tons of stolen copper rod in a preliminary hearing before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court.

Evidence showed 15 coils of copper rod was missing from a consignment of 122 coils which were loaded at Phillip's Electric in Brockville, on a Smith Transport trailer. The loss was discovered by Peterborough's terminal manager, Robert Harrington, after he had been contacted by city police.

Three other men face similar charges: Kenneth Metcalfe, 25 Bewdley: Cyril Gerster, 35, of 262 Simcoe St., and Hyman Albert, 697 George St. North.

Gerster is represented by I. E Weldon, KC, Lindsay; Metcalfe by Arthur W. S. Greer, KC, Oshawa; and Albert by T. J. Carley, KC.

Preliminary Hearings

The preliminary hearings in the charges against Gerster, Metcalfe and Albert are continuing.

Constable Donald Mackay told the court about 11.30 Sunday, Oct. 16, together with Constables Sherman Kellele and Grant Gillespie he was driving south on Aylmer St. on an assignment. Opposite the CNR freight sheds, Constable Mackay noticed a 1949 car parked beside the sheds. As he watched it, he saw someone in the car behind the wheel duck his head.

The police car turned around at King St. and returned to the parked car where Metcalfe was found sitting. As a result of the questioning of Constables Kellele and Gillespie, Metcalfe was brought to the police station.

About one hour later McGrath came to the police station asking for the keys to his car. Constable Mackay said the keys had been taken from the car and a note left to the effect that McGrath could get the keys at the police station.

Denied Acquaintance

When questioned, McGrath said he knew Metcalfe quite well and said he had just borrowed his truck to take a couple of girls home near McDonnel street. Metcalfe had told police he did not know McGrath.

Constable Mackay then went to the Aylmer St. CNR freight sheds where he had been told the truck was. At the police station he examined the truck's load and found 15 coils of copper rod. He said he knew only the CGE used such rod and reported to Sergeant Gordon Puffer. It was found to be the same type of copper rod brought by the Smith transport from Brockville and left in the company's warehouse early Saturday morning.

McGrath was arrested at his home about three a.m. Examination of the trailer in the Smith warehouse revealed fingermarks or knuckle marks in the dust at the back of the trailer where the ropes holding down the tarpaulin are tied.

Metcalfe, called by the crown as a witness, said he had brought his truck with a tarpaulin on it to the Peterborough Metal Co. junk yard on Bethune St. Sunday night about 9:45 p.m. at the request of Hyman Albert. He then took his truck and parked it by the CNR freight sheds on Aylmer St. About 15 minutes later Albert came to him and left. A short time later McGrath came along, said he was to take the truck and left.

Metcalfe said he waited in McGrath's car until the police came along and picked him. Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw moved for committal at that point.

Mr. McLean disclosed Monday that he had asked all officers of the board to remain in their posts to help the new commissioner with his work.

In his letter, Mr. Foster said his action did not reflect an attitude against Mr. Irwin, and that he had a great admiration for the man chosen as Mr. McLean's successor.

Mr. Foster said he hoped other senior officers of the board would remain to help Mr. Irwin. He offered to defer his own departure "a month or two" if Mr. McLean desired.

A native of Toronto, Mr. Foster worked for the Toronto Star, the Windsor Daily Star and later the Toronto Star Weekly.

Where Does The Dotted Line Run?

When the Imperial Privy Council in 1927 awarded the Dominion of Newfoundland a whopping big slice of Labrador, (110,000 square miles) which Canada and Quebec had long taken for granted was theirs, a boundary line was drawn on paper, but not set down on the actual ground. Nobody worried very much about an imaginary line passing though almost useless and uninhabited country until a year or two ago. Then the exact division between Newfoundland and Quebec became very important, for the great iron deposits lie on and around it, iron so vast in quantity and good in quality that iron mining in the area is expected to dwarf the biggest iron section in the United States, the Mesabi Range in Wisconsin.

• • •

Newfoundland is now a Canadian province, so the Dominion is no longer directly involved. Mr. Duplessis of Quebec wants very much to be involved; he has been attempting to raise a fuss about the Privy Council Labrador boundary decision since long before Newfoundland entered the Canadian union. The Newfoundland people are sitting quite firmly on their rights as defined by the Privy Council, and Clause 2 of Section II of the Terms of Union States specifically that:

> The Province of Newfoundland shall comprise the same territory as at the date of Union, that is to say, the island of Newfoundland and the islands adjacent thereto, the Coast of Labrador as delimited in the report delivered by the Judicial Committee of His Majesty in His Privy Council on the twenty-second day of March, 1927, and the islands adjacent to the said Coast of Labrador.

• • •

With such a firm statement securely in Premier Smallwood's official pocket, he can afford to be sweetly reasonable about Premier Duplessis' large claims to Labrador. He said the other day "No one knows just where the boundary is along the ground, but I agreed with Mr. Duplessis that the matter is something that can be worked out amicably by two governments which respect the views of one another". Mr. Duplessis claims that two-thirds of the iron ore developments are in Quebec; Mr. Smallwood is quite sure that most of them are in Newfoundland. Mr. Smallwood speaks with the confidence of a man who has the proof to back up his statement; Mr. Duplessis like a bluffer.

• • •

The matter is important to both Provinces, because each will exact very substantial royalties from the companies mining the ore; so substantial that eventually the provincial coffers will be well lined from this source alone. And of course, the bigger the area each Province can lay claim to, the bigger the revenue.

Re-Reading At Christmas

Every Christmas for many years we have re-read Charles Dickens' story A Christmas Carol, and every year we have fallen under its spell. The story is, surely, familiar to everyone: Ebenezer Scrooge, an embittered miser, dreams that he is visited by the Ghost of Christmas Past, the Ghost of Christmas Present, and the Ghost of Christmas Yet To Be; under the influence of these spirits his whole nature is changed, and he becomes a generous and kindly man. The name "Scrooge" has passed into the language as a synonym for unsympathetic miserliness, and the Christmas toast of the lame child, Tiny Tim,—"God bless us, every one!"—is fully as familiar. For A Christmas Carol is a magical book, with an influence far beyond any that might be accounted for by its merit as literature.

It is a sentimental book, of course, but the sentimentality is that of a great man; there is nothing furtive about it. Dickens drew his characters boldly and coloured them vividly, and he does not pretend that Scrooge, or Bob Cratchit's family, or old Fezziwig is a minute and realistic portrait. He set out to give his readers something of the very essence of Christmas, and he succeeded magnificently. The vigour and richness of his invention gives the book a wonderful force which the passing of 106 years has not diminished. It is, and will long remain one of the great classics of Christmas. That is why we read it yearly, as part of our Christmas observance.

There is another book, much younger, which we have read each Christmas since it first appeared in 1944, and which is, in our opinion, another Christmas classic. It is A Christmas Story by H. L. Mencken. It tells of a kindly citizen of Baltimore who grew tired of seeing the down-and-outs of that city entertained each Christmas by charitable but evangelistic organizations, who expected that the men they fed would forthwith reform. So he gave a great Christmas party for the bums of Baltimore, at which they were plyed with food and beer and cigars for twelve hours without a break, being entertained meanwhile by a burlesque troupe. But at last, when all the bums were drunk and happy, one of them rose and began to testify to the ungodliness of his life, and to pledge himself to reform. Immediately the others followed suit. The habit of repenting, as a return for charity, was too strong for them. It is a sad story, but uproariously funny, too. And, like A Christmas Carol, it presents a mighty truth in a striking guise.

Canada Needs

Canada was the first overseas nation to establish a mass immigration program for post-war European refugees, and one of the first members of the International Refugee Organization (I.R.O.). Since the first group of D.P.'s landed in Canada in April 1947, more than 72,000 displaced men, women and children have been brought to this country where they are now home-making and becoming Canadian citizens. This is a very creditable record, which compares not badly with the numbers of immigrant-refugees accepted by the four other chief receiving countries: the United States, which has taken in 119,000; Israel, 115,000, the United Kingdom, 83,000, and Australia, 81,000.

The Canadian Government and the I.R.O. co-operate in the immigration scheme, and I.R.O. assists financially. Canada has not set quotas, as the U.S.A. has done, but bases the number it will accept on the country's capacity to absorb them. The Canadian Government will not sponsor immigrants unless there are jobs already waiting for them, and some adequate housing accommodation. There are, too, political and racial considerations. If the Government can be charged with timidity or lack of vision in not securing more immigrants during the last three years, it can also be praised for the care with which it selects them.

The rescuing of homeless, jobless, inadequately fed people from the ruins o Europe, to give them an opportunity for a fresh, freer life in Canada, is not only humane but nationally beneficial work. It is the happy sort of enterprise where both parties benefit.

Zero Hours

Yesterday we read a news story on our front page about a lighthouse keeper and his assistant who were rescued from a lonely island where they had been marooned for six days, four of these days being spent in the open zero weather. We shivered as we looked out the window to the bright, warm street. The incident seemed very remote—but it was not, really. It did not happen in the Arctic, or Iceland or Mongolia; it occurred in Ontario near Manitoulin.

Thus again we were reminded of the bigness of this Province of ours; weather reports tell it more frequently than actual travel across Ontario. The Niagara peninsula can be basking in spring-like heat while Sudbury is in violent zero temperatures. Cornwall may be having a blizzard while St. Thomas has its windows open. It is a big province, the second largest. Quebec, the largest, has 523,860 square miles of land; Ontario 363,282; British Columbia follows closely with 359,279 square miles of land. But Ontario has the jump on B.C. because it has 49,300 square miles of water surface, and British Columbia, not owning half the Great Lakes, or Muskoka or Kawartha Lakes, has only 6,976 square miles of fresh water. Incidentally, it is interesting that Quebec has considerably more square miles of fresh water than Ontario has—71,000 to Ontario's 49,300. One reason is that Quebec includes most of the St. Lawrence.

Size alone does not account for the variety of weather in Ontario. The proximity to these masses of water has much to do with it. Then, too, weather in even one spot takes somersaults. Here in Peterborough, close as we are to Lake Ontario, we can vary in one day from 50 degrees above zero to 30 below.

This rambling account of weather has little point except that it is brought on by our rather queasy feeling that we may have a green Christmas after all. A somersault, the reverse of a week ago Sunday's, would be in order.

Nehru—Man of 1950

By O. M. GREEN

WHEN the Colombo Conference of Commonwealth Ministers meet next month no figure in it will attract more attention than the handsome, grey-haired Pandit Jawaharal Nehru, Prime Minister of India, (which though a Republic, remains, by a triumph of British statesmanship, a member of the Commonwealth) for nearly a third of his life Britain's most militant antagonist, now her friend, one might almost say her imitator. Nehru is unquestionably one of the three most conspicuous personalities in the world today, and the most visible. Of the other two Stalin is best seen through the devouring imperialism of Russian policy; Mao Tse Tung, leader of the Communist China, is still a question mark, a consummate revolutionary, but yet to prove himself in statesmanship. But Nehru we know through and through, all his career, his qualities and defects, and above all his instrinsic lovableness.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE extraordinary thing about Pandit Nehru is the absence of bitterness in his nature. Even when fighting most ardently against the British Raj in India he could write, "I owe too much to England in my mental make-up ever to feel wholly alien to her". In those days his strong partisanship blinded him to Britain's many great gifts to India—justice, an incorruptible administration, peace between Moslem and Hindu, famine relief, irrigation that made food for millions. He was not always fair to the Raj. But it was the system that he hated, not the individual or the people. Like Lenin, Hitler and Mussolini, he came up the hard way. Of his 60 years nearly 13 were spent in nine imprisonments. But they left no hard line about his mouth, no glint of cruelty in his eyes; he stands out as the one great revolutionary leader with no blood upon his hands.

◇ ◇ ◇

NEHRU was born at Allahabad on November 14, 1889, of an old Kashmiri family. His father, who like his son became in time an ardent Nationalist, was a wealthy lawyer. As a boy Nehru had an English tutor from whom he went to England to school at Harrow, (where his quiet unassuming manner made him popular) and then to Trinity College, Cambridge, where he took his M.A. degree. Subsequently he was called to the Bar at the Inner Temple (London centre of legal professional training) and on his return to India practised for a while at the Allahabad Bar, but left it for politics on his father's telling him that he had no need to work. In 1924-25 he was chairman of the Allahabad Municipality, the only official post he ever held before becoming Premier. But he found the work too cramping and gave it up. He had been secretary of the Allahabad Home Rule League in 1918 and the same year began his life-long membership of the All-India National Congress Committee through which his name became familiar to all the world as more and more he came to the front among the militant leaders of Congress.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE Amritsar riots in 1919 stirred Nehru to the depths of his passionate nature and sent him to his first imprisonment, where he met and became the most intimate friend of Gandhi. The association between the two was a curious one—Gandhi the mystic, rejecting modern science and preaching that true freedom was only to be found in a return to primitive simplicity of life, and Nehru, a sceptic in religious matters, and pressing on for scientific progress on Western lines but in Indian hands. But the friendship lasted through life and turned Nehru into the complete revolutionary. It is an interesting speculation whether Nehru and Congress would have accepted the plan which Sir Stafford Cripps took to India in 1942—participation in the war and virtually whatever India wanted after it—if left to themselves. At one time they seemed ready to do so. But Gandhi threw his weight against it, the offer was rejected, and Nehru, Gandhi and the members of Congress went to prison for the last time.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE is neither space nor need to enter in detail into the fevered controversies from the British Ministers' visit to India early in 1946, their labours for an independent but united India to the participation between India and Pakistan and Great Britain's withdrawal in August 1947. But they brought into strong relief what is Nehru's greatest defect—his weakness for allowing his emotions to carry him away in public speeches. His bitter words did nothing in those hot months of 1946-47 to lessen the Moslem League's conviction that Congress's acceptance of the Ministers' plan was a mere subterfuge. And more recently in the truly tragic quarrel of India and Pakistan over Kashmir, Nehru's unrestrained denunciations of Pakistan have inevitably inflamed passion and intensified the difficulty of a settlement. It is not to be denied that the Pakistanis feel as keenly and hold suspicions as deep as Nehru, but their language, if in essence as uncompromising, is more parliamentary: Nehru is a great orator, his influence over the masses of India is unbounded. It is hard to understand how little conscious he seems of the harm that unbridled speech from one in his position may do.

◇ ◇ ◇

SINCE he became Premier of India, Nehru has had to meet tougher problems than those normally confronting other Prime Ministers and without the pratical experience of government which they have had. His enthusiasm and emotional nature, too, make him less perceptive of hard facts than his hard-headed and able coadjustor, Valabhai Patel, the Home Minister. A Socialist in intention Nehru at the outset of his Premiership frightened the Indian businessmen with talk of nationalization, with the result that the new capital so much needed in Indian business did not come forward. Like all revolutionary governments that of India began by trying to do too much, and rising inflation, which the Government's utmost efforts have not checked, labour unrest and sheer lack of sufficient food for India's incessantly expanding population, present a grim picture.

◇ ◇ ◇

NO man occupied a more exposed, more crucial position than this Premier of an unfinished State of 350,000,000 souls, surrounded on all sides by strife and menace. Fallible but fearless, he stands on a giddy eminence with many adversaries eager to pull him down. But there are many million more friends and adorers, the masses of India to whom he is the symbol and foundation of their hopes; and always within him is the brave heart and high purpose which no discouragement can weaken.

Letter To The Editor

ANOTHER UNION OPINION

Sir: I am an employee of C.G.E. and have been for some years. I worked in Genelco when the U.E. was organized. I joined the U.E. at that time for the protection and security that a Union provides its members.

A Union is the only protection a worker has in regard to working conditions, wages and security. We have received wage increases through our Union which we sorely needed but where is the security they promised? We can never get Security, Seniority or Job Evaluation as long as we have a man at the head of our Union who, when offered even the slightest raise in pay, will grab it for the glory of saying, "I got you 40c an hour and let the rest of the world go by, including Seniority, Job Evaluation, Pension, etc." But what about married men in C.G.E. who have less take home pay to keep their families, or the women who only have themselves to keep or who are just working to help build a decent home to live in.

The U.E. talks about free democratic Trade Unionism. The Kangaroo court that was held last Thursday night is a good example of U.E. views on democracy. The letters which expelled members received, said that they would get a fair trial by an impartial trial committee, they received these letters before the broadcast over CHEX on Sunday, Dec. 4th. On that broadcast one of Jackson's supporters the secretary of the trial committee stated her views in no uncertain terms. Was she in a position to sit on a jury on December 8th and decide if they were guilty or not guilty when they were already convicted in her mind?

These people could not be expelled because they had already pulled out of a so-called union, which they were ashamed to even be associated with any longer. They found out in the course of their association with the old U.E. that our Union which we should be able to be proud of was being used as a means to help the Communist Party gain control of the mass of industry.

They saw how things were being run not by the membership, but by Secret Meetings held in the Empress Hotel every Tuesday night for a year or more. The membership set up a Steward's Council of elected and trusted members, which met every Wednesday night. This is where the business for our local should have been handled instead of having a previous private meeting every Tuesday to decide how a few would sway the rest.

Things such as "Vote Sepella for Chairman" whispered to practically new stewards at the door as they went in. This is not democracy or Trade Unionism. And when our duly elected officers and stewards, refused to put up with this sort of thing any longer, they were slandered.

The officers of our Local 524, the only local with money in the bank, were accused of mis-using our funds. When our officers suggested that the District hold their meeting here in Peterborough they were told, you have more money than any other local, you can afford to travel, then they were slandered because they did.

The U.E. had the infernal gall to bring an admitted Communist down from Toronto to speak at a membership meeting. They must think that they have the Peterborough G.E. workers buffaloed.

At the so-called membership meeting on Sunday, December 11th, I would call it a slander party, one of the speakers said that the people who were expelled and suspended should hang their heads in shame. I will say that if I belonged to the old U.E. I would hang my head in shame. They put in the Examiner that they had from 350-500 members at the meeting; we counted the people at that meeting and there were only 150 and you can bet your life they were not all U.E. supporters. This is just a small example of the lies and propaganda put out to honest hard working Union supporters.

In closing I would like to urge every one to listen to their radio and read their newspapers and see what the Communists are trying to do all over the world. Don't let them do it in Canada, support the people who are fighting for the right to vote for democracy and free speech. Above all support a good strong democratic Trade Union not an almost extinct independent minority.

A member of the Independent Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers-C.I.O.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind. But be ye glad and rejoice for ever in that which I create: for, behold, I create Jerusalem a rejoicing, and her people a joy.

And I will rejoice in Jerusalem, and joy in my people: and the voice of weeping shall be no more heard in her, nor the voice of crying....

And it shall come to pass, that before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear. (Isa. 65: 17-19, 24.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Rejoice ye with Jerusalem, and be glad with her, all ye that love her: rejoice for joy with her, all ye that mourn for her....For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will extend peace to her like a river, and the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing stream....

As one whom his mother comforeth, so will I comfort you; and ye shall be comforted in Jerusalem. (Isa. 66: 10, 12, 13.)

State Medicine

An interesting sidelight on the effects of state medicine is recorded by R. M. Harrison, of the Windsor Star, who recently interviewed a Middlesex doctor during a trip to England. Commenting on the system, this panel doctor said:

"For every cut, burn, blister, bruise, splinter, boil, sore or small abscess or other trivial injury that 'goes wrong' there are thousands that respond to home treatment with the help of nature. People require far too much spoon-feeding as it is, so do not encourage them to rush to their doctors for the veriest triviality.

"Crowded waiting rooms and surgeries such as I never had before July 5, 1948 (even during epidemics) now consist of women and children almost exclusively, and their complaints are for the most part picayune. During the past week I have been consulted by a daily average of 40 women, 23 children and eight men. In a large industrial practice with approximately equal numbers of both sexes on my list, those figures speak for themselves."

It looks as if the women, finding time heavy on their hands with their husbands at work, just simply had to go and see the doctor and, of course, take the children along, too. After that, they would have the rare fun of telling the neighbours all about their complaints and what the doctor said. This is the joy of life for many people.

Legion Defeats Petes, 8-3 In Sizzling Senior Tussle

Proving poison to the Petes around the net, Legionnaires beat the Foley flock 8-3 before a full house in Civic Arena last night. They took a still firmer grip on first place in their OHA senior "B" standing, leaving the Petes well back in third place. The standing to date:

	W	L	T	Pts.
Legion	5	1	1	11
Belleville	3	2	0.	6
Petes	1	4	1	3
Gananoque	1	2	0	2
Kingston	1	2	0	2

It turned out to be a sizzling scrap, speedy and fairly close most of the way. The score was 3-2 for Legion in the first frame, and they had a 3-1 margin in the second, but waltzed home in the third on two goals without a reply. A dozen penalties were evenly divided, Referee Jim Crombie handling the game well and checking them whenever the old feuding spirit threatened too much. Play was rugged at times, but pretty clean most of the way. Legion earned the win on their work around the rival net, the Petes being unable to cover roving forwards on passouts.

Led The Way

Bert Hill and Chum Fryia were each in on three goals to lead the winners at bat, while Coombs, Montgomery, Rochetta and Greenlaw were in on a pair each, and Parnell and Freddy Mortimer one. McMasters led the losers with two assists, Horton having one, with Tompkins, Legrow and Garvey each getting a goal. The two goalies turned in a good effort, with Harding busier than Nicholls. The Petes' first two goals came within a few seconds of each other just before the gong, and their other one came just before the bell next period.

Fife went off for cross-checking early and Fred Mortimer followed for a similar sin. Later, Coombs counted in close on a corner passout with Hill and Fryia drawing assists. Crowley went over for high-sticking and McMasters got the finger for interference as play kept hot. Burns got it next for tripping and Rochetta twice came close on breakaways as the Petes pressed. With all back, Montgomery scored a pair, Rochetta helping on one and Fryia on another. Harding was down and out of his net on the first and the second was a slap screened shot on a passout in close. Tompkins got one back at 19.57 in close from McMasters and then Legrow roared in at the bell to bang home McMasters' rebound to make it 3-2.

Rough Enough

Creighton went off with a bang on the mouth in the second period and later Fryia skated off nursing a bruised jaw. Legrow got the gate for interference and he was followed by Tompkins and Montgomery for roughing as feuding threatened to turn into warfare. Fryia banged the twins with Hill's in-close pass and Rochetta added another alone inside, followed by Greenlaw's tally from Fred Mortimer right in on Harding's doorstep as Legion pressed. McMasters got the nod for interference and Conlin was thefted on a breakaway. Fryia went off for holding and Garvey slapped home Horton's pass in close to make it 6-3 at the close.

Play was warmish again in the exciting third with the Petes pressing for a time, but slowing up after breakaways gave Legion two markers. Godfrey went off early for tripping and Fife almost counted. Harding drew a slashing penalty and Legion pressed hard, but couldn't beat Ray. Greenlaw later scored on a breakaway with Parnell's short pass. The Petes kept pressing and had Ross Nicholls on the jump for a time, McMasters almost scoring. The Legionnaires broke away again but the Petes got back fast checking. However, Hill slipped a corner passout and Coombs' slap shot at point-blank range lodged in the cage to end the scoring.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

Looking over the report from Cobourg where Towne Togs beat the Cobourg lasses in an exhibition basketball game 23-10, we noted where Jean Vass led the Peterborough scorers with 12 points—more than the combined Cobourg total. And it made us think that Jean must be one of the outstanding—if not the best—girl athletes in the city. She is not only a classy cager, but a first-rate softballer, as well as a good tennis player and dependable bowler. Does her stuff in badminton, too. Maybe we've skipped a few sports this versatile athlete includes in her activities, but that'll give you some idea of her round of sports.

* * * * * *

Some Peterborough Minor Hockey Association info in elsewhere, and the young puckists are having a dandy early start on good ice this season for the first time. Later, some games will perforce be played on outdoor rinks here and also in Keene, but Civic Arena will continue to supply time for these stars of tomorrow. Games on Wednesday are: Trojan midgets vs. Marines, and St. Peter's juveniles vs. Trojans. Manager Bill Post has switched the name of his southend squad in the midget section to Coleman's, as Harold Coleman is supplying the sweaters. An important meeting at eight tomorrow eve in the "Y" for PMHA managers, coaches, referees and officers, with all asked to bring in their draw tickets and money.

Oshawa And IOOF

The only OHA game here for the rest of the week is tomorrow evening at 8.30 in Civic Arena when Oshawa tangles with the junior "B" Oddfellows. We don't know how good the Motor Citizens are this season, but we expect they'll come up with another strong squad. Followers of the IOOF-ers will recall the tough tussles they gave the Triple Links all last season, looking much better than our crew the first part of the winter, but fading in playoffs before the battling Oddfellows. They didn't take kindly to it, either, and will be out to settle old scores in their opener here on the morrow. Ought to be a dandy puck duel before a goodly galery.

* * * * * *

Our junior "B" Oddfellows latched onto a nice puck victory last gloaming in Belleville's roomy arena, edging out the Quinte Rockets by a 3-2 count before 700 fans. A flock came over from Stirling to cheer along the Masons-Desjardin line. Play was quite rapid, clean and close, with the homesters fluking one of their goals. They have a real big team, and a good one, too, but Bun Kingdon's crew earned the narrow nod with a bit better passing. Ross Mason, Lefty Doris and Ron Turner counted the victors' goals, and Bob Wyatt nearly notched two—but missed a yawning net. Don Floyd and Jerry Desjardin were winners of ties, three being given away to the most valuable players on the ice each game there. Yes, this junior "B" group could develop into a tight scramble all around this coming cold spell.

* * * * * *

Legion Were Best

No question about it, Legionnaires at present are the best team in their senior "B" grouping. The Ellis outfit looked good here last eve before a full house in trimming the Petes 8-3 to lengthen their lead in the race, Belleville being next and then the Petes, as Gananoque and Kingston trail the field. Legion were poison around Ray Harding's doorstep and he played a lot of goal at that in a losing cause. So did Nicholls, as the Petes made it a fight all the way. A fine fray for the fans, speedy and rugged enough, too. Besides the goalies, we liked the defensive work of Godfrey, Montgomery and Jopling. McMasters toiled hard for the losers and was in one two goals. Fife and Tompkins in spots looked okay. Fryia, Hill, Rochetta and Coombs were good for Legion.

* * * * * *

Legion definitely earned the win on their play, but we think the Petes will play better hockey. They're just being moulded into a team now, with a lot of changes made in recent games, and they're by no means at their peak. Tompkins, for instance, is not in top condition yet—and any puck fan (as well as the Legion players) knows he will be plenty dangerous the last part of the season and about playoff time. Fife only showed flashes of his real form last p.m., and some of the others didn't look their best to us. Yeah, the Petes will be plenty potent later and we rather expect a final playoff in this group betwixt these local clubs. Lots of private feudin' in evidence this game, though it didn't break out into a free-for-all. Yet.

Tonight at 7:00 and 9:00 o'clock we continue with the Neill trophy play.

When we left the rink last evening, shortly after 9:00 o'clock there were 21 rinks entered for the men's bonspiel of next Monday. The committee would like to have seven more. This would make a complete draw of 28.

Do you agree? A gossip will never let bad enough alone.

Towne Togs Triumph Over Cobourg Lasses

Towne Togs took a 23-10 exhibition girls' basketball win over the Cobourg Rascals on the latter's floor Saturday night. The small gym with its over-hanging balcony made passing difficult for the Togs, but they pushed right in to hold a 15-1 margin the first half, while Cobourg bounced back for a 9-8 edge the last session.

Jean Vass led the visitors' attack with fine shooting as she racked up 12 points, Dot Callan getting four, Marg Freeman three, as Joan Dunk and Eleanor Whitaker each had a basket. Togs passing kept breaking up the Cobourg zone defence to draw them out and put the winners in scoring position. The whole team went well with Togs getting one of three foul shots and Cobourg two of eight. Teams:

Togs: J. Dunk 2, J. Vass 12, D. Callan 4, D. Saunders, E. Whitaker 2, J. Millard, P. Stewart, M. Freeman 3.

Rascals: R. White 4, J. Allen, J. Lane, B. Ormerod 1, A. Smith, B. Jamieson, B. Fisher 3, A. Dufton, P. Jones 2.

Like Calgary Suggestion To Alter CRU Registration

By The Canadian Press.

A Calgary Stampeders suggestion for a change in the Canadian Rugby Union's player registration system seems to be earning at least reserved approval of other football officials.

Stampeders president Tom Brook suggested that CRU registration cards be issued earlier than the present August date so players can be signed up sooner. He figures this will help cut down player raiding.

The idea is meeting with considerable more favorable reaction than the Stampeders suggestion after the Grey Cup final that the various leagues break away from the CRU.

Whole-hearted approval of the move came from Eddie Armstrong, president of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts executives also said they agreed with Brook's suggestion.

The central registration system, similar to that of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, means that all players must be registered with the CRU. It was inaugurated after the war.

Dr. W. A. Campbell of Kingston, president of the CRU said "it is up to the leagues to settle it.

No Objection

Jim McCaffrey, president of the Rough Riders, said he could see "no objection to the Calgary proposal."

McCaffrey also suggested another change in the CRU rules. He said clubs should have until Oct. 1 to declare what American imports they can use instead of the present Sept. 1.

He said it would give clubs a chance to see their imports in action in four or five games and if they didn't measure up, they could be replaced. "At present, if the imports are not up to scratch, the clubs are stuck with them anyway."

Al Anderson, manager of Edmonton Eskimos Monday night said he is sure all members of the Western Interprovincial Union will favor issuing registration cards earlier than August.

"I would not go so far as to say they should be issued at the new year, as president Tom Brooke of Calgary Stampeders has suggested," Mr. Anderson said. "But if CRU cards are issued before training becomes serious, such things as the Bartolini-Aull incident would not happen."

Bentley-Richard Closing In On Ted Lindsay

MONTREAL, Dec. 20 (CP) — Detroit's Ted Lindsay continues to hold a slim edge in the National Hockey League scoring race but Chicago's Doug Bentley and Montreal's Maurice (Rocket) Richard are rapidly overtaking him.

League statistics released today show that Lindsay leads the point getting race with 33 points made up of 15 goals and 18 assists — two points more than Bentley and three more than Richard.

Bentley has seven goals and 24 assists while Richard has 22 goals and eight assists. Sid Abel of Detroit is in fourth place with 12 goals and 16 assists for 28 points.

Richard's 22 goals in 29 games put him in top place for the goal scoring honors. He is followed in this department by Lindsay with 15. Doug Bentley leads the assist department with 24.

Lindsay is proving himself a hockey oddity. Besides leading the league scoring, he also leads the penalty parade with a total of 63 minutes spent in the "cooler."

As a result of a shutout over New York Rangers Dec. 18, Turk Broda of Toronto Maple Leafs increases his goose-egg total to five to take a lead in that division. Bill Durnan of Montreal Canadiens and Harry Lumley of Detroit are next with four each.

Durnan leads the netminders in the goals-against department In 29 games he has allowed 57 pucks to get past him for an average of 1.9 goals a game. Lumley follows in the runner-up with a 2.38 average.

Douglas Leading Scoring In AHL

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP) — Les Douglas of Cleveland Barons continued to lead the American Hockey League in scoring this week with 48 points.

Second place was held by Kelvin Burnett, Springfield Indians rookie, at 38 points. Johnny Chad of Providence Reds was third with 37, followed by Roy Kelly of Cleveland, 35. Another Cleveland player, Ken Schultz, and Harvey Fraser of the Reds were tied for fifth with 34 points each.

Douglas also remained the league's top playmaker with 30 assists. Kelly took over the leadership in the goal-scoring column with 19.

Cincinnati Mohawks were firmly entrenched in the cellar in the league standings but one of their players topped one column: Joe Lepine spent 87 minutes in the penalty box.

A stirring battle for top goaltender honors found Pittsburgh Hornets' Gil Mayer a shade ahead with an average of 2.45 on 71 tallies in 29 games. Connie Dion of Buffalo Bisons had allowed just one more goal in the same number of contests for a 2.48 average. The two were tied in shutouts with three each.

Seek Three Men

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP)—Ottawa and Quebec provincial police are searching for three men who savagely beat and stabbed Eugene Bourgeois, 39, of Ottawa, in a Gatineau Point, Que., hotel last Saturday. Bourgeois told reporters that he knew his attackers. The attack is alleged to have resulted from a 15-year-old grudge.

Juniors Edge Belleville As Passing Plays Pay Off

Exploding with a complete reversal of form the Peterborough Triplelinks fought tooth and nail with the Belleville Rockets Monday night in Belleville to end sunny-side-up 3-2. Six hundred fans saw the two teams, which were equally matched in speed but contrasted in size, the Belleville boys heavier than the locals, provide fast passing plays. The verdict could have easily gone both ways.

In the first two games with Lindsay Kinsmen the Trips played slam-bang hockey thinking little of passing the puck or breaking fast. Monday's game was just the opposite. With the Belleville team the locals didn't have any other choice and paid it off. When the final bell rang, the Belleville fans gave a rousing cheer for the victors.

With 57 seconds left Tripp, the Rockets' goalie, was taken from the nets to provide an extra forward in an attempt to tie the game up. As it was the Trips were one short as Wasson was behind bars for roughing Graham of Belleville. The attempt nearly backfired as Wyatt rushed up the ice and shot from the blueline, the puck hitting the side of the net. Graham, in a mad dash to prevent further scoring, crashed into the goalpost knocking the net from its moorings. One fan jostled him as he left the ice saying: "That's the way, George. Play it safe."

Belleville carried the load in the first period but poor sniping around the net spoiled their chances and allowed the Juniors to jump into a 1-0 lead. Belleville kept the heat on in the second as the locals had difficulty clearing the puck. In the third the Trips started playing hockey with the defence playing both the body and the puck well and the forwards passing to the right men. The payoff came as they outscored the Rockets 2-1 to take the nod.

Ross Mason, Lefty Doris and Ron Turner were the marksmen for the O's while the Belleville snipers were Semark and Wright. Desjardin and the Mason brothers, who had a large following from hometown, Stirling, were the lead for the IOOF's passing at attacks. Don Floyd brought oh's and ah's from the crowd with the exhibitions of stickhandling which won him an all-star award for the game. But along with Bob Wyatt and Lefty Doris he had bad luck missing the open net or losing the puck when in the clear. Dean Wasson stood out defensively with a bouncing game on defence.

Jud Semark, Don Hogan and Doug Bone were having an equally troublesome evening as the three Trips. Attacking fiercely and backchecking hard these three boys found it difficult to hit the twine close in. Ernie Trumble and George Graham were steady on defensive particularly during the Belleville penalties. Trumble nearly spelt trouble for the Trips several times defensively.

Eight penalties were handed out during the game, two in the first and third and four in the second. None were serious offences as both teams tried to keep out of the sinbin. Doug Bone, Dean Wasson and Art Wright each served two two-minute penalties. The singles went to Benny Mason and Fred Petsch.

The lineups:
Peterborough Triple Links— Goal, Red Wasson; defence, Dean Wasson and Richlark; centre, Turner; wings, Wyatt and Floyd; alternates, Fennell, Miller, Desjardin R. Mason, B. Mason, Birch, Doris, Baker, Casey, Hehn.
Belleville Rockets — Goal, Tripp; defence, Graham and Trumble; centre, Hogan; wings, Semark and Bone; alternates, Pletsch, Green, Kinnelly, Murphy, Fisher, Strachan, Turland, Gilmour, Brown, Schrieder

The summary:
First Period
Oddfellows—R. Mason (Desjardin, B. Mason) 6:15
Penalties—B. Mason, Bone.
Second Period
Rockets—Semark 10:04
Penalties—Wright 2, D. Wasson, Pletsch.
Third Period
Oddfellows—Doris (Baker) 5:14
Rockets—Wright (Murphy) 7:16
Oddfellows—Turner 11:08
Penalties—Bone, D. Wasson.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

At Barnstaple, Devonshire, England, Cyril Tolley, twice Britain's amateur champion, has thrown away his golf clubs and picked up the political cudgels. He'll stand as Liberal candidate for Barnstaple in Britain's forthcoming general election.

Tolley, once known as the "Guildford siegegun" for his powerful hitting off the tee, served in both World Wars and won the Military Medal for gallantry at Ypres. He also won most of the honors that can fall to a British golfer.

The 54-year-old Tolley was once the "enfant terible" of British golf. Purists hated the way he stepped up and walloped the pill clean out of sight.

But they accepted the Tolley tactics when he won the amateur at Muirfield in 1920, and paid him the supreme honor when they elected him captain of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club at St. Andrew's in 1948.

The longest consecutive playing streak of any current National Hockey League player will come to an end at Chicago Wednesday night. Kenny Smith, lightweight Boston left-winger, will miss the Black Hawks game after playing in 238 consecutive contests since Jan. 10, 1946. He is suffering from a groin injury.

The NHL all-time consecutive-game record is held by Murray Murdock, now coaching at Yale, who competed in 600 games without a miss during his 11 seasons with New York Rangers from 1926-37.

Five Ottawa high school students will leave for Miami, Fla., today to seek tennis laurels in the Miami Beach Orange Bowl tennis tournament starting Dec. 26. They also expect to play in the Dixie tennis championships at Tampa, Fla., starting Jan. 2.

At Key West, Fla., President Truman acted Monday to preserve fish and other wild life by signing an executive order to stop low level flying over a primitive land area in Minnesota, near the Ontario border. Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan explained that fishing and hunting parties were being flown into the "Superior roadless area" by seaplane and landing on lakes otherwise accessible by canoes denuding the preserve.

The 1949 world series movie or "The Life and Triumphs of Joe Page" had its first showing on Monday in New York at a luncheon meeting sponsored by the American and National Baseball Leagues. Under the direction of Lew Fonseca of the league's promotional department, some 20,000 feet of film were sliced to 3,700 feet in a compact movie that runs 35 minutes. Page, relief-pitcher hero of New York Yankees' decisive victory over Brooklyn, was the star of the picture.

Sarnia is going to make a bid to represent Canada in the world hockey championship play-offs in Europe in 1950-51. Manager Logie Allen and coach Dick Kowcinak of the Sarnia Sailors' Senior B squad announced Monday they were applying to the OHA for a Sarnia entry to be considered the next time a team travels abroad.

Sarnia is leading the International Hockey League, which also has Windsor, Detroit and Chatham entries, and has a bye into the OHA Senior B playoffs.

Joe Louis, former world heavyweight boxing champion, won't be allowed to fight exhibition bouts at Vancouver.

Alex Fisher, chairman of the Vancouver Boxing and Wrestling Commission, made that definite Monday.

"No Louis exhibition will be permitted here," he said, supporting the stand that such bouts serve "no good purpose."

Louis, now headed for California, had planned appearances in Vancouver and Victoria, B. C.

He already has been banned from future exhibitions in the State of Michigan.

New York Giants Monday announced the outright sale of first-baseman Bert Haas to their Minneapolis farm of the American Association. Haas, 35, hit .257 in 56 games last season.

CHAMP "PURRSIAN"—Screen star Yvonne De Carlo holds the Blue Persian, "Champion Masterpiece", who is getting set to defend his title in the Hollywood cat show. With Yvonne on his side, the champ looks plenty confident.

MINOR HOCKEY

Friday night's first game saw Millicard's Optimists shut out Trojans No. 1 team 6-0 in a bantam tilt, Kane scoring three goals in leading the attack for Optimists with Roberts, Brooks and McFadden getting one each.

In the second fray, Habegall Optimists took a 6-3 victory over a vastly improved Keene team in a closer game than the score indicates. Al Renwick, up from the disbanded Keene Bantams, showed great promise in spite of his small size. More encourgaement might be heard from the Keene coaches, who are the quietest in the circuit.

Mullen, Charlton, Cullen, Driscoll, Downer and Drury scored a goal each for the victors; Mather, Nelson and Renwick getting the Keene goals.

Saturday Frays

Pittsburgh Paints Trojans took a 5-3 decision over Keene juveniles who, like their younger midget team, are showing much improvement. Noticeable was the fact that for the first time Keene had plenty of subs on the bench to relieve the regulars. Trojan goals were by Smith, Deck, Dunn, Walling and Farley. L. Selby with two, and Cowie one, scored for Keene. The season's second major penalty went to Musgrove of Keene for high sticking.

Harold Coleman's (formerly Southend) defeated St. Peter's midgets 6-4 in the first game Saturday afternoon. Scriver, for Coleman's, and Cupoli, for St. Pete's, were good on the rushes. Goals for Harold Coleman's were by White, Batley, McCarthy and B. White, with Scriver getting two. St. Pete's tallys were by Whatman and Clancey, with Cupoli getting two.

St. Pete's defeated Trojans No. 2 team in a one-sided fray last night. Goals for St. Pete's were by Board, O'Connell, Blodgett (one each), McDougall two and Ferren three. Although one-sided, Trojans showed much improvement over their previous game. These are the boys who, but for the effort of Art Page, Frank Lundy and others connected with the Trojan Club, would not be playing organized minor hockey this year.

Swell Scrap

In a close battle (and it almost looked like a battle at times although only eight penalties were handed out) Clapper's held the lead to edge the Triplelinks juveniles 3-2. Oddfellows started off with Robison's goal in the opening minute of the game to make it look like their night. It wasn't until the middle of the second period that Clapper's tied it up. Robison went off late in the second period with an injured shoulder and from there on Oddfellows seemed to be in trouble. Clapper's started strong in the third period to sink the leading marker, adding another later for good measure. Oddfellows got another but couldn't get the tying one.

A fair crowd saw the best minor tilt of the season so far. It was as good as if not better than a lot of junior and senior games. Young Clapper looked a little better than in the past. Douglas worked hard for Oddfellows. Oddfellows' goals were by Buckton and Robison; Clapper's tallys were by Douglas with two and Ferguson one.

National League Breaks Three Ball Records

NEW YORK, Dec. 20—(AP)—You'd think that after doing business for more than 70 years, the National League would have finished breaking records in wholesale lots.

But just take a look at the senior loop's miscellaneous marks for the last season. Three major league records were broken, and four others tied, according to official records released today. Eigth National League standards were smashed and a half dozen tied.

Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh's man with the big bat, was the individual standout. He did something the old Sultan of Swat, Babe Ruth, couldn't accomplish by leading his league in home runs for the fourth consecutive season.

In two of those years, 1947 and 1948, Kiner tied with Johnny Mize while the latter was with New York Giants. Mize since has been traded to New York Yankees.

The other two major league marks cracked were 936 home runs for the league as a whole and only 17 bases stolen by St. Louis Cardinals, that was one in reverse.

Kiner, who poled 54 home runs during the 1949 campaign, also broke two of his own league's records and tied another. It was the first time anyone hit 50 or more homers on two occasions. Kiner hit 51 in 1947. He also punched out 16 round-trippers in one month for the first time in the history of the circuit.

He tied the mark of hitting 49 or more home runs on three different years.

Each Break Records

Stan (The Man) Musial and Red Schoendienst, of St. Louis, each broke a pair of records. Musial paced thee league in base hits for the fifth year and in triples for the fourth season to set new marks.

Schoendienst's records were in the fielding department. He had the longest errorless streak for a second-baseman, accepting 285 chances without a miscue and finished with the highest fielding mark in the history of the league for a second baseman, .987.

The major league records that were tied included:

Most home runs one inning by a club—Philadelphia 5.

Most consecutive home runs one inning by a player—Andy Seminick, Philadelphia, and Sid Gordon, New York, 2 each.

Autry Setting Film Pace For Long Tours

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 20 (AP)—Gene Autry is setting the pace in the trend of having movie stars go out to meet the public.

The moneyed cowpoke is planning the longest appearance tour of his career. He has already booked 36 towns for his 1950 winter tour and is negotiating for 34 more. He opens his show on January 7, taking along 27 rodeo performers, plus Champion and Little Champion, his hosses.

Autry will continue his weekly radio broadcast along the route. He returns to Columbia Studios April 1 to begin his six-picture schedule for 1950.

Bits and Stuff

Anna Nagnini, the volcanic Italian actress, is expected here any day. She will record dialogue for "Volcano," another film about an eruptive Italian isle.

Poor Lana Turner. She gets blasted when she haunts the night clubs. Now she gets blasted because she stays home. Three trade papers have criticized her remarks to me about staying at home and looking at television. They claim she should be going to the movies instead. Maybe they don't understand what it is like for a movie star to attend a public theatre.

Speaking of reaction brings us to Gloria Grahame. Her comments here about sleeping nude were attacked by the lingerie industry, then supported by other Hollywood actresses. I feel it is only right that Gloria should have the last word: "Good night."

Glen Ford, the Quebec-born star, and Eleanor Powell are still trying to stop the rift rumors that got started when he went stag to a premiere. They are discussing the idea of doing a show in London together. Strictly dream stuff.

Capsule Review

"The Man on the Eiffel Tower" (RKO) lists among its stars Charles Laughton, Franchot Tone, Burgess Meredith, and the City of Paris. The latter is a lot prettier than the three men and contributes a great deal to the enjoyment of this film. It is an intriguing thriller ably acted against the colorful backdrop. The chase sags a bit in the middle, but otherwise it is good out-of-the-rut entertainment.

Members of Supreme Court Will Face Heavier Duties

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada sits in a high-ceilinged, walnut-panelled chamber in the impressive Supreme Court building a few hundred yards from the Parliament Buildings.

There behind a massive walnut bench, Judges assemble three times a year—October, February and May—four hours a day, five days a week to hear appeals from Provincial courts. For sessional openings and in capital cases they wear ermine-trimmed crimson robes. For all others they wear the usual black silk garments.

Hearing Provincial appeals is their main duty. But another requires the judges to decide such constitutional matters as the legality of the Federal Government's ban on the manufacture and sale of margarine in Canada and, in January, its right to continue rent controls.

Their work will be increased when appeals to the Privy Council in London come to an end with the proclamation of legislation passed at the fall session of parliament. Then it will be the final court of appeal, supreme in fact as well as name.

Get Boost In Pay

Thus the Chief Justice got a recent hike in salary from $20,000 to $25,000 a year and the other members from $16,000 to $20,000.

Proclamation probably will follow on the heels of the Dominion-Provincial conference called for Jan. 10 and, at about the same time, two more appointments will be made to absorb the additional work.

Generally speaking, more than $2,000 must be involved in a civil dispute before it can go before the court at Ottawa. However, with leave from Provincial appeal courts, cases with less money involved can be heard. Criminal appeals must hinge on a point of law.

The present members of the court make it, in the eyes of the legal fraternity, one of the strongest in history. Here is the line-up, in order of seniority in length of time on the court.

Chief Justice Rinfret, 70, and only five years from retirement; Mr. Justice Patrick Kerwin, 60; Mr. Justice Robert Taschereau, 53; Mr. Justice Ivan Cleveland Rand, 65; Mr. Justice Roy Lindsay Kellock, 56; Mr. Justice James Wilfred Estey, 60; Mr. Justice Charles Holland Locke, 62.

Chief Justice Rinfret succeeded Sir Lyman Duff as Chief Justice in 1944.

Active in Politics

Some have been active in politics. Mr. Justice Estey was Liberal Minister of Education and Attorney-General for Saskatchewan before he went to the Bench in 1944, while Mr. Justice Taschereau and Mr. Justice Rand also sat in Provincial Legislatures, the former in Quebec, the latter in New Brunswick.

Widespread speculation that J. L. Ilsley, wartime Finance Minister and now a Nova Scotia Supreme Court Judge, will get one of the two newly-created posts, is watered down by the fact that during the last 30 years not one appointment went to a person closely connected with Federal politics.

Of the two new appointments, one must go to Quebec. The other likely will go to Toronto.

Regarded as good bets in the list of "possibles" for the appointments are John Cartwright, 54, prominent Toronto lawyer, and Gerald Fauteux, 50, a Montreal Superior Court judge. Members of the legal fraternity say that they would make strong additions to the court.

Trapper Fights Wolves To Death

WAWA, Ont., Dec. 20 (CP) — Jacques Archambault, veteran trapper, Sunday told of a fight to the death with two wolves at nearby Whamposie Lake. He said he shot the marauders with his ancient hunting rifle after they attacked him while he was checking his traps.

"If there had been three or four of them I don't think I could have got my gun," Archambault said. "A lot of people think the wolves are harmless, but I don't think so."

Fatally Injured

BURLINGTON, Dec. 20 (CP)—Mrs. James Smith, of Port Nelson was fatally injured Monday night when struck by a car as she alighted from a motorbus. Police said the car was driven by J. J. Duke of Burlington.

See Butter Stocks At Present Prices

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP)—The Agriculture Prices Support Board Monday announced it will sell government butter stocks next year at present prices.

The Board, which has control over the government's huge stockpile of some 60,000,000 pounds of butter, has been selling it to dealers in carload lots at 58 cents a pound, plus cost of storage and shipment.

1,420,057 In Montreal

MONTREAL, Dec. 20 (CP) — The population of Montreal proper is 1,420,057 while that of the entire island of Montreal totals 1,650,011, the 107th edition of Lovells' Montreal directory showed Monday. The islands population increased by 24,646 last year, the newly-issued directory said.

Report British Sundays Aimless, Less Interesting

By MICHAEL O'MARA.
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

British Sundays are growing more aimless and less interesting. Observance of the day of rest as "the Lord's Day" is on the wane.

These are among the conclusions of "Meet Yourself on Sunday" (the Naldrett Press), a survey recently conducted by Mass Observation.

What do British people do on Sunday? How do they pass the time, which not long ago was almost solely devoted to religious and spiritual exercises?

The vast majority just hang around home, the survey replies. Even Soho's petty crooks, who normally would not be caught dead away from their favorite cheap coffee houses or pubs, stick close to their dingy bed-sitting rooms in gloomy contemplation of unwashed windows which look out on empty streets.

The most popular pastume is listening to the radio. At least three-quarters of the population turns on the BBC or nearby European stations for part of the day.

One in four stays in bed late, two in five visit or entertain and one in six spends part of the day gardening.

Pub Crawling Restricted

Away-from-home activities are one in six visits a pub for a drink or two—licensing hours are restricted on Sundays—one in seven goes in for driving, and one in 12 goes to the movies.

One in six is at work Sundays and gets his "week-end off" in mid-week.

Only one in seven goes to church.

To compensate for the loss of religious character, Sundays have not gained much in the way of secular pleasures. Blue laws still put a stop to many week-day sources of amusement.

Solid Stuffing

It still is "clearly an excuse for solid stuffing." Meals—at least in the middle-income groups—are much heavier than on week days.

A certain amount of stuffing goes on in the living room as well as the dining room. Sunday newspapers are fatter than dailies and readers have a chance to digest a more solid budget of feature articles, serials, sport news, gossip and scandal and maybe even a little serious news.

But the majority now finds Sunday a relatively-characterless day, rounding off Saturday rather than religiously initiating Monday and the week's work.

GAMBLING CITY

Monaco, a town on the French Mediterranean coast nine miles east of Nice, had gambling tables as early as 1856.

FATHER ALEKSEI KRISHKO, white Russian Orthodox priest, major defendant in Yugoslavia's spy trial, and co-defendant, silver-haired Ksenia Komad, former nun and later a school teacher, sit in Sarajevo court. The priest drew a sentence of 11 years and six months while the former nun was given a minimum sentence of three years in prison on charges of collaboration with Nazi Germany during the war and spying for the Soviet government afterward. Eight others were convicted in same trial.

SHAVING IS WONDERFUL WITH A ROLLS RAZOR!

BASEMENT INDUSTRIALIST — Sixteen-year-old Alan Hull of Winnipeg operates a business which grosses $6,000 a year. He is shown here with some of the plaster figurines he makes in the basement of his home after school hours.

Boy's Home Hobby Becomes $6,000-a-Year Business

WINNIPEG, (CP)—A home-operated business which grosses about $6,000 annually is the proud accomplishment of 16-year-old Alan Hull of this city.

The youth, who has named his enterprise Canadian Dresdencraft began making plaster plaques and figurines a few years ago, just for fun. Starting on $100, he built his hobby into a thriving industry which today serves a large part of eastern Canada.

One of his customers is a large department store, which operates a chain of mail-order offices, and through this store he markets many of his products.

In a recent interview here, Alan said he learned the figurine trade while visiting in Rochester, Minn., and on his return he set up a basement factory in his home. He spends about two hours after school each day working on his wares, as well as all day Saturday. He often has to hire extra help to keep production abreast of demand.

Molds for his figurines are made from special rubber which is heated to melting point, and then encased around a completed figurine. After cooling, the rubber is removed in its new shape, and into the impression goes about 100 pounds of plaster of paris daily.

The young craftsman manufactures many types of figurines, including costumed dancers and window-sill ornaments. He also makes wall-plaques, cigaret boxes and candy dishes, and recently embarked on production of lamps in the same style as his figurines His factory is capable of producing 160 items a day.

"I enjoy it very much," he says, "and although it started as a hobby it has passed that stage now." Alan plans to stay with his business until he obtains a "more stable job."

Atomic Strategy Demands Skilful Counter Offence

By WILLIAN BOSS

LONDON, Dec 20—(CP)—Britain in shaping her atomic strategy on the theory that the best defence is counter-offence.

Defence chiefs acknowledge the country's vulnerability. So they are concentrating on counter-offensive weapons such as the rocket-propelled bomb, rather than defences against it.

Western scientists are known to be working on defence weapons such as an automatic, radar-guided interceptor. But these are expected to be quickly outdated and the real concentration is on counter-offensive weapons such as the carried, or rocket-propelled atomic bomb and its improvements.

This is highly secret work. In future there is likely to be closer co-operation between Britain, the United States and Canada on atomic advances. Recently representatives of the three countries met in Washington to decide to what extent they would exchange atomic information.

The Washington talks were called because the agreements concerning exchange of atomic information were running out. However, they followed close on the heels of the western announcement late in 1949 that there was evidence an atomic explosion had occurred in Russia. This was taken to mean that the Soviet "had the bomb."

Nuclear scientists believe any defensive weapons against atomic attack would soon become obsolete in an age where missiles are being made to fly at supersonic speeds. Nevertheless, they are working on an "interim" automatic interceptor.

Detects Bombers

This radar-guided plane could be made to cruise the skies and detect approaching bombers or guided missiles. It could be automatically steered toward them and open fire at a pre-determined range.

It is conceded, however, that no matter how tight such a defence ring might be, some of the atomic carriers would get through.

"Remember," said one expert recently, "that in only a few nights 400 to 500 atomic bomb could do the same damage as the 1,360,000 tons of bombs dropped on Germany throughout the whole of the last war."

Hence British military research will emphasize higher-speed jet bombers, rockets and other means of carrying the attack back to the aggressor quickly and effectively.

During the year Britain reopened recruiting to build up her civil defence system and again the emphasis was atomic. Demolishing of Second World War air raid shelters was halted because they were conceded to be better than no protection at all against radiation and other effects of atomic bombing.

"Atomic defence" classes now are under way in many parts of Britain and some of the teaching concerns protection against atomic "dust." Recruiting is being done through the St. John Ambulance and Red Cross brigades.

But as the year ended authorities reported the response was apathetic. It was expected to remain that way so long as the "cold war" remained cold.

Charges 60 Seamen Beaten Up In Year

MONTREAL, Dec. 20 (CP) — Charges that 50 to 60 members of the Seafarers' International Union were beaten up during the year were made by Hal C. Banks, International Union representative, in Summary Convictions Court Monday.

He said that people trying to get union cards to admit them to SIU ships were responsible for the beatings.

The charges were made before Judge Armand Cloutier who later sentenced a young Newfoundlander, unidentified, to time in jail—three weeks—for assaulting an SIU member.

Ballet Performers Praised By Tutors

LONDON, Dec. 20—(Reuters)—Sadlers Wells ballet stars, just home from their successful tour of the United States and Canada, received Monday night their most precious compliment—praise from their old tutors.

"Now you are home again and amongst your own we can tell you how proud we are of you and how far you have justified our hopes in you," said Madame Tamara Karsavina, a vice-president of London's Royal Academy of Dancing who once succeeded the great Anna Pavlova as premiere danseuse in the Imperial Opera House of the old St. Petersburg.

Mme. Karsavina welcomed the company back at a cocktail party attended by Dana Wilgress, Canadian High Commissioner to London, and Mrs. Wilgress.

Fail To Form Atheists' Club

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP)—An attempt to form an undergraduate club for Atheists on the University of Toronto campus has ended in failure.

Started by two engineering students, who wish to remain anonymous, the idea has had no support from the 14,000 university students. Neither has anyone strongly protested.

In a letter to The Varsity, undergraduate daily newspaper, the would-be organizers said the club would serve three purposes:

1. It would test the degree of freedom of expression on the campus.

2. It would be a protest against over-organization by other groups.

3. It would provide a common front for all non-believers in God.

Blame Human Failure

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP) — Canadian National Railways officials Monday blamed "human failure" for the head-on collision between a trans-continental flyer and a freight train at nearby Oriole, Dec. 9. Six persons were injured. The officials said a board of inquiry had established that the flyer had adhered to running orders, and that earlier reports of a faulty switch were unfounded.

Failed To Meet Wishes Of Southenders

Ald. Grant Miller rattled the skeleton of Morrow Park in the municipal household in his valedictory to the council Monday.

Ald. Miller said he was leaving with one note of regret that nothing had been done to meet the wishes of the people south of Lansdowne St. for a thoroughfare through the park, projecting from George St.

"Early in the year we had a petition with some thousands of signatures asking for expropriation of a roadway through the park," Ald. Miller said. "We were in sympathy with that large community of citizens, asking for more direct connection with the main part of the city.

"I regret that this matter has not reached a more mature stage. It should be discussed at a meeting of representatives of the council, the Exhibition Board and Morrow Trust. The new council should not leave a stone unturned until this matter is completed."

Mayor Swanston thanked the members of the council for all the work they had done this year. "It is only by sincere co-operation that the affairs of the council can be carried on, and be a success. I agree with Ald. Miller the only thing we did not do was that road through the park. I am sorry Aldermen Raine and Miller are not going to be with us next year. But they both can retire, feeling satisfied that they have done a fine job for the city."

MASONIC SPEAKER — Rt. Wor. Bro. Alvin L. Bennett, of Galt, who will be the guest speaker at the annual Festival of St. John the Evangelist which is being held by the members of the masonic order in Peterborough in the Empress Hotel on Tuesday, December 27. Mr. Bennett is a member of the Board of General Purposes of Grand Lodge and is also past president of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association for Ontario.

Fish, Game Head Deplores Small Interest

Chief disappointment of the year so far as the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association was concerned was the small interest shown in the organization by those connected with the local tourist industry.

That was the statement made Monday night by the retiring president, Campbell L. (Cam) Rowatt in a review of the year's work.

The people who depend on the natural resources of fish and game for their livelihood—resort owners, guides and bait dealers—were among the apathetic, as were sportsmen and cottage owners.

Such people stood most to benefit from the work of the Association and the Ontario Federation of Anglers, both organizations aiding the Department of Lands and Forests to maintain, renew and govern these resources, he said.

Your Interest Fostered

The Bird House Building Contest should be enlarged and encouraged, he recommended.

"It not only encourages education in conservation but also helps develop constructive hobbies and cuts down on juvenile delinquency. It is a test of craftsmanship and sportsmanship."

"Schools in both city and country should be notified immediately and any other group interested in boys and girls so the work can be carried on all winter. This will encourage a greater number of participants."

Organized Hunts

Organized hunts helped cut down on the "over abundance of foxes and wolves" and created friendly relations between the hunter and the farmer in the infested areas.

Mr. Rowatt recommended that appointment of deputy game wardens be made early so they might have several "schooling" sessions on game and fish regulations and their enforcement before Spring. Purpose of the deputies is to assist the conservation officers in patrolling and educating the public on conservation matters.

Another disappointment, Mr. Rowatt said, was the small turnout for youth and adult education lectures, despite excellent speakers and subjects and films.

Civic Hospital Work To Date Cost $2,217,989

Funds available for Peterborough's Civic Hospital amount to $3,365,462.72, plus an additional $200,000 which is expected to be realized from the sale of present hospital assets, totalling $3,565,462.72, according to a financial review presented by Ald. Dick Raine at the city council meeting Monday night.

Actual expenditures up to Nov. 30 were $2,217,989, and the estimated total expenditure is $3,555,959 when the hospital's cluster of buildings is completed probably next July.

The only uncertain item on the credit side is the amount the present hospital and Queen Mary (Isolation) Hospital will bring in their final disposition.

Accepting the figures in the statement accompanying the Raine report, it may turn out that the financial structure is adequate to cover the expenditures on the main building, east wing, nurses' residence, power house and laundry, furnishings and equipment, plus inspection fees and some miscellaneous items.

However, there will be some additional outlay required for the landscaping of the grounds of the new hospital.

Hope County Will Aid

City Council has indicated that the county council should reconsider their contribution of $150,000. However, that possible source of further revenue remains in the proposal stage.

Ald. Raine, chairman of the special hospital committee of the council, prefaced his report with the comment that, as he was retiring from the municipal service, he wished to submit an outline of the hospital affairs that received the attention of his commitee this year. He recalled that at the beginning of 1949 negotiations were completed with Messrs. W. and W. R. L. Blackwell & Craig, architects, to prepare plans and specifications for the east wing at a reduced commission of 6 per cent. Building operations were begun early in the spring.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL

Archdeacon W. P. Robertson, who has been in the hospital with pneumonia for the past two weeks, was allowed to return home on Saturday to convalesce. His medical adviser will not sanction any work for the present.

BALLOTING PERCENTAGES

City Clerk Outram reported to the Council last night that 36.5 per cent of qualified citizens voted in the election of aldermen on December 5, and for Board of Education 36.8 per cent of Public School supporters. Mr. Outram wrote that 6,593 ballots were used for aldermanic candidates and 5,391 for the Board.

UNWARY NON-STOPPERS

Sherbrooke Street is now a through street, with only one stop between Park and George, at Aylmer. Motorists used to go whizzing up and down Reid and Rubidge Streets are still going past Sherbrooke without pulling up. The signs are against them now, not with them. Old habits hard to break?

TO STUDY TRAFFIC

J. D. Shortall, traffic control engineer of the Canadian General Electric Company, is coming to Peterborough at the request of the City Council to study and report on the local traffic conditions. He is expected about the middle of January. A street lighting expert of the company prepared a report several years ago on Peterborough's lighting system. Recommendations have been gradually coming into effect this year, an activity of the Utilities Commission.

THEIR LAST RUN: This fine flock of turkeys on the farm of Vernon Lowe in Emily township north of Fowler's Corners is being driven home for the last time for many of these fine birds will be on the Christmas table in Peterborough next Sunday and Monday. Mr. Lowe is one of the largest turkey raisers in the district and he sells all his birds to the local trade.

Highways Minister Tips Hint Trans-Canada Through City

The route of the Ontario section of the Trans-Canada Highway remains the "$64 question," Minister of Highways George H. Doucett told a Peterborough audience Monday afternoon. But he hinted that this city might be included in it.

Mr. Doucett, fresh from a two-day visit to Ottawa, where he conferred on this subject, was paying his annual visit to the county. He spoke to a small informal gathering that included the County Roads Committee, the Suburban Area Commission, and Mayor M. J. Swanston of Peterborough.

The minister gave no specific commitment and stated flatly that the route had not yet been decided on, but there was a chance it might come through Peterborough.

He pointed out Peterborough was well situated for that leg of the proposed highway leading to the nation's capital, Ottawa. He did not elaborate.

Traffic Weight South

One of the problems that arose in making any decision on the route was that about 90 per cent of the registered motor vehicles were confined to about 15 per cent of the provincial area.

Some 74 per cent of the vehicles were listed in that area of Southern Ontario south of Peterborough; about 11 per cent east of this city, and the remaining 15 per cent north and west.

Accompanying Mr. Doucett were J. P. A. Marshall, chief municipal engineer, and Ewart Marsden, district municipal engineer.

Help At Gannon's

Reeve James Humphries of Asphodel in a brief address hinted broadly that the county is looking for some help from the Department on the Gannon's Narrows project.

"There is a movement afoot in Peterborough County to see if something can be done about this matter," he said.

Mr. Humphries spoke of three projects in Peterborough County on which the Department had spent about $500,000. The largest of these, the Chemong Causeway, cost about $255,000, of which more than $200,000 was met by the Department subsidy.

The Stony Lake Road which opened up a direct route to the Nepheline Mines had also been completed and turned back to the County for maintenance. And the 12-13 mile stretch known as the Buckhorn Rd., is almost completed, he said.

Norman Wilson, Reeve of Burleigh-Anstruther, was chairman. Both he and Mr. Marsden spoke highly of the pool system for allocating machinery to keep up municipal roads.

Mr. Doucet stated that production today in Ontario is greater than all of Canada 10 years ago. It is natural that the expenditure on roads would increase also, he said.

Vast Expenditure

In three years the expediture of his department has jumped from $3,600,000 to some $20,000,000, he said. Part of this was due to the fact that cities, towns and villages are now eligible for subsidies under the revised Highways Improvement Act.

Registration of motor vehicles is up 10 per cent or 93,800 during the current fistcal year, Mr. Doucett said. And he pointed out that about 4,800,000 cars from the United States had crossed the border into Canada during the year.

By making better highways and roads more United States tourists would be attracted to the province.

Before the Minister left he was thanked by both Warden William Darling and Mayor Swanston.

Boundary Road Question

Reeve Melville Johnston, of North Monaghan, stated there was considerable interest in the Department's taking over the boundary road from Fowler's Corners and Scott's Corners. Improvement of this four-mile stretch would relieve traffic congestion in the city, he contended.

Such a plan also met with the approval of the city planning board, he said.

Lad's Shopping Mishap

$1.17 For Mother's Present

The small boy in Eaton's basement had $1.17 to buy two Christmas presents for his mother. Apparently he had previously surveyed the prospects of his purchase, and arrived at the store with his gifts in mind and his money in hand.

He was just a boy learning the sharp necessity of shaping his desires to the hard and fast limits of his means. Brighter values appealed to his tastes and his judgment, but their price tags stayed his yearning. So, by the process of elimination, another experience he had already acquired, he had made his choice, and he was happy about it.

His approach to the spending of his $1.17 transpired when in fetching his money from his pocket most of it slipped from his grasp and fell and rolled about on the floor with an attracting symphony of copper and silver. His wealth was all in coin, a quarter or two, a few dimes, more nickels and quite a handful of cent pieces. A woman nearby bent to help him retrieve his cash, and it was in the course of their combined search about the floor that the story of the presents and the boy's saving for them was communicated as a little secret and accomplishment which accident had betrayed.

With much looking and counting, the coins were all recovered except one cent. And by that tiny margin the two presents were beyond the boy's reach. The sympathetic woman finally persuaded the lad to let her make up the $1.17. After all it was only one cent, and although it was eluding him, it would likely be flushed out of its hiding by the sweeper.

The boy thankfully accepted the copper, but he hesitated about leaving that spot and one of the coins he had put by for that occasion. He took the kindly woman into his confidence, pointed to the two presents he had already selected, and so they parted each with unexpected access of confidence in the strangers they were a few minutes before.

Those lines come back again as they often do after such little encounters with small boys and glimpses of their thoughts and their ideals taking form:

"For a boy's will is the wind's will
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

Food Parcels For Pensioners

Parcels of food from here are being distributed in Peterborough, England, among its old age pensioners.

Mayor J. R. Hall, in a letter to the council Monday night, expressed thanks for 400 eight-pound boxes which arrived in good order. A photograph in the Peterborough Advertiser showed an elderly woman receiving one of the Peterborough, Ontario, boxes. It was the first gift of that kind she had received. Above her on the wall was printed the sign: "Food parcels from Peterborough, Canada."

Mayor Hall wrote thanks on behalf of the recipients. "Their gratitude and happiness was very evident Thursday, Dec. 8, and they wish to thank their friends in Peterborough, Ontario. They were mostly old-age pensioners. So the parcels went to the most needy and deserving."

The following is quoted from the "Advertiser": "The first pensioner to get a parcel was Mrs. E. Cannon, of Great Northern Cottages, New England, the 86-year-old widow of an engine driver. The oldest recipient was Mrs. C. Howard, 93, of Star Road. Her parcel was collected by a neighbor, as she was hardly well enough to face the chill weather.

The typical parcel contained: 2 tins of soup, one tin of milk, one packet of pastry mixture, one tin each of apples, prunes, jellies and soap cleanser."

Use Parking Meter Revenue To Purchase Land Suggested To 1950 Council

"Serious consideration to the purchase of property for off-street parking as close as possible to the down town area," was recommended to its successor of 1950 by the council Monday night in adopting the report of the parking and traffic committee of which Ald. J. E. Gillespie is chairman. Other proposals were: That net parking meter revenue be used for buying such land; that meters be placed on any off-street parking lots provided in the central area; that serious consideration be given to establishing a parking and traffic commission to investigate possible sites for off-street parking and to make recommendation to the council on traffic and parking problems.

Parks Committee

Ten rinks to be maintained this winter at the city's expense were reported by the parks committee chairman, Ald. Herbert Young. Their locations are: two at Riverside; two at Stewart and McDonnel Streets; two at Turner Park, on High Street; and one each at Inverlea, Hamilton Park on Bonaccord St., King Edward Park and Confederation School. The rinks program was laid out by Amar Butcher, superintendent of parks.

Nine caretakers are to be employed. Co-operation is to be extended by the committee in operating an additional five rinks.

The question of enquiring into a pension for James Murphy, 84 years old, an employee of the parks department, was left with Mayor Swanston, with power to act.

That Gordon Bailey be informed with thanks that his sketch for a proposed fountain in Victoria Park has been passed on to the special committee for study.

City Hall Site

The report of the special city hall site committee was read by Ald. Hugh Waddell, chairman, and adopted as follows:

"Consideration was given to the recommendation of W. H. Bosley and Co. regarding the acquisition of the property at 493 Water St. from the Walter Fisher estate. Mr. Bosley gave a full report of his progress in acquiring properties, and the trend these matters have taken. Your committee was impressed by the obvious fact that Mr. Bosley was endeavouring in every case to be fair to the owner as well as to the city in these transactions.

"We recommend that the Fisher estate property be bought, and that Mr. Bosley's report be forwarded to the City Trust in order that the Trust may issue the necessary funds for this transaction; and that in all purchases of these properties, the city be responsible for payment of the Land Transfer Tax."

30 Below Zero

Peterborough citizens had better soak up all the mild weather, for it does not look like it will last long, according to official forecasters. Monday's high was 42 and low 18 degrees. During the night the low was 18 again and by 9 a.m. had risen to 24 degrees.

Monday's mercury went on the toboggan in Western Canada with Regina people cringing in 30 below weather. It was minus 13 in Edmonton, 12 in Dawson, YT, and 5 below in Winnipeg. The cold wave had not time to reach the low weather breeding centre of White River for its temperature was the same as that in Peterborough on Monday. The highest was recorded in Montreal at 39 above.

Heralds Design Peterborough Coat-of-Arms

Peterborough may have proper authentic and fully registered armorial bearings within three months. That is the good word from City Clerk E. A. Outram this morning. Acting on instructions from the Council he had written the College of Heralds, London, about a Peterborough coat-of-arms, stating for the guidance of the College the city's needs, characteristics and history.

The City Clerk has been in telephonic communication with J. D. Heaton-Armstrong, Chester Herald and Registrar of the College of Arms. A letter has come from Mr. Heaton-Armstrong referring to a telephone talk on Wednesday, Dec. 7, "in which you said you wished me to go ahead with all speed to arrange for suitable armorial bearings to be assigned to your city. I signed the application to the Earl Marshal (the Duke of Norfolk) for the issue of Letters Patent on your behalf. As all fees here are payable in advance, I also paid my own cheque for £160 into the Chapter account to avoid any unnecessary delay."

Peterborough's new armorial bearings, to replace the present so-called coat-of-arms will be heraldically correct since they are being wrought by the College of Heralds itself, and registered by it. The device will relate to Peterborough's origins, name and history. The design will come to the city for official sanction.

U.S. Prepared To Handle Russian Subs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—Spurred by authoritative reports that the Russians are building up their submarine fleet, the United States Navy indicated Monday that anti-sub warfare is its top job.

Jane's Fighting Ships, British publication which is recognized as an authority on fighting fleets, reported that Russia now has some 360 submarines and hopes to have between 750 and 1,000 by 1951.

A navy spokesman would not comment directly on the publication's estimates of Russian submarine strength but, in response to an inquiry, the spokesman said planning and preparedness for anti-submarine warfare remain the United States Navy's top job.

McGill Professor Raps Accounting Methods

MONTREAL, Dec. 20 (CP)—A McGill University accounting professor Monday night scored as a "retrograde step" a system of accounting to be introduced in Canada by Finance Minister Abbott under the new income tax law, effective last Jan. 1.

K. T. Byrd, professor of accounting at McGill, said the system—the diminishing balance method—is "dangerously outmoded."

Addressing the Montreal Chapter of the Institute of Internal Auditors, Prof. Byrd said Britain abandoned the method in 1944.

Full House For Third Sunday Music Program

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20 (ENS)—The Aron Theatre was filled Sunday evening at the third of a series of Sunday evening concerts under the auspices of the Rotary Club. It took the form of a carol service.

Opening with a selection from the Citizen's Band, under the direction of Don Bennett, the program continued with Francis De Carrol singing "Holy Night," and "I Wonder As I Wander."

Mrs. George Nicholls and her daughter, Anne, played two piano duets, "March of the Toys," and "Dancing Doll."

Elmer Kelly and Jim Baker received the greatest applause of the evening for two cornet duets, "Old Home Friends" and "Silent Night." Georgie DeCarrol sang "Ave Maria" and "Sleep My Jesus." An instrumental quartet, "Joyful Strains,' was sung' by Peter and Charles Battman, Ernie Archer and Jim Bell.

The accompanist at the piano was Mrs. George Nicholls and George Nicholls was master of ceremonies.

Charge Plan Illegal

LONDON, Dec. 20 (Reuters)—Labor Minister George Isaacs said Monday that musicians who have threatened to strike in 54 provincial theatres and music halls beginning Christmas eve are taking illegal action in their wage dispute. He said the musicians and theatre managers should meet with the National Arbitration Tribunal before taking the strike action, which could cripple Britain's traditional Christmas season pantomimes.

Attempted Murder

QUEBEC, Dec. 20 (CP)—City police Monday night were looking for a 22-year-old youth on a charge of attempted murder after he assaulted and robbed his landlady of $100. The woman, Mrs. Isadore Tanguay, was reported in serious condition in hospital suffering head injuries from several blows on the head from a hammer. Hospital authorities said she may be suffering a skull fracture.

Waters Down Nursery Rhymes No More Venom

TORONTO, Dec. 20 — (CP).—News from England that the venom has been knocked out of the nursery rhymes, so that the youngsters won't have nightmares, has been given a going over by Toronto experts.

A Manchester businessman, Geoffrey Hall, has rewritten the old nursery rhymes and published them under the title: "Old Rhymes for New." He has given the three blind mice their sight; Old Mother Hubbard's dog is not hungry any more, and Humpty-Dumpty's in one piece.

"Churchill had no hand in this, I'll warrant," commented Psychology Professor William Line of the University of Toronto. "Perhaps the Labor Government has gone too far at last."

When it was pointed out that this was a private enterprise proposition, Prof. Line said that as far as he was concerned, watering down of nursery rhymes, which have always been told in a make-believe atmosphere that children enjoyed, would not pan out.

"No drama," he said. "No excitement."

Leaves Her Cold

Mary Grannan, producer of children's programs for the CBC and author of six present best-sellers for juveniles, does not think much of the new idea either.

"Children don't get frightened at the rhymes because they are really more interested in the rhythm than the sense.

Both Professor K. S. Bernhardt, Assistant Director of the Institute of Child Study at the University of Toronto, and Mrs. Bernhardt, who does juvenile book reviews, agree that the rhythm counts. None of the children they have seen have shown any marked deterioration from reading of the poor little dog of Old Mother Hubbard who, Mr. Hall now has it,

"Went to the cupboard
"To get her wee dog a bone;
"When she got there
"She found plenty to 'spare',
"And so the dear dog had one."

Christmas Mail Lost

DALHOUSIE JUNCTION, N.B., Dec. 20 (CP)—Several hundred bags of Christmas mail, destined for Canadian points west of the maritimes, were burned Monday night when fire destroyed a mail car of the Canadian National Railways' Scotian Express, bound from Halifax to Montreal. About 300 bags of mail were salvaged.

DOUBLE SCRUBBING—New York's water-saving campaign put both little Radigan kiddies of Elmhurst, NY, in the same bath tub. Maureen, age 2½, took it nicely, but Jimmy, age 4 months, seems to say, "What's going on here?" Mother, Mrs. Dorothy Radigan, scrubs away—using as little water as possible.

Menzies Preparing National Health Plan

CANBERRA, Dec. 20 (AP) — Health Minister Sir Earle Page indicated Monday that one of the first measures of Australia's new government may be to implement a national health program.

The Liberal - Country party coalition of Prime Minister Robert C. Menzies was sworn in after four years of Socialist rule, and the Cabinet held its first meeting.

After the meeting Sir Earle said he will call a conference of doctors, dentists and nurses, early in January to break the deadlock which developed between professional bodies and the previous Labor government. Nearly 6,000 doctors boycotted the free medical service which came into being in June, 1948.

Honor Among Thieves

DUNCAN, B.C. Dec. 20 (CP)—There appears to be honor among the band of thieves that has begun regular raids here. Householders say a flock of crows sweep in every day to consume bottles of milk left on doorsteps. The birds pick off the caps and help themselves. And there's never any quarreling among them, witnesses say—each crow is assigned to a bottle and the others leave him alone.

Three Road Accidents In Campbellford Area

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 20 (ENS)—Icy condition of Picken's Hill on the Hastings road, six miles west of here, was the cause of an accident Saturday afternoon, when a truck driven by Frank Anderson of Seymour West slid into the ditch.

His mother, Mrs. Jane Anderson of Campbellford, who was a passenger, sustained a broken wrist. She was taken to the local hospital by Mac Waddell, where she was treated by Dr. W. M. Grant and later removed to Belleville for an X-ray. The truck received minor damages.

Two local vehicles were slightly damaged Saturday when a truck driven by J. B. Hurley and a car operated by Manson Shaw collided at the intersection of Church and Queen Sts. Chief Constable George H. Hardy investigated.

Police are looking for a hit-and-run driver who shaved off the left rear fender of Eric Merrill's car on the Hasting's road, one and a half miles west of here, on Saturday. Mr. Merrill was returning to his home at Dartford when the accident occurred.

Expect 3 Million To Visit Lourdes In 1950

By GODFREY ANDERSON

LOURDES, Dec. 20 — (AP) — Church authorities at Lourdes are planning 500 masses daily at peak periods for nearly 3,000,000 pilgrims expected to flock to the healing shrine during Holy Year.

Up to 100 masses can be said at one time, according to Canon Louis Larribere, secretary - general of the Grotto authorities, who will help handle the arrangements.

"We expect at the busiest season to have many pilgrimages here at the same time," he said in an interview. "Each will come with its own bishop, its own pilgrimage director and its own priests. Each pilgrimage will conduct its own retreat.

"Every day the directors of all the pilgrimages then at Lourdes will meet with me in my office. The schedule will have to be carefully worked out so that each pilgrimage has its opportunity to visit the Grotto (where the Virgin appeared to Saint Bernadette), the Basilica, the Stations of the Cross and so on, and so that we do not get everyone in the same place at the same time."

Canon Larribere, who speaks fluent English with a slight Irish-sounding brogue, said he was himself present at the studios in Hollywood when some of the scenes of the movie "Song of Bernadette" were shot. He conceded that the film had done much good by making more people aware of the Pyrenees Shrine, but it had also, he sighed, brought many more of "the curious" to Lourdes.

First Arrangements

"Already we have the first pilgrimages arranged," he said. They start at Easter, but August and September are likely to be the busiest time."

Official statistics just published give some idea of the organization nvolved.

Up to November, 2,400,000 pilgrims had visited Lourdes this year. More than 1,500,000 came by rail and the rest by road or air. Some 20,253 of them were hospital cases.

Some 58,712 men and 148,434 women have taken baths in the special bathhouses adjoining the Grotto, where the ice cold water which flows from the rock is said to have specially beneficient properties.

During the year, the medical checking bureau constituted 750 dossiers on the cases of pilgrims examined and finally retained 73 of them for further consideration as "possible" cures.

At its next meeting in February, the National Medical Commission in Paris composed of Roman Catholic doctors, will consider 10 dossiers out of those retained by the medical bureau. If, in some of these cases, there has been no reported relapse and the cure seems final, the dossier will be sent to a cononical commission in the pilgrim's own diocese for further scrutiny.

Only if this final body is satisfied, may the church at last announce another miracle at Lourdes.

APSLEY, Dec. 20 — (ENS) — Three games were staged here on Saturday as the season got off to a big start Apsley Fliers edged out the Coe Hill juniors 2-1 in the first fray, and Apsley intermediates blanked the intermediates of Coe Hill 3-0. In a real fast tussle, the Peterborough Trojans and Apsley Aces battled to a 5-5 tie. The ice was good and a large crowd saw the action. No injuries were reported in any of the games.

Hot-Headed Fan Will Get Gate

TORONTO, Dec. 20 (CP)—The hot-headed hockey fan is about to get cooled off.

George Panter, assistant secretary of the Ontario Hockey Association, said Monday night that he hopes to run these types right out of the rinks. He pointed out that two men who leaped over the boards during a game at Toronto's Varsity Arena recently and attacked the referee were taken to court and fined.

"We're going to go after them," Panter said. "It won't be enough to just put them out of the rink. We'll take them to court at every opportunity."

He said that one referee had a cup of coffee thrown in his face and was hit by an orange at Stratford. ". . . The person who threw the orange was put out of the rink but we're going to see if we can press charges against the person who threw the coffee."

Panter also commented on the OHA executive's decision to have Windsor replay nine games they won while playing with four ineligible players.

New York Plans Tap Hudson To Ease Shortage

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP) — A plan to tap the Hudson River to ease New York City's grave water shortage was announced Monday.

Chairman Irving V. A. Huie said his board of water supply will act at once to initiate a link between the river and the city's aqueduct system.

He said 100,000,000 gallons a day could be drawn into the city water supply from the Hudson, which empties into New York Bay. This is one-tenth of the 1,000,000,000 gallons used by New York in an ordinary day.

Reservoirs for the city of some 8,000,000 now are two-thirds empty. Rationing has been a growing threat.

Labrador Iron Great Boon ToNewfoundland

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Dec. 20 (CP) —Confederation year of 1949 was probably the most spectacular in Newfoundland's long history.

Although not all the happenings arose directly from Union, their affects and implications cannot be dissociated from the Island's move to become a province to Canada.

As the year came to an end the chief topic of discussion here was Premier Joseph R. Smallwood's announcement that United States and Canadian industrialists will spend some $200,000,000 to develop Labrador's iron resources.

Announcement of the proposed development was the greatest single happening of the year apart from the consummation of political union March 31.

The monumental task of meshing political gears between Canada and Newfoundland was achieved smoothly. Although a powerful element on the Island—particularly in St. John's —opposed union there were no demonstrations.

Economically, Confederation was colored chiefly by the great benefits accruing to the new province from Canada's old age pensions and family allowances. Critics of the new system complained bitterly of increased taxes.

Liberals Victorious

Sir Albert J. Walsh, first lieutenant-governor, swore in Mr. Smallwood as interim premier April 1. The Liberal leader received an overwhelming mandate in the Island's first provincial election May 27.

Sir Leonard Outerbridge, member of an old St. John's family, succeeded Sir Albert as lieutenant-governor in July.

Campaigning in both the provincial and federal elections was hectic, featuring visits by Prime Minister St. Laurent and Opposition Leader Drew as well as several cabinet ministers.

Twenty-two Liberals, five Progressive Conservatives and one Independent were elected to the provincial house, Newfoundland's first elected body in 17 years. The Island sent five Liberals and two Progressive Conservatives to the House of Commons in the federal polling.

Legislate Early

Legislation was passed in the first session of the Legislature affecting practically every phase of Newfoundland life, from loans for fishermen to provisions for a new university.

The issue of Confederation cropped up constantly in debates, high-lighted by clashes between the premier and Peter Cashin, outspoken critic of union and former finance minister in Newfoundland's old responsible government days.

The impact of union on the economy of Newfoundland cannot as yet be accurately ascertained—the complex business of adjustment is still under way. Although there has been some drop in prices, it is generally said the drop is not as great as had been expected. A royal commission now is studying this matter.

Investigate Incendiarism

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP)—Ottawa fire prevention officials, already checking two fires of suspected incendiary origin, were asked Monday to investigate a week-end break-in of St. Joseph's school where used matches and charred paper towels were found in some classrooms.

Artificial Eye That Moves Developed At Sick Children's

By A. E. FULFORD.

TORONTO, Dec. 20 — (CP).—An artificial eye that does everything but see has been developed at the Hospital for Sick Children.

It moves just as a natural eye does. It is so natural-looking it baffles medical students.

Specialists spent years developing the eye, working under difficulties in the 74-year-old hospital. To complete a new, $12,000,000 building, $4,000,000 is being sought from well-wishers across Canada.

The visible part of the new-type eye—colored to match the good one perfectly — is a thin, plastic shell, much like the old, stationary artificial eye. The vital part of the two-piece machanism is a base which is embedded in the muscle and gives the eye movement.

The base, made of plastic and covered with tantalum mesh, is a half-ball about the size of a thumbnail, with a square opening on its flat surface.

Natural Movement

Specialists embedded the base in the muscle, weaving strands through the mesh to secure it firmly. The muscle then moves the base just as it moves a natural eyeball, independently or in concert with the good eye. The shell is clipped into place in the opening of the base.

The eye, developed by a team of hospital doctors and technicians, is the latest in a series, each an improvement over the previous one. At one stage in its development the eye muscles were sewn to holes in the plastic base. Control was not perfect so the team developed the mesh covering of tantalum, a rare metal used for filaments in electric lamps. Woven through it, the muscles hold the base firm.

Mothers who showed their children proudly to newspaper men at a hospital clinic recently said no one ever notices their children's eyes are not normal.

A favorite joke of specialists at the hospital is to have medical students examine a child with an artificial eye. They notice nothing unusual until the eye fails to react to light. They talk learnedly of this strange condition until the youngster's grin tips them to the joke.

Sulpha drugs and penicillin have cut sharply the number of injured eyes which must be removed but the hospital treats from eight to 12 children a year whose eyes are damaged by air-rifle pellets. Glass, knives and sharp kitchen tools also take toll

HOSPITAL HELP

The Alberta department of health has begun a plan to provide hospital accommodation to Albertans costing one dollar per week each.

SAINT JOHN, N.B. Dec. 20 (CP)—More than 11,600 bags of mail—enough to fill 22 baggage cars — will reach Halifax this week-end from England on the liner Empress of Canada, officials said Monday. The shipment is believed a near record for one vessel.

Blocked Sterling Represents Big Problem

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Just because one doesn't hear much about international war debts following the Second World War, don't think they don't exist.

The most notable one is called "blocked sterling," which Britain is trying to pay off, and which a lot of people think she should not be carrying alone.

There is even, in the United States, some feeling that it would be a good idea for the United States to take over some of it — not through any excess of generosity towards Britain, but as a matter of good business.

What is blocked sterling? To take an outside definition, Sam Dawson, writing for the Associated Press and an American audience, puts it this way:

"It is the $9,000,000,000 mountain that fastened itself on Britain's back when she was buying war necessities from friends and relatives. Britain is paying it back in driblets, about $900,000,000 a year."

The debt was contracted, in large part, with India, Egypt, Argentina and Eire. It was covered by sterling, but sterling that was "blocked," that couldn't be spent immediately, and only as Britain could allow it to be spent. It contrasted with the lend-lease and mutual aid programs of the United States and Canada.

Why do many Americans look askance at blocked sterling and its repayment?

Because they feel Britain would be unable right now to pay back any part of it if it weren't for the Marshall Aid she is receiving; and so they really feel it comes from Marshall Aid, and American pocketbooks.

There is a further bit of hard-headed American thinking. Some contend that by releasing this blocked sterling, even gradually, Britain is building up markets. They argue that if the United States took over part of the debt, United States goods would be going into markets now pre-empted by Britain.

Not Easy To Settle

The question doesn't seem an easy one for arbitration. And, whether or not it would be good business for the United States to take over part of the debt, American voters might take a very dim view of the suggestion.

Nearly two years ago a committee of the United States House of Representatives suggested a conference of countries holding blocked sterling which "might work out a plan whereby part of the sterling balances would be cancelled and other parts assumed by the nations whom Britain helped to liberate from the German yoke."

This contemplated countries of Western Europe lending a hand. The House committee making the suggestion was headed by Christian Herder, Republican from Massachusetts.

Recently in an address in Toronto, Louis Rasminsky, alternate chairman of the Canadian Foreign Exchange Control Board, commented:

"It is not generally realized what a drain so-called 'unrequited exports' (part of which are paid for by blocked sterling) have been on the British economy."

An Odd Address

TORONTO Dec. 20 (CP)—All that showed on the envelope was a newspaper clipping of a man's photograph and "Main Street, Weston, Ont.'—but George Pollard, 83, received the letter it contained from a friend he hadn't seen for 30 years. The friend, Richard Whittaker, of Carlton Que., left Weston in 1919 and lost Pollard's address. He saw Pollard's picture in a Toronto newspaper (The Telegram) recently and used it to renew their friendship.

Refuse Sign Plan

TORONTO Dec. 20 (CP)—The United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) Monday advised its members employed at the Curtis Lighting Company in suburban Leaside to refuse to sign a contributory pensions plan proposed by the company. Eamon Park, publicity director of the union said the company had failed to negotiate the pensions plan with the union.

RIDGEVILLE, Ont., Dec. 20 (CP)—Pelham township council has gone all out for holidays this year in the section 15 miles south of St. Catharines. Plumbers Strike Blow For Raise TORONTO, Dec. 20 — (CP) — First action was taken by Toronto plumbers Monday in what is regarded as a test case in the construction industry's determination to hold the line against wage increases in 1950.

A meeting of 1,070 members of the Plumbers' and Steamfitters' Union (AFL) unanimously endorsed strike action if necessary in their request for a wage increase of 25 cents an hour. Such an increase would bring the rate to $2 an hour.

The employers, the National Association of Master Plumbers and Heating Contractors, have said no wage increases could be made. Present contracts expire on Dec. 31.

John Bruce, international representative of the union, said that the union has requested another meeting with the employers. If the increase is still denied, a strike deadline will be set, he said. Such a strike would tie up all commercial, industrial and residential building in Tornto.

The construction industry recognizes that any increase granted the plumbers would probably set a wage pattern for other building trades. But contracts held by other building trades unions do not expire until next May 1.

35,000 Canadians Make Trip To Rome

QUEBEC, Dec. 20 (CP)—About 35,000 Canadians are expected to make pilgrimages to Rome during the Holy Year, which starts on Christmas Eve, P. F. Gravina, Italian Consul, in Quebec said on Monday night.

Of this number, about 8,000 will come from Quebec. They will make pilgrimages in groups organized by the Franciscan Order, the Dominican Order, L'Action Catholique, Quebec daily newspaper and other organizations. Others will go individually.

Strict Blockade By Chiang Navy Only Nationalist Success In China

(Editor's Note: Fred Hampson, chief of the AP's China staff, here discusses the Nationalist blockade of Red China. After more than four years in China, he is en route to Hong Kong, since the Communists have forbidden further correspondence from their territory.)

By FRED HAMPSON.

PUSAN, Korea, Dec. 20 (AP)—There are a few leaks, but the Nationalist blockade of Communist South-China ports is keeping tonnage down to a trifling minimum.

Shanghai's waterfront, once among the three or four busiest in the world, is so dead that when an occasional big ship sneaks in it was top news, celebrated throughout the city.

I left Shanghai aboard the American ship Sir John Franklin of the Isbrandtsen Line.

Running in, the ship was shelled November 29 by two Nationalist destroyer escorts which hover constantly at the Yangtze River mouth.

The US State Department protested to the Nationalists.

When the Franklin went out December 9, here was no trouble, although we were stopped by a destroyer escort. A boarding party inspected the cargo manifest and passenger list, and waved us on.

Can't Take Action

The Reds seem unable to do anything about the blockade except blame it on "Nationalist bandits" and "foreign Imperialists." They have tried three times to take the Nationalist blockade base, the Chusan Islands, 100 miles south of Shanghai. All three times they were repulsed with considerable losses.

The Communists are mum about their military failures, but rumors put their losses as high as 70,000 men and thousands of junks and sampans.

When I left Shanghai there was a rumor that they were preparing a fourth expedition with 20,000 small craft. Owners of such vessels were busy dismantling or hiding them to avoid requisition.

The Reds criticize Western powers for not using their navies to break the blockade. Yet they themselves forbid foreign warships to enter territorial waters—and that's where the blockade is.

There is much controversy over the blockade of Shanghai. Some blame it for stagnation of the city, tremendous unemployment, general distress and high prices.

Others say the blockade is the best propaganda weapon the Communists have because they can blame all their troubles on it. These people say that if the blockade was lifted the harbor would be cleaned out of exports in two weeks and imports would stop because the Reds lack foreign exchange to pay for them.

The truth is probably somewhere in the middle.

Get 76,700 Vehicles

OTTAWA, Dec. 20 (CP)—A total of 76,700 vehicles came into Canada in November on travellers' vehicle permits—an increase of two per cent over the November, 1948 figure of 75 000, the Bureau of Statistics reported Monday.

With a total of 70 operations behind him, Doubrava looks forward cheerfully to a nearly normal life.

John H. Baldwin New President Fish And Game

John H. (Jack) Baldwin is the 1950 president of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association. Vice-president of the Association in 1948, he succeeds Campbell L. (Cam) Rowatt to that post.

The annual election of officers was held Monday night at the Knights of Columbus Hall. All were elected by acclamation.

Complete slate for 1950 follows: Jack Baldwin, president; Norman Bradley, 1st vice-pres.; Hilliard Tighe, 2nd vice-pres.; and Douglas Vaisey, secretary-treasurer. Executive members, Russell Curtis, Charles Kingan, Fred Goodfellow, Charles Ross, Ronald Menzies, James Rogers, Wellington Wood, George Houghton, Staney Purser and Wilfred Perry.

The other newcomer to the top executive, Mr. Vaisey, is also the 1949 president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He succeeds Douglas MacPhail as secretary-treasurer of the Association.

Catching of Minnows

Chief item of business during the three-hour meeting of some 35 members was the passing of a resolution recommending that it be illegal to catch minnows with a net finer than a half-inch mesh.

(For a couple of meetings of the Association there has been a hot debate on possible measures to combat the scarcity of minnows. In brief, there were two major aspects considered; one, the indiscriminate netting of minnows by both commercial interests and private persons has resulted in the death of thousands of game fish fry; and two, this scarcity of bait has been complained of by tourists—particularly from the United States—and has deprived the larger fish of their natural food.)

There were three other clauses to the long resolution which will be passed along as a recommendation to the Department of Lands and Forests (Game and Fisheries Division):

Minimum size for minnows taken as bait should be two and a half inches.

All those retailing minnows as bait should be licensed. (At present there is no license required for selling minnows. To operate a 6-foot dip net a $5 levy is made and for a 30-foot seine net, a $10 one.)

Minimum Fine of $50

There should be a minimum fine of $50 for anyone breaking the game and fish laws.

The original resolution brought in by Mr. Bradley and seconded by George Walton called for a quarter-inch mesh " as a large number of small game fish are being damaged or killed by use of a fine mesh net."

After considerable discussion the half-inch flat mesh was decided on. The amendment came from Douglas Toof and Wellington Wood.

Jesse Airriess, a Peterborough bait salesman for many years, was of the opinion that no nets should be allowed.

"Let them use hook and line," he said.

Use of the hook and subsequently a moistened hand allows the fisherman to drop back, relatively uninjured, a game fish minnow he has accidentally caught while trying for chub or shiners.

"If you use a net the smaller fry become mauled and a large number are being destroyed in this way," said Mr. Airriess.

George Walton said he understood United States tourists were complaining of the lack of live bait for sale. As a matter of fact people all over the province are saying there are no fish, he added.

"I want to see the government clamp down on this $10 license business and thus restrict the licenses of those now selling bait," Mr. Walton stated.

Fulton who retails bait at Buckhorn stated that catching minnows by hook and line was impractical. And he championed the case of those who sell minnows saying it was not them but the untutored private fishermen who scooped up thousands of game fish fry in their three-foot nets.

"Half of them don't even know a perch from a chub," he said.

Another method of protecting the minnows, he contended, was to catch the pickerel who prey on them.

"We've already done that," countered Cam Rowatt, "by recommending to the Department that the pickerel season open May 1."

"Cut out using minnows for bait altogether or we're going to be up against it," contended Max Humphries. "We have to start sometime."

But President Rowatt did not think this a good idea, and he was backed up by Charles Weir, district biologist.

"If we ask for all the minnow fishing to be cut off the Department will turn us down," said Mr. Rowatt. "If we make a reasonable request they will consider it."

Mr. Weir also proposed an alternative to total prohition which he suggested the membership consider before coming to any final decision: prohibit netting minnows in public waters.

This would cut down the destruction of minnows substantially, he felt. Bait retailers would have to raise their own or net them in their own private streams.

He agreed with Ronald Menzies that one of the chief aspects to be considered was the problem of enforcement.

Civic Hospital

"In February of this year, owing to a misunderstanding regarding the old and the new hospital, federal grants for the hospital were in jeopardy to the extent of $96,000. According to the regulations governing the grants, our existing 96 beds at the old hospital were to be deducted from the number of beds in the new hospital, thereby reducing our grants by $96,000. However, after negotiations between the Board of Governors, Federal Deparment of Health and your special hospital committee, we convinced the Department that we had no intention of using the old hospital as a hospital once the new building was in operation. On this assurance our grants are now coming through in regular payments and will continue to do so until the total sum of $477,432.-60 has been received by us."

Nurses Residence

"The plans for the nurses residence were revised considerably, still retaining the desired number of rooms but making a saving of approximatly $400,000. Messrs. W. and W.R.L. Blackwell and Craig were retained to prepare plans and specifications, which they had ready one month ahead of schedule.

The tender of Robertson Construction and Engineering Co. Ltd. of Niagara Falls was accepted, being the lowest tender of five submitted, at a saving on our estimates of about $19,000.

"With regard to the provincial and federal grants towards the building and maintenance of the nurses residence, the Ontario Hospital Association has set up a permanent committee to study and confer with both governments on this matter and it is fairly safe to assume that assistance will be forthcoming from the two governments in the near future."

Ready In June 1950

"Both the hospital and nurses' residence are progressing satisfactorily and it is fully expected that both buildings will be ready for occupation in June of 1950. We feel that the opening of these buildings should be an outstanding event during our centennial celebrations, which will be held next year.

"It has been the duty of your special hospital committee to work on behalf of the council in the raising of moneys, letting of contracts, and together with the Board of Governors, to attend on the Provincial and Federal Departments of Health in any negotiations connected with the new hospital and nurses' residence.

"Your Committee feel that this report would not be complete without paying a tribute to the Board of Governors, under the chairmanship of Mr. John R. Marshall, for their close co-operation with your Committee and the splendid work they are doing."

SQUABBLE SETTLER—Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University, above, has suggested the establishment of "courts" to judge disputes among scientists, engineers, military planners and politicians on matters affecting national defense and security. Conant's proposal was made in an article written for the quarterly review, "Foreign Affairs."

300 lbs. In Gifts For Britain Brought to SS

More than 300 lbs. of white gifts for Britain was received and approximately 475 people joined in the festivities at two Christmas parties held in St. Paul's Church Sunday school rooms last week.

The junior party was for children eight years and under. A record crowd of 200 children made a happy sight, decked in paper hats, kindly donated by Mr. Gordon Hill.

The films, "Bears in a Canoe" and "Christmas Fantasy," were greatly enjoyed, except by two of the smallest children, who were somewhat intimidated by the realistic looking bears.

Sandwiches, cakes, ice cream and chocolate milk were given the children, and the mothers were served with tea.

The crowning event was, of course genial Santa Claus who dispensed well-filled Christmas stockings to the smallest children and acceptable gifts to the older ones.

Committee members in charge of arrangements, convened by Miss Mildred Rowan, were Mrs. G. Whiteside, Mrs. Ed. Brown, Mrs. Edna Dawson, Mrs. Lionel Monk, Mrs. Joe Grierson, Mrs. Claire Fairburn, Mrs. J. Buckley, Mrs. Russ Higgins.

Sunday school teachers and friends served refreshments under the direction of Mrs. Wm. Saunders. Mrs. J. H. Rosenburgh and Mrs. B. Howson.

The registration desk was attended by Miss Helen Daidson, head of the Primary department, who gave name cards to the mothers.

Senior supper and entertainment for children more than nine years comenced with a short carol sing song led by the Rev. C. S. Boyd and accompanied by Miss Ayleen Graham. The tables were gaily decorated with red streamers, silver pine cones, red poinsettas and red and green candles. During the supper hour recordings of traditional Christmas carals were played.

Among films shown was "Winter Holiday" showing the Art of skiing to an enthusiastic audience.

The program began with the intermediate choir of 25 voices procesional singing 'O Come, O Come Emmanuel." The choir also sang many of the traditional Christmas carols, led by Mr. Christopher Gledhill. Those taking solo parts were Beth Oliver, Beth Meiklejohn, Christine Monk and Dorothy Dawson.

Recitations were given by Betty Raddon, Margaret Hawthorne, Carol Grant, Karen Neal and Sheila Greenly. Piano selections were played by Barbara Mann, Mary Raddon and Barbara Craig.

Student Nurses Welcome Santa At Their Party

There is just as much joyous enthusiasm in Santa's welcome when the "kids" are 'teens and twenties—that is, when he visits the Civic Hospital student nurses. The tree he unloaded on Monday night at their Argyle Street residence offered some very good reasons for their anticipation too. It not only held the gifts exchanged by class members, but any parcels that had been sent in by friends and some extra special gifts to be enjoyed by all—record albums from Mr. and Mrs. John Hornal, the Women's Auxiliary and the training school officers

Santa betrayed some of the hospital staff members and read aloud the letters supposedly written to him in confidence. It appeared that this fine gentleman is not always equal to his reputation and had not brought all the things asked for. Of course he does not often have a request for "50 doctors who would complete their charts," though the writer said she would be satisfied with just one.

Preliminary students presented an entertaining program prior to the gift distribution. Mrs. Vivian Latondresse introduced the numbers, opening with vocal duets by Misses Marilyn Bowles and Beryl Larmer, accompanied at the piano by Miss Pat Martyn. Mrs. Helen Willcox, social director and instructor, sang for the girls and was called back for two encores.

Taking the parts in an amusing play called "Girls Must Talk" were students Beverly Gamble, Shirley Tufts, Shirley Langdon, Maxine Lessard, Muriel Mann, Beryl Larmer and Fran Cameron.

Everyone joined heartily in carol singing for which Miss Esther Boriand played piano accompaniment.

Class songs were asked for and the students present sang them with a true school spirit, the class of '52 introducing their number, "As the Probies Go Walking Along."

Refreshment time was a gay time, too, with Christmas crackers popping and everyone wearing a fancy paper hat. Intermediate students served coffee and sandwiches, then Christmas cake, candy, fruit and nuts in bountiful supply, all a gift from Dr. E. A. Hammond, who was unable to be present.

Miss A. L. Thomson, principal of the school of nursing, received the students and guests.

THIS LIFE-SIZE PORTRAIT of Their Royal Highnesses, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, has been installed in the Main Lounge of the Cunard White Star liner "Caronia" in recognition of Princess Elizabeth's association with the ship which she launched in October, 1947. Painted by Edward Halliday, RBA, the double portrait is more than seven feet high and almost five feet wide.

Children's Aid Board Gives Party at Shelter

About 50 youngsters were at the Children's Shelter Monday night for the annual Christmas party provided by the Board of the Children's Aid Society. The guests included six children living at the Shelter, 13 from St. Vincent's Orphanage and those living in foster homes, accompanied by the parents.

Keen excitemnt reached a peak when a rotund Santa Claus presented each child with a present as well as a bag of candy. Then they enjoyed to the full delicious refreshments served.

The children also found themselves in the role of entertainers. Four-year-old Lee Baldwin had a recitation of welcome as the first program number, and for the benefit of late comers she gave it twice. Billie Strasser, five years, had a recitation and Jimmie Smith recited "My Christmas Parcel." The Shelter children sanw "Santa Claus" with a solo part taken by Dock McLennan.

Christ Strasser's recitation was titled "Santa's Pilot." Carl Tobin and five-year-old Gloria Tobin also gave recitations, and Lorraine Thompson gave a Bible story. "Grandpa's Christmas Treats" were recalled by Victor Peters, and Michael Long sang "Here Comes Santa Claus."

Guest artists Bobby, Billy and Joanne Whitton played as a trio on the piano, and the boys played a duet while their sister tap danced. Douglas Landry, cartoonist, entertained with his sketching.

Arthur Shofly gave a recitation and song and the other boys from St. Vincent's joined him in singing a carol.

Carol singing by everyone interspersed the program and following "Away in the Manger" the shelter children sang one verse with motions.

Mrs. W. J. Gordon played piano accompaniment for all the singing.

Mr. and Mrs. GA MacMillan, in charge of the Shelter, were genial hosts of the evening, and gave much assistance to general convener Mrs. D. T. Diplock.

Mrs. C. C. C. Pilon arranged the program and it was announced by Mrs. J. G. Wharry. Mrs. L. Yeotes was in charge of the refreshments and was assisted in serving by lady members of the Board and the office staff of the Society.

Wife Must Remain Attractive To Keep Hold On Husband

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: Why does it seem to be a law of nature that the woman must always be alluring in order to hold the interest and love of a man, while the man goes unshaven and slouchy, even dirty, and takes no care of his personal appearance and still expects the woman to go on loving him and seeing him as the ideal of her dreams that she believed him to be when she married him?

I tell you I am about fed up with a husband who disgusts me by his slovenliness and fills me with contempt by his selfishness and lack of consideration for my comfort and happiness and yet expects me to be always charming and amiable.

DISILLUSIONED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There are two answers to your question. The first is, the reason that women make more effort to be attractive to their husbands and hold their husbands' love and men make to keep their wives fascinated is because it is more important to a woman to keep her home together than it is to a man.

Woman More Dependent

When a woman gets married she burns her bridges behind her and she cannot, as a general thing, go back to her former estate. So aside from any sentimental consideration, any question of love or emotion, it is of practical importance for a woman to preserve her home, which is her own and her children's livelihood. This she can do only by retaining her husband's love, so that she is forced to try to make herself attractive and agreeable to him.

The second answer to your question is masculine vanity. The average husband never worries his head about his wife ceasing to love him, because he believes himself so superhumanly attractive, dirty or clean, shorn or unshorn, pressed or unpressed, that she cannot help adoring him and admiring him. And he also believes that such are his powers of fascination that she will go on loving him no matter how he abuses her.

In all of which he is, of course, utterly mistaken. Women are far more sensitive to appearances than men are, and if a man is disillusioned by a slovenly woman, a woman finds a dirty man a thousands times more repulsive. And if a man falls out of loves with a shrewish woman, be sure that a wife actually hates a grouchy husband.

It would astonish a lot of men to know what their wives really think of them.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We have been married fifteen years and were unusually happy until a year ago when we met a woman whom my husband was attracted to. He is about 40 and apparently at the age when they fall for such women. Now my question is this: Should I invite her a lot to my house and give them the opportunity of seeing each other often on the chance that he will tire of her that way or shall I discontinue being friends with her and try to keep him from seeing her?

TRUE WIFE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: No wife can keep her husband from seeing another woman if he wants to see her and the more difficulties she throws in the way, the more determined he is not to be thwarted and the more romantic and adventurous the affair becomes to him.

After a man has lived happily with a woman for fifteen years she has become a habit with him. She has become an integral part of his life, and if he has loved her that long, the real love of his heart will always be for her and every other feeling he has for a woman is a passing fancy.

So the thing to do is to get the passing fancy out of his system as soon as possible. And the wife can do this best by making her a commonplace, everyday acquaintance, who is no better looking when her make-up is off than his wife is without hers, who is a bore when you have to listen to her by the yard, who has just as many little ways as his wife has and who doesn't know how to play up to him as his wife does.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Just what is meant by taking oneself too seriously? I am accused of doing that.

GERTRUDE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Taking yourself too seriously is really a sort of ingrowing self-conceit. It is thinking that every one's attention is focused upon you, that every one is noticing what you do and say, and how you act. It is thinking that you are too important.

It is thinking you are slighted if people fail to recognize you, or you are not invited somewhere. It is the failure to see how little ice you really cut in the world.

Housewife Uses More Energy Than Most Men

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

LONDON, Dec. 20 — (CP). — A woman pottering about the house, tending a family, queueing and cooking, uses more energy than most men, says Dr. Arnold Bender, well-known dietitian.

Stair-climbing, he claims, is one of the most strenuous occupations, using energy at the rate of 1,000 calories an hour — as much as a man uses in sawing wood or laying bricks.

A morning's washing depletes the calory stock by 200 an hour—at the same rate as a man carpentering. Mending or darning, generally regarded as a restful occupation, is equal to tailoring or clerking in calorific expenditures.

And take that spot of ironing. Dr. Hender says a woman pushing a five-pound iron uses 144 calories on hour compared with about 140 for most office work.

Scrubbing out a room costs 200 calories an hour and is equivalent to being a shoemaker. Making a bed, because of the bending and lifting required, is calorifically costly at around 200 an hour. And for that a woman might as well be a chimney-sweep or a window-cleaner—calorifically speaking.

Interesting Days

Dr. Bender spends most of his days in a laboratory finding out facts like these.

"The best source of quick energy," he said, "is sugar, which by-passes digestion. Next best is fat which is converted into sugar on direction. One gram of fat makes 9 calories. Sugar or bread provide about 4."

Even if you sit perfectly still and do nothing, you are, according to Dr. Bender, using up 70 calories an hour, which have to be made up with food.

Of dieting, he says: "Many a woman goes out for a long walk as part of a slimming routine. Then she replaces the lost weight by eating just one chocolate."

"What's Right?"

A bore gets you off in a corner at a party and you would like to get away.

WRONG WAY: Feel that there is no polite way of escaping.

RIGHT WAY: Be very attentive for a few minutes—and then feel free to make your escape, by saying you want to say "Hello" to a guest across the room, or that you have a message for your hostess, or by suggesting that you both join another group.

ON THE ROAD TO HEALTH AGAIN—Dennis learned to wink while he was in The Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, and practised on the nurses in his ward. He and his toy dog, Peter, were the pets of the ward. To help Dennis and hundreds like him the hospital, in its current campaign seeks to raise $4,000,000 to complete the new building.

NYLON HOSE

1.35 PAIR

One of our big nylon hosiery mills called the other day and wanted to know if we were getting any action on nylon hose for Christmas. Well, after all it was not our bank manager, so we told him the truth. Hosiery business was not bad. But our customers were certainly not breaking down any doors to buy nylons for gifts, not yet anyhow (are they Mac?)

Could we sell 1,000 pair if the price were right? Certainly we can sell anything if the price is right, provided of course that the item is desirable.

So, that's how it happened. The hose came in and these precious whispers of nylons are waiting to be gift wrapped for you.

Best selling shades and all sizes from 8½ to 11.

MEN! Call 5142, ask for either "Dorothy", "Nancy", "Jean", "Edythe", or "Betty". Best selling sizes 9½ and 10. We'll gift wrap your order and it will be ready when you come in.

Small Roles Important To Film Stars

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 20 (AP)—Walter Huston, Toronto-born star of stage and screen, has this to say about getting ahead in show business:

"I can't understand the youngsters in this business who are constantly refusing parts because they think they are too small, or don't pay enough. These kids don't seem to realize that the important thing in this town is to get in front of the camera as often as you can. Nothing else matters."

That comes from a man who, at 65, has been in show business 47 years, in films 20. He ought to know, and he does know. He has an Oscar, and now he has the money to loaf. He earned both, but it took him a long time to reach a successful one-picture-a-year level.

Houston's 1949 role is in Hal Wallis' "The Furies," co-starring with Barbara Stanwyck and Wendell Corey. Next year he'll have a character part in "Quo Vadis," to be directed in Rome by his son John.

A nice life, if you can get it. One reason it isn't easy to get, says Walter, is that movie producers have short memories; the actor who works steadily has a much better chance of gainihg stardom than the player who sits around waiting for plus parts.

"A newcomer can't afford to worry about how good a script is, or whether the film is an 'A' or a 'B'. The film may turn out to be a stinker, but if he's good in it he'll be remembered. You have to keep working in this business or they'll soon forget you."

Huston thinks that professional vanity has ruined more careers than any other single failing. "Many a kid turns down a bit part because he feels his friends, and the studio, will think less of his ability if he takes a small role. But the actor who consistently refuses these small roles is slowly but surely committing professional suicide."

Walter is convinced that all directors pay particular attention to the casting of minor parts.

"And, in many cases, the minor roles are more interesting," he added. "I speak from experience. I've played a lot of them, for my son John, you know."

REVIEW AIR PACT—Officials meet in Ottawa to attempt to iron out difficulties arising from the air agreement sined by Canada and the United States last June. Chief problem is Colonial Airlines' attempt to avoid competition from Trans-Canada Air Lines on the rich run between Montreal and New York. Left to right: J. R. Baldwin, chairman of Canada's Air Transport Board; Adrian Fisher, legal advisor to the US State Department; Emory T. Nunneley, Jr., general counsel of the US Civil Aeronautics Board, and H. O. Sunday School Pupils At Christmas Party In Apsley

APSLEY, Dec. 20 (ENS)—The annual supper and Christmas tree for pupils of Trinity United Sunday school was held Friday in Legion Hall.

Two long tables were decorated with miniature Christmas trees and candles. Baked beans, scalloped potatoes, macaroni and pickles, cake(jellies, cocoa and tea were served and paper hats were worn by the children.

Mrs. S. Brown, superintendent, called on the teachers each for a short talk. P. P. C. Bert Howden spoke first and complimented the mothers who had supplied the good things to eat. He also stressed the fact that these boys and girls were privileged to be living in a land of peace and plenty and asked them to think of the children who were less fortunate this Christmas.

Mrs. Caverly, Mrs. Ross Reynolds, Mrs. Wagner and Miss Chase also spoke.

Mrs. Wilson called Holly Tucker to the patform to present to her the prize offered by the Sunday school for the best poster advertising a recent movie given by C. McKay in the church.

Misses Donna Lean and Marie Tucker, organists for the Sunday school, were called to the platform. Joan McCauley, read a short address and Raymond Fitzgerald presented a gift to Donna Lean. Murry McCormack read a short address and David Howden gave Marie Tucker a gift.

Mrs. Brown moved a vote of thanks to Apsley Branch of the Canadian Legion No. 381 for use of the hall and loud speaker system.

A sing-song led by Miss Chase was enjoyed while the tables were being reset for the parents and visitors.

Santa Claus took the gifts from the lighted Christmas tree to distribute among the children.

Tug Crews Strike

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 20 (AP)—A strike of tug crews Monday left 70 grain ships in Buffalo harbor waiting to unload. Robert A Lovelace, manager of the Hand and Johnson tug line, said the ships are laid up for the winter and unless the cargoes are transferred to elevators soon "there is very apt to be thousands of dollars of loss in grain." The stoppage stemmed from a dispute over "crew strength."

U.K. To Take 2 Million Spruce Order

Expect Total Diversion From Wheat Pact To Hit $30,000,000

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP) — Anglo-Canadian negotiators have completed an agreement to divert $2,500,000 from Canadian wheat sales to the United Kingdom to provide the UK with dollars to purchase 40,000,000 board feet of Eastern-Canadian spruce, a government spokesman said today.

This is the first of a series of expected agreements which may be announced within the next few days covering further dollar diversions from wheat for Canadian bacon and canned salmon contracts in 1950.

Total diversion is expected to amount to about $30,000,000. It will mean that Canada will defer delivery of some 15,000,000 bushels of wheat to the UK during the 1949-50 crop year.

The spruce agreement, which results from diversion of 1,250,000 bushels of wheat at $2 a bushel, covers the first half of 1950.

Need US Approval

First indication that the UK will buy east-coast lumber next year, the contract still has to leap two hurdles—the British treasury and the Marshall-Plan administration in the United States.

Approval of the Economic Co-operation Administration is necessary because ECA provided the UK with $175,000,000 with which to buy Canadian wheat. Any plan to divert dollars from this allocation for other purposes must have approval of ECA administrators.

Similarly, other agreements which may be concluded covering canned salmon and bacon also will need ECA approval if a decision is reached to use wheat dollars for the purposes.

The east coast order is expected to provide winter employment for lumbermen in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and the Gaspe Peninsula. However, the order still is far below the level of orders placed in 1949.

Queen Dances With Footman

LONDON, Dec. 21 — (AP). — The Queen danced with the footman and the Princess danced with the clock-winder Tuesday night in Buckingham Palace's annual household Christmas party.

The palace staff gave the traditional party.

Queen Elizabeth, in diamond tiara and flowing green gown, waltzed with the liveried footman. Princess Margaret, sleek in rose and pink, swirled over the glassy floor with the man in charge of the palace's famous collection of French gilt clocks.

Until the wee hours of the morning they danced with other members of the household staff.

King George, still recuperating slowly from a long-suffered leg ailment, sat on the sidelines and watched until shortly before midnight. Then he retired.

Threaten Jail Terms For Water Wasters

NEW YORK, Dec. 21—(AP)—Jail terms were threatened today for persons who waste water as New York city struggled to make its skimpy water supply last longer.

Magistrate Morris Rothenberg fined nine men from $25 to $100 each Tuesday for permitting leakage or other waste and commented:

"Our water supply is so critically low that drastic punishment of wasters is demanded and second offenders will probably get straight prison sentences."

The city's reservoirs now are 34.7 per cent. full. The city has about 62 days supply left before pressure fails if present results from conservation measures continue.

NEAR JOURNEY'S END—Violet Houck, left, of Winnipeg and Essie Pattison of Winnipeg and Ladysmith, B.C., have spent 2½ years getting the wanderlust out of their system. Travelling by boat, train, bus and automobile—and 5,000 miles by bicycle—they have seen just about all there is to see in Europe, Australia and Africa. Here they await customs clearance aboard the liner Veendam in New York harbor.

Labor Party Victorious In Jamaica Election

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Dec. 21—(CP)—William Bustamante's Labor party will form Jamaica's government for the next five years. Returns flooding in from Tuesday's election gave his party 17 of the 32 House of Representatives seats. The rival People's National Party gained 13 seats and Independents two. One of the Independents—Sir Harold Allan, former Finance Minister — said he would again support Bustamanate. The P. N. P. gained support in Kingston, capturing five of the six seats, but Bustamanate found heavy support in the rural areas.

The Labor party has held a commanding majority in the House since the 1944 election.

More than 70 per cent. of the 730,000 eligible voters cast ballots.

It appeared that two ministers —Frank Pixley, social welfare, and E. R. D. Evans, agriculture— had lost their seats in Kingston.

Bloody Clashes

There were frequent bloody clashes between members of rival parties during the campaign and Tuesday hundreds of police patrolled Kingston and outlying cities and towns.

The People's National Party was led by Bustamanate's cousin, Norman Manley.

At House dissolution, Labor held 17 seats, Independent eight, the PNP five, and the Agricultural Industrial Party two. Labor captured 25 seats in the 1944 general election but lost eight through desertions from the party.

Bustamanate was Communications Minister in the last government and virtual Prime Minister of this island colony of 1,340,000. He also runs his own industrial trades union, biggest union in Jamaica.

Tobacco-Candy Jobber Shot By Hold-up Man

MONTREAL, Dec. 21 (CP) — Victor Rainville, 50-year-old tobacco-candy jobber who was shot in the back by a hold-up man on Tuesday night, died in hospital today before he could help police identify his assailant.

Rainville, a native of Casselman, Ont., was shot a few minutes after he took an order from an east-end restaurant owner.

Police said Rainville was getting merchandise from his truck when the gunman apparently stuck a gun in his back and attempted to rob him. Rainville resisted and the man fired a shot and fled.

Detectives said that Rainville, although semi-conscious after being wounded, identified the photo of an ex-convict as the man who killed him, but police felt today the identification was unreliable.

Drug Smuggled Into Canada Aids Girl Fighting For Life

KITCHENER, Dec. 21 (CP)— Four-year-old Barbara Veitch Tuesday night was aided in her fight for life by a special drug "smuggled" into Canada from the United States.

Two doses of the drug, aureomycin, were rushed from a Canadian border point Tuesday. No details were made public on how they were smuggled over the border to avoid delaying red tape, nor was the name of the border point even disclosed.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Veitch of nearby Baden, was rushed to St. Mary's Hospital here last Wednesday with a ruptured appendix. Doctors said she is suffering severe complications, including virus pneumonia and intestinal intoxication.

Two physicians, Dr. Robert Barton of Baden and Dr. Robert Cowan of Kitchener, said the special drug would undoubtedly help the girl.

It was reported that attempts had been made to obtain some of the type needed from Montreal and elsewhere but they were unsuccessful. Officials said arrangements were made to obtain it in the U.S. and it was smuggled across the border for fear that red tape would delay its delivery.

Arrangements now have been made to fly more supplies of the drug from Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, it was reported.

McLean Accepts UN Film Post

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP)—Ross McLean, who has resigned as chief of the government-owned National Film Board, has accepted the offer to head the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural organization's film section, it was learned Tuesday night.

Mr. McLean, 44, who left the Film Board because of goernment refusal to extend his term as commissioner at a higher salary, will have headquarters in Paris in his new job and will receive a tax-free salary, reported to be considerably higher than the $8,000 he received as chief of NFB.

Mr. McLean declined to comment on both the UNESCO reports and on the resignation of Ralph Foster, 38-year-old former Toronto newspaperman, from the No. 2 post in the government-owned Film Board. Mr. Foster, executive assistant to Mr. McLean, disclosed Tuesday that he was resigning because of newspaper criticism of Mr. McLean's work as commissioner.

Mr. McLean's predecessor, John Grierson, also joined UNESCO when he left the Film Board more than four years ago. Mr. Grierson, first NFB commissioner, now is head of the British Central Office of Information in London.

Try To Wreck Detroit UAW Headquarters

39 Sticks Dynamite In Christmas Paper Left On Stairway

DETROIT, Dec. 21 — (AP). — Dynamiters made an attempt to blow up the United Automobile Workers' (CIO) Headquarters on Tuesday night. They failed, but only by a hair's breadth.

A stack of 39 sticks of dynamite, wrapped in tape and colored Christmas gift paper, was found at a side starway of the union building.

Two fuses had burned to within an inch or less of the explosives before they sputtered out.

Except for two night workers, the union building was empty. However, lives were imperilled in a neighboring General Motors building.

As a result, authorities were confronted today with a new task in solving mysterious acts of violence against the big auto union and its leadership.

Within less than two years would-be assassins have tried to kill two of the UAW's prominent Reuther brothers.

Walter Reuther, president of the UAW, was shot by an unknown assailant in April, 1948. He almost lost the use of an arm. Victor Reuther, the union's educational director, lost an eye in a similar shotgun attack last May.

Still Unsolved

Both shootings are still unsolved.

Police immediately linked Tuesday night's incident with the attempts on the Reuthers' lives.

There is "no doubt" of it, according to Inspector Joseph A Krug of the Police Special Investigation Squad.

An anonymous call to a Detroit newspaper man led to what was at first a vain police search at the union headquarters. Later two union employees came upon the wrapped sticks of explosive, tied up in gay red and white Christmas paper. The destructive package lay at an outside stairway not far from the adjacent General Motors research laboratory.

Inspector Albert Langtry of the Police Scientific Laboratory said there was enough dynamite to have destroyed the three-storey brick UAW building. It was prepared, Krug said, by "someone with a lot of experience with dynamite."

Fuses Go Out

Two 90-inch fuses had been lighted but had gone out. One burned to within one-eighth of an inch of its end. One inch remained of the other, Krug said.

FUSES BURN

Recognize Reds After New Year

LONDON, Dec. 21 (Reuters) — Britain, along with most of the Commonwealth governments, will recognize the Communist government of China immediately after the new year, usually reliable sources here said today.

Following last week's cabinet approval of the policy of early recognition, Foreign Secretary Bevin consulted the other Commonwealth powers and now is believed to have fixed a date for recognition during the first week of January.

India is expected to publish her recognition in advance of the other Commonwealth powers.

Australia, as a result of the recent change of government, may delay her recognition until shortly after Britain, but the Commonwealth powers are expected to act more or less together.

Immediate problems arising out of recognition of the Peiping government will include the international position of the Nationalist government now on the island of Formosa.

If, as appears probable from recent statements of the Nationalist government, the Nationalists continue military and naval operations from Formosa against the Peiping government, those powers which recognize the Peiping regime will also have to decide whether to recognize the belligerent rights of the Nationalists in Formosa.

AIDE RESIGNS — Ralph Foster, No. 2 man in the National Film Board, has submitted his resignation, effective Jan. 1. It follows by a few days the resignation of Ross McLean, whose successor as Film Board commissioner will be W. Arthur Irwin, former editor of Maclean's Magazine.

Clark Gable Marries Lady Stanley

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 21 (AP). —"The King" has a new lady—a laughing, lovely blonde reminiscent in many ways of the girl whose death kept him lonely and distant for almost eight years.

Clark Gable is honeymooning somewhere today with Lady Sylvia Stanley, the 39-year-old widow of Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. They were married in a surprise ceremony late Tuesday at a luxurious guest ranch 40 miles north of Santa Barbara, Calif. After the wedding, they departed for points unknown.

Sometime today or tomorrow they are expected to return to Hollywood, in time to sail for a two to four week junket to Honolulu.

"The King," so-called because of his box office drawing power, and Lady Sylvia long have been friends. She arrived here about 10 days ago, but there were no rumors of an engagement.

The new Mrs. Gable divorced Lord Stanley of Alderley 18 months ago. Gable, 48, is her fourth husband. She was divorced in 1935 by Lord Ashley, who named Fairbanks as co-respondent. Gable's first wife was Josephine Dillon. They were divorced six years later and in 1931 he married Ria Langham. Their divorce came in 1939

Loved Fun

Shortly afterward Gable took his third bride, Actress Carole Lombard. Both had a great capacity for fun.

Miss Lombard was killed in 1942. The plane carrying her home from a war-bond selling tour crashed near Las Vegas, Nev., carrying Carole and 20 others to their deaths. Gable mourned openly for months.

Gable enlisted, demanding combat action. He was awarded the Air Medal and rose from private to major in the Air Force. He made several missions over Germany as a gunner.

Yesterday's ceremony was witnessed by a few close friends and some ranch hands. Champagne flowed at a reception afterward, and Mrs. Gable cut a four-tiered wedding cake with a sword.

Weatherman Predicts A Green Christmas

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP) — Meteorologically, Christmas as a long way off but from this distance it's going to be a green one in Ontario, the public weather forecaster said today.

He said the only hint of snow in the air is that the weather definitely is turning colder.

No appreciable amount of snow is expected in the province in the next few days," he said. "There might be a little snow in southern areas, but we'll just have to wait and see."

Bomb Chinese Ship

HONG KONG, Dec. 21 —(Reuters)—A British-registered, Chinese-owned coastal vessel has been bombed by Nationalist aircraft, an unconfirmed Chinese report said today. The report said there were heavy casualties aboard.

It said the 563-ton Winghing was bombed near Swabue, Kwangtung, about 150 miles northeast of Hong Kong.

Worker Drops Lighted Match In Plastic Wrapping Pile

TORONTO, Dec. 21—(CP)—A lighted match dropped in a pile of plastic wrapping material today started a fire that injured nine persons—one serious—at an east-end toy factory. Mrs. May Edwards said she lit a cigaret for another woman employee during their relief period. It slipped from her fingers into a pile of wrapping material. The explosion could be felt for blocks and dense smoke poured from the one-storey building.

Most seriously injured was Mrs. Nancy Brackin, 18, Mrs. Edwards' sister, who suffered burns to her face, arms, and back. Less seriously injured were Alice Rayner, 29, and Norville Hodgson, 28. Six other persons were treated for minor burns.

The company, Pax Manufacturing Company, employs 19 persons. All were removed from the building.

Fire Chief Peter Herd said "terrific gas fumes" hampered the work of his men who had to don masks to enter the building.

Mrs. Edwards said doorways were jammed as the girls all tried to leave at once.

"I feel terrible about this," she said. "I don't know what to do."

Shop Like Furnace

Winnifred Farquharson, an employee, said the shop became "like a furnace" seconds after the explosion. "The flames seemed to start in the middle of the plant and spread right through it," she said.

At 11 a.m. Inspector Greenwood notified the deputy fire chief that because the plant was burning so fiercely firemen had not been able to get inside to see if all employees had escaped.

A 21-year-old girl employee was taken to the operating room immediately after her arrival at hospital. She had been severely burned from head to foot, hospital authorities said.

Bill Wainwright said he was in a service station next door to the factory when the explosion occurred. He said he heard a pop and saw a flash of flame.

Blown Across Street

"I saw a girl blown clear across the street in flames. I rushed over and picked her up and tried to put the flames out with my topcoat," he said. He still had pieces of skin sticking to the coat.

"All I know is that her name was Nancy and that they took her to hospital. It was an awful mess and she was in very bad shape."

The company payroll was said by police to have been burned.

This was the second time within weeks plastic has exploded in the Toronto area, John Home, an Oakville, Ont., salesman, was killed when a plastic tank in suburban Weston factory, where he was visiting, exploding Nov. 11.

Marc Crocodile Hitting Bottle Too Much Cincinnati Zoo Official Fears Untimely End

CINCINNATI, Dec. 21—(AP) —Officials of the Cincinnati zoo are worried. They're afraid Marc, their 600-pound Nile crocodile, has been hitting the bottle too much.

And they don't mean the kind of a bottle that causes hangovers, even though Marc is old enough to take a drink if he wants it—he's about 35.

Jack Heusser, zoo executive director, explains it this way:

About two weeks ago someone tossed a pop bottle into Marc's pool. Marc got it in his mouth and superintendent Charles White couldn't get it out. The next morning the bottle was gone. White said it couldn't have gone down the drain. He surmised it went down Marc's stomach.

About that time Marc began to lose his appetite so Dr. Carl A. Plueger, zoo veterinarian, was called. But he hasn't been able to get close enough to make an examination.

"He's able to digest bones but a bottle is another matter," said Dr. Plueger. "It's possible he could live a full life with the bottle in his stomach but if it obstructs his intestinal tract it will shut off circulation and he will die of gangrene."

Murder Charge Surprise Sydney Mayor Declares

SYDNEY, N.S., Dec. 21—(CP)—Mayor Dan Jack MacLean, arraigned today on a murder charge, said "I didn't know this was going to happen until five minutes ago." Charged with the Sunday night murder of Joseph MacKinnon, 63-year-old city registrar of voters, he was remanded to Dec. 29. It was the Mayor's first appearance in public since he was taken to hospital Sunday following the finding of MacKinnon's unconscious body in a darkened alleyway. MacKinnon, a semi-cripple, died shortly afterwards.

The Mayor appeared nervous and spoke in a husky voice as Magistrate Vernon read the murder charge.

Asked if he had retained counsel MacLean said he would be represented by Alexander Patterson, a son of Attorney-General Malcolm Patterson.

Only Statement

Mr. Patterson did not appear when called and MacLean explained "I didn't know this was going to happen until five minutes ago." He made no other statement.

After a five-minute recess during which court officials tried without success to reach Mr. Patterson, the arraignment continued.

(Mr. Patterson, reached later by reporters, said he had not been asked to represent Mr. MacLean and added that he would not.)

MacLean had his lef tarm in a sling when he entered the court, handcuffed and under an RCMP escort. He had a bruise on the left side of his face and his left hand appeared to have swollen.

MacLean had his left arm in a was the Dec. 6 civic election which saw MacLean re-elected for his fifth consecutive two-year term, was found in an alley with his head badly cut and his chest crushed.

The Sydney Post-Record said following the civic election that MacKinnon had received scores of protests from citizens who claimed their names had been left off the voters' lists.

Last night counsel for some of these citizens said the election would be contested in court before the end of the week.

Try New Drug To Save Boy

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP) — Among all the hundreds of children under treatment at the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children the spotlight today was on Billy B., seven-year-old from Mount Albert, Ont., victim of a rare and deadly form of leukemia.

Leukemia is a cancer of the blood, generally fatal. But the hospital's treatment and research staffs, combined with outside specialists, secured from the Armour Institute in Chicago a supply of the new drug ACTH. Sufficient supplies of the drug for a four-week treatment arrived and today was being administered.

Doctors would not predict whether the drug will save Billy's life or even extend it. But they were hopeful, and if Billy lives an important chapter will have been contributed to the world-wide knowledge of leukemia treatment.

Blood transfusions corrected Billy's anemia. Aureomycin and Penicillin were also administered before doctors realized that the child had a rare case of blood disease, prompting the call for ACTH. As far as is known here, this is the first case where the drug has been used in such a condition.

The physicians say Billy may still die; they will profess not one word of belief that he will recover. But they talked things over with his mother and father with his family doctor, and they have enlisted the co-operation of authorities of research and foundation centres to attempt a desperate effort to save him.

Truro Children Taking Two Cleaners To Cleaners

TRURO, N.S., Dec. 21 —(CP)— Children in this central Nova Scotia town of 10,000 have just about taken two of Truro's cleaners to the cleaners.

One dry cleaning establishment put an advertisement in the paper last week announcing that as "our Christmas gift to all little girls and boys we will clean, absolutely free, any stuffed rag doll, animal or teddy bear." The ad added that no repairs could be made and any dolls uncalled for would be given to children throughout the town.

Up to today, children of all ages had answered the call and deposited more than 2,000 toys to be dry cleaned.

"I'd have never gone into it had I known what the results were going to be," said proprietor W. T. Frechette. "But now that we've started it, we're going to finish it."

Mr. Frechette figures the retail price for all the cleaning would run to more than $400. Some of the toys are more than three feet high and one doll arrived complete with wardrobe, even to overshoes and a raincoat

Not to be outdone, another laundry inserted an advertisement soliciting letters to Santa Claus. The plan is that any letter sent in will be answered by Little Nose, Santa's dwarf, an effigy of which sits in the window.

So far, 900 letters have come in and Little Nose has, within reason, tried to answer the requests.

Most of the girls wanted a "permanent doll." The boys went for power shovels and wrecking cranes."

Cures Patient 1,000 Mi. Away

KIRKLAND LAKE, Dec. 21 — (CP). — Dr. M. J. Thomson Monday cured a patient 1,000 miles away by radio. The patient was a trader's wife at a lonely Hudno'ss Bay post on Baffin Island.

Following the birth of a baby two weeks ago, the woman developed a rash which covered her body. A nurse at the outpost could not recognize the disease.

The trader used his amateur radio set to ask Alex Snider, president of the Kirkland Lake Amateur Radio League, if he would consult a doctor. Dr. Thomson gave the nurse instructions over Snider's radio.

Monday, the fur trader informed the doctor by radio that his wife was cured.

Mistletoe In Park Keeps Police Busy

CENTRAL RALLS, R.I., Dec. 21 (AP) — Never did a sprig of Christmas mistletoe work such wondrous thing in this place of joyous hearts and young love.

For a week cupid's yuletide weapon has been hanging from a gay arch in the city's Jenks Park.

One unromantic patrolman felt called upon to break up a number of youthful kissing parties.

"Hollywood never saw anything like it," he commented.

Today the mistletoe was removed—with a gentle admonition from Mayor Robert J. Connelly:

"The youth of our city are a little too emotional for that sort of thing."

North America Remains World Wheat Granary

OTTAWA, Dec. 21—(CP)—The North American Continent has retained its title as the world's wheat granary.

Of the 6,185,000,000 bushels of wheat produced this year, wheat fields on this continent yielded 1,511,000,000, the Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday. The top position was retained despite lower production in both Canada and the United States.

Canada's production of 367,000,000 bushels was 25,000,000 below last year's output, but still well above the 1935-39 average of 312,000,000. U.S. production topped the 1,000,000,000 bushel-mark for the sixth straight year despite a sharp reduction to 1,126,000,000 compared with last year's 1,288,000,000. Like Canada, U.S. production was well above the 1935-39 average of 759,000,000.

The Bureau estimated that of the total Canadian supply, about 319,100,000 bushels would be available for export and for carry-over into the 1950-51 crop year. This compares with 330,300,000 bushels for the same purpose last year.

Grasshoppers Worse

Of last year's export and carry-over total, 231,300,000 bushels was sold on the export market, leaving only 98,700,000 for actual carry-over in the current crop year. The government believes the carry-over into 1950-51 likely will be about 88,000,000 bushels.

At the same time the Bureau estimated that 1950's grasshopper infestation on the prairies is growing worse. In Manitoba about 11,000 square miles of land —twice the area infected last year—show evidence of egg infestation. South-central and southeast regions of Saskatchewan also show signs of more severe infestation.

Rturning to wheat estimates, the Bureau placed production in Asia, excluding Russia, at 1,480,000,000 bushels, only slightly below last year's 1,593,000,000 figure and the 1935-39 average of 1,499,000,000.

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP) — Firming tendencies appeared in mid-session on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Early trends were down but some support showed in golds, western oils and industrials.

Volume for the first three hours was 404,000 shares.

The gains in golds appeared following recent sharp declines. Seniors led the upturn on fractional gains and advances ranged up to 15 cents in junior producers. Sullivan jumped ahead 15 cents at $2.70 and Cochenour-Willans added 13 cents at $2.30.

Sherritt Gordon highlighted base metals, adding 12 cents at $2.30 in brisk mid-session trading. Consolidated Smelters, Noranda, International Nickel and Hudson Bay were off fractions.

Western oils continued under pressure of profit-taking sales in early dealings but gains began to appear at the half-way mark. Royalite added 15 cents at $9.60 and Pacific Petroleum gained 10 cents at $4.40. Calgary and Edmonton remained down 45 cents at $8.

Industrials were held to mixed fractional changes. The new shares of International Paper common were listed on the curb and some 70 shares traded at 37.

Egg Price Drop Not Serious

MONTREAL, Dec. 21 (CP) — The current crop in egg prices will not bring about any major economic disturbance in Canada, Finance Minister Abbott said on Tuesday night.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Suburban Westmount Young Liberal Association, he said he could not foresee any serious economic downswing in the immediate future.

"True, it is more difficult for us to dispose of some of our surplus production than in the past," Mr. Abbott said, "but we're living in a great country.

"We have built up a high level of expenditures that are both fixed and inflexible. We are spending $600,000,000 annually on social service benefits and another $400,000,000 to service the national debt. These expenditures are of a fixed and inflexible character and difficult to reduce."

Reporter Jack Pickering of the Detroit Times said he had received a telephone call about 8 p.m. that dynamite had been placed at the "back door" of the UAW building. The caller did did not identify himself..

In intermittent rain and murk, police made a search of the area containing both the UAW headquarters and the General Motors main office building. They found nothing.

Toward 11:30 p.m., Jack Krajnik, 35, a maintenance man, and George Thomas, 58, night janitor, came upon the explosive.

One detonator was defective, Krug said. An over-tight taping also may have prevented a firing of the charge, he said.

A half-hour before finding the dynamite, Thomas said he saw a car leaving the parking lot at the rear of the union building. Thomas got the licence number, and turned it over to police.

U.S. Bans Travel To Hungary For All Citizens

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP). —The State Department has banned travel by Americans to Communist-run Hungary and is reported considering further actions. These include the possibility of closing Hungarian consulates in New York and Cleveland.

The travel embargo was announced late Tuesday in a stinging note of protest against the treatment of Americans in Hungary.

It reinforced a demand for the prompt release of Robert A. Vogeler, an American communications official who has been held incommunicado by the Hungarians for more than a month. Officials said the note applied equally to the reported arrest last week in Budapest of Israel Jacobson, head of the Hungarian office of the American Joint Distribution Committee.

The note charged Hungary with violating a 1926 commercial treaty by refusing US consuls the right even to talk with Vogeler, and added the US is "giving urgent consideration to such further measures as may be appropriate" unless the issue is settled promptly and satisfactorily.

Diplomatic authorities said it was fair speculation to include the possible closing of Hungarian consulates in New York and in Cleveland among these further measures.

The State Department declared that American citizens no longer are "free to transact normal business or to visit in Hungary without suffering surveillance, arbitrary arrest, and other intolerable molestations at the hands of the Hungarian police authorities."

Until further notice, the passport of Americans going to Europe will be stamped "not good for travel in Hungary."

Council Stops Firm On Zoning Program

Two recommendations of the city planning committee were given effect by the council this week. One was approval of an enlargement of Campbell's Dairy, and the other was a frowning on E. G. Johnston's application for transfer of used car permit from Water St. to Lansdowne St. at Sherbourne St.

Three members of the committee with City Engineer Chalmers visited the Lansdowne St. site to inform themselves thoroughly about Mr. Johnston's request. There are some new houses in the neighborhood, and it is zoned as R-2, making it residential, and the committee adhered to that classification.

Their attitude was that a car lot in that block of Lansdowne St. would be detrimental to property values.

The committee wrote that they were willing to give some consideration to any other application by Mr. Johnston for a lot permit further east on Lansdowne St.

Two Get 7 Days Each Lumber Theft Count

Two seven day sentences handed out to two men were reduced to three days by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court after he had found them guilty of stealing lumber from the CNR.

Alfred Dawson, 27 and Roy Jollymore, 22, both living with their wives in the same house on the Warsaw road, pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday. Evidence was heard today.

Constable William G. Scott testified he and Constable Donald S. Mackay had gone to investigate a report that a panel truck was parked without lights on beside CNR tracks north of the Quaker Oats mill.

He said they found Dawson and Jollymore loading CNR lumber into the back of their truck. He explained the lumber was used as a second inside door in railway cars loaded with grain.

$5 Worth of Lumber

CNR Constable Roy Morden testified the lumber was shipped by the CNR to Midland where it was sorted and used again. He put the value of the lumber at about $5.

Dawson said, "I feel I am more responsible for this than Jollymore." He told the court he had asked a CNR employee two or three weeks before if he could take some of the lumber. The CNR man had told him to come back another day to ask his boss. Dawson said he was not pressed for the wood and did not go back then. He told the court he thought it was old lumber.

OH, HAPPY THOUGHT

'Twas five nights before Christmas, pouring rain and very late. Two Lakefield citizens got off the last bus. They pulled up their collars and sloshed through the puddles and mud. It was foggy. Bright Christmas lights from a few homes shone faintly through the gloom. Ice was gone from the river and ore barges swung free on their moorings. Spillways at the village dam roared as late travellers turned toward the river. The short man said, "What a - - - - of a night; it's more like a spring night than Christmas weather." The tall one agreed. He turned in his gateway, paused, "There's an old Irish saying that a green Christmas makes for a full graveyard," pause, — "Goodnight, and a very Merry Christmas and a HAPPY New Year to you."

Lt. Angus Duffy Honored By NC Officers

BELLEVILLE, Dec. 21.—Appreciation of 20 years service in the army, ten of them as regimental sergeant-major, was shown Lieutenant Angus Duffy, Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, at a testimonial given him this week by the non-commissioned officers of the regiment.

Lieut. Duffy, who was given his commission at the regimental ceremonial parade held in the Bridge Street Armouries last Wednesday, was presented with a handsome chrome plaque mounted on gleaming wood at the dinner held in a lecture room of the Armouries at one o'clock.

The plaque presented by Regimental Sergeant Major J. Stanley Down, who succeeded Duffy, was engraved with the following inscription, below the regimental crest, "1st Canadian Division, to RSM Angus Duffy, who from 1939 to December, 1949, served with patience and dignity as regimental sergeant-major of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. A token of esteem from the NCO's."

Over 100 Present

Over 100 non-commissioned officers were present at the dinner which was held under the chairmanship of RSM Down. Also present were Lieut.-Col. Max Porritt, commanding officer; Major Bill Graydon, second in command; Captain Len Hyslop, adjutant; Captain George Hepburn, quartermaster; Major Clint Broad, Major Cam Wallbridge and other guests.

Another presentation was that of a sergeant-major's cane made of ebony and silver, made by Major Cam Wallbridge, to be used by the regimental sergeant-majors of the unit. The cane formerly belonged to the late C. M. Wallbridge and was presented to him when he was a lieutenant in the 49th Hastings Rifles. The cane was formally presented to RSM Down, whose name will be inscribed on a gold ferrule, which will be placed on the cane. It will be the permanent property of the regiment.

Expresses Appreciation

In a brief address of appreciation of the gift of his non-commissioned officers, Lieut. Duffy said there had been no greater honor for him than to be the RSM of the regiment. But he believed that RSM's should be changed from time to time so that promotion can continue and ambition created, for ambition keeps any unit alive. He reviewed his life as RSM of the unit in humorous and serious vein. "In every man," he said "was an idealism, and if that is appealed to he will do terrific things. The regiment never lacked spirit and this spirit should be kept alive and handed down." He urged the NCO's to teach the men how to develop this spirit so that if war comes they will be able to protect their country from an invader.

In presenting the RSM's cane to RSM Down, Major Wallbridge remarked that the "Hasty Pees" always had a reputation of getting out and doing a job. This paid off when the last war occurred. "The history of the unit goes back years," he said, "and it has never been found wanting." "Years ago," he said, "his father was an officer in the regiment and twenty-five years later his son was the same He was proud to be associated with such a unit," Major Wallbridge concluded.

Peak PO Day Now Passed; Big Parcel Mail

Mail early warnings by the local Post Office seem to have paid off as the mail peak this year was December 19, two days earlier than last year. Although the number of cards and letters was down 167,400 this year compared with 195,000 on the peak day last year, December 21. Earlier mail has been heavier this year.

These figures are only for the cards and letters which go through the stamping machine. They do not include mail which is hand-stamped or which passes through meter machines in the factories and offices.

Acting-Postmaster A. E. White said the mail started to flow in on December 12. This is again two days ahead of last year. Some of the 102 extra sorters, carriers and others employed to meet the Christmas rush will be off tonight if there is a further decrease today.

Temporary arrangements made for the sale of stamps in the lobby will be closed tonight, said Mr. White. The postmaster's corner was opened as an extra wicket, providing three for the rush.

Trucks Busy

Three trucks on day and night shifts, have been handling the parcel mail at the Gunnery Mess in the armouries. The day shift under Elmer Brown and the night shift under G. H. Moore have sorted the largest number of parcels in years, said Andrew Jackson in charge of the parcel mail. On Monday alone 1,500 parcels were sorted while Tuesday 1,900 were looked after. Today, despite the rainy condition about 2,000 parcels are expected to pass through the hands of the workers.

Approximately 180 employees in the Post Office are sorting and delivering the mail. There are 102 extras, 65 regulars and 11 rural workers. The number of extras varies according to the amount of work to be done.

Post Office figures for letters and cards compared with last year are as folows—1948's figures in brackets: 26,300 (7,500); December 13—32,600 (26,000); December 14—50,400 (31,600); December 15—84,000 (38,800); December 16—113,000 (68,000); December 17—136,900 (102,000); December 18—85,000 (135,000); December 19—167,400 (84,000); December 20—100,100 (135,900).

3,000 Stage Hunger Strike

BOMBAY, India, Dec. 21 (AP) —More than 3,000 industrial workers went on a one-day hunger strike today to urge 15 palace servants of the fabulously rich Gaekwar of Baroda to start eating again.

The 15 palace servants have been on a hunger strike for 10 days. Nearly 250 of their fellow workers have been on a more orthodox strike for almost a month, demanding recognition of their new union and higher wages. The 15 are in jail along with 85 others who were arrested when the strike began.

Sympathy strikes for the servants of the Maharajah or Gaekwar, who once was accused of squandering $10,000,000 in a six-week spree, have broken out among other workers. Bombay was is darkness last Saturday when the municipal workers walked out.

The Gaekwar, holder of one of the world's biggest fortunes in jewels, has no power to stop the strikes since he now is only a private citizen. He was pensioned last May by the Indian government.

Court Commits Second Man On Copper Case

Cyril Gerster, 35, of 262 Simcoe St., was committed for trial by a higher court on a charge of receiving nearly two tons of stolen copper rod, when the accused appeared before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in a preliminary hearing in police court Tuesday. He was the second man ordered to stand trial in this case. Earlier in the day Frances McGrath, 34, of 252 Charlotte St., appeared before the magistrate and the same decision was made against him.

Judgement in a similar charge against Hyman Albert, scrap metal dealer, was reserved by the magistrate to Dec. 28. A similar charge against Kenneth Metcalfe, 25, Bewdley, was dismissed when the crown offered no evidence.

Metcalfe, the Crown's star witness against McGrath, Gerster and Albert, told the court how he was involved in the action.

Hired For Trucking

He said he had been approached by Albert Sunday, Oct. 16. Albert had asked him to take a load to Lindsay. He said they agreed on a price of $20 for the job and he was to be in Peterborough at the Albert scrap metal yard on Bethune St. at 9:45 that night. He was to deliver the load to Lindsay where Gerster operated a scrap metal yard by 8:30 a. m. Monday, Oct. 17.

He told the court when he arrived in Peterborough he was met at Albert's junk yard by Gerster who told him to take his truck to the CNR freight sheds on Aylmer Sr. He was told another man would pick up the truck and get the load.

Metcalfe said he told Gerster he would take the load if it were not stolen goods. He said Gerster assured him there was nothing wrong with the load and said if Metcalfe were stopped by police on the way he was to send them to Gerster.

He told the court he waited at the freight sheds about half an hour until Albert came along and told him a driver would arrive in a few minutes to take the truck and put the load on. Shortly McGrath came and took the truck.

Police Spot Load

While he waited in McGrath's car for McGrath to return, he was seen by city police. Through the efforts of Constables Sherman Keliele, Donald Mackay, Grant Gillespie and Dennis Traynor, Metcalfe's truck was found loaded with about two tons of copper rod and other evidence uncovered. A similar amount of copper rod was found to be missing from a consignment of the rod for the CGE brought to Peterborough by Smith transport from Brockville Saturday morning. Metcalfe and McGrath were arrested that night, Gerster the next day and Albert a few days later.

Defending Albert, T. J. Carley K. C., argued the crown had not established a case against his client. He said the crown had not proved the copper had been stolen nor that Albert knew it was stolen.

Revision Court Hears 96 Appeals

COBOURG, Dec. 21 (ENS) — Of the 96 assessment appeals before the Court of Revision, which has been sitting in Cobourg, 52 were confirmed and 43 assessments were lowered. One resulted in an increased assessment.

In some of the appeals granted, adjustment was made to take care of errors in measurement or duplication and in a number of industrial assessments, a larger amount for depreciation was allowed.

The new assessment was carried out in order to modernize the town assessment and it was done under the supervision of an assessment expert from the Department of Municipal Affairs. As a result of the reassessment, the tax burden on the residential taxpayer has been lowered from the 62.4 to 55 per cent.

Ah, The Pleasures Of State Ownership!

The Bell Telephone Company has been denied the ten per cent. increase which it wanted to make in the charge for some of its services. It must bide its time until March, when the Board of Transport Commissioners will hear what it has to say, and give a decision.

• • •

How different is the position of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario! A week ago its rates were raised by a simple announcement from its chairman, Mr. Robert Saunders, that it would be so.

• • •

Observe, dear readers, how efficient the system of government ownership is! No costly hearing was necessary before Mr. Saunders raised the rates; no briefs had to be prepared; no time was wasted. Just a simple statement, and up went your power bill. You didn't even have to think about it.

• • •

What a glorious thing it is that we have governments to protect us against the wickedness of private companies! And how wonderful life would be if all services were in government hands, so that we would never have to use our heads again! We would simply have to do what we were told (as in the case of Hydro) for of course protest against such things is not merely useless but also downright ungrateful and suspicious. And we mustn't be suspicious, must we? Except, of course, of private enterprise.

New Policy For The Film Board?

The news reports have said that the appointment of Mr. W. Arthur Irwin to the post of Film Commissioner is "to restore public confidence". We see no reason to suppose that it will do so. Mr. Irwin is an able man, as he very clearly proved during his editorship of Maclean's, but even a man so able as Mr. Irwin will not be able to restore public confidence in the Film Board if the Government is determined to shake that confidence whenever it feels like it. The former Commissioner, Mr. Ross McLean, is an able man also, but Mr. McLean was unable to do anything to stop the suspicions which have surrounded the Film Board, because the Government chose to encourage those suspicions and to advertise them.

The Film Board was organized by Mr. John Grierson, one of the ablest filmmakers living today, and a man of unusually strong personality; he was quite capable of dealing with any of the Ministers of his time, because he was needed to do a particular job. But now that the Film Board is established and successful it has become an Aunt Sally not only for Opposition criticism but apparently for Government suspicion. Would any other Government agency have been so humiliated as was the Film Board when it was stated in the Commons that no secret films were being made by it until a "screening" of its employees was completed? The Government is usually anxious enough to save the face of its agencies, but the Film Board is outside the pale of its solicitude.

Mr. Irwin, able administrator and ingenious thinker that he is, will not be able to do anything at the Film Board unless the Government supports him and his organization in public. If the Government does not mean to do that it should sell its equipment and dissolve the Film Board.

What, No Atheists?

We read with some disappointment that it has been found impossible to form an atheist's club at Toronto University. Youth, when it is most fully enjoyed, is a period of revolt. Children accept the universe as their parents and teachers present it to them; young people, after a sometimes violent rejection of their earlier beliefs, form their own opinions about the universe. It looks as though the 14,000 students at Toronto were passing from infancy to fogeydom without any intervening period of intellectual curiosity. We would far rather see university students pass through a period of rambunctious atheism than tamely subservient to the dictates of their elders. Even the proponents of the atheistical society, we read, were afraid to give their names, for fear that they might harm their chances of getting jobs when they leave the university. This says little for the depth of their convictions.

Because no atheist's society can be formed at Toronto University we must not assume, however, that there are no atheists there. The place is undoubtedly full of them, as Canada itself is. Comparatively few atheists reach that position by a course of reasoning, and few are curious enough about God to take the trouble to deny His existence formally. For to be an atheist in this sense means to be deeply concerned with the nature of the universe, the fate of Man and the existence of God. But there are millions of atheists of the negative sort, who never take God into account in their daily actions and never seek consciously to do His will; their moral code is a compound of expediency and local custom, and their church-going produces no effect upon them beyond a pleasing Sunday sentimentality. They have neither a burning belief nor a burning disbelief; they are passive and complacent.

Let us not assume that Toronto University is a stronghold of faith because it has refused to support a society of active disbelief. Stodgy complacency must not be confused with faith.

The Sun Stands Still

This day is the Winter Solstice, the day on which grave and learned astronomers and mathemeticians tell us,—in other words—that the sun stands still. That is really what the word "solstice" means, old Sol is stat. It seems that since June 21st the sun has been travelling farther south, and today he has reached the end of his run, and is hovering over the Tropic of Capricorn, an invisible line, visible apparently to the sun, since he knows where to stop each year. From now until the Vernal Equinox, March 21st, he goes north, right up to the equator. After March 21st, he keeps on going north, up to the Tropic of Cancer, which he reaches on June 21st, and has another stop, for the Summer Solstice.

So today the Sun is standing over the Tropic of Capricorn, making up his mind to turn around and come back to us. On this day we are supposed to have the shortest day of the year, the longest night. Tomorrow the days will lengthen out. We find, after some adding and cross-multiplying, that today in Peterborough the sun rose at 7.45 a.m., and as we write this note, is due to set at 4.27 p.m. That gives us precisely eight hours and forty-two minutes of theoretical sunshine, not counting the twilight of the dawn and the crepuscular hour after the sun sets. Our reliable astronomical tables show that it is the shortest day of the year, but not the only one, if they can be two shortest. Friday also has only eight hours and forty-two minutes of sunshine. Although the sun sets a minute late, it also rises a minute later.

We compute that we shall this evening be favoured with fifteen hours and eighteen minutes of night. For the information of forthcoming celebrants of New Year's Eve, they will have fifteen hours and thirteen minutes of night, until the morning after, the dawn of January 1st, which comes at seventeen minutes to eight.

From The Critic's Notebook

THERE WAS A LAD, an essay on Robert Burns, by Hilton Brown (Hamish Hamilton, London).

EVEN persons antipathetic to Burns will find this study valuable. Those whose dislike of him is so cold that they are quite as indifferent to his love affairs as to his poetry and career will discover, if they will but read a dozen pages, that Burns was more interesting than his idolaters, his Sassenach detractors and his dialect show.

"There Was A Lad" is subtitled on the dust cover 'A Study'; on the title-page, an Essay. It is both. It is a competent distillation of the known main facts and a reassessment of them. It is also a critical analysis and a lively portrayal from the writer's personal point of view. Mr. Hilton Brown's style is fresh, even a little blatant. The reverential may be distracted by it. For instance, this bit from the account of Burns's last days when his emotions were cracking under the malignant disease but the balance of his inner mind remained sound. "His faculties were never impaired; to the last he continued to work hard, to immerse himself in his hobby of song-collecting, and to beget children. His vitality in this respect at least remained unabated; Jean Armour Burns and Anna Park, the barmaid at the Globe Tavern, conceived within ten days of each other, however unpleasant the implications of this fact may be. If Robert Burns had to die young he certainly died fighting".

In this reviewer's ear, Mr. Hilton Brown writes more like a product of the American slick school or the Beaverbrook press than a Scot of solid British schools. But he is a craftsman who knows his tools, as his earlier novels and his well-praised biography of Kipling show. This Burns story cannot be said to be dull.

The book is divided into five sections; The Burns Story, which is the biography; Portrait of the Artist By Himself, which touches on biographical allusions in his verse and letters; Burns's Women, a careful, authentic and somewhat spiced investigation of that important side of Burns's nature and career; Burns the Writer, a rather short literary survey and criticism; and Riddles, wherein the author as detective investigates Burns's marriage, the quarrel with the Riddells, and Highland Mary's grave.

There are seven illustrations, including the Edinburgh Nasmyth portrait, the heavy, brooding face by the Leith coach-painter, Peter Taylor; and the best of them all—which should replace the Nasmyth engravings in Burns-devoted homes—the farmer-face, solid, sensible, appraising and quizzical, of the Alexander Reid miniature done on three inches of ivory in 1795-6, shortly before the poet's death. THE LADY'S NOT FOR BURNING by Christopher Fry (Oxford University Press).

SOME books published in England are only intermittently available in Canada at present, presumably because of the paper shortage and the dislocation of English publishing which began in the early days of the war. The book of this play, which has caused a sensation in London, offers an example. It can be obtained here, if you are ready to wait an indefinite time for it.

"The Lady's Not For Burning" is worth waiting for. It is the first new poetic comedy in many years to receive, and justify, an elaborate production in a large theatre, and it reads almost as well as it acts. Almost, but not quite; plays properly written for the stage lose something in a personal reading; as with Shakespeare, so with Christopher Fry. But as it will be some time before we see this play adequately acted in Canada, let us read it by all means.

Very briefly, this play is about a man who wants to die and can't manage it, and a girl who wants to live and seems doomed to die. They talk about their predicaments very wittingly, and at last they fall in love. Their romance is complicated by a wonderful group of oddities, all of whom are brilliant talkers. The period is 1400 A.D., but this fact is not obstrusive. For discriminating readers. R.D.

THE GRANDMOTHERS by Kathleen Coburn (Oxford University Press).

THIS is a new Canadian novel by a member of the staff of the English department of Victoria College, Toronto. It is really two stories in one and tells in retrospect the life histories of two women, both born about the year 1860, one in the pioneer county of Huron, Upper Canada, and the other in Bohemia. Between these women there is no real connection, aside from the marriage of grandchildren, but their lives run a sort of spiritual parallel. One is a tower of strength to her family and the other is the backbone of her community.

In the case of the Canadian "gran" (a title which grates a little) there seems to be too much ancestor worship involved in her conception to make the character wholly believable. Staunch Methodist and saintly as she may have been, surely she might have been given some lovable human frailties. However, in native novels the Ontario pioneers wear haloes conferred by time and family legend, and Miss Coburn does not defy this tradition.

Babika on the other hand, or the Pani (mother) as she is called by all her village, comes out more robustly. The folk customs of the Czech villages are more novel to us and the political implications of the problems confronting the Pani's people have more bearing on to-day's vital issues than has the marketing of Gran's geese in Upper Canada.

Miss Coburn has a sensitive appreciation of country life and reproduces the feeling of the semi-cultivated areas of southern Ontario with nice detail, but there is a certain self-consciousness in the story of her own people. This defect does not exist in the part of her story which deals with the Czechoslovakians, which therefore flows more freely and is better reading.

"The Grandmothers" is handsomely produced with fine decorations by John Hall, a Toronto artist becoming known for his distinguished work in several forms. It includes also the music of some of Babika's folk-songs. These additions reflect the improvement in Canadian book production generally. Recommended to anyone interested in the roots and the backgrounds of Canadian family life. H.T.K.

STAY ME WITH FLAGONS by Maurice Healy (Michael Joseph).

THIS book made its first appearance in 1940, and was as successful as a book could be which was published at so unlucky a time. It has now been republished, resuming its interrupted career.

It is a book about wine. Depressing though the fact must be to those who regard wine as an evil thing, it has inspired some remarkably good writing. Maurice Healy was an Irishman, a lawyer of prominence, whose hobby was wine. It may be necessary to explain to some readers that this means that he was a connoiseur, not a drunkard. This edition of his book contains annotations by Ian Maxwell Campbell, another connoisseur.

Healy considers the best-known wines at some length, describing their characters, and nature. He has many amusing stories to tell and a good many witty comments to make on matters unconnected with wine. Very few of the wines he writes about are easily obtainable in Canada, which is still a hard-liquor country, but his descriptions are an admirable argument for increased and varied importation of wine to this country, and for improvement of our native wines. DOUBLE TROUBLE

The Pigs And The Moths

By NORA BELOFF

THE pigs are waiting for the moths. That is not something out of an Aesop Fable, but a hard fact, vouched for by a high official of the Irish Embassy in Washington, whose task it is to know all about Irish economy—and therefore about pigs. It illustrates, as well as anything, the strange confusion into which man-made muddles have reduced the animal world.

Experts of 48 nations are this week on the way back to their respective homes following the annual conference of the Food and Agricultural Organization but they have left the pig predicament along with the great mass of their other problems still unsolved.

Here is how Irish pigs happened to become dependent on American moths:—

Irish prosperity depends upon importing corn, feeding it to pigs, and reselling the finished product—in the form of ham, bacon, pork or lard—to Britain. Obviously this can be done only if the difference between the price of pig feed and the price of pig covers the costs and leaves a little over to justify the effort.

The trouble began because at the present time the United States is almost the only supplier of corn. At any price that creates currency problems. In the words of a Danish food expert in a similar difficulty: "Pigs eat hard currency and produce soft currency"—i.e. they are fed from the dollar area and sold to the soft currency countries.

But the problem becomes quite insoluble when the price of American corn rises so high that, even if dollars are available, there is no profit in feeding it to the pigs. In America the meat price has been allowed to rise, whereas in Britain it is rigidly controlled: so that high priced corn leaves a tidy profit for American pig-producers, but a net loss for the Irish producers depending upon British sales.

During the war, when feed was scarce all over the world American prices soared, but it was confidently expected they would return to normal when the emergency ended. In fact, they stayed just where they were: the powerful "farm bloc" in Congress compelled the Goverment to peg prices, under a system by which the Government stepped in and bought crops if these could not be sold at the artificially high price.

The result was that the Irish who could not pay one dollar twenty cents or more for a single bushel of pig feed, began reducing their herds while the long-suffering British moved one step nearer towards total vegetarianism.

◆ ◆ ◆

A PARTIAL rescue was thereupon effected by the moth, thus breaking for the first time from the traditional flippancy of the butterfly family, which descended upon Government warehouses in Baltimore, where stocks of corn unmarketbale at one dollar eighty a bushel were accumulating. Before anything could be done, the moths satiated their not inconsiderable appetites and found comfortable and warm homes and nurseries. The Americans thereupon condemned the corn: which meant that the controlled prices no longer applied and it could be disposed of for what it would fetch.

The Irish promptly consulted their experts and were informed that Irish pigs have no objection to moths in their corn: it was, on the contrary, quite likely that the corn would consequently have a higher protein content. So they agreed to buy the lot at 80 cents a bushel and the corn was shipped at top speed before busybody Congressmen or price-conscious farmers began asking awkward questions.

It is reported that Mr. Dillon, the Irish Minister of Agriculture, who has been here for the F.A.O. conference is now looking into another line of dollar-earning Irish exports: moths for Baltimore.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I saw in the night visions, and, behold, one like the Son of man came with the clouds of heaven, and came to the Ancient of days, and they brought him near before him. And there was given him dominion, nations, and languages, should serve him: his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed. (Dan. 7: 13, 14.)

And the seventh angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever. (Rev. 11: 15.)

And there appeared a great wonder in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve stars: and she being with child cried, travailing in birth, and pained to be delivered.

And there appeared another wonder in heaven; and behold a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and seven crowns upon his heads. And his tail drew the third part of the stars of heaven, and did cast them to the earth: and the dragon stood before the woman which was ready to be delivered, for to devour her child as soon as it was born. And she brought forth a man child, who was to rule all nations with a rod of iron: and her child was caught up unto God, and to his throne. (Rev. 12: 1-5.)

World's Great Attend Special Service

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 21 — (Reuters). — A queen, 20 cardinals and at least 12 foreign cabinet ministers will see Pope Pius open the holy door of Saint Peter's on Christmas Eve to inaugurate the 25th holy year of the Roman Catholic church.

On Friday, eve of the holy year ceremony, the Pope will broadcast a Christmas message to the world, urging mankind to strive for a new peace and understanding between nations. Before the broadcast, which will be released in 22 languages, the entire College of Cardinals will pay Christmas homage to Pope Pius.

Queen Mother Elizabeth of Belgium will travel from Brussels to see the opening of the holy door. Dr. Franz Erhard, minister-president of Bavaria, is to attend with three of his cabinet ministers.

Foreign Minister Sean McBride of the Republic of Ireland, Foreign Minister Martin Artajo of Spain, two representatives of the Quebec Provincial Government, Labor Minister Antonio Barrette and Health Minister J. H. A. Paquette, and several Italian cabinet ministers will be present.

2,000 See Cermony

Two thousand people will see the opening ceremony, but 50,000 others will have tickets allowing them inside the church. Vatican authorities reported today that more than 500,000 requests had been made for places inside the church.

On Thursday the Pope will receive the silver hammer and trowel coated with gold, presented by the Catholic workers of Italy, for the opening and closing of the holy door.

Immediately after the ceremony is over, pilgrims will start filing into the church through the holy door to gain special holy year indulgences.

Because of a cold spell in Rome plans for the Pope to be carried on his throne among the crowds in Saint Peter's Square before the ceremony have been cancelled.

Instead, he will use the traditional royal staircase from the Sistine Chapel to the threshold of Saint Peter's

Christmas Lasts The Year Round

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 — (CP). — Proof exists that Christmas lasts the year round in Canada. It lies in the hundreds of letters which have been pouring into the Canadian Welfare Council Headquarters during last few weeks. From as far away as Whitemud Creek in the Peace River district, to Owlseye Lake, Alta., and Mountain Station, Ont., the letters have gone, all from persons who want to be foster parents.

The rush of mail followed the council's announcement two months ago that foster homes — temporary shelters for children who are not adoptable — were needed immediately for 1,000 Canadian youngsters.

"People have written from places I have never heard of," Phillis Burns, secretary of the Council's Child Welfare Division, said in an interview Tuesday. "Some wrote saying they had no idea there were so many children in need of homes; others said they did not know it was possible to board children in this manner — they had thought it meant giving free care."

Ex-Mayor Dies

OTTAWA, Dec. 21—(CP)—A special Christmas message from Air Marshal W. A. The message, sent at 7 p.m. EST, will be picked up by Bert Knowles of amateur radio station VE3QB at Lanark, Ont., who will relay it over AFARS networks from coast to coast.

London's Wyndham Theatre Celebrates 50th Birthday

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Dec. 21 (CP)—Practically every great actor and actress of the 20th Century has played at Wyndham's Theatre in Charing Cross Road. London's oldest theatrical business, the theatre has just celebrated its 50th anniversary.

Founded and built by actor-manager Sir Charles Wyndham and his actress wife, Mary Moore (Lady Wyndham), the theatre has been controlled by the same family throughout its existence.

Since the death of Howard Wyndham, Sir Charles' son, it has been managed by Sir Charles' step-sons — Sir Bronson Albrey and Sir Irving Albrey — assisted by younger members of the family.

Designed in the Victorian style, with lots of gilt and plush, Wyndham's opened Nov. 16, 1899, with a revival of one of Sir Charles' hits—the mid-Victorian comedy—"David Garrick" — in which he played the name part.

Since then its choice of plays has ranged far and wide. For years it was the chosen ground for Edgar Wallace thrillers and Wallace himself was theatre manager for a period, staging his own plays. The last of them, "The Green Pack," was still being played when he died in the United States in 1932.

Few Musicals

During its whole life Wyndham's has presented only three musical shows, the last being "His Little Widows" in 1919. Of late the theatre has gone in for more "highbrow" plays such as James Bridie's "Daphne Laureola," still running.

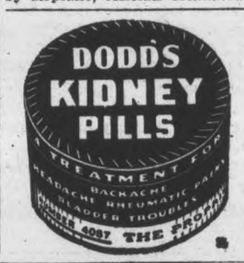
The theatre's 50th birthday was marked only by a backstage party after the show for members of the cast and the maintenance staff. Felix Aylmer, starred in "Daphne Laureola," proposed a toast to Wyndham's to which Sir Bronson Albrey responded.

Though Wyndham's is by no means the oldest London playhouse, it is regarded as the survivor, little altered and undamaged by two World Wars, of a vanished opulent age. Behind an imposing facade it seats only 730 persons—a small capacity even by London's modest standards.

Always Lucky

"We have always been fortunate in our choice of players" Sir Bronson Albrey recalled. "Many great actors and actresses have made their name on this stage. Sir Gerald du Maurier was a notable example."

Howard Wyndham, son of the founder, who died at 80 in 1947, often talked of his adventures as a cowboy in western Canada and the United States. They were described as "lurid but authentic."



"But his father tried to make him an actor," Sir Bronson said "but he was a madcap who would not settle down. He went out west and stayed there a number of years. But after his father's death in 1919, he returned to London to look after the Criterion and new theatres as well as Wyndham's.'

More Diplomacy, Fewer Dollars Wanted In Fight Against Reds

By DON WHITEHEAD.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—A strong move is developing among United States lawmakers for more diplomacy and fewer dollars in the fight against Communism.

This looks like the big issue in the international field when Congress meets again Jan. 3.

Right now the signs point to ess spending in the cold war with Russia and greater effort to draw non-Communist countries into closer political alliance.

The new year in Congress is expected to bring:

1. A move to get Atlantic Pact members into a conference as the first step to forming a political union.

2. New demands for full diplomatic recognition for Franco Spain to draw Spain into the anti-Communist front of western Europe.

3. An effort to make a drastic cut-back in European-recovery spending.

4. A struggle to reduce military spending at home and abroad

5. An administration call for a three-year extension of the peace time military draft.

6. Demands for a firm government policy to block Communism in Asia.

7. Opposition to any US recognition of a Red regime in China—even though Britain may grant recognition.

On the money side, it appears Europe will have to get along next year on less help from America Many Congressional leaders have made it clear they favor a sizeable cut in the economic co-operation administration funds.

ECA got $5,055,000,000 in the first year of the Marshall Plan. This year the total was cut to $3,778,000,000.

Chairman Connally (Dem. Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has estimated Congress will trim another $1000,000,000 from next year's funds.

Cardy Horses Going Strong Hobby Pays Off

By JOHN D. HAMILTON

MONTREAL, Dec. 21 (CP)—Burly, Vernon G. Cardy at 56 is literally riding on top of the world.

At an age when most business executives are contented with golf as exercise, the Montreal hotel owner is riding and training some of the best show horses in North America.

Competing against much more expensive stables and often, personally, against much younger men, Cardy in 1949 sent his flashy hunters and jumpers out to roll up one of the most enviable records compiled at the major horse shows in the United States and Canada. It was Cardy's biggest season in almost a life-time as a horse-fancier.

From his 2,500-acre Mount Vernon farm in the Laurentian resort district 61 miles north of Montreal, Cardy horses went out to score victories in Maryland, Virginia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, New York, Ontario and Quebec.

Even more astonishing was Cardy's personal horsemanship. A hotel chain owner in business life, Cardy has ridden for fun ever since he was a boy in his native Galt, Ont. This year, despite his age, he competed with the best civilian riders North America has to offer. At the famed Royal Winter Fair, the five-foot-nine, 196-pounder rode his Times Square to several personal victories.

Other Wins

At the same show, his Jervis Bay won the coveted International Challenge Cup for the second time while Gold Lode was taking the Amelius Jervis challenge trophy.

Cardy horses won top success at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show in Harrisburg and the classic National Show in New York. Gold Lode, a brown gelding, captured the Hunter's Championship at both events while Atomis lost out in a jump-of in another top event to a American horse.

Cardy concentrates on a small group of well-trained horses — he only has 16 show animals in competition at present. Two of his 1949 winners were bred at Mount Vernon while others were purchased in shrewd horse deals.

His best personal mount, Times Square, cost him only $1,-800. Cardy tells how he was driving past a farm in Virgina when he spotted a shaggy, ungroomed hunter. He promptly took a trail ride and purchased the horse from his farm-owner.

Sells Nine Players

Owner Eddie Shore of the disbanded Oakland Oaks hockey team has sold nine of his 15 players to other teams in the Pacific Coast League and one to Louisville Blades of the USHL. Terms of the sales were not disclosed in the announcement at Seattle.

Shore will strengthen his American League team, Springfield Indians, by transferring all or some of the remainder to the eastern club.

The Oaks were disbanded Monday after Shore notified league president Al Leader he could no longer operate the club under present conditions. They had been playing home games before only a handful of fans.

Sevenaires blanked Dickson's, while 2-1 wins were hung up by the Togs over Curtin's, Marines over Collis, Arcos against Aces and Brintons over Cardinals. Results:

Hint New York Yankees Angling To Get Philadelphia's Marchildon

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21 (AP)—New York Yankees who apparently feel their livery is a cure-all for ailing and disappointing ball players are believed interested in the "strange case of pitcher Phil Marchildon."

During the recent major league meeting manager Casey Stengel of the Yanks indicated interest in the smallish pitcher from Penetanguishene, Ont. Stengel is reported to have offered outfielder Johnny Lindell for the A's right-hander provided doctors reported his arm is in good shape.

Connie Mack always has openly coveted Lindell but he steadfastly refused to part with the likes of pitcher Joe Coleman to get the big outfielder. He might be willing to make a deal with Marchildon as bait.

The Marchildon-Lindell deal cropped up today with the news that the pitcher was in Philadelphia preparatory to going to Baltimore for an examination by Dr George E. Bennett, surgeon who removed the bone spur from Joe DiMaggio's heel last spring.

Philadelphia officials say they are bearing the expense of bringing Marchildon on from Canada for the examination but the popular belief is that the Yankees are footing the bill to find out if the hurler is fit.

That Old Magic

Apparently Stengel feels the old Yankee magic will work with Marchildon—put on a New York Yankee uniform and somehow you are a new man and a better ball player.

Nobody realizes that more than Connie Mack. He remembers George McQuinn, first baseman who hit .200 for him one year, went to New York supposedly a "washed up veteran" and hit over .300 to spark the Yankees to a pennant and world championship

Only the other day the Yankees obtained Dick Wakefield from Detroit and apparently are going to try a reconstruction job on the fabulous bonus rookie who never quite lived up to expectations.

The 34-year-old Marchildon won 19 games for the A's in 1947 and nine in 1948. Last season he appeared in seven games, completed none, pitched a total of 16 innings and lost all three decisions in which he figured.

Marchildon yielded 24 hits, 19 bases on balls, two wild pitches and a total of 23 runs. He fanned two but hit another batsman.

Burstus complicated by a delayed nerve reaction from his harrowing war experiences with the RCAF was ascribed as the root of his troubles, though by the end of the season his arm appeared as strong as ever. Marchildon was a prisoner of the Germans for more than two years after parachuting from a stricken plane during the war.

The Macks indicated that Stengel and New York definitely were not interested unless Dr. Bennett issues a favorable report.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

After a tie in Lindsay and successive victories over Lindsay here and Belleville on Quinte ice, the local Oddfellows are all set for the Oshawa invasion here tonight at 8.30 in Civic Arena. If they can get by the Motor City threat, the IOOF-ers will feel pretty confident in this season's OHA junior "B" group race. But Oshawa may well upset the apple-cart in this fixture, as they always come up with a potent pack of scrappy young puckists. The Triple Links are shaping up nicely now, with plenty of hustle and good passing. It promises to be a swell struggle this evening—last OHA game here this week—and rates a big crowd.

* * * * * *

Trent Valley Hockey League schedule is in tonight, the five-club loop starting play on two fronts Jan. 4, two weeks from this eve. Marmora, Norwood, Hastings, Campbellford and Frankford make up the 1950 circuit and once again there'll be lively nights about the district as the old TVL swings into action. Not so many clubs in this year, and officials feel this will be better all-around, making for fast hockey and less expensive trips, as well as less committee room wrangling. We expect the winning squad will go into OHA intermediate playdowns as in recent years. Interested district fans might clip out the Trent Valley League schedule.

Suing For Non-Support

As a follow-up to the senior "B" joust here two nights ago, we might point out that Goalie Ray Harding of the Petes is allergic to Legion puckists. And, hence, he was heartily sick of looking up frequently to find several of them on his doorstep. Roaming in there almost at will and unmolested to slap in passouts in their 8-3 win. Ray should sue his teammates for non-support in this tussle. Some of the Petes weren't hustling at top speed all the way, and we mean forwards coming back. You can't loiter around when Legionnaires start boring in. However, Coach Eddie Foley will tell his charges all about it, and next clash might be a much tighter fit all around.

* * * * * *

The same Ray Harding and also Honey Tompkins are two of the Petes' veterans who definitely do not like Legion players. Just on general principles. Some of the rival players on each squad have been swapped and they do everything possible to show up their former teammates, but Ray and Honey have always been with the Petes and would hang up their gear before transferring to Legion. Some of the latter club, too, can't seem to work up any admiration for any of the Petes—and the old feudin' goes on. We noted where Bill Crowley and Harding weren't passing out any good-will-toward-man stuff in this game. Tch, tch, boys, and at this time of the year!

Sailors Want To Travel

An item in the morning gazette says that Sarnia Sailors' senior "B" squad is asking for consideration as the team to represent Canada in the international puck playoffs in Europe for 1950-51. An Edmonton intermediate "A" team is this country's representative this winter. Sarnia officials claim they can ice a stronger squad than any intermediate team in the country, and we don't doubt it. That's where the CAHA slips badly — having Canada represented abroad in hockey by more or less second-rate teams. As a matter of fact, the local Legionnaires beat Sarnia last spring for the OHA senior "B" title and therefore should have more right to the European jaunt, though of course the top senior "A" club is the logical choice.

A copy to hand of Ski Magazine, an official publication of the National Ski Association of America — published in Hanover, N.H. It comes out twice monthly November through March. We noted an article entitled: "How Paul Bunyan Invented Skiing", an amusing tall tale of that fabulous lumberjack character of the western States, the piece being written by W. A. Breyfogle. Yes, the same Bill Breyfogle of Peterborough, who has had considerable success in the fiction field. Speaking of skiing, local enthusiasts have been taking quite a beating on the weather again lately. Too bad they can't invent artificial snow in large quantities on certain hill-sides, like artificial ice is installed in rinks for the hockeyists.

There will be nothing doing at the rink this coming Saturday evening, but in the afternoon there will be the regular men's bonspiel, draw from the board at 2 p.m.

The repainting of the rings by B. Ashmore and his committee has greatly improved the whole appearance of the rink.

It is rather unfortunate that the spare ice on Tuesday night has been idle. It could have been used to advantage in the Neill Trophy play.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Bruce Woodcock offered £100 ($310) Tuesday at London to any sparring partner who can knock him down, and the line started forming on the right.

His offer apparently was another move to convince the British public that he is serious about his oft-postponed fight with Lee Savold of Paterson, N. J. for the British version of the world heavyweight title. The bout now is tentatively set for late May at London.

Despite his denials, rumors persist that Woodcock, rather than fight again, will go through with his previously-announced intention to retire. Once before he retired and then "unretired."

Johnny Williams, a young English heavyweight, was the first to sign up for a chance at £100. There were indications that Woodcock would not lack for other takers.

As a consolation prize Woodcock's manager, Tom Hurst, offered £5 to anyone who stays on his feet for one round against the British champ.

Eleanor McKenzie, 17-year-old track and field star from Vancouver, has been named Canada's outstanding woman athlete of the year by the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada. Announcement was made at Hamilton on Tuesday night by Margaret Lord, Federation secretary.

Only two athletes were nominated by WAAF officers — the speedy Miss McKenzie and Irene Strong, 20-year-old Vancouver swim star. The voting was tied and Irene Wall of Montreal, Federation president, cast the deciding ballot in favor of the sprinter.

The two will compete in the Feb. 4-11 British Empire games at Auckland, N. Z. They will leave Vancouver by ship Dec. 22 with the first group of games athletes and officials.

Fullback Ralph Ruthstrom not only lost his suit against Washington Redskins Tuesday but was ordered to pay the club $241.80.

Federal Judge David A. Pine handed down a directed verdict to end the two-day trial in the Redskins' favor. They had filed a counter suit for $241.80, claiming that Ruthstrom still owed them that much on a loan they had made him.

Ruthstrom, former Southern Methodist and Redskin player was seeking $4,100 which he claimed was owed him by the National Pro Football League club. He said the club prevented him from playing football in the latter part of 1947 after he was suspended by the Redskins.

Ruthstrom said the so-called reserve clause—which binds a player to a club until given a written release—kept him out of work because the 'Skins did not issue him a release until 1948.

At Toronto, members of the Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association Tuesday threatened to stop racing on Ontario race tracks next year unless they reach a settlement with the track owners before the 1950 season opens.

At a meeting between the two parties Tuesday, track owners refused to accept the HBPA's resolution calling for appointment of a new chairman of the Incorporated Canadian Racing Associations. They asked for a person to be named by the majority of the ICRA and the HBPA.

Horsemen's request for equal representation in the ICRA also was turned down.

Adams Figures Red Wings Tops In League

By JIM BASTABLE,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Manager Jack Adams figures that his Detroit Red Wings are tops in the National Hockey League. There's nothing in the league records to refute him.

The portly Red Wing pilot took time off from his Christmas shopping in Detroit Tuesday to say: "I certainly can't see any better team at the moment than Detroit."

A glance at the scoring figures will verify that. The Red Wings now hold a comfortable eight-point margin atop the league race. And their ace left-winger, Ted Lindsay, is leading the individual point-getters with 15 goals and 18 assists—two points ahead of Doug Bentley of Chicago Black Hawks.

The Red Wings haven't been plagued with the injury bugaboo, either. Their only injured player, rearguard Lee Fogolin, is expected to be in the line-up when the Red Wings take on the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs in Detroit tonight.

In two other games tonight, Montreal Canadiens clash with New York Rangers and Boston Bruins meet Chicago Black Hawks.

Not Worried

Adams didn't appear perturbed about Toronto Maple Leafs this season—the same Leafs that edged Wings out of two Stanley Cup playoffs. He just evaded a question on the Wings' chances of copping the trophy this season.

He wasn't worried about tonight's game, anyway. "We've beaten the Leafs both when they were at full strength and when they've had injuries."

The undermanned Leafs will still be minus their two key centres—Cal Gardner and Ted Kennedy.

Meanwhile, the Canadiens won't have the services of Elmer Lach, who suffered a cut foot last weekend. Lach said yesterday that he hoped to be in the line-up this week-end. Other non-starters tonight will be defenceman Kenny Reardon and Hal Laycoe.

Tigers Tie Marlboros 3-3 As Juniors Blast Hawks

By The Canadian Press.

The addition of Bobby Laurent to the Hamilton Tiger line-up for last night's game with league-leading Toronto Marlboros added some much needed strength behind the Tiger blue line but they still only managed a 3-3 deadlock with the top slot Toronto crew.

In the only other contest last night, Marlboros Junior A edition blasted Galt Black Hawks 7-2 to increase their first place lead to 14 points over St. Catharines Teepees.

At Hamilton, with Laurent tightening the Bengals defence, Tigers held a one goal lead until less than five minutes to go in the game. It was the first game this season for the Tiger veteran, who has been working himself into shape again.

Hugh Bolton gave Marlboros a 1-0 first period lead with the only marker of the opening frame. The homesters clicked for two in the middle session to take the lead. Max Taylor and Eddie Busch were the marksmen. Red Johnson popped in the second Duke counter with less than a minute remaining to deadlock it at 2-2.

Polly Miocinovich rapped in the third Tiger tally early in the final frame and the one-goal lead held up until the 16:32 mark when Toronto's old reliable, Scotty Mair, popped in the tying marker.

Star For Marlies

Jack McKenzie and Danny Lewicki, with two goals each, paced Marlboros to their 7-2 conquest of Galt.

The two clubs split tallies in the opening period, Jack McKenzie sinking his first in the Toronto cause and Pete Conacher clicking for Galt.

Marlboros bulldozed their way to five markers in the middle session, Lewicki counting twice while Lorne Pirie, Red Mitchell and George Armstrong popped in the others.

The teams returned to tight hockey in the finale and only two goals were scored, one by each club. McKenzie notched his second for the league leaders and Ken Ford popped in the final Galt counter.

Twenty-four years ago today, officers of the International Boxing Federation refused to accept the challenge which Erminio Spalla hurled at heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey. The federation decided that Spalla was too inexperienced to fight Dempsey.

Highballs Cut Supply Of Scotch Whiskey

EDINBURGH, Dec. 21. — The world-wide demand for highballs with a Highland flavor has reduced Scotch whisky supplies to the lowest level since the days of prohibition in the United States

But industry leaders say there is no need to fear a drought.

Maintain Supply

The big Scotch whisky combines and private distilleries are confident they will be able to roll out the barrels fast enough to keep up with the international thirst from now on.

Wartime curtailment of whisky production hit the industry hard. Many thousands of gallons of Scotch whisky were lost through enemy action. Reserve supplies were drained.

The picture is improving, however. Last year the industry distilled 25,000,000 gallons. This year it hopes to boost that figure with 13,000,000 gallons earmarked for export

Philip Gee, official spokesman of the Scotch Whisky Association, said he sees "no reason to expect any greater shortage of whisky than at the present time

Sees Improvement

"On the contrary," he added, "there will certainly be an improvement from now onwards."

Gee was commenting on statement made in Montreal recently by Scotch distiller Leycester Anderson, that a world shortage of Scotch can be expected in another year or two.

Gee admitted that stocks of whisky have never been lower over here since the days of prohibition. But, he said, "Men of grit and enterprise in the whisky business are inclined to see a more optimistic sign on the horizon."

The whisky-makers have been trying since the war to make up for three years of lost time. From 1941 to 1944 the British Government ordered the barley normally used in Scotch distilling diverted to the food markets. The industry also was hard hit by the manpower shortage after the barley ban was lifted.

Distillation Records

Only 10,000,000 gallons were distilled between 1940 and 1944. The 1939 figure was 4,783,000 gallons. Production was 10,000,000 gallons in 1945; 13,000,000 in 1946, and 15,000,000 in 1947.

Scotch whisky is kept in bonded warehouses an average of seven years before it can be bottled for consumption either in Britain or overseas.

"Therefore," said Gee, "between the lack of production during the vital war years and the time it takes fresh-distilled whisky to mature, the decline today is explained."

Increased demand is a big problem to be faced by the industry. Gee said the removal of import restrictions by certain Latin-American countries means "we will have to wade deeply into our stockpile."

There were 150,000,000 proof gallons in the stockpile in 1939. By 1945 the reserve supply was down to 84,000,000. Last year it had climbed to 104,000,000.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING—1949 style! This many goes window shopping on Montreal in what he would wear in the heat of summer. All right, it wasn't really that hot, but the weatherman predicted temperatures early this week would be 23 degrees above the normal low.

Moslems Offended

LAHORE, Pakistan, Dec. 21—(Reuters)—The Women's Welfare Society of Lahore Tuesday appealed to Pakistan movie-goers to boycott all Hollywood films. Reason for the appeal was the prospective release in Britain and the United States of the picture "Everybody Does It" starring Linda Darnell. The society said it depicted the life of Harat Fatima, daughter of the prophet Mohammed, in a manner offensive to Moslems.

Strachey Admits He Doesn't Like Snoek

DUNDEE, Scotland, Dec. 21—(CP)—Food Minister Strachey finally admitted it—he doesn't like snoek.

For all that, he told a political meeting, snoek sells well in the shops, and some people like it.

Strachey was defending food ministry purchases of the tinned South African fish, which the government can buy more easily than Canadian salmon.

Replying to suggestion that it takes a lot of fixing to disguise the taste of snoek, Strachey said: "We bought the snoek and sold it all without a loss. Believe it or not, it was eaten.

"I ate it myself. And I must say I thought it was one of the dullest fish I have ever eaten."

Three Assessments Reduced In Manvers

BETHANY, Dec. 21 (ENS) — Three reductions in assessments were ordered by the municipal council of Manvers Township, when it met as a Court of Revision.

There was a reduction of $250 on the building and $350 on land owned by H. A. McMaster; $350 reduction for Clarence Rowan and $400 for N. Rittenberg.

Meeting for the last time this year, the council instructed the clerk to advertise for tenders for snowplowing with a crawler tractor fully equipped with plow and wings.

Children At St. Paul's Have Christmas Party

BETHANY, Dec. 21 (ENS) — The children of St. Paul's Church enjoyed supper and a Christmas tree on Friday, which was sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary. Mrs. H. Rayson and Mrs. Carl Smith supervised.

A number of women gathered the night before to dress the Christmas tree and the tables in Christmas colours with silver candelabra, a miniature Santa Claus and his reindeer.

The Ladies' Guild joined the Women's Association in providing treats and gifts which Santa Claus appeared in time to present After the supper hour games were played, and the Rev. T. S. Gault was thanked for his interest in the work of the Sunday School.

Meter Post Bent When Brakes Fail

Brakes that failed was the reason Ambrose L. Bowers, 254 Euclid Ave., gave for hitting a parking meter post on Charlotte St. Tuesday.

Bowers told investigating constable Donald Mackay that he put his brakes on to stop behind two other cars halted at a red light at Aylmer St.

He said his brakes failed and swung to the right thinking the curb would stop the car. But the front right wheel jumped the curb and the car struck a meter post bending it and loosening it in the cement.

The front bumper of the car was bent and the grill dented. The reason for the brakes failing was believed to be a lack of fluid in the hydraulic tank.

Second Death Sentence

ANTWERP, Dec. 21 (Reuters) Joseph Bachot, 29-year-old Belgian who served in the German SS during the war, has been condemned to death for the second time by a military court here. Bachot was originally sentenced to death in January, 1948, after being found guilty of killing six Belgian patriots during the German occupation. He appealed. His second death sentence followed his trial on a charge of shooting another man.

Glamor For Dogs

LAS VEGAS, Dec. 21 (AP) —Next year's dog tags in Las Vegas will be in the shape of fire hydrants, for males, and hearts, for females. Dogcatcher Bill Burke says he hopes, by "glamorizing" the licences, to triple this year's sale of 1,300 tags.

Gets Six Months For Trying Fraud

Pleading guilty to trying to defraud by attempting to cash a forged $50 cheque Monday Claire Cavanaugh, 604 Stewart Street, was sentenced to six months' definite and one month indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in Police Court Tuesday.

Constabel Harold Mesley testified he and Constable Gordon Trennum had been called to the Royal Bank on Lansdowne Street Monday afternoon. He said Cavanaugh was in the bank with the manager. He told the court Cavanaugh at first said his name was Earl E. Johnston, the name to which the cheque was made out

Question Signature

Constable Mesley said the cheque was signed with the name Harold Maloney, but the signature was not at all similar to that on another cheque which the bank manager showed him.

He said Cavanaugh then told him he had tried earlier to cash the cheque at the Grey and Bruce Savings Company, but they had refused it. He then took it to Herb's Men's Wear across George Street. The store prorietor drove him to the Royal Bank to have the cheque cashed.

Constable Mesley said Cavanaugh showed signs of having been drinking fairly heavily.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw told the court Cavanaugh had been found guilty on a similar offence in August and placed on suspended sentence.

Careless Driving Charge Dismissed

A charge of careless driving against Reginald Hopkins, Lakefield, was dismissed by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K. C., in police court Tuesday.

The charge was laid as a result of an accident on the Lakefield highway south of Nassau early in the morning of Dec. 3. Provincial Constable Norman De Bow said he found the car the accused had been driving upside down on a wire fence on the east side of the road. It had also broken off a hydro pole.

The constable said marks on the shoulder of the road indicated the car had gone 262 feet in a straight line before hitting the pole. He said there were no skid marks. About $500 damage was done to the car.

Hopkins said he was on his way home and a car had approached him on the east side of the highway and he had slowed his car from 50 to 40 miles an hour and went onto the shoulder thinking the approaching car would turn back on its own side. However the car stayed on the wrong side and Hopkins' car clipped the pole and then hit a stump which turned it over.

Letter Of 1870 Sheds Light On B.C. Dispute

VICTORIA, B.C., Dec. 21 (CP) —British Columbia people were not fit for responsible government back in 1870, in the opinion of the Colonial Secretary of those times.

Hon. Philip J. Hankin, Colonial Secretary in Victoria, made his outspoken observations in a letter to his friend the Duke of Buckingham in England, and that letter has just been purchased by the provincial archives.

The letter was written during the heat of a famous debate which began in March, 1870, in the BC Legislative Council on the subject of confederation with Canada. Union was achieved in July, 1871.

Archivist Willam Ireland, who released the letter for publication, said it was "a forthright, frank statement of the personal opinions of the senior member of the Colonial Civil Service."

Hankin's appointment as Colonial Secretary was not popular.

Extracts of his letter to the Duke read:

"Never Satisfied"

"The people here love change; they are never satisfied, and they may find it easier to serve downing Street than Ottawa.

"What they all try to hold out for here is responsible government; and that they are certainly not fit for. Some of them hope by that means to get into office

"We have a certain gentleman here who has a seat in the Legislative Council by name "Amor de Cosmos' (his real name is Smith). He is a thorough democratic ruffian, and has already given out that he will be lieutenont-governor." (Amor de Cosmos was the Premier of BC from 1872 to 1874.)

"He is a great nuisance in the House, and abuses the officials and the government generally. He stood up a few days ago and made a long speech about the general extravagant manner in which the government here was conducted, and then said, 'I now wish to ask the Colonial Secretary what those new grand stables are being built for at Government House?'

"I replied (in the most natural manner possible, 'stables! Why to keep horses of course.'

"He sat down at once, but looking at me as if he were thinking (as Mr. Squeers would say) where to have me next!"

673,104 In Toronto

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP)—City assessment commissioner A. B. K. Gray announced today that Toronto's population is 673,104 compared with 695,302 in 1948. With no appreciable decrease in civic crowding it was presumed the numbers dropped from last year had moved to suburban municipalities.

McKenney Answers Your

Canastra Questions

The three play an important part in Canasta and today I want to clear up in question and answer from some points concerning these important cards.

Question: I have one or more red treys in my hand. I put them on the table and I draw a card from the stock pile to replace them but I forget to draw a card for myself. After I discard can I still draw from the stock pile?

Answer: No you can't However, if before the next player plays, he noticed that you did not draw he can force you to take the top card of the sock pile, but you can't change any of your melds or discards. The rules state the act of discarding ends a player's turn even though he should have failed to draw a card.

Question: If I put a red trey down and then meld three tens would that meet the requirements of a minimum meld?

Answer: No, it would not. The 100 points for a red trey is a bonus you receive provided you make a legal minimum meld. Therefore, if you put down three tens, (while it is true you have melded 30 and the red trey will now score and additional 100 points for you), you have not met the requirements of a minimum meld.

Question: If I pick up a red trey in the discard pile and meld it immediately do I get to draw another card from the stock pile?

Answer: No, you do not. However, you place it on the table and it counts just the same as if you had drawn it from the stock pile Of course, the only way you can get a red trey is the discard pile is when the dealer turns it up originally, and you later pick up the pack.

Question: Can I use a red trey to freeze the pack, if I prefer to do so, rather than meld it on the table?

Answer: No, you cannot. They must be put on the table immediately. If you forget to put them down and are caught with them when the other side goes out, they will cost you a penalty of 500 points each.

Question: If I am caught with a black trey in my hand does it count against me?

Answer: Yes, it counts five points against you. In other words you treat it the same as any other "nickel" card.

Question: If there is only one card in the discard pile, and it is a black trey, and I have two black treys in my hand, can I pick this black trey up if it will put me out?

Answer: No, you cannot. You cannever pick up a black trey deuce or joker in the discard pile even though you have matching cards in your hand. As a matter of fact you must automatically draw from the stock pile.

Question: Can I at any time meld the black treys?

Answer: Yes, you can meld three or four black treys, if they will put you out. You can meld two or three or more black treys with a wild card, as long as you go out.

Question: If I go out with a concealed hand can I use the black treys not only to go out with, but also to help me make my minimum meld requirement?

Answer: In order to go out with a concealed hand you need a Canasta. If you have a Canasta in your hand you can meld your black treys. However, you can never have a Canasta of black treys. In other words, you could not put down four black treys and three wild cards and call it a Canasta. One other point to remember is when you go down concealed, you must have a Canasta but you do not have to meet the requirements of an initial meld.

Mr. McKenney is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Britain Plans New 1950 Production Drive

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Dec. 21 — (CP) — British industry and organized labor linked arms today in plans for a new production drive in 1950.

Intent on starting the New Year right, representatives of employers and trade unions opened a series of meetings with Labor Minister George Isaacs and Foreign Secretary Bevin.

The Foreign Secretary's presence was not unusual. He has taken a keen interest in talks on increasing output and has the confidence of trade unions.

Among the topics slated for discussion today were priorities for dollar-earnng industries and the general question of incentives, a topic on which the Labor government seems to have varying viewpoints.

During the weekend, Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross came out publicly in favor of relating reward to output. Another straw in the wind is that the Labor Ministry is preparing a supplement on incentive schemes for its industrial handbook.

Stubborn Opponent

But Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, remains a stubborn opponent of those who preach more pay for harder work. "All this talk about incentives," the Chancellor said recently, "assumes that people will not do things which they know are good for Britain unless somebody pays them extra."

Today was a busy day all round for organized labor. Apart from the production meetings, Britain's trade union leadership received a report from a special committee on what individual trade unions think about proposals for continued wage restraint.

At stake is a vital issue which could make or break the government's hopes for intensified production.

Try To Curb Increases

The situation briefly is that last month the Trades Union Congress asked its 187 affiliated unions to suspend new wage claims unless the cost of living rises from its present level of 112 points to more than 118—about five per cent.

This policy bears particularly upon the 2,000,000 workers whose unions hold sliding-scale agreements which tie wages to the cost of living. Normally, workers with such agreements would be entitled to more money for each increase in living costs.

The TUC, convinced of the gravity of the economic situation, wants these workers to "hold the line" unless the rise in living costs exceeds five per cent.

VICTOR AND VANQUISHED—Robert G. Menzies, left, new prime minister of Australia, chats with J. B. Chifley, the man he defeated in the recent general election. Mr. Menzies is leader of the Liberal party, which joined forces with the Country party to oust Mr. Chifley's Labor government. Mr. Chifley remains leader of the Labor party.

Third Offender Given Three Months

Admitting he was drunk Nov. 12 and that he had been convicted of the same offence twice before within a year, Michael Twomey, Smith township, was sentenced to three months in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in police court Tuesday.

Twomey had been given several adjournments on the charge but is was proceeded with when he was charged with another drunk offence. No evidence was offered in the last charge and it was dismissed.

Boost Steel Price

NEW YORK, Dec. 20—(AP)—Bethlehem Steel Tuesday night announced an increase of from two to six per cent in the price of its steel products. "The price changes are about the same as those already announced by other steel companies," said Bethlehem. United States Steel last Friday boosted its steel prices by about $4 a ton, blaming higher operating costs.

Crop Estimate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—The United States Agriculture Department predicted Tuesday a 1950 winter wheat crop of 884,638,000 bushels. This is 17,010,000 bushels less than this year's winter wheat crop of 901,668,000 bushels. The estimate compares also with the 1948 winter wheat crop of 1,007,863,000 bushels and a 10-year (1938-47) average of 726,553,000.

Plan Appeal To Duplessis

MONTREAL, Dec. 21 (CP) — Glen How, counsel for the Witnesses of Jehovah sect in Canada, said here Tuesday night that Premier Duplessis of Quebec will be asked "within a few days" to interfere in the current battle between citizens of Joliette, Que., and two women Witnesses.

The Toronto lawyer has been in Montreal since Winifred Parsons, 26, of Sarnia, and Olive Lundell, 31, of Maidstone, Sask., last week told police they were taken forcibly from Joliette to Montreal by a group of men who warned them not to return to the Laurentian town.

"Legal action should have been taken long against the men who kidnapped the girls," Mr. How said. He added that he would get in touch with Mr. Duplessis in the premier's capacity as provincial attorney-general "to ensure that proper action is taken."

Swedish King Ill

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 21 (AP)—Ninety-one-year-old King Gustav of Sweden has had another attack of bronchial catarrh and is being treated by the court physician, Dr. Hjalmar Casserman. The ailing King, who has turned over most of his official duties to his son, Crown Prince Guestav Adolf, is not confined to his bed, but his activities have been restricted.

Punish Entire Class

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 21 (CP)—An entire class of student pilots at Centralia RCAF station is confined to barracks as a disciplinary action following a display of low flying over this district a week ago Tuesday night, it was reported Tuesday. The pilot has not admitted his action and his identity is uncertain, it was said. The entire class is being kept on the station until the matter is settled.

Judge Opens Hearings 50 Briefs Presented

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP)—Mr Justice W. D. Roach Tuesday opened hearing on the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Act, and was confronted with 50 briefs urging various changes—some of them saying the rate of compensation should be higher, some lower.

The Canadian Manufacturers Association said that the new rate of compensation, 75 per cent of wages, was unjustifiable.

But the Ontario Provincial Federation of the Trades and Labor Congress said there should be a further increase to 100 per cent of wages.

The Ontario TLC brief said that "it is only too true that most workmen have a great deal of difficulty in paying for the cost of maintaining their homes and families without going into debt . . . and it is imperative that his income be continued at the full level when compensation payments begin."

Israeli Government Plans Change To Jerusalem Slowly

(Special to the Examiner from London Observer)

TEL AVIV, Dec. 21. — Two questions were asked by officials here after the decision to transfer Israel's capital from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem:

First, will diplomats accredited to Israel also move to the Holy City and thus give de facto recognition to Israel's latest move?

Second, will King Abdullah of Jordan who has also hitherto opposed the internationalization of Jerusalem consider the transfer of Israel's capital as a threat to his rule of the Jerusalem Old City and consequently end the joint Israeli-Jordanian opposition to the United Nations scheme?

In order to avoid unnecessary arguments with the eight foreign ambassadors and ministers now residing in Tel Aviv(the Israeli Government decided that the office of the Israeli President, to whom foreign envoys are accredited and Ministry of Foreign Affairs, which is in day-to-day contact with the envoys, will be transferred last in the series of movements which, due to the housing shortage in Jerusalem, may take a year or two to complete.

Former Boycott

The Israelis still vividly remember that Jerusalem was the cause of a boycott by diplomatic envoys ten months ago. When last February Israel's Constituent Assembly was opened in Jerusalem instead of in Tel Aviv, the envoys of the United States, France and the other Western powers did not attend the ceremony. They did not want their presence to be misinterpreted as implying recognition of Israel's sovereignty over Jerusalem.

Today with the Eastern bloc supporting the internationalization of Jerusalem, even the Eastern bloc envoys, who last February attended the Assembly's opening in Jerusalem may this time also decline to move with the Israeli Government and Parliament.

Will Remain Out

Other Government departments which in reality will remain outside Jerusalem are the Defence Ministry as well as General Staff headquarters. This, however, is not for political reasons, but because it would be militarily unwise to have these departments a few hundred yards from the present boundary with Jordan.

The Israelis anticipate a considerable echo in the Arab States to their decision to move their capital to Jerusalem.

The question is asked here whether King Abdullah will reply by proclaiming the eJrusalem Old City as his capital, too, or by formally anexing the Arab part of Palestine to Jordan.

Whatever the King's decision, the Israelis do not believe that Abdullah's displeasure with Isreal's latest move is strong enough to induce him to give up his opposition to the internationalization plan and bring him closer to the rest of the Arab States.

Scrooge Transformed Into Good Rotarian

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 21 — (ENS)—A Christmas message was delivered to the Rotary Club on Monday by the Rev. John McKibbin, of Christ Church. His address centred around Scrooge, the covetous old character in Dickens' "Christmas Carol."

He pointed out that happiness was brought about through charity. Old Scrooge, he stated, had never found the art of living until he had been invited by the three ghosts of Christmas.

Mr. McKibbin said that Scrooge had been transformed into a good Rotarian. When he bought his clerk a turkey, he was making service his business.

He stated that man should seek enjoyment in this world and peace in the next. Scrooge's partner, Marley, who had been selfish in this life, had been condemned to wander back and forth across the face of the earth without finding happiness.

The speaker was introduced by J. P. Archer and the vote of thanks was moved by Dr. O. C. Watson. Francis De Carrol sang, and the Northumberland Music Makers played a selection. President Charles Calver was in the chair.

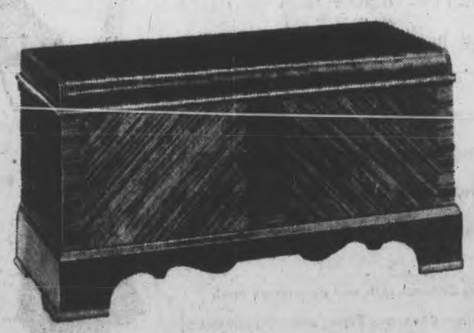
Four whistle blasts sounded from the Greenhill Colliery to let the 1,000 residents of this mountain mining town in south-western Alberta know that their long vigil is at an end.

Napanee Man To Stand Trial For Murder

NAPANEE, Dec. 21 (CP)—James Fosbraey, 28, Tuesday was committed for trial by Magistrate J. P. Carvin on a charge of murder arising from the Nov. 20 fatal stabbing of his wife, June [illegible].

Mrs. Fosbr[illegible] was found on the outskirts of Napanee by neighbors shortly after she left work to go home. She had three knife wounds in the chest and died moments before being discovered.

During the three-hour preliminary hearing, Lieut. Philip Gardiner of the Salvation Army said Mrs. Fosbraey told him earlier that she had kept company with someone else. The couple was separated for several months.



Corp. W. E. Smith, in charge of the Ontario Provincial Police detachment here, said that the dead woman had complained of her husband threatening her.

U.S. Automobile Industry Sells More Cars In '49 Than Any Year

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT, Dec. 21 —(AP)—The automobile industry of the United States built — and sold — more motor vehicles in 1949 than in any previous year. Barring an economic upset it may do nearly as well in 1950.

Final official figures probably will not become available until about mid-January, but they are certain to show 1949 output of more than 6,000,000 cars and trucks. They also should show that, excepting for units in transit from factory to distributor, most of these vehicles were sold.

The industry's previous production record was 5,358,420 vehicles, built in 1929. But that year, unlike 1949, saw the industry carry over more than 1,000,000 unsold vehicles. It was followed, too, by a high total of repossessions.

Whether the steel strike late in the year materially cut down the auto industry's 1949 output is a disputed question in many quarters. Ten-day to two-week shutdowns of considerably more than half the industry's capacity that began Nov. 24, generally were attributed to the shortage of steel.

Averted Layoffs

But there were many among industry chroniclers who asserted that had there been no steel shortage prolonged shutdowns would have been ordered and attributed to new model change-over work.

Aside from record production 1949 brought for most companies the greatest net profits in their history.

Examples were General Motors' $502,414,029 net during the year's first nine months against $327,155,222 in the corresponding period of 1948; Chrysler's net of $97,651,453 against $59,887,601; and that of Studebaker, leader of the independents, $17,242,245 against $13,392,724.

The wholly-owned Ford Company makes no interim earnings reports.

Only two companies—both newcomes—ran substantially against the general trend. Kaiser-Frazer which built 181,317 cars in 1948, turned out fewer than 60,000 in 1949. Crosley, which started with relatively low volume in 1939, got production up to nearly 30,000 units in 1948 and dropped to fewer than 10,000 in 1949.

Few Design Changes

Aside from huge production sales and earnings, 1949 brought more high-compression engines and more automatic transmissions to the car industry. Design changes, however, were relatively few.

Exceptions in the design pattern were Studebaker's 1950 models, brought out late in the summer, and a completely new Buick special model.

Major price cuts did not materialize. Several companies, including Ford and General Motors, made minor reductions during the first half of 1949, but the sharp cuts predicted for July and later did not develop.

The combination of steady demand, increased wage demands and pension programs deferred any major price slashes the industry may have planned. The nearest it came to more price cuts later in the year were $25 to $40 reductions in the cost of automatic transmissions, by General Motors and two companies using its hydro-matic device.

Cost Of Living Up In Most Lands

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP)—Living costs in most countries increased during the first half of 1949, but most advances were confined to five per cent or less.

From January to June, the cost of living in Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom advanced about one per cent. In Australia it rose about five per cent in the same period and in South Africa about three per cent, a Bureau of Statistics report shows.

Consumer prices in France, the Bureau said in its summary, appeared to have passed their peak. After reaching a high point last January, they dropped more than 10 per cent in the following six months.

Of world prices in general, the report said improved supplies of certain commodities permitted a decrease or elimination of subsidies in some countries, with consequent increase in prices.

Chief Appeals To Drivers To Make Christmas Safe

"Spare someone's life for Christmas—should be the top item on every driver's Christmas list," says Peterborough's Chief Constable John Thompson.

"It costs nothing", he points out, "and takes little time and effort. Show Christmas goodwill by allowing others the right of way. Slow down for slippery roads; watch carefully for people and cars that are hard to see, and don't drive after drinking."

Chief Thompson declares "The streets of Peterborough are more hazardous than ever before, with greatly increased traffic. With the bustle and gaiety of Christmas and New Year's, the shopping, the delivering, the parties and the children out playing, more people are exposed to the risk of traffic accidents than at any other time of the year", he emphasizes.

"For a safe Christmas everyone has to become more alert to the special hazards of holiday traffic, and use the extra caution, common sense and courtesy that is needed to overcome them. From Christmas Eve to New Year's Eve is the final week of a whole decade. Its celebrations may bring enough tragedy with them to make the whole year 1949 the blackest traffic accident year on record. Control of traffic accidents depends on every single person who uses the streets—driving or walking."

Ask Israel Change

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Dec. 21 (CP)—The United Nations Trusteeship Council Tuesday night authorized its chairman to request that Israel return her government offices to Tel Aviv. The chairman, Roger Garreau, of France, also was empowered to invite Israel to submit a written explanation of why those offices were moved to Jerusalem in defiance of the General Assembly's decision of Dec. 9 to internationalize the Holy City.

SCARED?—NOT SANTA, In a bosun's chair slung from a long crane, Santa Claus is whisked through the air in pre-Christmas festivities at Vancouver. He soared from a tall building to the site of the old Vancouver Hotel, where hundreds of children grouped around a 110-foot Christmas tree to greet him.

Chart Of Killer's Brain Waves Used As Evidence Doctors Urge

By HAL K. COOPER

LONDON, Dec. 21 —(AP)—A chart of a killer's brain waves will be part of the evidence in every British murder trail if two London doctors have their way.

The doctors claim the shape of these waves differs sharply from norm in the "sudden impulse" killers who slay out of sheer uncontrollable temper. Being irresponsible, they argue, they should not be hanged for their acts.

The researchers are Fred H Taylor, Medical Officer at Brixton Jail, and Dr. David Stafford-Clark, phsychiatrist of Maudsley Hospital.

Together, they have analyzed the brain wave records of 64 murderers. They have advised the British Medical Association of these findings:

More than 70 per cent of the murders who killed without premeditation had abnormally shaped waves.

Nearly all of those who had clear cut motives for killing had normal waves.

Special Waves

The two doctors reported the commonest abnormalty in the brain waves of impiusive slayers is what is known as a "theta" wave.

These are commonly given off by the brains of children up to the age of four when they are annoyed. In normal human beings they gradually vanish as self-control develops.

Adults whose brains give off these waves seem to suffer from an infantile lack of self control and are prone to sudden acts of violence.

The machine picks up the minute electric charges given off by the brain and transcribes them on a tape. The contact is made by pads pressed against the skull.

Among the cases of killers with abnormal waves cited by Taylor and Stafford-Clark were these:

A youth who strangled his sweetheart for no known reason. He confessed the crime, but was unable to explain why he did it.

A lodger who beat his landlay to death because she told him to quit turning his lights off and on.

Peoples; Marshal, Burrell Keating; First Lecturer, Dan Fleming; Second Lecturer, Harry Agnew; Tyler, Henry Ellis; Committeemen, Carman Coon, Robert Anderson, Hilton Youmans, Clarence Hopkins, Glen Varty.

After the meeting the members retired to the banquet hall, where supper was served by the members of the Lady McGill LOBA No. 471. At the head table were R. Sanderson, Deputy Grand Master of Ontario East; E. Fear 75,000 Laid Off In British Shipyards

LONDON, Dec. 21 (AP) — A British union official predicted today United Kingdom shipyards will have to lay off 75,000 workers by 1951.

E. J. Hill, general secretary of the Boilermakers Society, said 15,000 ship repair men already are out of jobs, and advised union members:

"Unless orders come in more quickly, 1951 is going to be a lean year and probably the beginning of a serious shipbuilding slump in this country."

LIVING-COST COMPARISON, Post-war living costs have climbed in both Canada and the United States—but the increases have not been parellel. U. S. costs soared sharply with removal of price controls and during 1949 showed a tendency to fall off. Canadian costs climbed more gradually but retained the upward tendency during most of 1949 This Bureau of Statistics graph shows the trend of Canadian and U. S. living costs since 1940—but it does not compare them. The graph starts from the assumption that living costs in the period 1935 to 1939——and they were different to start with — equal 100. Therefore, this graph shows simply how costs have varied in each country—in terms of each country's base figure.

Outside Solid Support For Local IUE-CIO

Two labor bodies have sent messages of support to the IUE-CIO, currently trying to become the certified bargaining agent at the CGE plant.

A gesture of solidarity comes from the Greater Hamilton Joint Board, Textile Worker's Union of America (CIO-CCL), comprising more than 3,000 members. The letter is signed by Jack Robinson, director of the Joint Board, and it includes the endorsement of nine Hamilton Locals, and others from Acton, Dunnville, Guelph, Galt, Waterford, St. Catherines and Dundas—21 Locals in all.

The Kingston Labor Council, a CCL affiliate, has also pledged support, financial and moral, and wished the new union "every success."

RULER'S TITLE

The words "Czar" and "Kaiser" are both derived from the Latin.

Children Sing In 3 Languages

ROSENEATH, Dec. 21—(ENS) —One of the highlights of the program at Roseneath school Christmas concert was the singing of "Silent Night" in three languages by seven girls. The solo part was sung by Valentyne Wisniehwska, a new Canadian, in her native Polish tongue. Agnes, Mary and Adele Smeenk, also new Canadians, sang in a trio in their native Dutch; Lois Ball, Mary Skuce and Carole McMillan, joined the four in the English version.

The concert was held in the LOL hall and the building was filled to capacity.

The teachers of the school are Misses Helen Hemphill and Helen Arnold. Miss Doreen Nichol was pianist and George Linton, one of the senior pupils, was chairman.

Other numbers on the program were recitations by Sharon Noonan, Teddy Broadworth and Edward Coyle; two choruses by the school; pantomime, "Little Town of Bethlehem" by the girls of the junior room; a chorus by the girls of the senior room singing two part harmony; a chorus by eight boys; carol singing by the audience; three dialogues by the senior room pupils.

The girls of the junior room presented a star drill and the junior boys had a tramp drill in truly vagabond style. Santa Claus distributed gifts.

Quotes Of Year Recalled By Reporter

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 21 (AP)—What are the deathless quotes of the year in Hollywood?

Maybe some of these won't live into the second half-century, but they seemed out of the ordinary to me. Here are some of the bright, pointed or inane sayings that I have collected from the 1949 news:

Robert Mitchum, commenting on his sentence at the County Detention Farm: "It's an experience every taxpayer should go through."

Laurence Olivier, after winning the Academy Awards: "I always did say Shakespeare was a good script writer."

Actor Paul Valentine, divorcing strip teaser Lili St. Cyr: "everybody in the country could see more of her than I did."

Milton Berle, answering an attack on him by Fred Allen: "Allen still has the first penny ever thrown at him."

Frustrated Mason

James Mason: "Hollywood is filled with frustrations, but not uninhabitable."

Claudette Colbert, disapproving French bathing suits: "Of the many features of a women's anatomy, one of the least attractive is the navel."

Mae West: "I'm still looking for the right man. My trouble is I find so many right ones it's hard to decide."

Clifton Webb: "There's no use pretending I'm a modest fellow... Some day I shall write a song called 'I fascinate me.'"

Bette Davis: "Hollywood tries to combine entertainment for both kids and adults in the same picture. The result is a movie which isn't suitable for either."

Shelley Winters, after returning from a blustery location: "I was so cold I almost got married."

The Shimmy

Description of the "shimmy" in Gilda Gray's suit against the picture "Gilda": a rhythmical shivering and shaking of parts of the body, synchronized and performed in a personalized syncopated musical rhythm and accompanied with appropriate songs."

Jimmy Durante, telling about rubbing elbows with socialities at the opera opening: "I had to rub elbows — nobody would shake hands with me."

Bob Thomas, to his readers "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

At Yule Ceremonies

QUEBEC, Dec. 21 — (CP) — Premier Duplessis announced Tuesday that Labor Minister Antonio Barrette and Health Minister Albiny Paquette have arrived in Rome to represent Quebec Province at Christmas ceremonies at the Vatican inaugurating the Holy Year.

MAYOR HELD IN MURDER, Mayor Dan MacLean of Spdney, N. S., has been charged with murder in the death of Joseph MacKinnon, Sydney's registrar of voters. MacKinnon, 63, died in hospital after police found him injured in an alley.

Canada Has Election-Free Year Eleventh Since Confederation

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP)—Barring an unexpected upheaval somewhere along the political front, Canada will have an election-free year in 1950 — the 11th since confederation in 1867.

With 10 General Elections—Dominion and Provincial—in 1948 and 1949, Canadians came through the busiest two-year voting period in the country's history.

Neither year—each with five elections—set a record for number of general votes. The all-time high was set back in 1886 when seven provinces—all there were then — held General Elections. Three times there were six elections in a year—in 1890, six Provincial Elections; in 1878 and 1906, a Federal and five Provincial votes.

The busiest two years before 1948-49 was 1944-45 when there were a Federal and eight Provincial elections.

In 1949's June 27 Federal vote and four Provincial elections, 7,253,755 votes were cast, second highest total for a single year. Biggest year was 1945 with 7,990,348, also in one Federal and four Provincial elections.

Another First

Nineteen-forty-nine marked the first time since 1905—when Alberta and Saskatchewan became provinces — that a new province held its first election as a part of Canada. That was the May 27 vote in Newfoundland.

Governments found 1949 — and 1948 as well—a good year to call elections. No government was defeated in the 10 votes in the two years.

In 1949, Liberals went back in the Dominion and in Nova Scotia, coalition governments — made up of a fusion of Liberals and Progressive Conservatives—were returned in British Columbia and Manitoba. The Liberals broke new ground by winning in Newfoundland. In 1948, a Liberal administration was re-elected in New Brunswick, Union Nationale in Quebec, Progressive Conservative in Ontario, C. C. F. in Saskatchewan and Social Credit in Alberta.

If all the governments sit out their legal five-years terms, the next election would be in Prince Edward Island in 1952—and then there would be five each in 1953 and 1954. But it would be a safer bet that most would be held earlier.

Tries Burn Building

ST. CATHARINES, Dec. 21—William H. Walsh, of Grantham township, Tuesday was charged with attempting to burn the Victoria Building in the midst of Monday's noon-hour shopping rush. Walsh was remanded to Dec. 23 on bail of $2,000. Police said Walsh piled bundles of gasoline-soaked paper and cotton in a rear hallway of the building and set it alight. The building contains a restaurant and department store.

Shot In Hold-Up

MONTREAL, Dec. 21—(CP)—Viateur Rainville, 49-year-old tobacco salesman, was shot and critically injured by an unknown hold-up man in east-end Montreal Tuesday night. Police said Rainville, a salesman for a tobacco firm, entered a restaurant and when he returned to his truck parked outside, he felt a revolver in his back and was ordered to "hand over your money." Rainville started to turn around to get a look at the hold-up man, but the latter fired his gun.

Ottawa Inspects All Christmas Raisins Being Imported

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 — (CP). — It's Christmas cake time — the season when the usually unglamorous raisin is given a chief supporting part in the big annual pastry show.

Millions of pounds of raisins are currently going into cakes in homes and shops across Canada.

But while the interest of the average Canadian is purely from the standpoint of how that Christmas cake will taste, it has been a different matter for the folks at the Food and Drug Division of the Health Deaprtment.

Their job is to assure that every shipment of raisins coming into Canada meets the food an nutrition standars set by this country.

Up to the end of October this year 35,528,949 pounds of raisins valued at $4,056,455 came into Canada, almost all from California and Australia. The rush actually started in October which accounted for just about half of the total imports.

IWth arrival of each shipment, samples are sent to Ottawa where the raisins are inspected for possible insect infestation and to establish what oils were used to treat the raisins.

The first job is comparatively simple. Insects can be detected at a glance. The oil analysis is a more involved process.

During the war Australia was affected by the general shortage of vegetable oils and for a time all raisins were treated with mineral oils.

The ides of spraying the oil vapor over the raisins is to prevent them from sticking to each other and to retard sugaring.

The Canadian Health Department did not care for the mineral oil spray because the oils contained no nutritional value.

The Food and Drug Division gives assurance that all raisins coming into Canas now have received vegetable oil treatment.

Licence Issuer Hunted Deer Without Licence

A $50 fine was imposed on Charles J. Russelle, a hunting licence issuer, when found guilty of hunting deer without a licence Nov. 19 by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court Tuesday.

Game Overseer Robert H. Trotter tertified he had found Russelle hunting deer in Chandos township between Apsley and Jack's Lake. He said Russelle told him his name was Doug Loucks and failed to produce a licence.

Eventually he admitted his name was Russelle and he was an issuer of licences. Officer Trotter said Russelle had told him he had torn a licence form out of the book for himself, but had neglected to fill it out and had forgotten to bring it with him.

Trotter told the court, under the Game and Fisheries Act, anyone carrying a shotgun loaded with heavier than No. 2 shot was deemed to be hunting deer.

Russelle said Trotter had not shown him he was a game overseer and "I didn't have to tell him my right name." He said he had torn out the licence, but in the rush of preparing to go on the hunt, had left it at home.

Russelle said he thought the fine "was a little too steep."

Police Included In City Sick Leave Plan

City police officers will be included in the council's plan to adopt an accumulative sick leave plan and three weeks holidays after 15 years' service for all civic employees, the Police Commission decided at a special meeting Tuesday.

Chief Constable John Thompson and Deputy Chief Constable John Napes will be included in the service pay plan outlined at the Commission's last meeting. This is a plan in which all city police officers are paid 10 cents a day service pay for every five years spent on the force, with a maximum daily service pay of 50 cents. The chief and deputy chief with 29 years service each are eligible for this maximum.

On a point brought up by Judge Sheldon L. Smoke, it was decided that the service pay would be based on a 365-day year.

In a letter to the commission, Chief Thompson asked permission to send two constables to a police school in Ajax operated by the Ontario Provincial Police from time to time for a three or four week course in police work.

The motion authorizing the chief to select men to be sent was moved by Mayor Max J. Swanston. It was pointed out that transportation was the only cost.

Westwood's Oldest Citizen Mrs. Louisa Hope Dies

Mrs. Louisa Hope, who lived in Otonabee and Asphodel Townships for nearly a century, died Tuesday at the home of her niece Mrs. B. Robinson, Fenelon Falls. She was in her 97th year and until recently had lived in her own home in the village of Westwood.

The oldest resident of Westwood she was also the most respected. She was the widow of John Hope who died nine years ago.

Mrs. Hope saw many changes in Otonabee and Asphodel and was a link with the pioneer days of that section. She was born in Villiers, Louisa Elmhirst, daughter of an English father and Scottish mother, who were settlers from the Old Country.

She remembered seeing as they toiled with their masters, slow moving oxen engaged in the task of clearing the fields from the heavy forests.

At the age of 26 she was married to John Hope at the Presbyterian manse in Keene by the Rev. Dr. Francis Andrews, an outstanding churchman in the district for 50 years.

The couple lived on a farm until 1913, and then moved to the village of Westwood. They had no children.

The Hopes were great church workers at the former Westwood Presbyterian church, latterly the Westwood United. Mr. Hope was elder for 35 years and Mrs. Hope was president of the Women's Missionary Society 40 years.

After her husband's death Mrs. Hope lived along in her Westwood home, going to her niece's in Fenelon Falls quite recently.

The body is resting at the Mather Funeral Home, Keene, and will be moved to Westwood United Church Thursday afternoon, where the casket will be open until the funeral at 2 p.m. The Revs. Cole of Hastings United Church and F. Newell of Fenelon Falls will conduct the service and burial will be in Westwood cemetery.

MRS. LOUISA HOPE, resident of Otonabee and Asphodel Twps. for nearly a century, died at the home of her niece, Mrs. B. Robinson, Fenelon Falls. She was in her 97th year, and was one of the closest links with the pioneer days in Peterborough County.

Memorial Fund Cash Now Totals $200,000

C. S. Cummer, treasurer of the Memorial Community Centre, has received a cheque for $300 from Dominion Stores Limited to be credited to the Centre fund as a gift from the new George St food shop.

It just happens that this contribution moves the total cash receipts beyond the $200,000 level.

"In our last statement to the city council," Mr. Cummer said, "we reported total pledges of $206,179, and the actual cash receipts then were $199,853. This new gift increases the total of receipts to $200,153. That leaves $6,000 of unpaid pledges, but I believe most of that money is available when we need it.

"One of the contributors is an industrial company. They stipulate that they would make their payment when we broke ground. So that amount is still good. I think all the people who contributed to the Centre fund will agree that they did exceedingly well in the total of their payments. There will be very little of the amount pledged still unpaid when we need the money."

Who Will Help Needy Families Asks City CAS

Instances of an order of groceries, donations of household equipment and other forms of assistance given by charitable organizations in the city having saved needy families from breaking up, were mentioned by Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, at the monthly board meeting Tuesday.

Miss Young told the board that since work had become less easily obtainable in recent months, the Children's Aid had met more cases of homes on the verge of breaking up because of financial difficulties.

How far was it the function of the Society to take the responsibility of finding assistance in such cases? she asked the board. She was sure that in obtaining outside assistance the Society had been able to keep families together, but nevertheless, it was not the primary purpose of the organization to undertake material assistance to the needy.

She felt the time would soon come when the Society would have to decide whether its policy would be to bring to the attention of those responsible for unemployment insurance and relief, the inadequacy of the allowances or take upon itself the task of acquiring assistance for those in need.

Although the situation had not yet become serious enough to take action now, the board felt that it was not its responsibility to subsidize either unemployment insurance or relief.

Plan Two Stations For Truck Loading

An experiment in truck loading stations on George Street between Charlotte and Brock Streets, has been authorized by the Council on the recommendation of its Legal Committee. They were recommended in the report of Vernon Page, Toronto's traffic inspector, who made a study of local traffic conditions several months ago.

City Engineer Chalmers and Chief Constable John Thompson are to select spaces for the loading and unloading of trucks in those central blocks. Parking meters in those places are to be hooded, signs are to be erected explaining the purpose of these stations, and police are being asked to enforce provisions against double parking during the operation of the experiment.

City Clerk Outram was instructed to arrange for a survey at the south-east corner of Weller Street and Monaghan Road, to establish the location of the stone fence which is privately owned at that corner

100 Gift Parcels Sent By Cable To English City

By FRED G. MANN

With Christmas but a few days away the local branch of the United Emergency Fund for Britain sent the parcels that the contributions on hand warranted in order to make sure of their delivery.

While this did not reach the objective set for the local branch, the half-way mark was passed, and it was this that enabled the sending of 100 parcels, with more to follow as quickly as the donations are received for that purpose.

The headquarters in Toronto therefore despatched a cable on Tuesday to the Headquarters in London to forward these 100 Christmas parcels from this community to its namesake City of Peterborough, and it is expected that by now they have reached there.

Students Give $25

The Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School is today represented in the list of donors, with a gift of $25 from the Students' Council. Business houses included in the list are Lillico Motors $50, Duffus Motors $25, G. Whitaker Co. Ltd. $25 and the Peterborough Lumber Co. Ltd. $15. Personal gifts were received from W. R. L. Blackwell $10, W. Robertson Davies $10, G.M. $10, Dr. H. J. Long $5, I. H. Keefer $5, N. Hamley $5, J. Rigden $5, and E.R. 1, while the Wednesday Evening Club gave $5.

This brings a total of $196 for this report and the full total received for this Christmas objective very close to the $600 mark. This leaves a little over $400 still required to send the full amount of parcels hoped for, to assist people who have little with which to enjoy the great festival with.

On November 14, it was announced that the only bonus in rations for Christmas in Britain would be an extra 6 ounces of candy and 4 ounces of cooking fats, so these gift parcels should be most welcome indeed.

Two Drunks Fined

A 75-year-old man, John Spencer, Burleigh Township, pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk, and was fined $10. and costs, or 10 days, by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in Police Court today. Also given a $10 fine, and costs, or the 10-day alternative, was Joseph W. Bryan, 39, of 735 Herman Street.

NAMED TO CAS STAFF

Miss Carmina Gordon of Sydney, Nova Scotia, has been appointed to the staff of Peterborough Children's Aid Society as a social worker in training. The appointment was approved by the Board Tuesday. Miss Gordon is a graduate of Queen's University. During the summer she worked at two camps for underprivileged children.

COLORED CARD BATTLE

A pitched paper battle is proceeding at the CGE plant between the left and right wing factions to obtain the card signatures of workers. The yellow cards, used by the IUE-CIO have been circulated for some time but last week a blue card from the UE entered the competition. The left wingers had already been circulating revocation slips for those who changed their minds after signing with the IUE. One side of the blue card says the signer had previously signed a yellow card but never paid an initiation fee; the other says he has never signed an application card for the new union. No matter where the employees stand in the dispute there's some card he can sign.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

Cars collided at George and King streets Tuesday evening while one, driven by Harold MacFarlane, 785 Stewart St., was making a left turn from King St. to go south on George St. The MacFarlane car met in collision with a car driven by William Martin, 621 Union St., travelling south on George St. MacFarlane told Constables Douglas Farthing and Gordon Trennum he stopped on King St. before turning into George St., but did not see the Martin car coming.

WATER RISES

The heavy rains of the past 24 hours have raised the levels of the swamps and creeks. The Indian River at Lang has risen several feet, and the flow over the dam at Clarkson's Mill has increased considerably. A swamp south of the Hope mill on the Fifth Line has overflowed and is crossing the road into the river, causing a flooded area on the road for 150 feet. Water holes and bogs along Highway No. 7 have filled overnight.

PRESENT CAROL PROGRAM

A half hour program of favorite Christmas carols will be presented by the Salvation Army Band, Mrs. Mendell Braund and the Junior Choir over the local radio station Thursday night. The band will be under the direction of Bandmaster Gerald Routly.

TB SALES DOWN

With three days to go sales of Christmas TB seals are down more than $2,000 over last year when $7,000 was obtained by the Peterborough Tuberculosis Association for work in the city and county. To date this year R. B. Arnold, manager of the Bank of Commerce and treasurer of the fund reports sales of $5,700.23.

SEASONAL ODDITIES

Today, the shortest daylight period of the year, cast enough light early this morning for Harold Knight of North Monaghan to see a large green frog sitting on his verandah; it was very much alive. Mrs. Addie Rose of 786 Water St., was also intrigued by the sight of a caterpillar crawling across a very small patch of ice in her front yard. At 605½ Bethune St., Mrs. R. Davidson found a large pansy blooming in her garden.

Christmas Tree Thefts Irate Farmers

Four young balsams are gone from the grounds of the home of Herb Routley, west of the city on the Peterborough-Port Hope highway. Several youths are suspected of having climbed a fence to get at them with their hatchets.

Some farmers are beginning to lose patience about this Christmas tree business, and the invasion of their property by men who act as if they had some protected right of trespass.

"Probably we've let them get away with it too long," said an Otonabee man yesterday. "The limit was reached on the place next to us recently when a couple of fellows chopped down a tree of 12 to 14 inches at the butt to get at the top ten feet and carry it off in their car. I think it is about time we did something about that kind of vandalism, for it is nothing else.

"What is the use of talking about conservation of trees, and then letting callous people sacrifice a tall tree just to hack off the top reach of it, and leave the rest where it fell?"

12 Fox Bounties Three For Wolves

Twelve more fox bounties have been paid by the county clerk and treasurer, Mrs. Jennie A. Spurway.

Top marksman of the week was George Coppaway of Curve Lake Reserve, who shot seven in Smith Township. Ted Watson of Havelock was runner-up with three from Belmont.

Horace Taylor of Curve Lake Reserve shot one near Burleigh Falls, and Ottis Northey of Burleigh shot another in his home township.

Taree wolf bounties have also been claimed. Mr. Watson, Garfield Puffer of Dummer, and Amos Irons each shot one.

Peterborough County pays a three dollar bounty on foxes. Huntsmen who bag a wolf get $25—$15 from the county and $10 from the Department of Lands and Forests.

HAVE OLRB HEARING

Application of the IUE-CIO to become the certified bargaining agent for the 3,200 production workers at CGE will be heard on January 4, the union has been informed. The present bargaining agent is the UE which has been expelled from both the CIO and the CCL. The battle between these left and right wing unions is continuing at the plant.

Now Who On Earth Ever Sent That Card? What Jane? What Bill? Dear Oh Dear!

Have you ever celebrated Christmas without receiving at least one card from a well-wisher you are unable to identify? There is no pleasanter feature of the Yule season than receiving greetings from long-lost relatives and friends, but where's the joy in a card from Aunt Ada, when you don't remember having heard of her before?

When the card is from a relative, Cousin Bertha or Uncle Jollyface, one is inclined to admit that the fault does not lie entirely with the sender. At some time or other one must have met the kindly but distant member of the family.

It is the card from the friend one still remembers, but has not seen for some time, that is most aggravating. It may be signed Jack or Bill, Mary or Jane, but what kind of identification is that? Fond memory sometimes fails to bring to light names of old friends around you in other days

Convict Attacks Negro Girl 14

WRENS, Ga., Dec. 21 (AP) — A negro school girl was attacked and brutally beaten near here and Sheriff James Hubbard announced he had charged a life-term white convict with attempted rape.

"And if she dies," Hubbard added, "then it will be murder."

The sheriff named the convict as Pete Coleman, 30, and said he received his life term for the slaying in 1947 of Bertha Mehrtens, called the "Good Samaritan" because of her community benefactions in Savannah.

Hubbard said the girl, 14-year-old Dorothy Carswell, was attacked Monday morning on the way to school. Her head was battered and she was tossed into a brier patch to die.

Another negro found her after she had lain unconscious for 14 hours.

Hubbard commented that in 18 years as a law officer he had "never seen a more horrible crime."

The officer said Coleman leaped from a road scraper he was moving from the Louisville corrections camp to Matthews, Ga., and attacked the girl.

Just Out Of Prison Man Back In Jail

MONTREAL, Dec. 21 — (CP). —Isidore Curry Hutt, 56, possessor of one of the longest police records seen in Criminal Court here in years, pleaded guilty on Tuesday to two charges of obtaining money by false pretences.

Hutt, who had just been released from Portsmouth Penitentiary at Kingston, was accused of obtaining $144 and $72 from David Toy and Charley Woo, respectively, in the fall of 1944.

He asked Judge T. A. Fontaine to be lenient and he would leave Quebec Province for good. But the judge looking at Hutt's record, noted the man had been convicted 27 times to terms totalling 21 years. Judge Fontaine said he would pass sentence on Thursday.

Coroner's Jury Asks Further Investigation

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP) — A coroner's jury Tuesday night asked police to conduct further investigations into an accident last month in which Gislaine Lalande, 18, of Alfred, Ont., was killed.

The jury's verdict said that "the evidence presented does not permit this jury to form an opinion and we would recommend that the matter be further investigated."

Miss Lalande was fatally injured when the automobile in which she was riding collided with a second automobile near New Orleans, Ont., Nov. 20. She was riding in a car driven by Victor Paquette, 18, of Alfred. The other auto was driven by Roland Turcott, 49, of Montreal.

SIR FIROZ KHAN NOON, distinguished Parkistan statesman and leader of his country's delegation to the Food and Agriculture Organization conferences at Washington, who is seen in this picture with his charming wife in Montreal en route to Ottawa for a short visit.

WMS Auxiliary Raises Record Sum In 1949

BETHANY, Dec. 21 (ENS) — The Evening Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. G. Waddell for the December meeting. The president, Mrs. T. J. Jackson conducted the worship period.

Reports of the year's work were given by the secretary and conveners of the departments. The treasurer, Mrs. J. Milby, reported $161.85 had been raised during the year, which was an increase over other years.

Mrs. C. Rowan read a letter of appreciation from Trinidad, thanking the Society for a parcel of literature sent to the Missionary there. Mrs. T. Jackson also read a letter of thanks for a parcel of clothing sent for European relief.

The Christmas program was presented by Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Rowan, Mrs. M. Porteous, Mrs. H. Jakeman and Mrs. Waddell, with carols sung in unison throughout the service.

The Rev. W. R. Crandall presided for the election of officers as follows: president, Mrs. T. J. Jackson; vice-president, Mrs Clarence Rowan; treasurer, Mrs J. Milby; secretary, Mrs. G. Waddell; pianist, Mrs. Rowan; stewardship, Mrs. M. Finney; temperance secretary, Mrs. D. Lowes; Christian citizenship and strangers' secretary, Mrs. W. R. Crandall. Missionary Monthly secretary, Mrs. H. Jakeman.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter Betty.

Liberals Win N.S. By-Election

ST. PETER'S, N.S., Dec. 21 (CP)—Party standings in the Nova Scotia legislature reverted to their June 9 distribution today after the Liberals retained the Richmond county seat in a provincial by-election Tuesday.

Earl Urquhart, 28, was elected over his only opponent, Alfred Baccardax, also 28, Progressive Conservative, in the Liberals' first test of strength since the June 9 Nova Scotia general election.

With results still to come in from eight of the 35 polls, Mr. Urquhart had 2,295 votes compared to 1,612 for Mr. Baccardax. This gave him a majority of 883.

Standing in the 37-member house is: Liberals 28, Progressive Conservatives 7, CCF 2.

The by-election was made necessary by the elevation of former attorney-general L. D. Currie to the Nova Scotia supreme court bench.

Mr. Urquhart will be the youngest member of the legislature. Both he and Mr. Baccardax are third-year-students at Dalhousie University Law School in Halifax.

Premier Angus L. MacDonald said he was happy at the Liberal victory.

175 Attend Supper In Church Basement

NORWOOD, Dec. 21 (ENS) — One hundred and seventy-five sat down to the United Church Christmas supper. The basement was decorated in traditional style.

Carol singing followed the meal. The Rev. E. E. Pugsley was chairman for the program which included recitations, songs and solos presented by the primary and junior classes of the Sunday school.

Films were also shown and Santa Claus distributed gifts.

Women Exchange Gifts At Christmas Meeting

FOWLER'S CORNERS, Dec 21 (ENS)—Lakevale Ladies' Aid held the Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. Harold Archer on Wednesday. Highlight of the evening was a decorated Christmas tree from which an exchange of gifts took place. Mrs. Ken Nurse read the scripture and Mrs. Richmond led in prayer.

Christmas poems were read by Mrs. Blackburn, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. M. Deyell. Mrs. Moncrief also told a Christmas story. Mrs. Robertson gave the address, taking power as her subject.

Reports of the year were given and the treasurer reported a satisfactory balance. It was decided to forward $15 to Sick Children's Hospital.

Lunch was served by the hostess and the committee.

US Examiner Recommends St. Lawrence Seaway Plan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—An examiner for the United States Power Commission recommends that Congress authorize construction of the long-debated St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

Examiner Glen R. Law Tuesday ordered denial of New York State application to develop only the vast Hydro-Electric potential of the river with the Province of Ontario.

Law's decision, which the full commission is virtually certain to approve, stressed the importance of developing the power project hand-in-hand with the seaway—a Great Lakes-to-the-ocean outlet for deep-draft vessels.

He directed that with the findings on the New York application, Congress be given up-to-date estimates of cost to construct the power facility.

Congress, since 1934, has thrice denied the dual-purpose proposal. A further effort to win congressional approval for the big development is expected next year.

May Influence Ottawa

Informed sources here said the commission's decision might influence Canada's federal government in its findings on an application from Ontario for the right to work with New York State on the project. Ontario's application was filed in Ottawa a year ago.

These sources pointed out that there would be no reason now for the Canadian government to grant a licence to Ontario, since New York State could not join in the development.

The decision was regarded here as one which would be welcomed by both the Canadian and American governments because of their announced wish to see the power scheme form part of the larger seaway project.

Mrs. Caskey's Pupils Present Piano Recital

NORWOOD, Dec. 21 (ENS) — A piano recital by the pupils of Mrs. J. H. Caskey was held at her home on Saturday.

The program included piano solos by a class of beginners and solos and duets by primary and junior pupils.

Those taking part were Esther and Barbara Edmunds, Ann La Brash, Donald McConnell, Gail Elliott, Lorraine and Bernice Gardner, Richard Hamblin, Paul Booker, Bob and Mary Jane Tedford, Roderick Rork, Arlene Stackhouse, Edith Begg, Ann Pakenham, Ross and John Stewart, Lorraine Girven, Patsy and Mary Lou Atkinson, Freddie Morgan, Paul English, Margaret Clark, John and Ronnie Scott.

Mrs. F. Tredree sang two carols. A social hour and lunch served by the hostess, completed the program.

CAS Handles 29 New Cases In One Month

Of the 29 new cases which were brought to the attention of the Children's Aid Society during November, 19 were instances of family situations involving separations, non-support, physical neglect of child, drinking, marital conflict, desertion, child delinquency and inadequate income and housing. These figures were reported by Miss Rachael Young, superintendent, at the monthly board meeting Tuesday.

Three families made requests for food, clothing and household goods and these were met by a fine response from Peterborough Red Cross Society, Stewart's Hall Red Cross, IODE and the Y's Men's Club.

Two children were admitted to the care of the society, one being placed for adoption and the other cared for while the mother was unable to provide a home for him. This child was later returned to his family.

Four adoptions were completed. In all, the society is supervising 70 children in adoption probation homes.

Eight unmarried parent cases came to the attention of the society during November. Two were requests from other municipalities to obtain maintenance from the alleged fathers, three requested placement of their children and three were making their own plans.

All 23 cases in Family Court during the month were adult cases, Miss Young reported.

Mrs. L. Maguire reported for the sewing committee 32 articles mended and two new articles made.

The following women at St. James' United Church sewed for the Shelter: Mrs. J. P. Roberts, Mrs. M. Carter, Mrs. T. Glover, Mrs. L. Parker and Mrs. T. Hall.

United States Businessmen Cheerful At Year's End

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

United States business, which was plunged in gloom a few months ago, is ending the year in cheerful mood.

Cheerful, except for some fear that the dip of last spring and summer may be repeated in 1950.

The forces of inflation (higher prices) and deflation (lower prices) seem about balanced and it is hard to say which will be dominant in the next few months.

On the higher-spending side are heavy government expenditures for various projects at home, and the European Recovery Program abroad. Also coming up are distribution of the first funds from a $2,800,000,000 insurance fund for veterans, and higher pay rates for thousands of government pensioners and workers. Minimum wage rates for 1,500,000 workers will be raised from 40 to 75 cents an hours to add $1,000,000,000 to American purchasing power.

Retail trade is booming for the Christmas season and money in circulation is at the highest since last January.

This American pick-up is, of course, good news for Canada, traditionally sensitive to conditions across the border, even though she virtually ignored this year's American set-back. Also, it makes the American market a better prospect for Canadian exports.

Atlas Expansion

Atlas Steels' Ltd., of Welland, announces that on Jan. 1 it will open new offices and warehouses in Winnipeg and Vancouver, to take care of distribution of its products in Western Canada.

Burned To Death

SHEDIAC, N. B., Dec. 21 (CP)—Alphonse Leblanc, 45, of nearby Harshman's Brook, was burned to death Tuesday when fire destroyed his small one-storey home. A leaping spark from a stove was believed the cause of the blaze.

SISTERS' FIRST MEETING—Mrs. Marie Fink, right, of Cleveland, O., embraces her sister, Mrs. Rosie Gyorgyfi of Brantford, Ont., after seeing her for the first time. Mrs. Fink went to the United States from their native Yugoslavia before her sister was born. Mrs. Gyorgyfi arrived in Brantford two weeks ago to join her husband.

Children See Mother Killed In Savage Lion's Attack

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif., Dec. 21 (AP)—With a roar, a savage lion sprang at a widely-known animal trainer and killed her while her horrified children tried to save her.

Mrs. May Kovar Schafer, 42, was in the cage Tuesday with the lion, Sultan, attempting to break him into training. The powerful animal lunged at her, bore her down and bit her in the neck, severing the spine.

Her children, Michael Kovar, 18, and May Kovar, 14, were watching their mother, who was working with a chair and whip when the sudden attack occurred.

The children, armed with short poles, pushed through the cage door. But the beast, with Mrs. Schafer's neck in his jaws, ignored their pokes. Rudy Muller, 59, an elephant trainer, ran to their aid.

"I grabbed up a pitchfork and an eight-foot length of pipe," the frail man said. "The lion was very quiet. I stabbed at him with the pitchfork with one hand and then brought the pipe down on his head with the other.

"That made the lion drop her and back up. Must have stunned him for a second because he sagged back on his haunches.

"But I didn't have much time Just enough to pick up Mrs. Schafer. Then the lion started for me and the children.

"I backed out, inch by inch, never taking my eyes off the lion. The children got out."

Australia's Menzies Keeps Promise, Lifts Controls

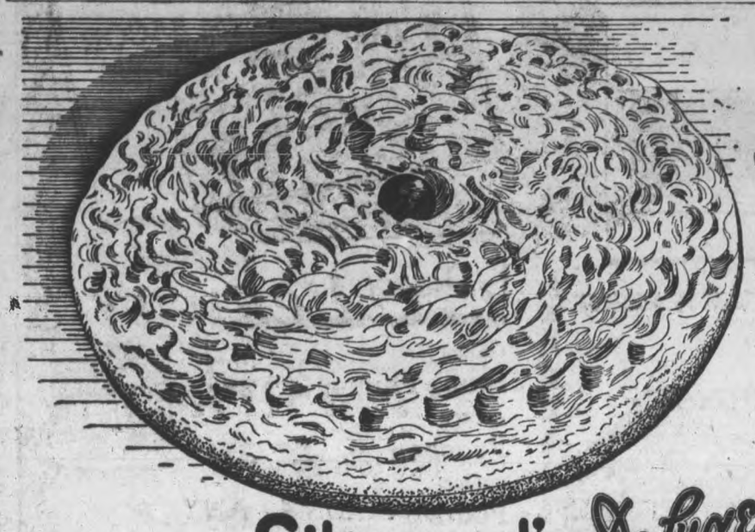
CANBERRA, Dec. 21 (CP)—Australia's new government, which stressed lifting of controls in its campaigning for the election which defeated the Labor Government 10 days ago, Tuesday took the first steps to implement its program.

The new cabinet, made up of representatives of the Liberal and Country Parties who united to defeat Labor, held its first meeting under Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies. At the meeting it was decided to lift restrictions from Australia's three remaining rationed commodities—tea, butter and gasoline.

Authoritative sources said a sub-committee was appointed to free butter and tea entirely during January. Gasoline may be taken off the ration at the New Year, but if this proves too difficult an alternative deadline of Feb. 1 has been set, the sources said.

Before the meeting, Menzies made a broadcast to the people outlining the aims of his government, which, he said, would work for a united British Empire.

When government departments have been reorganized, he promised, the government will boldly attack its tasks, the greatest of which he named as the present alarming rise in costs and prices. The government would put back value into the money people earned.



This would not be a simple job Menzies warned. It would require leadership, close co-operation by employers and a real understanding on the part of all that high production is necessary.

"The Plight Before Christmas"

(More Apologies to Clement C. Moore)*

'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, but one worried spouse
He'd neglected to shop for his family, 'twas plain
At Cherney's on George St. he can shop without pain.
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care
What better to fill them, a new LOUNGE CHAIR.
His wife was nestled all snug in her bed
With visions of TABLE LAMPS, blue, white and red
When out on the lawn there rose such a clatter
He'd bought SETS OF DISHES, including meat platter
Away to the window he flew like a flash
(Incidently, our MIRRORS for style are a smash.)

The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow
That's silly, it should be above it, you know

With a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer
Use our INSTALMENTS, and take a whole year.
And a little old driver, so lively and quick.
We'll WRAP FREE OF CHARGE for any St. Nick
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
We've HUNDREDS OF GIFTS; to call them by name
Now MIRRORS! now, ROCKERS! now FINE KITCHEN CHROME
Priced for your purse—built for your home.

On, SMOKERS, on HAMPERS! on, CHILDS' CHESTS FOR TOYS.
STURDY ROCKERS for good girls and boys.

He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work
And filled all the stockings; then turn'd with a jerk.
(We don't know how this "jerk" got in, probably a government man trying to boost our rent 18%).

And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose
(WE'LL DELIVER your presents while loved ones dose)
Then away they all flew like the down of a thistle
Shopping at Cherney Bros. is slick as a whistle.

And you will exclaim ere our truck's out of sight
"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good-night!"

*(By the way, the reindeer names are—Dasher, Dancer, Prancer, Vixen, Comet Cupid Donder and Blitzen.)

Lenore's Cure Recalled Help To Crippled Children

By PETER McGILLEN
In The Toronto Telegram

A line from a poem, "Jostled by hands too rough to shape a dream" kept running vagrantly through my mind, as I listened to the music of carols and breasted the tide of boisterous Christmas shoppers. Then I corrided with a parcel-laden pedestrian. I stooped to recover one of her parcels from the sidewalk, then looked into the laughing face of a pretty young woman. I grinned and apologized, but she answered "Thanks a lot, Pete, Merry Christmas" and then she was swallowed up in the surging throng. Who was she? Where had I seen that face before? I walked half a block before the story flashed into my mind. It was back in 1937, and I had been assigned to report a variety amateur show in St John's Parish Hall. That was the night I realized that miracles still took place. I recalled a girl of ten, a contestant in the show. She wore a gay, yellow tinselled costume and had won first place. I didn't realize until after the show, when I got the details, that I had front page news. But I'm getting ahead of my story.

Lenore—had been born a cripple, destined to the wheelchair for life. She had a double congenital dislocation of the hip bones. As she approached the time for walking, her parents realized with horror and hopelessness the true state of affairs. When she was two, the Peterborough Rotary Club in its enteprise of community service conducted a survey to locate crippled children Through the family doctor, Lenore's case was brought to their notice.

Visit to Children

Dr. Robertson came to Peterborough to see these little unfortunates. He expressed optimism that this girl could be cured if immediate treatment was started. Soon after her parents bundled her up, and drove to the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children. Both legs were placed in a cast following treatment, and remained in the cast for a year. When the cast was removed, it was found she could stand on one foot only. This meant another trip to the hospital and an operation was performed on one hipjoint which strengthened it artificially. Then another cast was put on for another year. At the end of that period she could stand on both feet, and there was strong hope of an ultimate cure. Then slowly she learned to walk, and nature gradually helped her over this belated handicap. At age five she could manage quite well, using chairs and other pieces of furniture as supports. By age seven she was almost normal, and her family and friends who had marvelled at the change now accepted it as commonplace, forgetting that a near-miracle had taken place. She was a lively child, and her feet kept tapping in rhythm to music from the radio. She loved dancing and her parents, happy at her recovery allowed her to take tap dancing lessons. Then came the contest at St. John's, which she won. That was the event which turned the spotlight on her. She entered Ken Soble's contest in Toronto, and won again. The winner was to get a trip to Hollywood, and Lenore danced her way into the finals. In the last round, she lost, but that didn't matter. She could walk, and dance, and lead a normal life.

She showed her gratitude to the Rotarians by entertaining clubs at Peterborough, Port Hope and Lindsay. She was a guest each time of Rotarian A. L. Killaly, former superintendent of the Trent Canal, who had watched her progress from the inception of treatment. Then the officials at the Hospital For Sick Children heard of her success and as one of their own, they invited her to a Christmas party.

She danced at the party to the amazement and enjoyment of the staff who recalled the crippled little girl they used to carry in their arms. She did more than that she danced through the wards to cheer the other children and to raise their hearts and hopes. At a meeting of the hospital's board of directors, she delighted the audience with her clever rountine, and these unselfish business men saw in her a reward for their work, another little girl saved from a life of pain and discomfort.

Too briefly that is the story as it comes to me brightly and radiantly like an inspiration from the past. That was 14 years. The whole community of Peterborough knew her story then and thrilled to it. They listened to her on the radio, mailed their votes in her favor in the thousands. They marvelled at her cure, at her success at the fact that modern surgery couldbring about such a transformation. Her happiness was theirs, too, and within their hearts was kindled a deep appreciation for the Hospital for Sick Children. But, alas, how soon people forget.

Forget the Lenores

It is strange that we do forget the Lenores, that we have to be reminded of them and our hearts and generosities touched to the need of the hospital, and the children who will come so helplessly to it's door as she did. Life goes on. People have their own cares and worries. Then accept modern surgery as commonplace, forgetting that crippled children will always be waiting to be cured forgetting that the Hospital For Sick Children never closes its doors.

Even in Peterborough, few recall the succession and accumulation of happiness brought to this girl tc one of their neighbors. Few can imagine the bleak limited horizon that stretched before this child at age two. A girl crippled sentenced to the wheelchair, robbed of all the lovely things of all the lovely things of life, games normal association with other youngsters dancing, boy friends, parties, marriage, children, chained for life because of a quirk of fate over which she had no control. This would have been her lot had there not been a Hospital for Sick Children.

Today she is married, happy, healthy, leading a normal life as a useful citizen.

These are the human values that cannot be expressed in dollars. Yet dollars are necessary if such children are to be steeped in hope, if they are to be cured and given a child's chance in life. Parents would gladly sacrifice all the money they had if it meant saving their baby. They don't need big sums of money, because the doors of this hospital are never closed to anyone, regardless of their ability to pay, and so long as an empty bed is available. This appeal leaves it to you and me to see that the work goes on. Perhaps the appeal will not be made again in our lives.

Four million dollars must be raised this month, to enlarge and perpetuate this clinic of healing. You are reminded that keeping open the doors of that hospital is a privilege you can share in. It is an opportunity for you to invest your generosity in the service of this great Ontario institution dedicated to the well-being of children. Your gift is badly needed—it is the best Christmas gift you can give.

Free College Boy Avenging Father

DEDHAM, Mass., Dec. 21 (CP)—An 18-year-old college boy, who admitted robbing a cafe to obtain funds to avenge his father's death in a bombed airliner, was set free Tuesday to enter a private rest home.

Police said Patrick J. Parker told them he robbed the cafe to finance a plane trip to Canada to kill J. Albert Guay, Quebec jeweler, charged with murder of his wife in connection with a bomb placed in the baggage compartment of a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane.

Parker's father, president of Quebec Iron and Titanium Company, was one of the 23 persons killed when the transport exploded and crashed in a heavily-wooded Quebec area last September 9.

Learning to Live Greatest Thing Educationist Says

Sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital were hostesses Tuesday evening at a Christmas dinner for the nurses and personnel of the different departments, held in the residence auditorium. The tables were daintily decorated with Christmas favors in colors of red and white, which made an attractive setting with the beautiful Nativity scene on the stage.

The Rev. K. Corkery expressed words of appreciation to the sisters of St. Joseph and introduced the guest speaker, Mr. C. J. Davis of Lakefield.

Mr. Davis gave an impressive talk about the field of education. He spoke of the industrial arts, the fine arts and the liberal arts, but his application was made to the nursing profession. "You belong to one of the noblest professions open to women. Your work and studies will cause you to roam over all three parts of that vast field of education. You will pick flowers from all parts to enrich your lives and you have time ahead of you," he said.

"Your are singularly fortunate in taking the necessary training for your profession right here in St. Joseph's Hospital. You have no need to look with longing eyes to larger hospitals in bigger cities. The doctors who lecture to you are just as well qualified and just as capable as the doctors in a large city. You have the advantage over larger centres in that you get to know your doctors and they know you. You can better develop your own personality and individuality and you can get personal attention when you need it. And always remember that you have the glorious privilege through your work and your discipline of growing up with mature minds. Anyone can learn how to make a living—but the great thing in education is to learn to live a life."

In conclusion he said: "May I suggest that you try to spend a few moments daily in meditation and remember Tennyson's words, "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of."

Rev. Sister Priscilla, on behalf of the Sisters, expressed appreciation to the staff for their excellent cooperation during the year.

Fish Know Time?

SHORE MILLS, Lancashire, Eng.—(CP)—Goldfish and carp that can tell the time of day live in a pond at the mill here.

Every day at lunchtime, just before the men stop work, the fish muster close to the surface for scraps of food.

As soon as the break is over they vanish into deeper water.

Outlook for the fish is cold, since the mill recently changed over from steam to electricity. Under the old system the water was kept warm. Now it's cold.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Worries Over Absence Of Proper Love for Mother

DEAR MISS DIX: Is my case abnormal? Briefly, it is that I haven't the proper love for my mother. At least, I have not the love that is idealized in books. I worry over this a great deal and wonder if there is something wrong with me. Since I was a little child I have always felt that there was a great barrier between us. She has never seemed to care for me as much as she has for her other children, and she has always apparently disapproved of everything I did. I have done everything I possibly could to make her life happier and easier and to hide my feelings, but I have never been able to have any affection for her. The sentiment of the world seems to be that one's mother is the closest and most beloved person on earth to one, but mine has always been a stranger to me. Why is this?

Dorothy Dix

WORRIED DAUGHTER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Why we are drawn to one person and repulsed by another, neither one of whom has done anything to inspire either love or dislike in us, is one of the unsolved mysteries of the human heart, and this applies to the members of our own families just as much as it does to strangers. Even when our parents are equally good and kind to us we love one better than we do the other. Parents almost invariably have favorite children on whom they lavish a devotion they do not given the others, and brothers and sisters have their special chums and are bound by closer ties to one than they are to another.

Bond Often Weak

Of course, in theory, the bond between mother and daughter is the tenderest, the closest tie on earth. Actually in real life this is far enough from being the case. As a matter of fact, most mothers love their sons far better than they do their daughters. They have more patience with their boys than they have with their girls and are far more anxious to keep them with them.

I have known more than one unhappy household in which bitter feuds raged between a mother and daughter who were both good women, but just so temperamentally antagonistic they could not hit it off together, and everything each did got upon the other's nerves.

So you see the mother-and-daughter relationship isn't always what the poets represent it to be, and in many, many instances a mother and daughter never really love each other until after the girl is married and has gone off to her own home and the friction between them is eliminated.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a college student. I was secretly married the summer after my freshman year to a girl with whom I am still deeply in love. Everything went smoothly through my sophomore year and she was willing that I should go back to college and finish my studies, but last summer she wanted me to give up school and go to work. I refused, as I have made for myself a wonderful place in college, both in my studies and athletics. We had an awful quarrel over it and she wants a divorce. What shall I do about it?

E. S.

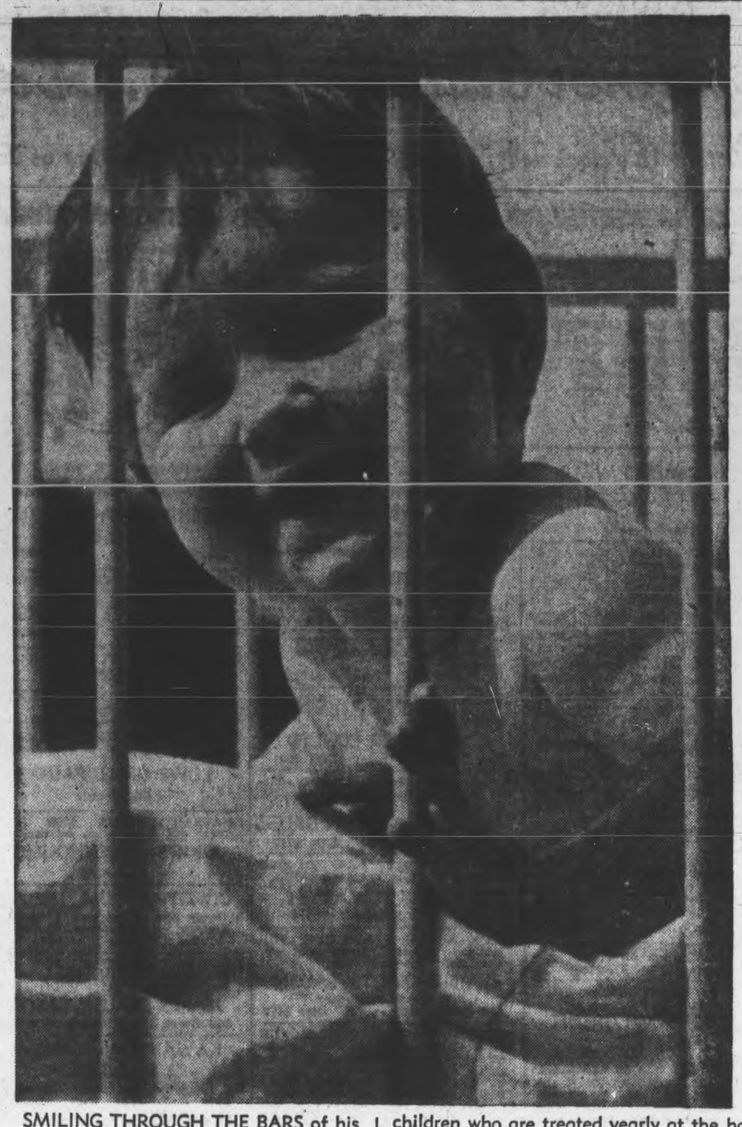
✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: How much longer will it take to complete your formal education? If you have only another year, beg her to be patient and wait a little longer for you. Tell her how much better you will be able to provide for her if you have fitted yourself for some definite occupation instead of having to take any work that the untrained can get.

But, because you have made one terrible mistake in your life, don't add another one to it by giving up your schooling and the broader opportunities it offers you. It will wreck your career, and it will not secure happiness for the girl, because she will not be satisfied with the meager amount of money you will be able to earn in the kind of jobs that are open to untrained boys.

Nothing else on earth is more tragic and more pitiful than school-boy and girl marriages. One could weep over the poor children who wreck their lives before they have fairly begun by taking upon their shoulders loads that they are too weak to bear, who assume responsibilities whose far-reaching consequences they are too ignorant even to imagine.

✧ ✧ ✧



DEAR MISS DIX: I am a professional man 41 years of age. Some months ago I met the lady of my choice and planned to marry her in the near future. For the last few months the income derived from my profession has been sufficient only for my own maintenance. What should I do?

DON QUIXOTE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Wait by all means until your finances improve. Evidently you are only going through a temporary stress of hard times. Riches are not nescessary to happiness in matrimony, but ordinary comfort is.

Manifestly the income that barely suffices for one will not support two, and you will be abjectly miserable if you drag the woman you love down into poverty and want. There will be no peace in a household that is harassed by debt and where the bill collector is forever pounding on the door.

SMILING THROUGH THE BARS of his crib at The Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, is just one of the thousands of children who are treated yearly at the hospital. $4,000,000 needed to complete the erection of the new building, is being sought in the current campaign.

Garden Brings Joy To Blind Children

KINGWINFORD, Worcester England (CP)—A garden for blind children, where they can experience the scent and feel of flowers, is a safe place in a difficult world for 19 youngsters here.

The garden is one of the best features of the new Sunshine Home and Nursery School for the Blind which was opened here this year. The 19 blind children are all under the age of seven.

Soon after they arrived they learned to walk with confidence across the lawns and along walks between flower beds.

They were allowed to pick the flowers for their own rooms, and selected them by touch and smell. Even thorny roses were no problem to the children—their sensitive fingers learned to avoid the thorns.

The Kingwinford school is the sixth nursery school established by Britain's Institute for the Blind.

The aim of the schools is to equip children of pre-school age physically and mentally for a normal education. Institute officials say that life in the nursery schools also gives the children confidence and independence in later years.

Princess Seeking Home For Malta Visits

LONDON (CP)—Princess Elizabeth's intention to take a furnished house in Malta for next spring indicates she means to spend as much free time as possible with Prince Philip during his naval service there.

"The Princess is not thinking of taking up permanent or semi-permanent residence in Malta," a Clarence House official said, "but she does plan to spend long weekends there when her engagements permit."

It is possible that Prince Charles now "head of the household" at Clarence House, will fly to Malta with his mother for one of these long weekends. But the princess believes he is better off for not having his routine disturbed.

Return of Rear Admiral Earl Mountbatten and Lady Mountbatten from Malta next January, when Mountbatten takes up his appointment as Fourth Sea Lord, will leave the princess and her husband without anywhere to call "home" on the island.

That is why Elizabeth is looking for a furnished house.

The Royal Family are reported to have been "amused" by a recent story that Princess Elizabeth is not legally the heiress presumptive, but that her sister Margaret has equal rights of succession to the throne if the King dies.

Officials say Elizabeth's position as sole heiress to the throne was laid down definitely in 1937. In reply to an agreed question in the House of Commons, the then home secretary, Sir John Simon, said law officers of the crown were "fully satisfied" that Elizabeth had an indisputable claim as the elder sister.

"What's Right?"

You have a house guest whose visit was a real pleasure.

WRONG WAY: Don't bother to answer her bread-and-butter letter.

RIGHT WAY: Let her know how much you enjoyed her visit. A guest as well as a hostess appreciates hearing that a visit gave pleasure.

Highlanders Form Queues For Kilts of Their Clans

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDINBURGH—(CP)—Tartan is making a comeback wi' its ain folk, say the tartan manufacturers.

Tartan's top-line importance as a dollar-earner has fired Scots hearts "wi' a yearnin' for their ain plaid" after years of a dearth of the wearin' o the kilt.

"And," groan the mill-owners, "we can already export three times our output without coping with the increased demand on the home markets."

So the Scots go on waiting lists to get their plaid.

In Inverness alone, the demand for kilts is 50 per cent greater than last year. This is due somewhat to the increasing popularity of Scottish country dancing.

Kilts are still the front demand, but skirts are a good runner-up. Coats and dresses have something of a demand, but the hidebound Scots traditions "are agin they new fangled tartan ideas."

Suits Are Out

Tartan suits and men's tartan dinner jackets just haven't a look-in as far as the Scots are concerned. They are bought mostly by tourists or by the English market.

Kilt prices vary with the districts: Inverness: £10 ($31) to £16. 16s. for a man's kilt. Aberdeen: £8 to 18 guineas. Glasgow: £12. 12s for a man's kilt and £10. 10s. for a lady's. Edinburgh 10 to 12 guineas for men, 8 to 9 guineas for women

The highest priced kilts are the dress kilts. These are made of light worsted tartan and are the correct formal Highland dress.

Utility kilts are allowable by the Board of Trade, but are not plentiful or popular. They are confined to one or two clans: Fraser, Stewart, Mackenzie and Cameron.

For those who have no clan tartan, the most popular is the Royal Stewart—the King's tartan. This is closely followed in popularity by the Cameron, dress Stuart and Buchanan.

Aberdeen and the northeast of Scotland favors Gordon, Grant, Forbes and Anderson tartans.

Windsor Council Discusses Hospital Report

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 21 (CP)—City Council met late Tuesday night following its regular and final session of the year to discuss with the Board of Governor's of the city-owned Metropolitan General Hospital a Royal Commission report on hospital administration. Directors of the hospital's school of nursing also attended.

Main recommendation of the report—brought down last Sept. 12 after the commission investigation of the hospital's affairs by Judge Eric Cross of Woodstock was deferred to a special council meeting next week.

The joint meeting of council and hospital directors agreed to seek from the provincial government legislation to allow a change from 12 to 11 members on the hospital's board and then later tabled the issue until the later meeting.

The Royal Commission inquiry was conducted last spring and investigated hospital administration and reports of a Detroit hotel party attended by four hospital nurses and four prominent Windsorites including Mayor Arthur J. Reaume.

Main discussion of last night's meeting wavered from consideration of the report into affairs of the hospital's school of nursing, operated jointly by the hospital and the Canadian Nurses Association. Hospital board reconstruction was actually deferred to ascertain how activities of the directors of the hospital and nurses training school could be integrated.

Brantford Fights Break-in Wave

BRANTFORD, Dec. 21 (CP)—The current crime wave in Brantford and district—a series of break-ins and armed robberies—continued Tuesday night with an attempted robbery of a lunchroom.

Douglas North, proprietor of the lunchroom, was treated in the hospital for serious head injuries inflicted by a man who escaped after a vain robbery attempt shortly before midnight. The masked bandit was foiled by Mr. North's resistance.

Unable to open the cash register the bandit hurled an 18-inch bar at North, and anything else on which he could lay his hands.

In another incident refusal of a Brantford taxi driver, Gerard Tierney, to co-operate with a fleeing thief, led to the capture of a 26-year-old St. Thomas war veteran charged with the toy pistol hold-up of a men's wear store at Aylmer.

A truck stolen Tuesday night from the Dominion Natural Gas Company in Brantford was found abandoned at the scene of a lumber company break-in at Grimsby.

Had One Too Many Now Serves Jail Term

Found guilty of taking a truck without the owner's consent, Howard Arthur Portsmith, Omemee, a Canadian army soldier, was sentenced to one month in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court today.

Sergeant Gordon T. Puffer testified John J. Horner, RR 1, Pontypool, reported to the police station that his truck had been stolen from where it was parked behind the McGillis Hotel December 15. The motor had been left running.

Constable Grant J. Gillespie was sent to look for the truck with the help of Horner. He saw it going west on King St. The constable found Portsmith in the truck on a parking lot.

Mistaken Parker

The explanation Portsmith gave the police was that his name was Parker and he thought the truck was his father's.

Asked by the magistrate to give an explanation in court, Portsmith said, I just had one too many, I guess.

Bad Electrical Storm Lashes Hamilton Area

HAMILTON, Dec. 21—(CP)—Power blackouts up to 3½ hours and small-scale flooding of parts of Hamilton occurred in the night when one of the year's worst electrical storms lashed the Hamilton-St. Catharines district.

The blackouts here followed the blowing out of three transformers. Rainfall was reported so heavy at times that traffic was slowed to a crawl by poor visibility. There was flooding of new housing projects in one section of the city.

At St. Catharines, Domonic Ceci, 62, was struck by a taxi while cleaning street railway company switches.

Gets Year In Jail For False Pretences

OWEN SOUND, Dec. 21 (CP)—Arthur W. J. Embling of Priceville was sentenced today to one year definite and three months indeterminate in the Ontario Reformatory on charges of false pretences and theft by conversion. He also received sentences of one year each on three charges of theft, these sentences to be concurrent with the first.

The offences involved sales of wheat from a farm on which he was employed and the sale of a car to which he did not own a clear title.

Must Decide Minister's Place

GUELPH, Dec. 21—(CP)—The Rev. Thomas H. Guthrie, barred from his York Road Baptist Church pulpit by a legal injunction, has switched places with a group of his congregation who charged he wrote an indiscreet letter to a married woman parishioner.

Shortly after the letter split the congregation the protesting group held services in the local Orange Hall. Mr. Guthrie, who now is forbidden his pulpit, conducts his services in the hall and the protesting group have the church.

An injunction, obtained three weeks ago by the congregation group expired today and the courts must decide tomorrow what the next step will be.

Mr. Guthrie says that now the injunction has expired he should be readmitted to the church. The other faction, however, says they are in possession of the church and if Mr. Guthrie wants to get them out he will have to get a court order of his own.

Mr. Guthrie said the injunction was granted on the understanding a meeting would be held in the church to straighten out the issue of his relationship to the church. This has not been held, he said.

Lindsay Firm To Sign Pact With CIO Union

A new agreement between Local 837, Textile Workers' Union of America (CIO-CCL) and the Horne Bros. Woollen Mill in Lindsay is on the verge of being signed.

About 80 people are now employed there and are included in the bargaining unit. Chief gains are better provisions for grievance procedure and seniority.

Due to the fact the firm is convalescing after a drop in business earlier this year, the union has agreed to defer bringing up the items in the new contract involving money to February 1. Normally the plant employs about 115 and it has not yet taken back its full complement.

The layoff at one time included about 50 per cent of the employees.

The membership of the Local will be called upon to ratify or reject the agreement a week from today. Upon ratification, it is understood, the management will sign the new contract.

Negotiations have been continuing since March 1949.

Canada Delays Red Recognition

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP)—The Canadian government still has not made any decision about recognition of a Communist government in China, a high official source said today.

He was commenting on London reports that the British government will recognize the Chinese Reds after the new year. The reports said "most of the Commonwealth governments" will do likewise.

Informed opinion is that Canada will grant recognition within the next month or so but the government has not yet made a hard-and-a fast decision.

Canada, in this case, is seen by observers as watching both the U.K. and United States for a first move.

In the meantime, the official said, the Canadian government's position has not changed from that outlined by External Affairs Minister Pearson in parliament Nov. 16. He stressed then that recognition, if it came, would "not imply or signify moral approval" of Communist ideology. It would "simply be acknowledgement of a state of affairs that exists."

17-Year-Old Car Blamed For Accident

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP) — A person who takes a motor vehicle which is not within reason mechanically perfect, onto a highway may be convicted of dangerous driving.

Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake of suburban Islington, made the ruling yesterday when he fined Thomas Cox of nearby Etobicoke, $50 and costs and suspended his driver's permit for six months. Cox was driver of a car which struck and killed six-year-old Vernon Forbes Nov. 21.

Police testified it was a 17-year-old car, the brakes weren't functioning properly and the horn wasn't working.

Pearson Will Meet Pakistan Officials

KARACHI, Dec. 21 (Reuters)—L. B. Pearson, Canadian Minister of External Affairs, is to have talks with Pakistan government officials when he arrives here Jan. 6 on his way to the Commonwealth Foreign Ministers' Conference at Colombo, it was authoritatively learned today.

Pearson, flying to Ceylon in an RCAF plane, will stay here for one day. He will be accompanied by Canada's newly-appointed high commissioner to Pakistan, David Johnson.

Johnson will accompany the foreign minister to Colombo and return here after the conference to take up his post.

Cabinet In Session

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP)—The cabinet met today with a considerable agenda before it for consideration. There was no indication of what was under discussion but issues which suggested themselves were cabinet and senate appointments, the date for the opning of parliament, the January dominion-provincial conference and price support for eggs.

New York Patients Aided By New Drug

By HOWARD K. BLAKESLEE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (AP)—The hormone ACTH now being tried on Billy B., a seven-year-old Toronto leukemia victim, has had good effects on that disease in four similar cases in New York City.

In New York this hormone temporarily stopped all signs of leukemia. When the disease returned the hormone again stopped it.

The New York cases were not in dying condition, although no hope was held for their ultimate recovery. New York doctors said that use of ACTH was almost like being able to turn the disease off and on. It came on when the drug was stopped.

The unusual thing about the hormone's effect is the fact that it could be used twice on the same patient. There are numerous leukemia treatments, and often when one causes temporary disappearance of the disease, it is no use on the relapse.

Whether ACTH may cure leukemia is unknown from the New experiments. The doctors here welcomed the hormone as one more treatment, even if temporary. Some leukemia patients can be given temporary relief by one medicine, and then repeat with another. Doctors here hoped ACTH might add a third chance of temporary recovery.

JESUIT REPRESENTATIVE

One of the delegates to the latest UN session was an Indian Jesuit, Fr. Jerome D'Souza.

Has No Comment On Smuggling

OTTAWA, Dec. 21 (CP)—David Sim, deputy minister of revenue today had no comment on a Kitchener report that a special drug was "smuggled" in from the United States to "avoid delaying red tape" and save a child's life.

The child, four-year-old Barbara Veitch, was suffering severe complications following a ruptured appendix. The drug, aureomycin, was said to have been "smuggled" in from an unnamed border point.

Mr. Sim declined to comment on the suggestion that the department's "red tape" would otherwise have delayed the shipment of the drug, endangering the child's life.

However, he recalled that in Calgary recently, one customs official had sat up half the night, "far beyond the normal bounds of [illegible] to receive legally a shipment of drugs which had saved a child's life. The official had been commended for this action, Mr. Sim said.

Four Flee Flames

TORONTO, Dec. 21 (CP) A mother and her three children were forced to flee to the street early today when fire swept their suburban Scarboro home. Mrs. Ethel Sarrion carried her 13-month-old baby with Peter, 12 and Bobby, 9, following. Firemen said the fire was caused by overheated furnace pipes.

Warkworth Has Santa Parade

WARKWORTH, Dec. 21 (ENS) —The Canadian Legion, assisted by the Business Men's Association sponsored a Santa Claus parade on Saturday. The parade started at the Community Hall and proceeded round the business block to the Town Hall, with Santa Claus leading, riding in state in a gaily decorated truck and dozens of brightly colored balloons waving from the vehicle.

A couple of clowns, with funny outfits and parasols bedecked with colored paper ribbons and balloons rode along in the truck with Santa. The local band provided music.

Children from the village and surrounding district were there in large numbers, with parents and friends. In a remarkably short space of time the Town Hall was filled to capacity. The Rev. H. G. Lester was master of ceremonies. The newly formed band which has been in training under J. J. Minicola of Peterborough for only the past six weeks, opened the program. A recitation by Claudia Pelletier of White's School, was followed by a guitar solo by Jim Ellis of Stone School and another recitation, this time by Rose Marie Higham of Godolphin School. A quartette was presented by Lorne Grills, Gordon Atkinson, and Denton and Dave Ward of Atkinson School. The clowns were continually entering the stage and doing stunts to amuse the audience. The program included a recitation by Anne Pollock of SS 10, Percy, short dialogue by senior pupils of Warkworth Public School, Star Rays drill by the Mount Pleasant School to music played by the teacher, Mrs. G. Phillips, double duet by four girls, Ida Honey, Marie Campbell, Isabel Glover, and Carol Skinkle of Dartford and Norham Schools respectively.

These items were followed by a chorus by Pine Grove School pupils.

Prizes to children with the best decorated vehicles were distributed by the Rev. J. M. Ritchie as follows: Billie Isaac $5, Ruth McCubbin $3, and Douglas Mountjoy $2. Prizes of $1 each went to Paula Morgan, Margaret Meacock, David and Seth Erb, Jackie Grant, Bobbie Hatcher and Larry Buchanan.

After the prize giving, Santa Claus distributed gifts from the Christmas tree. This was the second Santa Claus to be held in Warkworth.

PRESENT WHISKERS—The New York water shortage makes the Army do an about face about faces. On waterless Friday, clean-shaven faces mean gigs for GI's in the New York area, like these at Brooklyn's Port of Embarkation. Maj. J. F. Buckley (pointing) and Capt. A. M. Fragala (at left), both with patriotic stands of beard, mark down a gig for Sgt. Ludwig Gardener, who showed up for inspection with smooth cheeks.

New Window Dedicated At St. John's Anniversary

HAVELOCK, Dec. 21 (ENS) — St. John's Anglican Church marked the 60th milestone in its history on Sunday, when a recently installed cathedral style baptismal window on the west side of the church was dedicated by the rector, the Rev. P. A. Rickard. Christ is portrayed in this beautiful window, blessing the children and underneath are His words "Suffer the little children to come unto Me." The inscription at the bottom of the window reads "To the glory of God and in grateful acknowledgment of His Grace and Benefits bestowed in the Sacrament of Holy Baptism, 1889-1949.

The window, which cost $400 was made possible by voluntary contributions, a large portion of which was made up by donations from members here and at a distance who have received the Sacrament of Baptism through the ministry of this church.

St. John's Church was erected in 1889 through the efforts of the late Rev. John Gibson, rector of Norwood and Westwood, who later was first incumbent of St. John's. The cornerstone was laid on July 1 and the completed church was officially dedicated by the late Archdeacon T. W. Allen on December 8 of the same year.

Improvement Added

Many improvements have been added to the building since it was dedicated, the most important being the erection of a new wing on the north side in 1929.

Although the church interior was partially destroyed by fire in 1937, it was fully restored and a modern lighting system was installed.

In 1947 a beautiful Ascension window was instaled in the chancel in memory of Harriet Sophia Weymark Curtis, by members of the Curtis family.

Four of the original members still live here. They are Mrs. George Smith, James W. Bryans, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Weymark. Mrs. Smith formerly Mary Anderson, was the first bride married in the church. She has the distinction of being the bride who had the first church wedding in Havelock.

White gifts were received on Sunday for the underprivileged.
